Bank Robbers Escape Dragnet In San Rafael

$1,300 Haul By Two Men

A young man with a gun, real or simulated, in his pocket robbed the United California Bank at 830 Third Street, San Rafael of about $1,300 this morning.

The blond, approximately 23-year-old robber reportedly escaped in a small, white sports car driven by another man who had remained in the getaway car.

San Rafael police and FBI officials said the man, wearing dark coat and pants, placed a penciled note in front of a woman teller, holding a gun or object in his pocket, demanding that she put money into a bag.

HID IN CAR

The teller, whose idenity was withheld, did so and the robber fled to a parking lot on Lootens Place where the driver and car, thought by some to be a Lotus, were seen by witnesses.

The man, witnesses said, jumped into the car and lay on the floorboards with a tarpaulin over him. Witnesses said that the car drove up Lootens toward Fourth Street.

Although police were at the bank within a minute of the alarm at 10:14 a.m. and patrol cars were stationed at roads leading out of San Rafael the car was not spotted.

BANK LOCKED UP

Upon arrival of officers, the bank was locked and curtains drawn on all windows, while police and FBI agents questioned everyone inside. Few customers were noticed in the bank by newsmen and the bank placed a sign on the front door saying it would be closed until early this afternoon.

Bank officials would say nothing regarding the holdup nor allow the teller to discuss it.

No one was injured in the robbery.

Police issued an all-points bulletin and speculated that the fleeing bandits would try to leave Marin via northbound Highway 101 or eastbound Highway 37 to avoid being trapped at a toll bridge.

Novato police were on the alert.

Weary Legislature Seeks Completion

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Legislature raced toward adjournment of an unusually bitter, seven-month-long session today after reluctantly resolving its two major issues—taxes and schools. (See other stories, page 9.)

Legislators, after putting in a 15-hour day yesterday, hoped to pack up and go home tonight.

Both houses passed and sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday afternoon a $134 million school aid bill many legislators complained didn't provide enough funds for ghetto schools.

"I don't think this bill is anything we can point to with a great deal of pride," conceded one of the co-authors, Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-Rail Road Flat.

The Assembly also approved Reagan's proposed $87 million income tax rebate, despite Democratic Leader Jess Unruh's contention it represented nothing more than an election-year gimmick. Amendments to the bill, by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, still had to be concurred in by the Senate.

"This is a phony hoax on the people," objected Unruh, who plans to run against Reagan next year.

Disposal of the two controversial issues cleared the decks for a midnight adjournment. The Legislature, however, could literally "stop the clock" and continue to meet through this weekend.

About 200 measures still remain on the legislative files.

The tax rebate bill passed 47-22.

Under the legislation, Californians would reduce their state income tax next April by 10 per cent, up to a limit of $100 for

Military Cemetery Rejected

Viet Veteran's Proposal For Redwood Park

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Vietnam War veteran's suggestion that a military cemetery be built in Redwood National Park has been rejected by the planners of the new park.

Robert S. Luntey, chief of the regional office of resources planning for the National Park Service, said today the proposed cemetery would not be an appropriate use of the land set aside for a park.

"It would be an adverse use of an area set aside for preservation of redwoods," Luntey said. "This type of cemetery would be inconsistent with the purposes of the legislation creating the park."

The proposal was made several weeks ago by Robert Boudreau, a double-amputee Vietnam War casualty who resides near the boundary of the park in Humboldt County.

BACKS IDEA

His county supervisor, Guy Rusher of Orick, liked the idea and wrote Rep. Don Clausen, R-First District, suggesting a cemetery in a cut-over section of the park just west of Orick.

Clausen, who said today he hadn't learned enough about the suggestion to comment on it, passed the proposal to National Park Service headquarters in Washington. It eventually reached Luntey, who is in charge of planning for all parks west of the Mississippi.

Boudreau suggested the cemetery because the present national cemeteries on the West Coast are either filled or nearly filled.

ONLY VIET VICTIMS

A spokesman for Golden Gate National Cemetery at San Bruno said only Vietnam War victims and veterans or their wives with previous site reservations were being buried there

Judge Eyes Nudity At Secluded Beach

By ALAN JONES

The court went over the mountain yesterday to see what it could see. What it saw was a covey of nude sunbathers at Little Beach, a secluded cove just up-coast from Muir Beach.

The nudes were plainly visible from the property of Eleanor D. Borden of Sunset Way, Muir Beach, who charged the three defendants in Marin Municipal Court yesterday with disturbing the peace by frolicking nude on the beach July 17.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. adjourned to Muir Beach for the afternoon after defense attorney William O. Weissich said a first hand look was necessary so a "reasonable man" could determine if the nudity was offensive.

"We have only seen the nudes on Little Beach through the eyes of Eleanor Borden," Weissich said. "Mrs. Borden is an oversensitive person."

"The court has no desire to go to the beach to view nudity," Goldstein said. "the only question is the view from Mrs. Borden's property."

Weissich's clients, Linda Ann Wells, 24, of San Francisco, Barbara Ann Gavin and her son Bruce F. Gavin, both of 1811 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, admitted they had stripped on the beach July 17, but denied any intent to offend.

Sgt. Arthur Disterheft of the sheriff's office testified, Gavin was taking photographs of his nude mother in the surf when deputies eyed the scene from cliffs above the beach. Disterheft said Gavin, as he was

Republican Group Seeks Course Ouster

By FRANK FARRARA

Angry Marin residents launched a counterrevolutionary attack last night against a course in revolution being conducted at the College of Marin.

The Marin unit of United Republicans of California, demanded before the Marin Junior College District board that the course, sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society, be removed from the campus. (Another college board story, page 9.)

Trustees also received a letter from James Dougan, secretary of the Marin Property Owners Association, calling for an investigation of the course.

"The course on revolution does not border so much on reason as it does on treason," Dougan wrote.

There were about 15 persons in the audience who felt strongly that tax-supported property shouldn't be used for teaching revolution.

The United Republicans unit in a resolution presented to trustees charged the course is being conducted "for the purpose of fomenting, promoting and instigating the overthrow of the government of the United States."

The controversial course, led by Dennis Marnell of San Rafael, self-styled anarchist and SDS member, started July 17

SAUSALITO PROBE

Study Hints Possible Violations By Jury

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

The much questioned probe of Sausalito School District by the Marin County Grand Jury apparently does not deal with the hiring of an uncertificated black teacher, although the grand jury has remained behind its legal right to keep the investigation secret.

An Independent-Journal study has shown that the probe is violating a California Supreme Court decision, an official opinion by the state attorney general and the guidelines of one of its own immediate predecessors unless the jury:

Suspects willful or corrupt misconduct of a Sausalito school official or teacher;

Is investigating the financial affairs of the district which directly affect the assessing and taxing powers of the district, or is making a routine examination of the district's books and records.

These conclusions are based on a study of a January 1968, Supreme Court decision involving the Calaveras County Unified School District; a 1965 decision by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch and Deputy Atty. Gen. Carlton G. Holland involving a Kings County case; the final report of the education committee of the 1966 grand jury; and a summary of the grand jury's civil powers and duties by the foreman of the 1967 grand jury.

The grand jury has subpoenaed several witnesses in connection with its Sausalito schools investigation but has not revealed the reason for the investigation.

It has been widely speculated that the probe was sparked by the hiring of William Bradley, an unaccredited black teacher who uses the Zulu name Chaka and teaches eighth grade at Martin Luther King School.

Chaka has been accused by white critics in and out of the Sausalito district of "black racism" in his classes.

Sausalito school officials have challenged the legality of the jury's reported investigation, as has Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino.

Sausalito officials also have asked that the subject of the investigation be revealed and that hearings be conducted in public session.

Whatever the subject of the investigation, the scope of the grand jury's powers are sharply

Tam Superintendent Replaced In Aftermath Of Critical Survey

Chester G. Carlisle, superintendent of the Tamalpais High School District for 17 years, was relieved of his duties last night and reassigned as a consultant to district trustees.

The reassignment is effective immediately. Trustees named Asst. Supt. Robert D. Torrey as acting superintendent for the remainder of the year.

Carlisle, 52, whose four-year contract as superintendent expires June 30, 1970, will continue to receive his superintendent's salary of $27,500 per year for the remainder of the contract.

Last night's announcement of Carlisle's reassignment came after more than a month of private negotiation between board chairman Bette Wallace and Carlisle. Persons close to the board, who preferred to remain unidentified, said that the recent Arthur D. Little report was the biggest single reason for the board's action.

The Little report, released in June, was critical of the district's administration, saying there was a "leadership stall" and that Carlisle "no longer provided strong direction."

Fewer than 15 persons were on hand at last night's adjourned session of the board.

Carlisle, looking somewhat shaken, reported two minor personnel matters involving military leaves of absence for

Kennedy Clan Denies Report On Accident

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — A published report claiming Sen. Edward M. Kennedy asked Joseph C. Gargan, his cousin, to "take the rap" for him following the fatal auto accident three weeks ago is "entirely untrue" and has "no basis in fact whatsoever," a Kennedy family source said today.

The source said members of the family had learned Jack Anderson's column, published today in the Washington Post, was being prepared.

"It's entirely untrue," the source quoted Gargan as saying. Anderson claims Kennedy asked his cousin to accept blame as the driver in the fatal crash, but later had second thoughts and accepted responsibility for the accident.

Gargan, a close aide to the senator, rented the cottage on Chappaquiddick Island where Kennedy, Mary Jo Kopechne and 10 others held a cookout three weeks ago tonight. Kennedy said he was driving Miss Kopechne to the last ferry to Martha's Vineyard when he turned down a wrong road and his car plunged off a bridge overturning in a tidal pond and trapping Miss Kopechne.

(Dist. Atty. Edmund Denis, meanwhile, said in New Bedford that Kennedy will be called as a witness in an inquest into the accident.

The senator has said he would cooperate in any legal proceedings, and has canceled a European trip in order to keep himself available.)

Bonn Is Called Enemy Of Europe

BUCHAREST (AP) — East Germany's ruling Communist party claimed today that West Germany is the principal enemy of peace in Europe.

In a speech to the Romanian Communist Party Congress, East German party secretary Kurt Tiedke also launched an attack against the Bonn government's East Europe policy, which he said pretends to seek understanding with Communist countries but in reality is aimed at subverting communism.

Tiedke was one of the foreign delegates who spoke at this morning's session of the Romanian party congress, most of which was taken up with domestic issues. His attack on West Germany could be construed as an insult to Romania, which has diplomatic relations with both East and West Germany.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Indian Chief Named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Louis R. Bruce, an Oglala Sioux Indian now living in New York's Greenwich Village, has been appointed commissioner of Indian affairs.

Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, announcing the long-delayed appointment, said he would name an all-Indian advisory committee to report to him and Bruce.

Bruce now is executive director and chairman of the board of trustees of Zeta Psi educational foundation and fraternity. He will succeed Robert L. Bennett, also an Indian, in the $36,000 a year post.

Karachi Quake

KARACHI (AP) — Pakistan's new capital city, Islamabad, and other towns in the foothills of the Himalayas were rocked by an earthquake of mild intensity this morning. The tremor lasted for about a minute.

Soviet Moon Study

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched an unmanned spacecraft today on a journey to photograph and study the moon and nearby lunar space but gave no indication a soft landing was planned.

The last Soviet moon probe, crashed on the lunar surface just before the U.S. Apollo 11 astronauts landed in the Sea of Tranquility July 20.

Zond 7, the new Soviet craft, was lofted into a parking orbit around the earth by "a powerful Soviet carrier rocket" and then was launched toward the moon, the news agency Tass said.

Chinese Guerrillas

HONG KONG (AP) — A Hong Kong newspaper reported today that Marshal Ho Lung has fled to the Soviet Union and is leading a Chinese guerrilla army based at Tashkent in Soviet Siberia.

The anti-Communist Sing Tao Jihn Pao attributed its report to a Chinese traveler from Canton who said he had seen the report of Ho Lung's escape in a mainland publication. The publication was not identified.

It was reported that Ho Lung learned that Chinese Communist leaders had decided to purge him.

Talks With China

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the U.S. government will soon make another attempt to reopen talks with Communist China in Warsaw.

"We would like to resume this dialogue," Rogers told the Canberra Press Club. "We would hope that they do, too."

Ambassadors from the United States and Red China met periodically in Geneva and then in the Polish capital from 1955 until January 1968. Peiking proposed a resumption of the talks last February, but canceled at the last minute when a Chinese diplomat in The Hague defected to the United States.

Satellite Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A possible problem with a rocket steering system today forced the space agency to postpone for 24 hours — until tomorrow — an attempt to orbit a new scientific satellite to study the sun.

The spacecraft, called OSO 6 for the sixth orbiting solar observatory, was scheduled to blast off at 12:52 a.m. PDT today, but the launch was called off shortly after midnight.

OSO 6 is to be placed in a circular earth orbit 350 miles high.

The 640-pound spacecraft contains seven different scientific experiments to study high-energy radiation particles from the sun that cannot penetrate earth's atmosphere and thus cannot be observed from ground-based solar observatories.

Probe Into Girls' Deaths Is Stymied

SAN JOSE (UPI)—The investigation into the savage knifing deaths of two San Jose teenaged girls last Sunday is stymied, according to Chief of Detectives Barton L. Collins.

Funeral services for the pretty victims, Debbie Furlong, 14, and Kathy Snoozy, 15, were to be held today.

Collins said yesterday that San Jose Police have received more than 1,000 telephone tips about the slaying in which the girls were stabbed more than 300 times. Collins added police are investigating each tip, but have hit a dead end, so far.

Analysis of blood taken from the girls was completed Wednesday, but the tests proved negative. Police had theorized that Deboah and Kathy might have been drugged by their attacker before the morbid knifings because the girls showed no signs of resisting the onslaught.

Police are continuing their search for a man in a white or light colored van seen in the hills where the victim's bodies were found and are also examining a set of photographs taken by a man near the murder scene.

Cigarette Firms Reducing Tar

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Manufacturers are reducing cigarette tar and nicotine contents, new statistics showed today. But most smokers are still puffing brands relatively high in tar and nicotine delivery.

Of the 10 top selling brands last year, only one, Kent, was among the 10 brands lowest in tar. None of the 10 top sellers made the list of 10 brands lowest in nicotine.

Marvels, lowest in tar and nicotine, ranked 32nd in sales. Winston, tops in sales, ranked 69th in tar "purity" and 54th in low nicontine content.

The tar and nicotine figures were released yesterday by the Federal Trade Commission

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, hailed the results. Moss, who led a Senate drive that prompted the cigarette industry to promise it would stop all radio and television advertising next year, noted tar and nicotine reductions were reported for several leading brands, including Kent, Lark, Lucky Strike, Marlboro, Newport, Old Gold, Pall Mall and Tareyton.

No Life Detected Yet In Moon Soil From Apollo 11

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Early experiments indicate there is no life in the moon soil collected by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

There is, however, a remote possibility that more extensive study in the months ahead could turn up lunar organisms.

That's the conclusion of a group of scientists who yesterday issued the first comprehensive report on preliminary study of the 50 pounds of rocks and dust.

Earlier piecemeal reports led to some speculation that lunar organic material had been discovered.

But the scientists said it is most likely the tiny amount of organic substance found in some rocks was of earthly origin—from the astronauts' space suits and the containers, rubber gloves and tools used to handle the materials.

A microscopic search for living, dead or fossil organisms has turned up nothing, reported Dr. James Menzies, an Agriculture Department biologist.

Dr. Richard Johnson of Ames Research Center said he has measured 10 parts per million of organic material in the moon dust, but said "this is so low it could quite easily be contamination" from handling.

Bicycle Stolen

Annabel Cuneo of 324 Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, reported her daughter's violet stingray bicycle stolen yesterday from a rack at Sir Francis Drake High School, San Anselmo police said.

Government Stalls Aid To All-White Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has suspended loan guarantees for an all-white golf club in Mississippi while seeking assurances the golf course built with the money will not be segregated.

And eight Negro congressmen who requested the action have asked that the move become the first stage of a wide-ranging review of the federal program which has subsidized the construction of about 500 golf courses since 1962.

QUITE UPSET

Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich., said a conference with officials of the Agriculture Department's Farm Home Administration convinced him "they're quite upset by the whole matter."

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., said Wednesday he considered the loan to be "a damning indictment of our system of national priorities."

QUARTER-MILLION

The Natchez Trace Golf Club, Inc., was to close in about a month a $265,000 loan from a Tupelo, Miss., bank for purchase and expansion of a course it now leases. The loan also would pay for a swimming pool, tennis court and other facilities.

By guaranteeing to subsidize interest rates so the club would pay no more than 5 per cent, the government would have to shell out about $270,000 over the 40-year life of the loan.

The club is located in the district of Rep. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee which passes on Agriculture Department funding.

MILLION-DOLLAR CHECK

Widow Ends Battle With Navy For Home

PORT CHICAGO (AP) — An 80-year-old widow battled the U.S. Navy for years to save her town, but now it's all over.

Eunice Van Winkle accepted a government check for more than $1 million yesterday and made plans to move.

Her quiet acceptance of the money contrasted sharply with the legal and civic battles Mrs. Van Winkle had fought over the years.

She had at one time owned most of the property in the town on Suisun Bay, once the home of 3,350 people.

The Navy condemned the entire town last year to create a two-mile buffer zone around its Concord Naval Weapons Station, where a World War II ammunitions explosion killed 322 persons and caused $40 million in damage.

Now the Navy port handles about 70 per cent of the munitions bound for Vietnam, and Department of Defense officials feared another disaster.

Only 10 houses remain to be razed. The others have been moved or demolished.

Mrs. Van Winkle, who onee owned the town's lumber company, hardware store, theater and numerous rental units, is bitter.

"My loyalty has gone down to the point where I have no more respect for the government," she said as her attorney, Melvin Belli of San Francisco, handed her a check for $1,047,810. "The government needs to be readjusted."

Resigned to defeat, she now plans to move her numerous cats, chickens, cows, sheep and goats.

They'll go to her 50-year-old home, relocated in nearby Nichols. She now lives in a small cottage, one of a handful of residents still here who must be out of town by Sept. 1.

"I will move them at night—so they won't get scared," she said of the animals. "They won't mind moving if I am there—as long as I have a plate of food for them."

Congress allocated $19.5 million to purchase the 725 land parcels in this Contra Costa County community. After buying 550 parcels, it ran up against owners who thought the government's offer was too low or, like Mrs. Van Winkle, just didn't want to leave.

She and the others lost the last round when a court issued a condemnation order last Nov. 20.

Lawyers Ready Defense In Ann Arbor Murder Trial

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — A young Ann Arbor lawyer and his partner have resumed preparations for defending an Eastern Michigan University student charged with murdering one of his schoolmates.

Robert Francis, who accompanied John Norman Collins, 22, when he was arrested July 31, withdrew for a few years yesterday along with his partner John M. Toomey.

The lawyers asked the Washtenaw County Circuit Court to appoint a new lawyer for Collins, saying the defendant couldn't afford to pay for proper legal defense.

Collins is charged with first degree murder in the death of Karen Sue Beineman, 18, an Eastern Michigan University coed who disappeared July 23.

Prior to yesterday's hearing, Toomey and Francis had asked for a bill of particulars, a move to enable them to inspect the prosecution's evidence in the case.

The attorneys had also asked for permission to inspect the police records at the crime center. The prosecutor said he would oppose the motions.

Collins' legal bills will be paid by the county. In the past it has been the practice that the original privately retained attorneys would not be selected by the court in such cases.

However, Francis indicated after the yesterday hearing that he regretted leaving the case.

Israeli Posts Hit By Arabs

AMMAN (UPI) — Arab commandos struck today against six Israeli military positions and settlements along a four-mile front on the Jordan River in the "fiercest and largest" attack in the history of the Palestinian liberation movement, the Arab guerrilla high command reported.

The Palestine Armed Struggle Command (PASC), in an announcement from Amman, said three Arab separate commando forces took part in the assault and claimed heavy losses and extensive damages were inflicted on the Israelis. It said the Israelis were caught by surprise.

There was no immediate confirmation or denial from Tel Aviv.

Cotati Calls Vote On $100,000 Bond

The Cotati City Council last night called for a general obligation bond election of $100,000 in the fall to finance the sewer connection project with Rohnert Park.

Representatives of Cartle Wells Associates outlined general plans for the sewage connection and recommended that it be financed through general obligation bonds.

Dr. David Joseph of the North Coast Water Quality Regional Control Board in Santa Rosa recommended that the bonds be paid off from two sources.

He suggested that the city tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation outside the utility district be raised to $1.25. Properties inside the utility district presently pay the $1.25 rate and Joseph said the increase on the other properties in the less developed areas would bring substantial new income to the city.

He also recommended that connection charges to sewer and water lines be increased to pay for installation and materials and to build a reserve fund for maintenance.

Joseph said the connection fees of $50 in the utility district and $100 outside the district do not cover even installation costs. He made no recommendation as to the amount of increases required to cover costs.

He suggested that monthly sewer and water rates not be raised since they are adequate to pay for the services. Dr. Joseph also recommended that a master plan for water and sewer line extensions be developed and added that his agency would provide much of the needed assistance.

The council took the recommendations under consideration and instructed the city staff to prepare for the bond election in either November or December.

The Cotati City Council Also:

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning property on El Rancho Drive owned by Theodore and Alma Thompson to multi-family residential to permit the construction of a duplex.

COMMISSION — Adopted an ordinance eliminating the parks and recreation commission.

PUMP BIDS — Awarded the contract for the purchase and installation of a booster pump to the Argonaut Construction Co. of Santa Rosa at a low bid of $8.867.

WATER LINE — Approved an agreement with the Cotati School District to have the city reimburse 90 per cent of the cost of a water line to the new Thomas Page School Homes that connect to the line in the next 15 years will pay $5 per lineal foot which the city will use to reinburse the school district.

Commute Tickets Are Hit

A 20-day cut in the time commuters may use discount tickets on the Golden Gate Bridge was proposed today to the bridge and highway district's finance committee.

The cutback was proposed by director Lowell Edington of Napa County on the ground that commuters did not need the present average of 85 days in which to use the 25 tickets in a book.

He also argued that increased use of the commute books had reduced the average fare by about 30 per cent since 1954. "We've got to get our share of the money," Edington said.

The $6.50 commute books now are valid for the five days preceding each month plus two months and 20 days.

A majority of the finance committee appeared to favor the cutback but Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum strongly objected to any such change before the district gets into the transit business.

Committee chairman Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco, warning that "we'll have the wrath of the commuters on our neck if we don't have a reason," asked Dale W. Luehring, general manager, to report back to the committee on Aug. 28 on the advantages of a cutback.

Tam Superintendent Replaced In Aftermath Of Critical Survey

teachers, then read a prepared statement asking for reassignment.

"I feel that in terms of my own career development and because of the state of transition in which I see the district, my professional experience can best be used in more specific and specialized ways," the statement said.

"I have discussed this matter at length with the chairman of the board of trustees. Special areas of concern have been identified and a written agreement has been worked out to allow for the best utilization of my professional experience and talents as a consultant to the board in a broad range of educational problems. This included research connected with the evaluation and efficiency of the instructional program.

"I feel such an assignment is in the best interests of the long term development of the district and my own career."

Carlisle said his consultant role would be on both building and instructional programs.

Torrey receives $22,475 per year as assistant superintendent, and will continue at the same salary at least temporarily.

Carlislie joined the district in 1951 as principal of Sir Francis Drake High School. He was named superintendent the following year. He is a graduate of University of California with an A.B. in mathematics, and holds a master's degree in school administration from University of Southern California. While at U.C he was an All-American basketball player. He lives in Sleepy Hollow.

Torrey, 46, is a graduate of Syracuse University, New York. He joined the Tam district in 1957 as director of instruction, and was named assistant superintendent in 1962. He lives in Greenbrae.

Carlisle has been in the focus of several complaints in the district the past few years, the most recent criticism being that in the Little report.

David D. Ring, who was then a candidate for the district board and is now a member of it, was sharply critical of Carlisle on two counts in the spring of 1967. He attacked the superintendent's business relationship with then-trustee John A. Siemens as a director of the Tamalpais, retirement home in Larkspur. Carlisle subsequently resigned from the directorship.

Ring also criticized Carlisle for authorizing a change in architect fees for completion of Redwood High School without getting approval of the district board. Carlisle said this was a clerical slip-up.

Last year, there was dispute over a $349-per-month raise given two years previously to Oliver R. Bonner, district director of maintenance and operations. Trustee Gloria O. Melbostad, delving into high maintenance costs, discovered the raise was given in March 1966, but claimed it was never approved by the board.

Minutes of the March 7, 1966, board meeting on file with the county superintendent's office made no mention of Bonner, but his raise had been added to a "classified personnel report" in the minutes on file at Carlisle's office. Carlisle insisted the raise had board approval.

Mrs. Melbostad was absent from last night's board meeting, at which Carlisle's reassignment was approved 4-0. Chairman Wallace said Mrs. Melbostad has been told of the proposal and was "in full agreement."

Man Released, Then Jailed Again

Charles E. Lawder, 42, of Houston, Tex., who was released from Marin County Jail Wednesday when no complaint was filed against him, was arrested again yesterday by Novato police and booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of committing a lewd act with a 7-year-old boy.

Novato Police Chief Robert DiGrazia said that after confering with Officer Vernon L. Davies, who made the original arrest Wednesday, and the district attorney, the man was arrested a second time for the same offense. Bail was set at $6,250 and he was scheduled to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Sarod Concerto To Be Performed

The Ali Akbar College of Music will present a preview performance of a Sarod chamber concerto at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Unitarian Fellowship Church in Terra Linda.

The composition is by Ali Akbar Khan and John Cooper. Soloist will be Khan and members of the college and the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra will perform. Terry Pease, publicity chairman reported.

Films, Exhibits In Libraries

The Marin County Public Library has announced a series of films for young adults at the Marin City branch and a window exhibit by two young persons at the Fairfax branch.

Films on comic art, the sea and the arts will be shown at the Marin City branch in the Manzanita Community Center at 7:30 p.m. The next three Wednesdays, respectively, according to Alice Curry, branch librarian.

The display by Steve Rockwell, 15, and Zondra Natman, 18, at the Fairfax branch at 47 Broadway includes musical horns made out of dried kelp. Also in the exhibit, entitled "Behold the Sea," are paintings, shells and rocks.

Stitchery Display

An exhibit of creative stitchery by Charlotte Patera of Mill Valley is on display at Redwood Bank, San Rafael, through August.

Unit To Be Closed

The minifilm unit of the Department of Public Health at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, will be closed from Aug. 25 through Sept. 25 while the X-ray technician is on vacation. Persons were urged by the department to have chest X-rays before Aug. 25.

COURSE

under the student-operated Experimental College.

While protests were being voiced before the board, one of the revolution classes was being conducted a few buildings away.

The United Republicans asserted that the board "by permitting such a class to meet on the college campus, is aiding and abetting anarchy."

Trustees explained that the course wasn't operated by the college and its only role is providing space for the classes.

Acting superintendent-president Louis H. Herkenhoff said that under the education code, the district is obligated "to provide facilities for an open forum."

Marie Woelfl of San Rafael, secretary of the unit, argued that the matter was crucial and called for immediate action "not procrastination."

If the board failed to act, it would be derelict in its duty, she said, and five or six persons backed her by saying "I agree."

Board president Robert E. Rogers said the board couldn't "rush off on hearsay" but would have the staff investigate.

"This isn't the only course raising a question in my mind," said trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy, who suggested that the entire procedure on use of facilities be reviewed.

Herkenhoff commented that speedy action might subject the board to severe criticism, leading one woman to reply, "Would you rather have anarchy than criticism?"

Trustee Robert E. Oliver noted it has been board policy not to act on matters at the same meeting they are first presented.

Trustees agreed that Herkenhoff should check with the Marin County Counsel's office on the power of the board to limit the use of facilities. Trustee Donald K. Felt said under the code, the board had "very, very limited" power to deny use of facilities.

The protests resulted in a clash of generations when Kimo Campbell, president of Associated Students, presented a student viewpoint.

The Experimental College is staffed and run by the students, and the courses serve the interests of the students, Campbell said.

"Revolutions come when people can no longer stand the society," he commented, drawing cries of "go" from some of the protestors.

"I'm not going," replied Campbell. "It's our country and we're going to change it. . . . We'll inherit it."

Campbell told the resident: "You have the chance to put forth your views, because it's the respectable view." Ideas can't be killed, and reactionary, repressive measures "will do nothing but encourage what you oppose," he contended.

One woman replied: "It's our country and we want to keep it that way, and won't if we permit anarchy."

Almost two hours after the protests, Marnell visited the board room briefly, apparently unrecognized by some of the protestors who had remained for the full session. He said nothing and neither did they.

In its resolution the United Republicans unit also charged that the course was for the purpose of disrupting and destroying the social and economic system of the U.S., and had the "one avowed purpose, the substitution of Communism in the place and stead of our capitalistic and free-enterprise system."

Dougan, in his letter, said he was conveying the objection of many directors and members of the Marin Property Owners Association.

They do not deny the right of lecturers to espouse their views, no matter how unsavory and unpalatable, but do "object strongly to the expression of these views in the facilities of a publicly financed institution."

"While it may have become educationally fashionable to establish 'experimental colleges,' they are fast becoming socially reprehensible when such divisive subjects can be tolerated," he said.

Sniper Shoots Out Police Car Taillight

The taillight of a sheriff's deputy's car was shot out by a sniper in Marin City last night, deputies reported today.

The patrol unit was driven by Inspector Kenneth Irvin, who was not hurt, deputies said.

The shooting occurred at 11:30 p.m. near Drake Avenue and Cole Drive.

JURY

limited by law and its own rules. If it is, indeed, investigating the Chaka matter, it would appear to be in violation of the law. Nor can the grand jury legally use the Chaka case as an excuse for looking for other wrongdoing.

The 1966 grand jury education committee, summarizing its powers and duties, said flatly that a grand jury "has no authority to investigate school districts and school district officials" except in cases of "suspected willful or corrupt misconduct in office."

It also said the panel may "routinely examine the books and records of a school district.

"The rationale for this opinion is that school district officials are not county officers and therefore are excluded from section 928 of the Penal Code which gives broad investigatory powers to the grand jury."

The only school operation the jury may investigate, the committee said, is the county schools office and schools it operates or directly aids.

A summary of powers in the grand jury manual written by Clifford S. Lund, foreman of the 1967 panel, does not expand on those powers. The manual was approved by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson and Godino.

Additionally, in the Kings County opinion in December 1965, Lynch and Holland wrote: "If the grand jury has no cause to believe that school district officials are guilty of any crime or misconduct in office, there is no statutory authorization for (it) to investigate the evaluation of teachers and principals by an official of a school district."

While the jury may inspect books and records of a district, they wrote, the penal code "does not authorize the grand jury to widen the scope of its investigation into matters which otherwise it is not authorized to investigate.

"Although the grand jury is an agency of the court, the grand jury has no inherent investigatory powers beyond those granted by the Legislature.

"There is no specific statutory power authorizing the grand jury to investigate school districts. However, the Legislature has not established easily ascertainable boundaries around the grand jury's investigatory power. By an examination, nevertheless, of those statues which do authorize investigations by the grand jury, it is clear that investigation of the evaluation of principals and other certificated employees (teachers) by officials of a school district is not authorized when the grand jury has no good cause to believe these officials are guilty of any criminal activities or other misconduct in office."

The grand jury has no power either to evaluate the conduct of school officials which is neither criminal nor misconduct, they said.

In its ruling in the Calaveras case, the Supreme Court said, "(The penal code) limits the grand jury's investigation (other than into public offenses and misconduct) to the financial affairs of the district which affect the assessing and taxing powers of the district."

"The court said the right to routinely examine a district's books does not extend to an evaluation of the personnel of the district, nor can the jury inspect personnel records.

". . . the investigatory power of the grand jury cannot be used out of curiosity or for a blanket inquiry to bring to light supposed grievances or wrongs for the purpose of criticizing a public officer or department."

Going beyond those proscribed limits, the court ruled, would constitute an "unauthorized and unwarranted interference . . . as well as a breach of confidence. . . ."

Viets Ask Premier Ouster

SAIGON (AP) — Leaders of President Nguyen Van Thieu's political front today signed a petition asking Thieu to oust Premier Tran Van Huong.

The petition calls for "a new, prestigious and able premier" to replace the ailing 66-year-old Huong.

The petition was signed by leaders of all six parties which make up Thieu's National Social Democrat Front, formed May 25 in an attempt to give the president broader political backing.

The government announced a major shakeup of generals in the South Vietnamese army today.

Two widely-criticized division commanders were transferred. They had led the 5th and the 18th Divisions, which U.S. officials rated the least efficient units in the South Vietnamese army.

One of the promotions gave a lieutenant general's stars to Nguyen Van Mingh, the commanders of the vital Saigon military district whose forces are being strengthened to give the South Vietnamese major responsibility for the capital.

The heaviest action in nearly two months was reported across South Vietnam yesterday. But U.S. military spokesmen said it was too early to tell whether it was only a brief break in the war lull or the prelude to renewal of major enemy operations.

Yesterday's two attacks by Viet Cong on the hospital at Cam Ranh and a Saigon school accounted for 14 persons dead and 160 wounded, as well as heavy damages, according to revised casualty figures released by the U.S. Command.

Tax Reform Faces Bitter Senate Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The most comprehensive tax revision measure since the income tax was framed in 1913 today faced the prospect of another three months of debate and change in the Senate.

The reform bill, which shuts the door on $7 billion in tax breaks while handing out $9 billion in reductions to individual taxpayers, passed the House yesterday 394-30.

House approval came after six months of hearings which produced 15 volumes of testimony, and after two days of floor debate.

A Senate battle appeared certain over plans in the measure to reduce the oil depletion allowance from 27 1-2 per cent to 20 per cent. The allowance is considered by many the "symbol" of tax reform.

The Senate Finance Committee, which will conduct tax reform hearings, is headed by Sen. Russell Long, D-La., who is opposed to reduction of the oil allowance. During the house vote yesterday, Democratic Whip Hale Boggs, D-La., was the only member of the eight-man delegation from oil-rich Louisiana to vote for the vast reform package.

Theft Of Four Bikes Reported

The theft of four bicycles was reported today by San Rafael Police.

Stephen L. Patnaude reported that his Schwinn bicycle was stolen from in front of his home at 151 Novato Street, yesterday.

A Schwinn bicycle valued at $60 and owned by Phillip K. Brown of 9 Laurel Place was reported stolen yesterday from the front of San Rafael High School, Mission Street.

Schwinn bicycles owned by Barbara J. Thomas, of 23 Fairfax Street, and Karen E. Staples were reported stolen from in front of the Thomas' home.

single persons and $200 for married couples.

An average taxpayer who earned $10,486 would receive a reduction of $8. A person earning $17,006 would get $29. A citizen on a $44,437 salary would be helped by $189.

Reagan pressed for the legislation as a way of partially paying back Californians for the $1 billion tax increase he sponsored in 1967. The governor said the taxpayers were overcharged.

"It would be irresponsible to spend this money for additional state programs," said the bill's Assembly sponsor, William M. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The Assembly, after a morning of indecision, passed the school aid bill 59-15. All the no votes were Democrats.

The Senate passed the measure almost simultaneously, 32-2.

Closed Door Trial Likely If Beret Leader Is Tried

SAIGON (AP) — Military sources hinted today that if the former Green Beret commander in Vietnam is brought to trial, at least part of the hearing may be behind closed doors because cloak-and-dagger secrets are involved.

These guarded hints from ranking officers at U.S. headquarters deepened the mystery around the murder and conspiracy charges against Col. Robert B. Rheault and seven subordinates, including three intelligence specialists.

Since the Army revealed the charges Wednesday, an absolute information blackout has enveloped the sensational case — the first such charges against an officer of Rheault's rank since the Uniform Code of Military Justice went into effect after World War II.

Far-out speculation was heightened by the extreme secrecy, the involvement of the elite counter-insurgency forces who specialize in clandestine warfare, and the refusal of American and South Vietnamese authorities to identify the victim apart from saying he was a Vietnamese man.

PARK

or at other California national cemeteries.

"There are still burial spaces at Willamette National Cemetery in Portland and cremation spaces at Fort Rosecrans in San Diego," the Army spokesman said. "Otherwise only Vietnam casualties or the surviving spouses of persons already buried can obtain grave sites."

However, the military spokesman noted burials undoubtedly would continue in Golden Gate and other cemeteries for another 50 to 60 years because widows of Vietnam War victims will be eligible to be buried next to their husbands if they don't remarry.

Clausen said the proposal for a national cemetery in Humboldt County—inside or outside the park—had been passed to the Department of Defense. He said he was informed a review of the whole military cemetery situation was currently underway.

Despite the disapproval of park planners—and of the conservationist Sierra Club—Rusher said there was "considerable local endorsement" of the proposal.

"It would not require the cutting of any redwoods," he said. "the proposed area is clear cut as far as redwoods are concerned.

Rusher said the cemetery within a park suggestion was unique to the Redwood situation and he wasn't making it as a general proposal. Luntey noted the National Park Service operates cemeteries at sites of historical significance, such as Shiloh and Gettysburg, but not national cemeteries like Golden Gate or Arlington.

The county supervisor said he expected a current $125,000 county economic study being made by Lockheed Corp. to consider the impact of a national cemetery in Humboldt County. He said if the study approved it, he expected the board of supervisors to make a formal request to Congress.

Driver To Jail

Pan Am Halt Clogs Airlines

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hundreds of persons grounded by a strike that idled Pan American World Airways jammed ticket counters in California today trying to find alternate transportation.

"We're scrambling around to get about 1,200 people on other airline flights," said Pan Am spokesman Paul Hurmuses at San Francisco International Airport.

The jam up came a few hours after Pan American was struck at 11 p.m. yesterday by the Teamsters Union, representing clerical and other ground employees.

Negotiators working on a new contract in Washington, D.C., reported running into a snag and talks were recessed shortly after 10 a.m. for six hours.

United Air Lines said it put all of its planes into service because of the jam up — complicated by normally heavy summer traffic and a 10-day-old strike against Western Air Lines.

Patrol Stops Three Would-Be Bridge Jumpers

Three young men — two of them teen-agers and the other 23 years old — were stopped from jumping off Golden Gate Bridge yesterday, the California Highway Patrol said today.

The three leap attempts came within a six-and-a-half-hour period.

At 7 a.m., the patrol said, Martin R. Ziss, 19, a student from Oregon, Ohio, was stopped from jumping and committed to Mission Emergency Hospital in San Francisco. The patrol said Ziss told them of family problems and said he wanted to get away from sounds and voices he heard.

Max Leon Lannert, 23, a San Francisco logger, was committed to San Francisco General Hospital when his jump attempt at 8:45 a.m. was blocked. The patrol said he had walked out of the hospital earlier yesterday. He was being treated there for a self-inflicted cut throat.

At 1:35 p.m., Ronald Wayne Henning, 18, of Pacifica, was stopped from jumping and committed to the San Francisco hospital, the patrol said. Henning, whose occupation was listed as a minister, said he "didn't feel he could reach religious goals and felt he should end it now," the patrol said.

Weinburger Seeks Higher Interest

CORONADO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's finance director opened a campaign today for a constitutional amendment to let the state pay up to 7 per cent interest for the construction money it borrows.

Finance Director Caspar W. Weinberger said money is most urgently needed to continue the $3 billion State Water Project on schedule.

The State Constitution prohibits officials from selling general obligations bonds voted by the people at higher then 5 per cent interest. Bankers aren't interested in bonds at that rate because they can get a better deal in the current tight money, high interest market.

Weinberger's comments were in an address prepared for a meeting of the California Water Resources Association.

Weinberger said "the whole future of California would be substantially endangered" if construction of the water project is significantly delayed or halted.

decorations to which they were entitled.

But the three men had lost so much weight during their internment the uniforms looked baggy.

They were reunited with their families in the privacy of the jetliner in New York after the other passengers had left, and then all of them were transferred to a medical evacuation plane the Pentagon had arranged to bring them to Washington.

Frishman, acting as the spokesman for the three, offered to answer questions of the newsmen who had gathered at Andrews Air Force Base.

Separated by the fence, the newsmen shouted questions and Frishman answered. But most of the words were lost in the roar of the planes. He did reply, however, that they had received "adequate food, clothing and housing" during their captivity.

Then an ambulance came by to carry Rumble, reportedly suffering from dysentery, chills and fever, to the Andrews base hospital. A helicopter took Frishman and Hegdahl andt heir families to the eBthesda Naval Hospital wheret hey will be examined and treated.

Frishman was accompanied by his wife, Janet, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B Frishman, of Long Beach. Accompanying Hegdahl were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hegdahl of Clark. Following Rumble's stretcher were his mother, Mrs. Lyle C. Rumble of Oroville and his brother, Bruce, 17.

Cigarette Tax Funds To Marin

Marin County received $6,090 of the July apportionment of cigarette tax, according to State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, with Marin and southern Sonoma cities and towns receiving these amounts:

Belvedere, $606; Larkspur, $2,658; Ross, $603; Sausalito, $3,275; Corte Madera, $4,686; Mill Valley, $3,925; San Anselmo, $3,757; Tiburon, $1,794; Fairfax, $2,001; Novato, $8,349, and San Rafael, $20,189.

Petaluma received $7,599; Cotati, $562, and Rohnert Park, $1,489.

OBITUARIES

ERTHA WHITTAKER

Private funeral for Ertha A. Whittaker, a Marin resident for 36 years, was held yesterday at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Mrs. Whittaker, 71, died Tuesday at a local convalescent home after a long illness.

A retired waitress, she was a member of the Bartenders and Culinary Workers Union Local 126 of San Rafael. She had been a waitress for 45 years and had last worked for the Mary Harkins El Paseo Dining Room Mill Valley.

She was a native of Sligo, Mo.

Mrs. Whittaker lived with her daughter, Mrs. Earl Burns of 210 Belle Avenue, San Rafael.

Other survivors are two sons, Granville Dwight Whittaker of West Berlin, Germany, and Glenn Harding Whittaker of Edwardsville, Ill.; three sisters, Nellie Gotelli of Martinez, Viola Zarucchi of Mill Valley, and Mrs. Cecil Hickey of Dixon, Mo.; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

MAXINE BROOKS

Maxine R. Brooks of 195 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, died yesterday at a local hospital following a long illness.

A native of Leon, Iowa, she had lived in Marin for about five years. She had been a clerk in various fabric and clothing stores.

Survivors are her mother, Effie M. Roberts of Torrance, and a brother, Richard E. Roberts, also of Torrance.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Monday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, with burial in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

MARIA ABRAS

Private funeral was held yesterday in San Mateo for Maria E. Abras of San Francisco, mother of Harry Abras of Greenbrae.

Mrs. Abras died Monday in a San Leandro convalescent home after a long illness. She was 83.

A native of Sweden, she had lived in California for 54 years.

She is also survived by a daughter, Marie Khoury of San Mateo and a sister, Judith Riis of Lemnon, S.D.

Inurnment was in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

JOHN BUTLER

John H. Butler, 57, a San Francisco advertising executive and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Butler and brother of Mrs. John H. Rockwell, all of Novato, died yesterday in San Francisco.

He was a native of San Francisco. In addition to his advertising and public relations business, he was active in many civic organizations. His home was in Alamo.

He is also survived by his wife, Eleanor and son, John.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Carew and English Mortuary in San Francisco.

JAMES CHAPMAN

James H. Chapman, retired Army master sergeant of Mill Valley, died unexpectedly yesterday in San Francisco.

Chapman, 57, apparently suffered a heart attack at work at Godeau Funeral Home and died at a San Francisco emergency hospital.

A native of Pennsylvania, he had served in the Army for 23 years and was in both World Ware II and the Korean War. He retired about 10 years ago and became a pre-arrangement counselor with Godeau.

He had been a Marin resident for about 10 years and lived at 340 Linda Way in Mill Valley.

He was acting commander of Mill Valley Post 284 of the American Legion and was a member of the Association of the U. S. Army and the Noncommissioned Officers Club at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Survivors are his wife, Rose Chapman, two daughters, Trudy and Elizabeth Chapman, both of the home, and a sister, Helen McCoy of Omaha, Neb.

Military funeral will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at Godeau Funeral Home, San Francisco, with burial in Olivet Memorial Park, Colma. Friends may call at the funeral home after 1 p.m. tomorrow.

FINAU PIATANESI

Finau Piatanesi, 80, accordion maker of San Francisco and father of Victoria Nichols of Novato, died yesterday in Carson City, Nev.

A native of Italy, he came to this country in 1908 and was credited with making the first piano accordion in the United States. He made accordions for such stars as Lawrence Welk and Dick Contino. He moved to Carson City three years ago.

He is also survived by his wife, Christiana; a son, Fineau E. Piatanesi of San Francisco; another daughter, Norma Kaline of San Francisco; a brother, Bramante of Stevensville, Mich., and a sister, Lesina of Italy.

The funeral will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Carson City. Burial will be in Lone Mountain Cemetery there.

Right Panel Against Proposed Camping Ban

A proposed ordinance banning camping in public areas of Mill Valley was branded as unnecessary last night by the Mill Valley Human Rights Commission.

Commission Chairman Roger J. Fleischmann said the commission voted 4 to 1 to urge the city council not to adopt the proposed ordinance because the problem of campers is adequately covered by existing laws.

Commission member William Williams voted against the recommendation while William Walker and Lynn Jessup were absent.

The Human Rights panel took the action after Lt. William Walsh of the Mill Valley Police Department told it existing laws could handle the situation.

In other action, the commission commended the Mill Valley School District board for hiring Alfred Gordon, 38, as principal of Strawberry Point School. Gordon is the first black principal in the district.

Fleischmann said the commission would discuss jobs for minorities at its next meeting at 8 p.m. Aug. 20 at city hall.

Cranston Calls For Public Hearings In Oil Grants

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., has urged that public hearings be made mandatory before the federal governments grants any more offshore oil leases. Currently, public hearings may be held, but are not required.

Cranston, in a letter to Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel made public today, said, "The federal government, without hearings and without proper evaluation . . . overrode objections and opened the federal portion of Santa Barbara Channel for oil exploration."

Cranston would require at least one public hearing with 10 days notice to all concern; make it mandatory that the views and recommendations of federal, state and local agencies be considered and that these views be sought early in thep roceedings, and would give greater weight to the effects of exploration on the total environment.

'I Wish I Were A Trumpet' Sets 5 More Shows

"I Wish I Were a Trumpet" — Festival Theater's original production which was interrupted last weekend by injury to an actor — has been slated for five more performances, it has been announced.

It will be presented at 8:30 p.m. today and tomorrow and on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m. Aug. 15 and 16 at the theater at 27 Kensington Road, San Anselmo.

Admission will be free, with members of the cast passing the hat for donations after the performance.

A Festival Theater spokesman said reservations will be necessary because of demand for seats.

Victim Improves

Richard L. Adkins, 39, of Petaluma, was reported inproved and in fair condition at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital. He was critically injured yesterday at 12:15 a.m. when his car went down a 20 foot enbankment and struck a tree on Stony Point Road, north of Petaluma.

Photographer Named To Beach Board

Muir Beach Community Services District directors Wednesday night appointed Bruce Harlow, a commercial photographer, to vacant seat on its board, board chairman Richard C. Bain Jr. reported today.

Harlow, a resident of Muir Beach, was one of the community's representatives who recently conferred with state Parks and Recreation Director William Penn Mott about the future development of the beach. Mott agreed that development by the state would be done in consultation with an advisory committee of Muir Beach residents.

Bain said the recent controversy over the state's aborted attempt to level the sand dunes at the south end of the 15-acre beach was discussed at the meeting, which was attended by about 40 people.

The state had attempted, but were blocked by residents, to level the dunes to facilitate cleaning of the beach and to drive out beach people who camp there illegally.

Bain said there was general feeling among the residents at the meeting that the beach should be cleaned and said many residents will participate in a clean-up of the beach tomorrow.

The board also discussed, but took no action on, a proposal to extend the district's jurisdiction to recreation and road and ditch maintenance. The extension would give the district an official hand in the state's development of the beach, will be on the ballot in the November election, Bain said.

Old Adobe School Panel Adopts $799,200 Budget

The Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, last night adopted a budget of $799,200 for the 1969-70 year that is expected to continue the present tax rate of $2.11 per $100 assessed valuation.

Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the budget represented an increase of $11,200 over the publication budget of $788,000 because a technical error had been made in compiling the costs for health insurance.

The Old Adobe School District board also:

STATE APPROVAL — Heard report from Magowan that the state Allocation Board had approved plans for a six-classroom addition to the La Tercera School and approved the preparation of plans and site development for a fourth school. He said, however, that the state provided no funds for construction but would allow the district to use local money to prepare plans for the new school.

KITCHEN — Approved the purchase of kitchen equipment from the Forman Dorman Supply Co. at a low bid of $740.

PORTABLE — Approved a leasing agreement for a portable classroom unit to be located at the Bernard E. Eldredge School.

Fireman Review

The San Rafael Fire Commission met in closed session last night to hear charges against a fireman. No action will be taken against the man, Acting City Mgr. James H. McCown reported.

A LACEY FRETWORK OF STEEL RODS

A curtain of steel rods, 14 to 21 feet high, outlines the border of Corte Madera Creek as it winds through Kentfield. Workmen from Elmer J. Freethy Co. have built two added sets of forms to make up for time lost during conservationists' creek demonstrations last April and May. First finished panel is seen in background, mixed with lamp black to prevent glare, and topped with a two foot border motif. The panel will have a six-foot green, vinyl fence on top for safety. Creek water has been shunted to Tamalpais Creek during the work. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

Tax Rate Swelled By Junior College Costs

Marin Junior College District trustees last night adopted an $11,412,582 budget estimated to carry an 8-cent hike in the tax rate to 90.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. (Another college board story, page 1.)

The increase will come from the district's general fund budget of $4,358,589, up $80,603 from last year.

Last year's tax rate was 82.5 cents, including 12.5 cents in override taxes.

The major increase in the 1969-70 tax rate will come from an override not levied last year, reported Business Mgr. Norman Bird.

Trustees voted to levy a new 7.5-cent override tax rate to gain revenue to match state funds for capital outlay projects. Another new override tax rate will be about six-tenths of a cent to provide funds for meals to needy students.

The district budget includes a building fund budget of $5,999,397, as compared to $3,401,045 last year, but bolstered by $2,512,133 in funds left over from last year.

The district's tax rate is limited to 35 cents for the general fund and 35 cents for the building fund, with the remainder of the total rate in override taxes.

Trustees also approved the Associated Students 1969-70 budget of $45,490, which would require $21,350 in district funds, that would be reimbursed by profits from the student book store.

Marin Junior College District Trustees Also:

ENROLLMENT — Received a report from Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students, that as of Wednesday, registration of full-time students for the fall semester had reached 4,216.

EDUCATIONAL PLANNING — Approved spending up to $3,500 to undertake planning of an educational program for the planned Novato campus.

BLACK STUDENTS — Received a report from Eva Turner, community liaison coordinator, that 127 black students were enrolled last spring, and 150 are expected to enroll this fall.

EQUIPMENT — Awarded Scott Electric of San Francisco, lowest of four bidders a contract to supply an electrical gear switch at a cost of $9,988.

DELEGATE ASSEMBLY — Received word from Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy who has been a member of the delegate assembly of the California School Boards Association for four years that she doesn't want to be renominated when her term expires in December.

POLICY MANUAL — Approved modification in the policies and procedures manual for students, rejecting a suggestion by Trustee Donald K. Felt that there be provision for rejecting speakers from outside the college if facilities aren't adequate or "there is reasonable fear of public disorder." Other trustees pointed out there hasn't been any disorder, and Mrs. Deedy noted speakers, who have been centers of disorders at other campuses, have appeared without trouble at the College of Marin.

OUTDATED BOOKS — Approved a program for disposing of 800 outdated library books without selling them. Felt dissented.

GIFT — Accepted 80 volumes for the library from Mrs. Mary Lou Briggs of San Anselmo as a gift in memory of her husband, the late Barton E. Briggs.

NURSING PROGRAM — Approved application for federal funds for television facilities for the registered nursing program to be conducted in conjunction with Marin General Hospital, with no cost to the college for the television facilities.

HIRING — Authorized hiring Richard R. Ryno as an instructor in the Life Sciences Department at a salary of $12,098 for 1969-70.

THE MEN AND THE BRIDGE—Asst. Supt. Robert Reed (left), of Concord, foreman Pleasant R. Smith, Point Reyes Station, and cement mason Jesse Nelson of Oakland look over Corte Madera Creek flood control plans as workmen under College Avenue bridge tear out forms. With several nationalities and races working on the bridge, some men call it the "bridge of unity." The $2.8 million project — phase 2 — is half done with completion date set for Nov. 14.

Quake Threat To Bridge Scares Insurance Firms

Risk of earthquake damage to Golden Gate Bridge will probably block the acquisition of $11 million more insurance bridge directors would like to buy, they were told yesterday.

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District would like to boost its present $46 million structural insurance to $57 million but earthquake hazzard will deter insurance companies, representatives of seven insurance brokerage and consulting firms told the district joint insurance and rules and policy committees.

The original $35 million bridge would cost $200 million to rebuild today and the brokers told the committee that even should they buy the increased coverage a new bridge could only be built with the sale of bonds.

"We are 75 per cent underinsured. It is a serious situation," declared Director Dean N. Meyer.

The brokers and consultants said that they doubted any insurance company in the world would sell more insurance for the bridge structure but they would try to obtain it if so asked by the district board.

Some of the brokers suggested the district create a fund to cover some of the insurance deficit.

The nine-man joint committee will discuss the material presented yesterday on August 28 at 9:30 a.m. at the district office before making recommendations to the full board of directors.

San Anselmo Suits Over Intersection

The City of San Anselmo yesterday filed a condemnation suit in Marin Superior Court against Mobil Oil Corp. and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for title to parcels each firm owns at the Hub intersection.

The San Anselmo city council last month ordered the condemnation for proposed redesigning of the tangled intersection.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Increasing Income For Elderly Aunt

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Our 77-year-old aunt, in a nursing home with monthly income of $232, falls short of expenses by $150. She has $5,800 in a mutual fund providing $15 a month and in 1967 she put $6,000 in E bonds. We've been advised to shift the latter into additional mutual fund shares. — D. S.

A. Your aunt's mutual fund income represents a yield of about 3 per cent on $5,800. If fund shares are increased, she'll get more dollars but the rate of return remains the same. I suggest redeeming both fund shares and E bonds, reinvesting the proceeds at approximately 7 per cent in two high-rated corporate bonds: Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph 8s of 1999 (recently recommended here) and General Motors Acceptance Corp. 7½s of 1990, with call protection of five and 10 years respectively.

Q. I'm considering Energy Fund as a new investment. I own Hamilton's Series H-DA shares. How does Energy compare with Hamilton? — H. T.

A. For my readers generally I will point out that Energy is a no-load fund while Hamilton's sales charge is 8.5 per cent. Energy's total assets were approximately one-fifth those of Hamilton on Dec. 31, 1968. Hamilton has been in operation 11 years longer — 1944 vs. 1955. Its portfolio is much more widely diversified inasmuch as Energy Fund gives priority to the stocks of companies engaged in, or supplying components for, the generating of energy, its transmission, marketing, control and measurement.

The 10-year records of the two through 1968 show a gain in net asset value of 227 per cent for Energy Fund and 110.8 per cent for Hamilton Funds. Energy's specialty selections grew rapidly in a decade of technological advancement. For five years ending in 1968, Hamilton's net asset value rose 58 per cent, Energy Fund's 90 per cent. In 1968 alone, Hamilton outstripped Energy Fund, 12 per cent vs. 6 per cent.

Eighty-seven per cent of tourists visiting Mexico in 1968 were from the U.S.

Trent Tubing Plant

EAST TROY, Wis. (UPI) — The Trent Tube Division of Colt Industries, Inc., announced it will build a $2.5 million factory in East Troy to make stainless steel condenser tubing for power plants. The new plant will increase Trent's output of this style tubing by 400 per cent.

Taste-Testing The Beverage Of The Hops

NEW YORK (BW) — An experienced panel of taste testers tasted 35 brands of domestic and imported beers and named only two in the classes generally preferred by American beer drinkers.

The panelists of Consumer Union, Inc., divided the brands into light-bodied, medium-bodied and heavy-bodied beers, according to the degree of their aroma, bitterness, strength, fullness-in-the-mouth and after-taste.

Americans reportedly prefer light-bodied beers because they have the least of these qualities.

Hamm's, followed by Coors, were rated in a class by themselves as light-bodied beers. Labatt, Molson, Miller Highlife and O'Keefe's Old Vienna were judged best among the medium-bodied beers. No heavy-bodied beer made the top class.

An article in the August issue of Consumer Reports describes how the test samples were purchased from a high-volume sales source and rushed to the laboratory for evaluation.

Test samples which were chilled in large refrigerators and served were coded with brand identification removed so they were anonymous to the panelists.

Stock Market Levels Off But Turnover Is Light

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market closed on an even keel today in light trading.

Conglomerate and gold mining issues also moved narrowly and without a definite pattern.

There were a few point-sized swingers among the oils, but the trend was mixed. One of the provisions of the House-passed tax reform bill included a reduction in the oil depletion allowance—the major tax benefit of the petroleum industry—from 27½ per cent to 20 per cent.

Motors and chemicals traded narrowly. A Commerce Department survey indicated that consumer purchases of automobiles will hold up well during the next six months.

Rails, airlines and aircrafts also moved on both sides of previous closings.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange in light turnover.

Steel Firms Agree To Automation Subsidies

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers of America (USW) has said it had reached agreement with 11 major steel companies on an "unprecedented" plan to supplement the earnings of workers whose jobs are affected by automation.

The plan will provide quarterly income benefits (QIB) to make up the difference between a worker's wages in any quarter and 85 per cent of his average quarterly earnings in the previous year.

Kaiser Will Double Aluminum Fluoride

OAKLAND (UPI) — Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. has announced plans to double its capacity to make aluminum fluoride, used primarily in the production of aluminum.

A $5 million expansion of Kaiser's Gramercy, La. plant will raise capacity to 66,000 tons per year. Construction starts early next year.

Judge Orders Sale

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — U.S. Judge Robert E. Tehan has ordered the sale of the Blatz Brewing Co. to the G. Heileman Brewing Co. of La Crosse for $10,750,000.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Nuclear Design Firm May Merge

There has been an agreement in principle between Raytheon Co. and United Engineers and Constructors, Inc. to merge United Engineers with Raytheon.

Under the terms of the agreement, Raytheon will deliver 500,000 shares of its $1.12 cumulative convertible preferred Series A stock for all outstanding shares of United Engineers common stock. Each share of Raytheon preferred is convertible to one share of Raytheon common.

If approved by United Engineers directors and stockholders the merger is expected to be consummated in December. United would continue to operate under its own name and management as a wholly owned subsidiary of Raytheon.

United Engineers, headquartered in Philadelphia, designs, engineers and constructs nuclear power facilities in industrial plants.

FAIRCHILD CAMERA AND INSTRUMENT CORP., parent company of Fairchild Semiconductor in Mountain View and San Rafael, reported a net loss of $551,000 for the second quarter, although sales of $65 million were 7 per cent higher than in the first quarter and 25 per cent higher than in the second quarter a year ago. Most losses occurred in the semiconductor division.

COCA COLA CO. has record second quarter earnings of $32.7 million compared to $29.3 million last year. Per share earnings were 57 cents, compared to last year's 51 cents. Net profit for the first half was $56 million, up from $50.8 million last year.

DOW CHEMICAL CO. plans to build a new polyethylene film production plant in Honolulu. Construction will begin this month.

BUDGET INDUSTRIES, INC., parent company of Budget Finance Plan and other financial, land development and computer software subsidiaries, has purchased Padre Island Investment Corp., a water-oriented resort community on an island near Corpus Christi, Texas, for over $6 million. More than five million tourists are expected to visit it each year when it is fully operational.

F. W. WOOLWORTH CO. first half sales totaled $949 million an increase of 14 per cent over the first half of 1968. Net income at $20.7 million was only slightly higher than 1968 first half income.

MOORE CORP., parent company of Moore Business Forms, Inc. in Oakland, reported record six months sales of $189.8 million, up 15.1 per cent from last year, and earnings of $8 million, up 12.2 per cent.

PAN AMERICAN WORLD AIRWAYS, INC. showed a net loss after taxes of $1.8 million or five cents a share for the quarter ending June 30, compared to a net income of $17.2 million or 52 cents a share for the same period last year. Operating expenses for the quarter were $270 million compared to last year's $243 million.

WESTERN AIR LINES lost $4.5 million or 93 cents a share for the first half of 1969, compared to first-half earnings of $6.1 million or $1.26 per share last year. Revenues for the half were up 17.5 per cent but expenses went up 38.9 per cent.

UNITED STATES BORAX AND CHEMICAL CORP. has elected Dr. Carl L. Randolph president, succeeding Norman J. Travis who continues with the firm as chairman and chief executive officer. Formerly executive vice president, Randolph has been with U. S. Borax since 1957.

ABBOTT LABORATORIES, Chicago, plans to acquire Spice Islands from Leslie Salt Co., San Francisoc, have been terminated by mutual agreement.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Church Business Tax Clears Legislature

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Legislature has passed and sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan a bill to tax the income of churches derived from businesses unrelated to religion.

The Assembly yesterday gave final legislative passage to the measure by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson on a 70-3 vote. The Senate earlier approved it 27-7.

Reagan has indicated he favors the concept. If he signs it California will become the first state to levy a tax on receipts from church enterprises with no religious connection.

Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, says it is impossible to estimate how much the tax will raise in new revenue.

But Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, lower house floor manager for it, estimated the initial amount at about $2 million a year.

"Nobody knows because nobody knows what churches own," said Beilenson.

Bagley told colleagues the measure would act as an equalizer between churches and their competition in a business.

"Taxes shouldn't hurt competitive business," he said. "This bill obviously creates equity where inequity exists."

Beilenson agreed. He told a newsman that the measure would also tighten state tax laws.

"If a church wants to go into business, that business should pay taxes just like any other business," he said. "A church-owned business, not subject to the same taxes, has a major competitive advantage over its commercial rivals."

A chief opponent was Assembly Democratic leader Jess Unruh, who said churches should be permitted to keep their exemption to help finance parochial schools. He said it would "provide help for those in our society who run their own schools."

Reagan says he generally approves of the concept to remove a tax shelter from businesses that gain an economic advantage from them.

"There's been general agreement—there is among the church people themselves—that this type of thing has gotten out of hand," Reagan said. He added the nonprofit organizations, such as foundations, should also be considered in such legislation.

TOPLESS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — One bill allowing cities and counties to regulate topless and bottomless entertainers was before Gov. Ronald Reagan today, another was headed for his desk in the final hours of the Legislature.

The action comes at a time San Francisco officials are considering a ban on topless dancing in the city where it all began five years ago.

The Legislature sent Reagan a bill last Friday which permits local agencies to regulate unclad dancers and entertainers in places which serve food or beverages. At present, the state preempets this field of lawmaking.

Reagan was asked at his news conference Tuesday if he would sign the bill which passed last week.

"Well, in principle, you know, philosophically, I have always agreed on local control and that's about as good a place as any to begin."

That was about as strong an indication as Reagan normally gives before signing a bill that he will approve it.

The situation could be complicated, however, if the Legislature passes a more far-reaching topless measure sponsored by Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate.

The Wakefield bill passed the Senate 22-8 Wednesday and is before the Assembly for approval of Senate amendments.

When it left the Assembly, the bill permitted local agencies to control topless and bottomless entertainment in any public place. The Senate amended the measure to exempt theaters, concert halls or similar places devoted primarily to theatrical performances.

GENOCIDE

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The legislature today asked Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch and the Public Utilities Commission to investigate organized telephone campaigns urging genocide.

The Assembly-passed resolution by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, was approved by the Senate 25-1 with Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale voting against it. There was no debate.

The measure asks that the investigation reports be turned over to the 1970 Legislature

COMMANDMENTS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly won't decide whether the Ten Commandments should be part of a "Statement of Responsibilities" for all California citizens.

Assemblyman John J. Miller, D-Berkeley, proposed yesterday night that the commandments be added to a bill by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, urging Californians to obey the law and exercise their rights.

But the Assembly refused to vote on the commandments and instead, sent them and the bill to the rules committee, virtually killing the measure.

As Miller made his request, Assemblyman Carlos Bee, D-Hayward, interrupted saying: "I move that these amendments be tabled. I think this is ridiculous! Shame on you!"

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, asked: "Is this question divisible?" When informed it was not, he quipped: "There are some parts of these amendments that I just can't vote for."

GUN CONTROLS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A gun control bill only a final Senate vote away from Gov. Ronald Reagan's desk today was condemned by Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco as "playing into the hands of Black Panthers" and other revolutionaries.

The bill, by Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, reserves to the state all power to legislate firearm licensing and registration. It would wipe out gun control laws now in effect in San Francisco and Beverly Hills.

Alioto telegraphed Reagan yesterday that the bill "should receive your immediate veto."

Although the bill would strike down local gun control ordinances, the state has no comprehensive gun licensing or registration law.

Alioto, a Democrat and potential opponent of Reagan in next year's gubernatorial election, said cities should be free to enact their own gun laws because they "may have a greater imperativeregistration than suburbia and rural areas."

EXPO PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill abolishing the California Exposition and Fair Executive Committee by replacing it with a new committee composed of state officials was approved early today by the Senate.

The measure by Assemblyman Walter Powers, D-Sacramento, was sent back to the Assembly on a 29-1 vote for concurrence in amendments. Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, cast the sole negative ballot.

The proposal creates a five-member board that would be required to contract with a private corporation to operate the financially ailing Cal Expo.

The board will be composed of the State Treasurer, Controller and finance, public works and general services directors.

HOMEOWNERS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill extending to Sept. 1 the deadline for some homeowners and veterans to file for a $70 rebate and one-time-only $750 property tax exemption moved today to Gov. Ronald Reagan's desk.

The Assembly voted 68-0 Thursday to approve Senate amendments to the measure by Assemblyman John Quimby, D-Rialto, who said homeowners, confused by tax-relief legislation, improperly filed one form to cover both the rebate and exemption.

The measure extends the expired May 30 deadline for the $750 exemptions for veterans and permits homeowners to file a second form for the rebate or exemption, whichever they missed.

Many veterans failed to qualify for veterans exemptions and when they sought tax relief from Proposition 1-A, the deadline for filing had passed, Quimby said.

Voters approved Proposition 1-A last November which provided for a $70 rebate on 1968 property taxes and a $750 exemption on 1969 taxes.

HOSPITALS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate passed last night a three-bill package calling for statewide area planning of health facilities and loans to provide the funds needed to build them.

Two of the bills are the work of the Assembly Health and Welfare Committee headed by Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford. They returned to the lower house for approval of Senate amendments.

The third measure, by Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point, who sponsored the other bills, now moves to Gov. Reagan's desk.

One committee bill, approved 23-8, provides voluntary area planning of hospitals and similar facilities by local, area and state councils composed of government and health officials and private citizens.

It would determine which regions lack sufficient health facilities and which have too many and recommend whether additional facilities should be built An unfavorable recommendation would not prohibit construction.

The other committee bill, passed 25-12, would prohibit the payment of Medi-Cal funds to any new or expanded facility unless it received a favorable decision from the Health Planning Council or the voluntary area planning agency.

The Teale bill, approved 27-11, enacts the California Health Facility Construction Loan Insurance Law to stimulate private financing of new, expanded or modernized facilities under a system of statewide planning.

UNREST CURBS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A joint conference committee recommended today the Senate give up its efforts to toughen up Assembly bills taking a moderate approach to curbing campus dissent.

The committee on a bill by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Leucadia, recommended tougher provisions put in the bill by the Senate be dropped and the Assembly version sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan.

A conference committee on a second bill by Assemblyman Frank Murphy Jr., R-Santa Cruz, still had to reach agreement.

The two omnibus bills it took the Assembly Education and Criminal Procedure Committees most of the session to write were thrown into conference yesterday when the Assembly refused to accept Senate changes.

The Senate had amended the Stull measure to permit campus administrators to declare a state of emergency. Any unauthorized person on the campus then could be charged with a misdemeanor.

The Upper House changed the Murphy bill to permit administrators to ban nonstudents from campuses for 72-hours and bar dismissed students for a year.

Key provisions in the Murphy bill call for jail terms for persons convicted of repeatedly using obscene language; banishment from campus for demonstrators; a ban on use of loudspeakers without permission and application of breach of the peace laws to campus.

Principal elements in the Stull bill would provide for suspension of state aid to students who disrupt campuses and would fire, dismiss or suspend faculty members or students convicted of a disturbance-related offense.

The bill also requires the state to reimburse local governments half the cost of policing campus disorders after the first $100,000.

Sacramento Veteran Hugh Donnelly Dies

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Hugh P. Donnelly, who served 32 years as a legislator from Stanislaus County, died Thursday in a Sacramento convalescent hospital.

Donnelly, 78, was a former Turlock insurance man. He was elected to the Assembly in 1935, and moved to the Senate in 1943. He lost his Senate seat in the 1966 reapportionment and retired in 1967.

Quakers are known also as members of the Religious Society of Friends.

Tree Collision Injures Driver

Robert John Perinoni, 17, of 1845 Second Street, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital early yesterday for cut left eyelid after his car smashed into a tree on Butterfield Road near Deer Hollow Road.

The California Highway Patrol said Perinoni apparently fell asleep as he was driving home from taking his mother to work. He missed a curve and hit the tree at 6:03 a.m., the patrol said.

Perinoni was cited for not having a valid driver's license in his possession.

Revived BCDC Again Hears Fill Request

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Development plans for a 96-acre marshland parcel in Corte Madera again aroused strong opposition as the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission yesterday heard an application to fill part of the parcel — for the fifth time in three years.

San Anselmo developer Frank M. Burke, by now addressing commissioners by their first names, again argued that his proposal met the BCDC's own master plan for the bay because it would increase public access to the bay, preserve the most valuable marsh, and use the industrial portion for marine industries.

Burke's $1.7 million proposal last was heard by BCDC in January, and won only 11 of the needed 13 votes.

It includes a marina, bayside park, motel-restaurant-shop area, fishing pier, 32.8 acres of light industrial sites, and 44.6 acres preserved in their natural state and dedicated to the Marin Conservation League.

But Harold Gregg, president of the league, opposed Burke's application. He acknowledged the league would welcome title to the 44.6 acres, but insisted the entire marsh should be saved "by some funding. If you ever fill a square foot of the bay, you should open up another foot of it," he declared.

Gregg's position was disputed by commissioner Hans A. Feibusch of San Francisco, who said, "Somehow, we have to come to grips with Mr. Heerdt and his property," W. J. Heerdt of San Francisco owns the parcel, for which Burke has an option.

Feibusch led commission opposition to Burke's four previous applications, but yesterday indicated he now may favor it. An appointee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, he will have to leave the commission in the fall because the new law extending the life of the commission eliminated proxies.

Feibusch termed Gregg's proposal that the entire marsh be preserved "only an ideal."

Also opposing Burke's application were the Sierra Club, Council for Civic Responsibility, a Peninsula citizens group, and a resident of the Greenbrae Boardwalk, Edith Witt.

Miss Witt argued that the salicornia marsh was unique in the bay, and an important producer of the oxygen needed in the bay to assimilate wastes and sustain marine life.

Marcella Jacobson of the Council for Civic Responsibility argued approval of the Burke application "would set a very serious adverse precedent" that could clear the way for Westbay Community Associates' hope to develop its 10,000-acre property in San Mateo County.

The only proponent of Burke's application, beside Burke, was Corte Madera Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher. Noting the town had "become a bit skeptical" of the BCDC, he said "favorable consideration of the current proposal would clearly strengthen the commission's claim to credibility."

The commission will vote on the application at its next meeting, 2 p.m. on Aug. 21 in the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Merchants Want Angle Parking Kept

A majority of the 16 merchants attending a meeting at the Novato Community House last night opposed changing from angle parking to parallel parking on a portion of Grant Avenue, west of Highway 101.

Clifford E. Temps, public works director, said that the city, which is resurfacing Grant Avenue, wants to put in parallel parking to widen the street, making left turn lanes possible and speeding the flow of traffic.

The loss would be 27 parking places on the south side of Grant between Second and Fifth Street and in one half block on the north side of Grant west of Fifth, he said.

There are a total of 149 parking places of which an average of 70 were used at 10 a.m. and 90 at 3 p.m. in a daily survey made between July 9 and 19th, Temps said.

There are 581 parking places in the lots and at the rear of the building of which only 58 per cent were used during the survey, he said.

In the angle parking places, there were 16 accidents last year compared to five in the parallel parking places. So far this year there were 13 accidents in the angle parking places compared to one in the parallel parking, he said.

David Dinsmore of David's Barber Shop at 1405 Grant Avenue said that women could not parallel park and preferred angle parking. He said he had 493 signatures against the change, but kept the petition.

Benjamin F. Edwards, president of the Downtown Merchants Association, said he would not oppose the parallel parking if the city made up for the loss in parking spaces in other areas.

The matter will come before the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

96 First Edition Recordings Donated

An anonymous Sebastopol resident has donated 96 first edition recordings to the Sonoma State College Library.

The collection, valued at more than $800, includes classic which will be used by students of music composition and the 20th Century music class being offered in the fall.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's fidnings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Film Report of the Film Estimate Board unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Ice Station Zebra" — Fast action, adventure and spectacular imaginative special effects make this film a thrilling dramatic experience with suspenseful mystery interwoven.

"Love Bug" — Disney presents a whimsical story about a car that not only has a heart and mind of its own, but ability to drive itself. Highly imaginative fantasy.

"Mrs. Brown, You Have a Lovely Daughter" — An enjoyable bit of escapism in this British musical. Pop songs, romances, gay adventure . . . well made, happy entertainment!

"Winnie the Pooh" — A. A. Milne's tale for all ages.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"April Fools" — Man meets wife of his boss at a cocktail party and they run off to live in Paris. Good cast wasted on a stupid story.

"Dr Zhivago" — Russian revolution brilliantly recreated. Well worth seeing for magnificent spectacle.

"How to Commit Marriage" — Ridiculous farce which pokes fun at married people who rush into divorce and young people who drop out and form own society. Unconventional situations seem only absurd.

"If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium" — Comic treatise on the habits and customs of the American tourist. Good family fare except for bedroom scenes thrown in.

"Kenner" — Mediocre melodrama with cliche-ridden plot about prostitute with heart of gold, her appealing son, and American seaman in Bombay. Not recommended for children.

"Lion in Winter" — Rich, explosive drama that makes brilliant reality out of distant history. King Henry II must choose one of his three sons as his successor. Intrigues and maneuvering makes for high drama. Flawless production.

"The Maltese Bippy" — Fast moving, any comedy by Rowan and Martin.

"Night They Raided Minsky's" — Raucous replay of the low comic world of burlesque of the 1920s.

"Pendulum" — An absorbing thriller explores questions on Supreme Court rulings on constitutional rights of accused. Case of convicted rape-murderer is dismissed when proved that arresting officer used illegally-obtained evidence in making arrest. Later, when same officer's wife is brutally murdered, he is arrested on circumstantial evidence. Thought-provoking for adults and older teens. Not for children.

"Shoes of the Fisherman" — A Russian archbishop after 20 years in Siberian prison, is released by Soviet premier and sent to Rome. Becomes cardinal, then pope. . . . New Russian premier, fearful of China, calls upon him to meet with Russian and Red Chinese leaders to seek way out. . . . Near perfect adaptation of prize-winning novel.

"Where Eagles Dare" — Complicated plot revolves around agents and double agents whose mission is to rescue an American general held captive in a castle on a mountain top. Tension and excitement hold to very end . . . but filled with bloody violence. Not for children.

ADULTS ONLY

"Goodbye, Columbus" — Picture of Jewish family is real and humorous. The warmth of the people comes through all the surface vulgarity. Explicit sex and nudity.

"If" — Harrowing British study of violently rebellious youth. Unattractive world of a boys' school. A highly disturbing film.

40 Hub Children In 'Wizard Of Oz' Show

"The Wizard of Oz" is set for next Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p.m. at Wade Thomas School in San Anselmo, featuring a cast of 40 children in a theatre in-the-round adaptation of the Frank L. Baum classic by San Anselmo recreation supervisors Joene Denning, Marsha Johnson and Candice McLaren.

The three-act costume play is at 8 p.m.

The U.S. average gasoline tax is 10.68 cents.

Sonoma State College Sponsors Chess Meet

The third annual Sonoma State College Chess Tournament is planned for Aug. 30 and 31 at the Student Commons.

Participants may register from 9 a.m. to noon on Aug. 30 with the first round beginning at 1 p.m. There will be A and B classes as well as a junior class for players 16 years and under. A trophy will be awarded for the best player under ten years and to the Rohnert Park champion. Prizes will beo ffered at every level of play.

Kuwait's proved crude oil reserves are estimated at more than 10 billion tons, about 15 per cent of the world's supply.

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Rustic Valley Of The Moon Boasts A Gourmet Restaurant

Sonoma County's Valley of the Moon, immortalized by Jack London, is a stretch of peaceful vineyard and wooded scenery between Santa Rosa and the City of Sonoma — a distance of 25 or more miles.

The mean boundaries of the valley are not too clearly defined. I suspect that over the years they have been extended to include some extra real estate under promotion. But the heart of the area is generally taken to be around Eldridge, Glen Ellen and Kenwood. At least this is the heart of the Jack London country.

Close to the entrance of Jack London State Park is London Lodge on Arnold Drive, the main road through Glen Ellen — a rustic dinery and lounge that blends into the surrounding landscape so naturally it seems that it must have always been there.

There is a large semi-shaded parking lot and the lodge is built on the edge of Sonoma Creek. No great stream of rushing water flows through here, except perhaps in the winter, but the trees, rocks and sand make a pleasant outlook from the dining room windows.

The dinner menu features New York and sirloin steaks, brochettes, shish kebab, lobster, abalone, prawns, scallops, sole, sweetbreads, beef stroganoff and chicken in several styles. Prices are about what you pay in Marin.

If you are a light eater, I'd suggest something like the combination crab and shrimp louie or the steak sandwich, either one of which will give you enough eating pleasure and sustenance without going overboard.

The bar at London Lodge is a semicircular affair, with many of the local residents on one side and a variety of owl figurines on the other — a fancy of owner Bill Colling's wife Marie. Bill himself is generally to be found in charge of this part of the operation. There is an organ bar which features Eunice Jones Friday and Saturday nights from 9 p.m.

The lodge is nicely situated for Marin motorists looking for a change of scenery on the trip home. Drive there either from the Santa Rosa side or the Sonoma side and take the opposite course on your return.

ANJO'S in San Rafael (535 Fourth Street) is now serving dinners on Sundays from 4:30 to 10 p.m. Heretofore food service has been shut down on Sundays.

In addition to the regular menu, chef Angelo Camporeale says he will feature two Sunday specials. This Sunday, for instance, you'll find culotte steak (there are only four to a steer) and veal scallopini. The complete steak dinner with all the extras is $4.50. Complete veal scallopini dinner is $3.50.

HOWARD CADWELL continues to act as his own chef at Fleur de France in San Rafael — and has been doing well at it for more than three months.

I imagine he now has the job on a permanent basis. And it probably pleases his wife Mary who runs the dining room. Where else will a wife find such an opportunity to give orders to her husband?

Menu is still the same — American and Continental — to fit the name. But don't be surprised to see the name changed again someday.

MEANWHILE, Leo Albertoni, who used to be co-owner when it was Mission Inn for so many years, will soon celebrate his second anniversary at The Spa at 18 Petaluma Boulevard North in Petaluma.

Leo may have started without serving food but apparently he soon drifted back into his cooking ways. I understand he serves from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. daily, with lunches, sandwiches at all times and daily specials for dinner.

Among the latter, rotated during the week, are Swiss steak, pot roast and noodles, prawns, corned beef and a few others — just like his San Rafael menu used to serve. Hardly a day goes by that someone from Marin does not visit his place. When he was in San Rafael it was the other way around.

SO MANY CALLS were received by Bill Bisson protesting the closing of Bill and Adolph's West End Villa for lunches that he has decided to reopen again. I thought this might happen.

Lunches will start again Tuesday, which is also the fourth anniversary of West End under the ownership of Bill and his partner Adolph Motta. Mid-day service will be Tuesdays through Fridays from 11:30 a.m.

Now a headliner on the dinner menu is duck l'Orange. It's been served here for some time — but not as a regular menu listing.

GIFT CERTIFICATES — As far as I know, no restaurant here features them — I mean the prepared printed kind like merchandise orders that you can mail or hand out for birthday or anniversary presents. Ondine, I think, used to issue them around the Christmas holidays, but that was a few years ago.

I'm sure most any restaurant will sell you one for whatever amount you specify so you can present it to a friend or relative. It's rather a nice gesture if you have enjoyed a good meal to pass along the experience to someone else this way.

I talked to Frank De Natale, manager of Bob's of Marin restaurant in Corte Madera about this and he tells me that Bob's has a form letter it uses. He says, too, that credit card holders can make arrangements to charge the meals of someone else — and this can be handled two ways, either for a flat sum or for the full amount incurred by the donee.

It's still 139 days until Christmas, but the idea is worth considering for that time of the year, if not for some other appropriate occasion.

JEAN'S KITCHEN in Ross is now featuring a complete spaghetti dinner on Saturday nights at $1.85, and a complete roast beef dinner on Sundays at $2.85.

No need to dress up if you are returning from the beach or somewhere else outdoors, says owner Jean Dobson. Come casually.

CHINESE DINNERS at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael are now served from 5:30 to 11 p.m. for latecomers.

Lunches are cut off at 2:30 p.m. during the week. And the restaurant is closed all day Sunday and on Monday night. However, the snack bar in the bowling alley is kept open.

LARRY VANNUCCI, regularly featured at the organ bar of San Rafael Joe's Tuesday through Saturday nights, will be presented in an organ concert at the Avenue Theater in San Bruno on Sunday, Aug. 31 from 3 to 5 p.m. Tickets may be secured at the box office on the day of the concert.

THERE'S AN ALL DAY PICNIC going on tomorrow at Inverness — open to those who may be visiting the beaches or hiking the trails.

St. Columba's Episcopal Church will present its Land and Sea Feast with an a la carte lunch from noon until 3 p.m. — and a dinner from 4 to 8 p.m. which features fresh oysters from the Johnson Oyster Co. These will be barbecued on the half shell or served en casserole, along with clam chowder, barbecued chicken and other accessories. Dinner tab at $3.75 is for all you can eat.

A liturgical art exhibit will be shown at the church at the same time.

SAN FRANCISCO DINERS OUT CLUB, located at 935-D Lootens Place, San Rafael has increased the number of local restaurants in its membership books from three to 12 since it opened here in February. Altogether there are 50 establishments participating. Tickets are good until July 1, 1970 and the cost is $9.

I am told that about 90 per cent of them are valid on weekends and most are good for a choice of entrees — or at least the main selections.

Store Gives Out Free Holy Air

TOKYO (UPI)—A department store today gave away 1,000 cans of fresh air collected the day before on the summit of sacred Mount Fuji.

About 1,300 employees of Matsuya Department store climbed the 12,389 foot mountain with empty cans and sealed them at the peak. They were distributed to pedestrians in front of three Matsuya stores in Tokyo and Yokohama.

Smog reduced visibility in Tokyo to about two blocks yesterday but lifted somewhat today.

"A recipient may feel refreshed by the Mount Fuji air or may take it for an empty can," a store spokesman said.

No Complaint

No complaint was filed Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court against Louis Ramos, 33, of Pacific, arrested Sunday in Tiburon on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon on Angel Island.

STAMP PROTEST

Gas Station Owner Fights Lease Loss

By TOM COCKRELL

A service station operator in Corte Madera has charged in a letter to State Sen. Jack F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, that he is losing his station because he balked at oil company pressure to give away extra trading stamps in an effort to boost gasoline sales.

Harold E. Fitzgibbon, a 51-year-old Air Force veteran and service station operator in Marin for 10 years, delivered his letter to the senator's secretary in San Rafael yesterday and said, "It's just so doggone unfair, I'll take this all the way to the President if I have to."

Fitzgibbon has also launched a neighborhood petition drive to force Union Oil Co. to rescind cancellation of his lease on the station at 700 Tamalpais Drive.

He has collected 150 signatures by stopping customers at the pumps and tramping at night with his family in the neighborhood of their 70 Hilarita Avenue home in Mill Valley.

Copies of the petition, he says, will go to Union Oil officials and to McCarthy.

He has operated the station for a year and says he gave away some stamps but was repeatedly pressured by Union Oil sales representatives to double and triple the giveaway at his own expense, or he would lose his lease.

A spokesman for Union Oil Co. denied the allegations today.

"The matter of handling multiple stamps is not involved in our decision to terminate Mr. Fitzgibbon's lease," Paul C. Orme, a district manager in the oil company's First Street headquarters in San Francisco said. He gave no reason for the action.

"We in no way encourage multiple trading stamps. And under no circumstances do we pressure a dealer to give them," Orme said.

Recounting his dilemma, Fitzgibbon said he was asked to buy extra stamps from the Blue Chip Company at the usual $40 for a roll of 25,000. He normally must buy about two rolls a month, he said.

The stamps are given away normally at the rate of four per gallon of gas purchased, a gallon of gas purchased, a premium worth four tenths of a cent.

But in May and June, he said, a Union Oil sales representative told him his gas sales were off and he would have to increase the giveaway or risk that the lease be terminated.

Fitzgibbon says he held out against the pressure and on July 12 was informed by Orme that his lease would not be renewed. It runs out Tuesday.

While denying company involvement in pressuring for expanded stamp giveaways, Orme conceded that the practice is widespread, particularly in the Oakland-East Bay area and on the southern Peninsula.

Fitzgibbon, a Richfield dealer in Mill Valley before taking over the Union station last Aug. 15, said he has put $5000 into it, cashing his insurance policy to buy stock and equipment.

In his letter to Sen. McCarthy, Fitzgibbon said, "When the comapny had its disaster in Santa Barbara, I tried to promote good will for them; but it seems that beside littering the beach with oil, they want to litter the countryside with dealers."

Court Clears Timothy Leary

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A court has thrown out a misdemeanor charge against Timothy Leary of contributing to the drowning death of a minor, Charlene Rene Aleimeda, 17, who died July 15 on the Leary ranch near Idyllwild.

Riverside Municipal Court Judge Elwood Rich ruled yesterday that the charge was not specific enough, but he gave the district attorney's office until Aug. 21 to file an amended complaint.

Meanwhile, the Riverside County coroner's office disclosed that the drug psilicibin, a mind-stimulating derivative of a deadly mushroom species, was a "major factor" in the death last Sunday of John Griggs, 26, at the Leary ranch.

Griggs died in Hemet Hospital after suffering convulsions and going into a coma.

City Shouldn't Paint Itself Into A Corner

The San Rafael City Council seems to be painting itself into a corner in relocation of the city corporation yard.

The series of events leading to this situation is a bit complicated, and will bear reviewing.

IT STARTED IN 1964, when the council hired engineer Daniel P. Coleman to prepare a plan for proposed development of the 7.8-acre corporation yard property between Francisco Boulevard and the San Rafael Canal, as a preliminary to offering it for sale.

The plan was filed and forgotten. Two years went by. Then, in November of 1966, at suggestion of then-Councilman Louis H. Baar, the council offered to swap the property to the county for the courthouse square in downtown San Rafael.

The county supervisors gave that suggestion a cold shoulder. Whereupon, early in 1967, the council put the corporation yard property up for sale — as a single parcel.

No offer resulted. Two more years went by.

IN APRIL OF THIS year, the board of supervisors — with Baar and former Mayor John F. McInnis now members — expressed interest in discussing the land swap proposed long ago by the city. But at the very city council meeting at which this should have been discussed, the city received an offer from two auto dealers to buy about half of the 7.8 acres—the half on the Francisco Boulevard side. The council promptly accepted it.

Where to put the corporation yard then became the question. It developed that in its sale — plus a land exchange with the State of California which gave the state a slice of property along the canal shoreline — the city had not left a deep enough piece of property for use as a corporation yard.

The council then directed architect Robert W. F. Severin to prepare a plan for the corporation yard on city-owned property at Lincoln Avenue south of Second Street, now used for parking Greyhound buses. But the California Division of Highways wants part of that for the new freeway connection.

This week, the council told Severin to re-plan for the corporation yard north of Second Street, on property now used for a municipal parking lot.

THIS, HOWEVER, may turn out to be an unfortunate location and only a temporary one.

There must be some place to park buses when (let's not say "if") the Marin Transit District puts in an improved bus system. With the present parking site pre-empted for future state construction, this leaves the property where the city now proposes its corporation yard as just about the only feasible bus parking location.

'WAY BACK IN 1964, when sale of the Francisco Boulevard property was first discussed, councilmen talked of relocating the yard on city property near the San Rafael Sanitation District sewage treatment plant.

One objection at that time was the cost of additional fill which would be required. Now, however — as a result of Bay Conservation and Development Commission controls — fill not only can be obtained free, but property owners charge a fee for permission to dump it on their property.

Maybe the city council should look again at the site near the sewer plant, before it paints itself completely into a corner.

Imbalanced Nature

We recently came across the true story of the mule deer in Grand Canyon National Park. We repeat it here because it might be worth considering in connection with Marins' mule deer problem.

The national park and adjacent Kaibab National Forest supported a reasonable number of deer, but in order to increase it the government decided to kill all the mountain lions in the area. At first the deer multiplied at a great rate. Then, having outgrown their food supply, they began to starve, and ate the roots and killed the plants which had comprised their diet. The deer all but vanished. The bare ground eroded.

The result was sterility, not bounty.

President's Visit To Romania Was Strictly His Own Idea

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The President has decided that Communist Eastern Europe does not belong to the Soviet Union. He plans to expand U. S. diplomatic initiatives there.

His bold and audacious trip to independent-minded Romania is only the beginning.

President Nixon knew that Moscow would not relish having him dramatically holding out the hand of American cordiality to the one Warsaw-bloc state which has been most critical of Russian foreign policy — but he did it anyway and for two purposes:

He felt it urgent to let the Kremlin leaders understand that he did not consider Communist Eastern Europe to be off-limits to American diplomacy.

He wanted them to realize that if they undertook to discipline the Romanians — as they did the Czechs — it would hurt the chances for Moscow getting what it wants from the United States.

THE WHOLE CONCEPT of the Romanian trip is Nixon's own and in order to bring it off the President had to resist and, in the end, reject the influence of the top level of the State Department.

The diplomats were against it. Mr. Nixon was for it. The President prevailed.

It should be understood that Mr. Nixon is not planning any anti-Soviet conniving in Moscow's front yard in Eastern Europe. And he's not thinking of the use of U. S. military force.

But he undertook this unique mission — the first time a President of the United States ever visited a Communist capital -- to illustrate that he did not view Communist East Europe as an untouchable appendage of the Soviet Union.

HE FELT it useful at this time to counter the too-widely accepted Russian doctrine that "what's mine is mine and what's yours is up for grabs." He went to Bucharest to demonstrate that the United States expected to enlarge its economic, political and cultural contacts with all of Eastern Europe. Further moves in that direction will be forthcoming.

He also wanted it evident to the Russians that they would need to consider the stakes should they think about cracking down on Romania for being openly critical of a number of Soviet actions, particularly the occupation of Czechoslovakia.

In effect, Mr. Nixon appears to be saying that if the Russians want among other things good relations with the United States because of their bad relations with Red China, they shouldn't assume that they can intervene in the internal affairs of Eastern European nations with impunity.

And it is a fair assumption that what Mr. Nixon said without using words in the very fact he went to Romania is not lost on the Kremlin leadership.

THE PRESIDENT is exceedingly displeased with the negative role which the higher echelon in the State Department played in preparing his trip.

He found it massively unsatisfactory. This dissatisfaction does not apply to Secretary of State William Rogers, but to career diplomats.

Those who know Mr. Nixon's thinking are aware that at the higher level of policy making the State Department was against the President's visit to Romania, was against his going to South Vietnam and was against the way he unfolded his views at the background press briefing in Guam.

Mr. Nixon is not amused, he is not impressed, he is profoundly dissatisfied.

The President is gravely disturbed to have found the top level of the State Department so unimaginative, intellectually sterile, and timid.

Stick Together To Save Schools

After reading Bryce Anderson's article (I-J, Aug. 6) concerning the financial squeeze of Marin Catholic, I felt inspired to speak forth . . .

Having attended Catholic schools since nursery school, I have an advantage of realizing what all this means . . . Being a graduate of Marin Catholic in 1966, I am worried about my alma mater. I am sure that this school is not the only one which will close within a year if it does not receive financial support . . .

Father Dullea sees the financial squeeze as it appears now, and he has done everything within reason to keep the doors open. However, one man cannot work complete wonders without the help of the people. . . .

In memory of my brave Marine brother, Tom, the family has set up a memorial funds at Marin Catholic; but that cannot even begin to meet the expenses of the school. My brother, while he was in Viet Nam, wrote home telling us how much an education meant to him. If he had returned, he would have gone on to a higher education. He knew the true benefits of education and he begged each of us to continue no matter what.

People of Marin, let's stick together, like our men in Viet Nam are doing for the sake of freedom, and work toward the continuance of parochial schools. Open your hearts and

Invitation To Relief Clients Defended

As one of the people who worked on "an invitation" to welfare recipients I must speak up on the article that was printed in the I-J against the wording of it.

When a person is on welfare, how many "invitations" does he ever get? All he gets is pressure from his creditors, and just trying to make ends meet, if he has a family. I thought that social service was a human agency, with people who feels the needs of the people they serve. If there were no clients, there would be no social service. Since it does exist, and does serve wonderfully well, in my opinion, why not "an invitation"? Why an IBM approach all the time? Why must they constantly give welfare people only case numbers? I know it's necessary for the records, but I saw "an invitation," not an effort to attract more welfare cases, but as a way of helping those now on welfare get in contact with the people they may have questions of.

I have nothing but praise for our social service as I've had personal dealings with them in my time of need. We never wanted sickness to hit our family, but it did, and social service really were decent with us. Miss (Betty) Presley is the sweetest woman I've ever met. In fact everyone I've met and dealt with at the Civic Center have been nice to me and my family.

Silence Vanishes, Even At Library

There was a time when one could visit a library and enjoy the quietness found only at such a place. A sign in the library would indicate that "Silence is Golden." Now, however, in yet another form of "permissiveness" condoned by our modern society, there is not a quiet corner to be found. Children are noisy while adults and teen-agers alike are gabbing. Times have changed, it's true. Gone are the pleasant hours spent at a library with an interesting material. Gone is the quiet a student needs while working on a research project or thesis. Silence, apparently, is no longer considered golden.

Democrats' Policy Council May Have Important Role

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — That long-promised Democratic Policy Council is finally beginning to take shape, and under circumstances which suggest that it may play a more significant role than had been expected.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey discussed the council membership here last week with Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Harris is expected to name the council and its constituent committees in a week or two.

Humphrey, as the 1968 presidential candidate, has been all but formally announced as chairman of the new policy group. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Me., Humphrey's running mate, has also agreed to serve.

RECENT EVENTS give a new lustre to a Humphrey-Muskie policy council. The members of the 1968 team rank now as the top contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

Only a few weeks ago it appeared that the policy council was fated to be a pallid bit of window dressing for the Democrats. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., had declined to serve on the council, and Kennedy was then viewed as the all-but-certain Democratic presidential candidates for 1972.

All that is changed now. In the wake of the auto accident which killed Mary Jo Kopechne, Kennedy has ruled himself out of the 1972 presidential contest. His policy inclinations are suddenly a good deal less important than before.

IN 1956 the top congressional Democrats, then Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, resisted the formation of a similar policy group known as the Democratic Advisory Council. Their objection was that Democrats in Congress must set the policy line when the White House is in Republican hands.

The same objection has been made by some congressional Democrats to creation of the new policy council. Their objection has lost much of its force, however, as it has become apparent that Democrats in Congress cannot chart a policy line in the sense that the Rayburn-Johnson leadership charted it as the Eisenhower administration's loyal opposition.

In fact, the recent maneuvering over President Nixon's request for a one-year extension of President Johnson's income tax surcharge resulted in a rather embarrassing non-policy from congressional Democrats.

THE NEW COUNCIL, as now being constituted, is somewhat different from the group originally envisioned by Harris to act as a sort of shadow cabinet. Harris had first planned a council of about 30 top Democrats carefully balanced as to ideology.

Harris quickly discovered, however, that it is no simple task to balance the varying shades of Democratic opinion on a council of relatively small membership.

As now contemplated, the council will include a small executive committee, plus committees with expertise on specific issues.

Harris is screening lists of possible committee experts, which include academicians as well as Democrats from party organizations at all levels.

When there is an income tax, the just man will pay more and the unjust less on the same amount of income.—Plato.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Smog Battle Joined 'For Keeps' As Legislators Push Measures

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Despite the fact that progress is slow in the battle against air pollutants, the battle will continue.

In the closing days of the 1969 legislative session, Assemblyman John Francis Foran, D-San Francisco, who has been one of the most ardent legislators Waging the war against "smog", introduced a resolution directing the California Air Resources Board to take action to stiffen the state's automobile smog standards.

It was Foran's committee that last year drafted the Pure Air Act, which now stands as the toughest automobile smog law in the nation.

"MY RESOLUTION will serve as formal notice to the ARB that the legislature expects it to initiate prompt action to reduce automobile smog," said Foran.

In the resolution is a directive to the ARB to determine the necessity and technological feasibility of establishing even stronger commission standards for future years, and if established, to petition immediately for a new waiver from the federal government for these standards.

Meanwhile, Foran and other legislators announced the Assembly has received an additional $300,000 from the U.S. Department of Transportation to carry out its experimental steam bus project. The Assembly received an initial grant to test this type of bus in the San Francisco Bay area, as an effort to assist the state in efforts to stimulate the development of smog-free engines.

Also, the state is proceeding with an experiment to install steam engines in some California Highway Patrol cars, and by next month, Foran says he expects engine contracts will be awarded.

ON ANOTHER front in the battle against smog, the state Senate voted a bill to eliminate internal combustion gasoline engine cars on California highways after 1972. This measure was killed in an assembly committee, but this did not deter Nicholas Petris, D-Contra Costa, from stating that he would try again next year to get such a measure through the legislature.

The Petris measure is the most drastic proposed yet in the smog fight. The senator was as surprised as anyone else when it passed the Senate. But the measure has served its purposes in making the citizens of California and the legislature even more aware of the seriousness of the smog problem.

California's smog problem will be a long time in the solving. Legislators are accused of being too slow with remedial legislation, but on the other hand the problem is one which cannot be solved immediately without entire disruption of the economy.

Just Little Assessment District —The Part That Shows, That Is

Those who attend meetings of public agencies with any regularity soon come to realize that the most innocuous appearing items on the agenda are often the most explosive.

Although the antiwar and antinudity items certainly can stir a council and its audience to excesses of emotion and downright bad manners, it is the little, unsuspected subjects that quite often do the most damage.

IN MILL VALLEY, earlier this week, such an item appeared on the city council agenda under the title "Fern Canyon Assessment District." Fern Canyon is a lovely spot high on the side of Mount Tamalpais in Mill Valley. Physically, it's pleasant and pacific.

As an agenda item, it's an iceberg with 99 per cent of its trouble potential still hidden. Sensing this from preliminary encounters, the council Monday night moved to delay the actual confrontation for as long as possible — in this case another month.

The item asked the council to establish an assessment district for improvement of a portion of Fern Canyon Road, a move designed to please the council which is always working to upgrade city streets.

However, several Mill Valley residents appeared to protest the assessment district, particularly the city's informal promise to join the district and foot 25 per cent of the cost, following a policy adopted last year to encourage the improvement of city streets.

Councilman George Wickham, joined by Councilman Robert H. Andresen, protested the city's spending some $10,000 (its 25 per cent share) to develop a road which primarily would benefit two property owners. Such a move, Wickham argued, would only set the council up to be hit by every future developer for 25 per cent of road development costs.

THE DEVELOPERS in the Fern Canyon caper are George W. Blackwell, former city councilman, and Ellis A. Lando. Blackwell has been trying to open up Fern Canyon for some time so he can subdivide the property and make a bit of money. However, Fern Canyon really is in the back woods and development has been ruled out by the fire department until access and water supply problems are solved, an expensive proposition at best.

If either of the developers were to finance the job alone, he would price his property right off the market. Even with two developers going together, the costs would still be steep. But, if everyone shares the costs, including the city and other residents of the area . . . well, that's the basis of the assessment district proposal.

LAST YEAR, after the council adopted the policy of paying one-fourth the cost of street upgrading (a brain child of Wickham's, by the way), Blackwell approached then-City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer and suggested the city put its money where its mouth was.

Balmer agreed to suggest the idea to the council, which agreed to it readily. The whole deal would have gone through smoothly except some taxpayers, not knowing the details, became concerned about the precedent and complained.

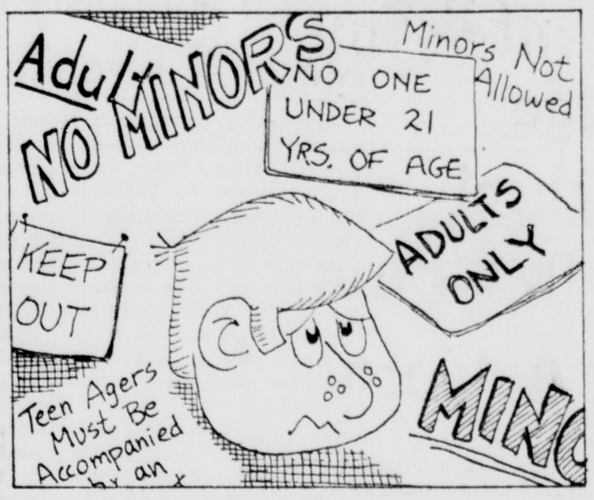
That's when the iceberg began to grow.

IN ADDITION, Balmer asked City Engineer Stanley M. Bala to do preliminary work in organizing the assessment district at city cost.

Bala's work for the assessment district will be paid from city funds even if the district is not set up.

Further, it was clear Monday night that the city's $10,000 share did not include any of Bala's work to date.

Thus, the iceberg grows some more.



COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Some Recollections At Age 81, And A Hint Of Things To Come

Fusselman

Born 8-8-1888 — today, Friday, is my 81st. If there is anything to the belief in the influence of numbers, this could be a good year. I am putting my finger-tips together and bowing eight times to Leo.

The I-J magazine section on Saturdays is a never-ending delight. A story last Saturday was particularly pleasing. And here is why.

Some 60 years ago, to the campus of the College of Puget Sound, at Tacoma, Wash., came a gentle young girl named Berna Miller, a tall lively one whose name was Ada Margaret Hooton, and the brothers Dupertius, who charmed everyone with their ability in French — they spoke it with a lilting rapidity amazing. And then there was a guy called Bill, who with one of the brothers Dupertius were the two winning finalists in a debating contest.

They thus became the team representing the college, debating the proposition that, "It is resolved that the missionaries did more to obtain and retain Old Oregon for the Union than did the traders"—or at times in reverse order.

They did exceptionally well until they were matched with a team from a girls school in Seattle. This was the end of that linguistic story, and how!

NOW, THE SCENE shifts. About 20 years ago, while I was supervisor, we had a roomfull of folks who were deeply concerned about the matter before us. During the course of the meeting a man asked for the floor and gave us some earnest, thoughtful opinions of his on the subject.

When he sat down, I somewhat amazed and intrigued that roomful when I said the gentleman who just spoke and I have not seen nor conversed with each other for 40 years.

It was Henry, one of the brothers Dupertius. Gone was the rapid-fire French but in its place a quiet, soft-spoken man. The nice Miller girl, Berna, was now Mrs. Henry Dupertius and the young dynamo Ada Margaret had become Mrs. Bill Fusselman.

Henry, you could see by the gorgeous blooms of his garden out San Geronimo way, as shown in last Saturday's Magazine, is a genius, but not only in designing a garden. He is a master in working with fine and rare wood and has done some beautiful things, bringing out the charm of the wood he is working with and finishing it with a soft silk-like surface.

The last time we all had a chat was early in January after the Apollo crew had circled the moon and come back safely. He liked my column, "Sunrise in the Pacific," about the splash down and their being brought aboard the Yorktown. He had telephoned me and we all got on the line. Quite a man is this brother Dupertius.

MY COMPLIMENTS to whoever wrote the editorial last Tuesday, "Those Delegated Problems Return Like Bad Pennies." It had to do principally with the Fair-Marin mess: "A case in point is provided by the Marin County fairgrounds and its Veterans' Memorial Auditorium.

"When the county board of supervisors . . . decided to turn their operation (of the memorial building and the fairgrounds) over to a nonprofit corporation . . . the rationale behind this was always a bit hard to follow."

That was the previous board. The present board is being quietly ushered into an even worse spot that they are bound to regret! More, much more, on that later.

Jury Trial Slated

Jury trial for Vincent James Holsten, charged with assault, distrubing the peace and obstructing an officer July 30 in San Rafael, was set yesterday for Aug. 25 in Marin Municipal Court.

France To Resume Nuclear Bomb Tests

PARIS (AP) — France will resume nuclear weapons tests in the Pacific in the summer of 1970, Defense Ministry sources confirmed today. The tests, begun in 1966, were suspended this year under the government's austerity program.

France exploded her first two hydrogen bombs, of one and two megaton force respectively, at a Polynesian site last year. France is not a signatory of the Moscow test ban treaty outlawing nuclear tests in the atmosphere or under water.

Closed-Circuit Television In Congress Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. John Dellenback, R-Ore., wants a closed-circuit television system in the House so members can follow the debate from their offices.

He said other business too often keeps members away from the floor.

He said he will introduce the authorizing legislation Monday and in a letter to other members invited support. He said his most recent cost estimate for the system was $254,625.

The House always has balked at electronic or photographic surveillance of its proceedings. A subcommittee on reorganization reported to members earlier this week it had been unable to agree on proposals to open committee sessions, and possibly the House itself, to broadcast coverage.

Dellenback's proposal contemplated no outside broadcasts.

Oakland Museum Fires Director

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Museum Commission announced Thursday it had dismissed its director, Dr. J. S. Hollidan, but refused to give reasons.

"It is up to the commission to explain why they fired me," Dr. Hollidan said, adding that he had been accused of insubordination.

The dismissal came as Mrs. Julia Hare resigned as the new $7 million museum's coordinator of education.

The museum is to open Sept. 20.

Bench Warrants For Absentees

Bench warrants were issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for two defendants who failed to appear.

A warrant was issued for James Edward Brewster, 31, who faces a charge of selling another substance as LSD in February, 1968.

A warrant also was issued for Andrew Lee Johnson, 18, of Marin City, charged with burgling a car in San Rafael Aug. 1.

Nathan Hale was born in Coventry, Conn.

STATE LICENSE — Arthur Miller Jr. of 89 Cole Drive, Marin City, has been graduated from the San Francisco College of Mortuary Science and received his state license to practice as an embalmer.

All Venice stands on thick planks and stone foundations supported by thousands of wooden piles. Perhaps eight inches a century, the piles are sinking into mud.

Youth Authority May Lend Marin A Juvenile Officer

Marin may get its temporary juvenile coordinator within the next two to three weeks, on a year's loan from the California Youth Authority, if financial details can be worked out.

The plan was discussed Wednesday with George Saleebey of the Youth Authority, Gary T. Giacomini of the Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission reported yesterday.

The coordinator, who would work with that commission and the new Marin County Youth Commission, was authorized by the board of supervisors at a top salary in the $14,000 range.

The kind of person proposed by the Youth Authority would receive $6,000 to $10,000 more than that, Giacomini reported. However, Saleebey indicated the state may make up the difference.

The commission, with the consent of Chris Harris, summer coordinator of the youth commission, authorized Saleebey and John W. Brewer, probation chief, to proceed with obtaining the coordinator, provided the state agrees to pay the difference.

Giacomini said Saleebey and Brewer have two persons in mind for the post and they would be interviewed by the commission as soon as possible if the money is assured.

The coordinator would set up the county's juvenile programs and help the person chosen as permanent coordinator get started, Giacomini said.

Giacomini said the two commissions want to begin working as soon as possible with an experienced person. Going through regular county personnel channels would delay the start until November or December, he said.

In a meeting of the delinquency prevention commission prior to the coordinator discussion, Giacomini was elected president, replacing the group's only other president Dr. Robert H. Herrick.

Ann Miller was elected vice president.

The commission also agreed to change its meeting time and place. Giacomini said a new time was not set but the Civic Center was selected as a meeting place instead of at Marin General Hospital.

WRITES NIXON

San Rafael Boy, 8, Worries About War

Soviet-Chinese border incidents last spring disturbed 8-year-old Kirth Dwyer of San Rafael. He worried about possible U.S. involvement.

So the Coleman School third grader wrote to President Richard M. Nixon voicing his concern over the incidents and urging that U.S. soldiers not be involved.

Yesterday, Kirth, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremy Dwyer, 1456 Lincoln Avenue, received a reply from Rose Mary Woods, personal secretary to the president.

"It was thoughtful of you to let him (the president) have your comments and he wants you to know that you have his best wishes," she wrote.

"I think Nixon is a good president," said Kirth, adding he would have voted for him if he were old enough.

Guilty Plea To Marijuana Count

An accused marijuana grower yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing the weed Aug. 1 in San Anselmo, and the district attorney's office dismissed a charge against her of cultivating marijuana.

Rita Jean Hodges, 20, of San Anselmo, was told to appear at 10 a.m. Aug. 18 in Marin Superior Court for sentencing.

Charges of having and cultivating marijuana against her companion, Peter Kaufman, 28, of San Anselmo, were dismissed.

Theft Hearing

A preliminary hearing for Daniel Ellis DeCosta, 21, of San Francisco, on charges of auto theft and auto burglary in Corte Madera July 20, was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 15.

MR. AND MRS. LOREN PIERCE SWANEY

Loren Swaney Marries Judi Carlene Selby

Judi Carlene Selby became the bride of Loren Pierce Swaney Saturday morning at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Selby of San Rafael, Judi chose Mrs. Linda Downey of Novato as her matron of honor and as bridesmaids, Mrs. Lucy Selby, of San Rafael, Sandy Schwartz of San Luis Obispo and Susan Swaney of San Anselmo.

Bill Kilcoyne was the best man and the ushers were Jan Swaney, the bridegroom's brother, Bob Baricut and Jerry Sirocki, all of San Anselmo.

The couple will live in Fairfax after returning from a wedding trip to San Diego. The wedding reception was held at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Judi was graduated from San Rafael High School, attended the College of Marin and is employed by Blum's restaurant in San Francisco as a secretary. Mrs. Bill King of Detroit, Mich., is her sister and Michael and Lee Shelby of San Rafael are her brothers. The brides grandmother, Mrs. Stella White, lives in San Rafael.

Loren, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Swaney of San Anselmo, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the College of Marin. He is employed at Pacific Motor Trucking Co. in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spencer of San Anselmo are his grandparents.

Do Your Own Hemline Thing Say Parisian Design Priests

NEW — YORK (UPI) — Hemlines stay high. Hemlines drop.

Paris designers ended their fall and winter collections on a mixed hemline theme, leaving it to the individual woman to decide just where she wanted skirt lengths to go in the 1970's. It's a "do your own thing" decade ahead, say the high priests of French design. The woman of the next decade will do more experimenting with a much more varied wardrobe.

Only one Paris designer tried to dictate what women should wear. That was Yves St. Laurent, and judging from the reaction to his efforts to haul skirts way down and, in the opinion of some try to make women look like little old men, St. Laurent ran into open revolt.

The most applause and approving chatter went with the Marc Bohan of Dior and Pierre Cardin collections. Both designers made all sorts of hemlines but in two very distinct styles.

Bohan's dresses, whether they are very short or a "new length" of 14 inches from the floor had a slightly retrospective look.

Cardin had even longer skirts and shorter ones than Dior's Bohan, and plenty of lengths in between. But there was never so much as a backward glance.

Cardin announced that the "lunar era" had arrived and women should dress to suit it. Then he unveiled a collection that showed he really wanted them to dress to suit themselves as long as they kept their eyes firmly on the future.

IN ALL, PARIS projected several loud and clear messages:

The head should look small. Elaborate hairdos were almost nonexistent. Chignons, French twists, and short shingled hair prevailed in most salons. Dior showed short, curly hair with soft tendrils down the back of the neck and over the ears. Hairpieces were still used for evening, but less elaborately.

For daytime, the hair should be covered, usually with a pulled down knit beret or a tight fitting cloche. For evening too, the hair often was covered.

Jewelry was less important in Paris than in New York, where long strands of pearls bedecked everything. With Paris, one important jewel was better than two matching pieces—in fact, sets of jewelry with earrings and necklace to match just about disappeared.

Handknitting was the biggest fad to hit Paris this season. Knits included berets, giant mufflers, huge mittings, sweaters, dresses and trousers.

WOMEN OF the 1970's will be tall, slim and ready to experiment with their appearances is the message from Paris, indicated during the fall and winter collection showings last week. This ultra-short design by Pierre Cardin emphasized the message. Over a black wool jersey the model wears black wool tights and a bleack leather mini-mini skirt. The necklace and tie are white metal.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Yachtsman's Wife Busily Knits Sweaters While Husband Races

By MOLLY MARIN

The revival of handcraft was pointed up by the beautiful knitted sweaters that Mrs. Jack Niedringhaus of Baltimore, Md., designed and made for her husband and their sailing crew.

Barbara Niedringhaus knitted nautical themes, including signal flags and crew names, into the pullovers worn by the Chesapeake Bay entrants in the Triton Class national championships hosted by San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere last week. She also brought along as a hostess gift for Mrs. Donald M. Bekins of Belvedere, who entertained the visitors at the Bekins home on Corinthian Island, hand knit Christmas stockings personalized for the two Bekins children. These she completed on a recent month-long tour of Europe where she visited the Socialist countries.

Jack Neidringhaus has been elected national president of the sailing class. His home club, the Anapolis Yacht Club, will be the host for next year's class finals in Chesapeake Bay.

Also attracting interest are the hand-painted designs which Mrs. LeRoy B. Everett Jr. of Tiburon has on display at a Mill Valley yarn shop. The originals are painted on canvas to be worked in needlepoint.

Jane Everett, famous for the exotic decorated eggs she makes into handsome jewel boxes and ornaments, spent last week in Southern California, where she and Mr. Everett attended the wedding of their son, Kenneth, to Mary Lu Kelliher in Los Angeles Saturday.

ON A COMBINED business and pleasure trip are Mr. and Mrs. George Cumming of Kentfield, who are staying at the Moana Hotel at Waikiki Beach in Honolulu. On their way to Hawaii, where many Marin families are vacationing, is the Gerald N. Wehr family of Greenbrae, sailing aboard the Lurline.

MAUREEN DOHERTY Pederson and her daughters Paige, Patria and Diane enjoyed fishing on the Flathead Indian Reservation in western Montana, where they attended a family and outdoor recreation workshop, sponsored by the University of Montana.

Eleven-year-old Patria caught a trout, which turned out to be the largest fish ever caught in the Jocko River at the annual camping workshop. Mrs. Pederson is a physical education teacher at San Rafael High School.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL B. Demetrios of Belvedere welcomed a daughter on July 24. The little girl is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellerd of Bakersfield and George Demetrios of Folly Cove, Mass., and the late Virginia Lee Burton Demetrios. The baby who has a brother, Michael, 3, will be named Virginia Ellerd Burton Demetrios, honoring both her grandmothers.

ENROLLED AT the Ecole Lemania in Lausanne, Switzerland, is Wendy McPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. McPherson of San Rafael. Wendy flew to Europe after graduating from the University of Utah and toured for three months, seeing "everything from Oslo to the Casbah in Tangier" before starting school.

MR. AND MRS. MELVIN DUNCAN, longtime residents of the Ross Valley area, will be moving to Belvedere in the late summer. The couple sold their home in San Anselmo in June and have been living in a summer house in Kentfield prior to the permanent move. Mrs. Duncan, a member of the Northgate Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center, has been the commentator for several of the group's summer fashion luncheons at the center.

KATE ABBOTT, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Abbott III of Kentfield, is living and studying in the historic eighteenth-century Villa Negroni in Lugano in southern Switzerland. She is a member of Project Europe, a teenage summer study and travel program of The American School in Switzerland.

Kate and six other boys and girls attend lectures and discussions on contemporary Europe, language, art, music, history and drama. The teenagers plus two staff members plan to visit France, Italy, Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Hungary on four eight-day trips. Kate will be a junior at San Domenico School for Girls.

IT'S A BOY for the Douglas MacLachlans of Berkeley. The baby, to be named Trevor, was born at Alta Bates Hospital in Berkeley Monday. His mother is the former Natalie Knauth of Belvedere. Mr. and Mrs. Basil Knauth of Belvedere, and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mac Lachlan of Newport Beach are the grandparents. Trevor's sister, Heather Bowditch MacLachlain is a year old.

MR. AND MRS. Jack Koppen, both recent graduates of the University of Arizona, left July 29 on a European tour. They will live in the East Bay when they return later this month.

Lynn Koppen's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoffman III, entertained for the couple in their San Rafael home the weekend before they left.

MR. AND MRS. Jack Sparrow have returned to Novato following a two-week-vacation in Japan and Hawaii. In Japan, they visited their son and

Black Beauty Now A Booming Business

MIAMI (AP) — Black beauty is Blanche Calloway's business. And she says her business—selling cosmetics especially made for black people—has boomed in less than a year from a small firm to a growing nationwide market.

"We blacks just can't expect results from cosmetics designed for white skins," said Miss Calloway, sister of band leader Cab Calloway.

She is president of Afram House, which last October began a mail order business by sending catalogs to black people. Now the company is establishing retail outlets throughout the nation and has expanded its line to other black-oriented merchandise, such as black dolls and African wall plaques.

LIPSTICK, EYELASHES, eye shadows, powders, perfumes, wigs are much in demand by black women, Miss Calloway said.

For men, there are such items as Soul deodorant, Voodoo aftershave lotion, and Black Magic body lotion.

"Black women didn't need cosmetics years ago," Miss Calloway said. "Her job outside the home was as maid or housekeeper. She didn't need to look attractive, and couldn't afford it anyway.

"Now the black woman works in an integrated business and an integrated school. She has to have an awareness of everything it takes to make her attractive because she has to compete.

"WHEN WE STARTED, we bought ads in black publications and included coupons for catalogs," she recalled. "We got letters from all over the United States."

The biggest response, she added, came from the Midwest.

While her products are designed for black people, Miss Calloway said some whites also use them.

"Some of the white soul sisters have been wearing our makeup when they can't find other cosmetics to go with their tan," she said, smiling. "After all, caucasians spend many hours a day lying out in the sun trying to look like we look."

A TOUCH OF beauty is applied to model Sylvia Dodson by Blanche Calloway, president of Afram House, which makes cosmetics especially for blacks. The business woman, sister of band leader Cab Calloway, has expanded her Miami business from a small firm to a growing national market in less than a year.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Husband May Be Happier If Wife Keeps Silent About Her Affair

DEAR HELEN:

I am a married woman of 40 who just ended an affair with our friendly neighborhood bachelor. I didn't realize he was called this until I heard some of the women kidding about him at the beauty parlor.

Now I remember back to the times he referred to my friends in a personal way, and the one time, after four cocktails, when he admitted having affairs with several of these lonely dames. Of course, I didn't include myself in that category then, but now — will he brag about me to his next.

If my husband finds out he will kill me, but if he hears about it from others, it will be twice as bad. Should I keep quiet and suffer, or confess and perhaps get kicked out?— NEVER AGAIN

DEAR NEVER AGAIN:

If your husband had an affair—and ended it — you'd be far happier never having known, right? So repent and suffer. The worry about being caught may keep you doubly straight. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I wish I could impress upon wives who have been married long enough to have the glitter wear off, how inportant it is to get out the polishing cloth and shine it up again. They don't know how close they come to losing their good, dependable husbands by taking them too much for granted.

I work as a masseuse, am in my 50s, have grey hair and need to lose ten more pounds. Yet men come into the salon in their late 30s to late 50s, just to get pampered by the soft touch of a woman's hand on their brow and a sympathetic ear to hear their problems.

They tell me how lucky my husband is and when I tell them I have no husband, I get various invitations. Sometimes I'm tempted, but so far I've resisted. But I keep wondering, what's the matter with wives, anyway? Most men aren't confirmed chasers. They are just darn lonely guys who don't get much attention at home.

No doubt wives feel mistreated too, but if they'd try a little harder, stop turning first to the children or their outside activities, they'd find far more romantic men coming home to them. — H.F.

DEAR HELEN:

Isn't it terrible what they allow on TV today? I mean half-nude females advertising all kinds of household things like cottage cheese and cars. And the programs are absolutely obscene. The things they say! Why don't you start a campaign to make TV more moral? — NOT A PRUDE

DEAR NOT:

Sorry. I see very little immorality in television. What the medium needs is more truth and less censorship, but then perhaps that's why TV is called a medium — as they say, it's too often neither rare nor well-done. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have a son in the Coast Guard. Most people don't even know what the Coast Guard is or does. They think it is something like the National Guard.

My husband doesn't even recognize our son as being in the military. Maybe you could remind people that the C.G. is definitely a branch of the service — a fine one — and should be considered as such.

Our country might not survive without it! — MRS. B.R.

DEAR MRS. R.:

I'll be glad to, as I have had several letters recently reminding me I haven't mentioned the Coast Guard when I praised various branches of the service. Sorry about that! — H.

his wife, Lt. and Mrs. Robert N. Sparrow, at Atsugi Naval Air Base.

Among the many points of interest they toured in Japan were the inland sea, shrines and temples in Kyoto, and they were quite impressed with the Peace Park in Hiroshima. Atsugi Naval Air Base is 35 miles south of Tokyo, and they took several trips in the city. Barbara Sparrow spoke about the marvelous transportation which was punctual and efficient and about the cleanliness of the people and the very neat appearance of the youngsters going to school. They also stayed at the New Otani Hotel in Tokyo for a few days.

There was no rain while they were in Japan, but the heat and humidity was very uncomfortable and the air hazy with industrial smog. They went golfing at 5 a.m. and by 8:30 the temperature was boiling, Barbara related.

The Sparrows returned by way of the islands where they spent four days, at the Royal Hawaiian in Maui and in Oahu.

And Then You Are Elected

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eventually it happens to anyone who is a member of an organization, whether the Parent-Teacher Association, the garden club, the church guild, the business and professional women's club.

You're called on to serve as president.

The members start with flattery about your natural qualities as a leader, and how the organization really needs some new blood, new thinking at the top. You lap up the flattery and first thing you know, you've accepted the call. You're now Madame President.

Then, born to lead or no, you soon learn how—the hard way. I know! I'm in the throes of helmanship of the Newspaper Women's Club of New York. Now, we're primarily a "do good" group raising monies for assorted scholarships, working to upgrade the standards of our profession in communications.

We're also more than 200 members, that means more than 200 personalities, and more than 200 viewpoints on what to do and how to do it.

I suspect this holds true in any organization. But remember, you're Madame President and all the failures during the years will be yours directly. If you're lucky, you may get some of the credit for any successes.

ONE THING I learned right off — everyone knows how to run the organization and hesitates not at all to offer advice in person, by letter or telephone.

Another fact came early. No matter how carefully your committees are chosen, there is no way around some do-it-yourself administration. Every president must be a dictator, too, but try to be benevolent about it.

If you're about to take office, don't let me scare you off. Somebody has to do it. You'll find it swells the ego, your name looks nice on letterheads, and there is some reward inwardly in telling (er, asking) people what's expected of them.

But talk to anyone who's ever presided with a copy of Robert's Rules on her lap and she will tell you the things bound to happen.

IT'LL BE more work than you bargained for. I was conned with, "Well, most of the job is the monthly meeting of the board." Hah!

So clear with your husband before accepting high office. For he will have a choice of either pitching in when he can or just saying "good bye, dear" for a few nights each week while he warms up leftovers for dinner.

You'll find your home telephone bill soars, the house takes on a neglected "mamma's president this year" look, the occasional long lunches with the girls are out, and you'll be muttering "decisions, decisions" in your sleep.

Heidee Lynne Borgeson Is Wed To David Alan Lenzi

David Alan Lenzi wed Heidee Lynne Borgeson Sunday in a ceremony at Chapel One of Hamilton Air Force Base. A reception at the Officers Club followed.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Ralph Borgeson of San Rafael, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Lenzi of San Anselmo.

Vicki Ann Lenzi, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Louise Beckman of Miami, Fla., Susan Leidy of San Francisco and Lana Borgeson and Jackie Nyhus, both of San Rafael.

Best man was David Manahan of Kentfield. Rick Loomer and Robert Phelps of San Rafael, Bruce Badaracco of San Anselmo and John McCracken of Mississippi ushered guests to their seats.

Heidee was graduated from Terra Linda High School, College of Marin and San Jose State College, where she was a member of Delta Zeta sorority. Philip Borgeson of San Rafael is her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Hazel Mayhood and Mrs. Sarah Borgeson, both of San Francisco.

David's schools are Marin Catholic High School, College of Marin and San Jose State College. Mrs. Joseph Lenzi of Alamo is his grandmother.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel, the couple will live in Novato. The bride is employed at Macy's in San Rafael, and the bridegroom is employed by Crocker-Citizens Bank, also in San Rafael.

Christine Petrini Becomes Bride Of Brian Smith In Terra Linda Rites

Christine T. Petrini of San Rafael recited wedding vows with Brian A. Smith in a Saturday afternoon ceremony at St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda.

Debbie Petrini was her sister's maid of honor. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Silvano Petrini of San Rafael.

The other attendants for Christine were Julie Smith of San Rafael and Barbara Houck of Rialto.

Robert Miller of San Francisco served as best man, and Steve Ringchop of San Rafael, Phil Houck of Rialto and Steven Filipetti of San Rafael ushered.

A reception followed at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club.

The couple will return from their Southern California wedding trip to live in Novato.

Christine is a graduate of Terra Linda High School and Hilltop Beauty College in Daly City. She is employed as a beautician with the Princess Style House in San Rafael.

Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Filippetti of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Eugenio Petrini of South San Francisco. Christine's great grandparents are Mrs. Elena Filippetti and Mrs. Ann Gelardi, both of San Francisco.

Brian is the son of Capt. and Mrs. Gregory Smith of San Rafael, and he is the brother of Craig and Julie Smith of San Rafael. Now employed with the Northgate Convalescent Center, Brian also was graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended the College of Marin.

Coeds Boosted To Top Jobs

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — An associate professor at the University of Colorado not only teaches coeds, but he does something about trying to get them better jobs after they graduate.

Prof. John M. Greist of the School of Business has set up a service designed to give a girl graduate interested in a serious business career an extra boost to put her into an executive or management training position.

Griest said, "the executive potential of our girl graduates is widely demonstrated in the business world. However, the majority of businessmen resist the entrance of women into the business world because of a fetish that only men can carry executive responsibilities and it is an intrusion into their domain."

Griest gave an example of how the service works:

A senior woman about to graduate wants a job in banking in the Denver area. Through his files' coded system indicating geographical area and business specialty, Griest is able to narrow the search for banks which have given women opportunities in executive capacities.

Imaginary interview between
William Shakespeare & John Brebner
Director of the Marin Shakespeare Festival

S. Quite a hip crowd you've got, coming to see my plays at Forest Meadows. Is it, perchance, that Marinites are more intelligent than other people?

B. Not entirely. They just appreciate great humor, great language, dramatic action. And after all, you ARE FAIRLY WELL-KNOWN . . .

S. So I understand. But tell me: are these all lords and ladies who storm the box-office so?

B. Hardly. Just people. Plumbers, accountants, clerks, housewives, mechanics, lawyers, teachers. Even had a professional tree-topper the other night.

S. Bravo. There's place and means for every man alive. I wrote as much for the pit as for the so-called culturally well-to-do. Belly laugh here, bit of philosophy there. Mix 'em up, I say.

B. That's what we're trying to tell people — that you are, if I may say so, the world's greatest entertainer.

S. Good for you. Entertainer! All these scholars have me tucked up on a bookshelf, don't know red blood when they see it. Why d' you think I wrote Midsummer Night's Dream?

B. Well, it seemed part of the cycle.

S. Gadzooks! I wrote it shortly after Sir Francis Drake came home with all these tall tales about Marin County. (Nova Albion, I think he called it). Infuriated me. Should have settled here! So I decided I'd show him. Dashed off The Dream at a local pub just to get it produced here 400 years later. Now, look who's taking over Marin! All Drake's got is a boulevard in San Anselmo, I believe. Serves him bloody right.

B. Mr. S, you're incorrigible. But why are you leaving?

S. Got tickets to Forest Meadows! Want to see me own plays and these marvelous audiences. (I always sit in the invisible section, by the big bay tree.)

B. But everyone sees you, Sweet Will — everyone. Always saying, "Have you seen Shakespeare? You must."

S. By Jove, let's print more tickets. This is better than the Globe!

Message prepared in the community interest by the INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL

Family of four goes the whole hog for dream house.

Jack and Jenefer Springer, along with their two children, purchased a twelve-room dream house today. Jack frankly admitted that the interest was a crushing burden. But as Jenefer sweetly explained: "You just never know when seven bedrooms will come in mighty handy."

This is one case of piggyness.
This is one cause of inflation.
Inflation can be stopped.

Of course, Government must do the big part. But, as shoppers, voters, wage earners, and businessmen, each of us can help.

So let's do it.

Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council and The International Newspaper Advertising Executives.

Inflation can be stopped. Let's all be a little less piggy.

Calendar Of Children's Events In Bay Area To Be Printed Soon

A new calendar listing events of interest to children in the Bay Area is being printed by the Community Music Center Auxiliary in San Francisco. Including everything from ballet to parades to baseball, the calendar will also list Marin events for all age youngsters.

Called "What to Do Today Children," the calendar may be ordered by subscription from the Community Music Center, 544 Capp Street, San Francisco, with proceeds to benefit children through increase of the scholarship fund at the music center.

First calendar will be sent for September for two months and a current supplement will follow every other month for the year, announces Mrs. David Fleischhacker of Woodside, public relations chairman for the music center auxiliary.

The calendar is professionally designed, with colorful illustrations in a 13-inch square format. There will be included special tips on birthday parties, restaurants that cater to children and other useful information a mother might need to entertain her family. The September listings include an eclipse of the moon Sept. 18, a sand castle building contest in Carmel Sept. 20, Leonard Bernstein doing "Peter and the Wolf" on television Sept. 25, plus many other varied events.

MEMBERS OF Mill Valley's Chaparral Chapter of Theta Rho will attend the area four council meeting of the Junior Rebekahs on Saturday in Ukiah.

They will escort the grand officers and conduct the initiation for the Santa Rosa and Ukiah chapters.

On Aug. 23 the girls will go to the youth camp weekend in Sonora for Theta Rho Girls and Junior Odd Fellows. They are preparing a skit for the talent show to be presented at the youth camp.

A MINI LUNCH meeting of Marin Israel Bond fashions show workers will be held Monday at the Mill Valley home of Mrs. Lee Dorosin, announces Mrs. Richard Harris of San Anselmo and Mrs. Bernard Blumberg of Greenbrae, Marin fashion co-chairmen.

Other committee members are Mmes. Hyman Fischer, Fairfax; Gayle Marx, Belvedere; Oscar Mosk, Sidney Rudy and Morris Thau of Kentfield; Kenneth Rosenthal of Tiburon; William Rubin, Greenbrae; Harry Yaffee, San Anselmo; and Albert Goldberg, Harry Harris, Harry Heifetz, Robert Pedrin of San Rafael.

The fashion luncheon and dinner, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Israel Bonds Organization, will take place on Oct. 1 at the Fairmont Hotel.

Battle Of The Sexes Rages In The Las Vegas Casinos

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A battle of the sexes is raging in this gaudy fun spot. Women want to work as croupiers and dealers in the casinos and the men are resisting.

At issue is a law adopted by the Nevada legislature earlier this year which forbids job discrimination because of sex.

Five Las Vegas dealers appeared Wednesday before State Labor Commissioner Stanley Jones. They noted that since World War II—when there was a shortage of men—women have had about a 3-1 edge on jobs behind the green felt tables in 16 of the state's 17 counties.

The exception has been Clark County, which includes Las Vegas. The county has an ordinance that prohibits women from working as bartenders or card dealers.

Now Jones is seeking enforcement of the new state law in Clark County also.

The commissioner said he would go to court if necessary to force all casinos to hire qualified women. His position was backed by a committee led by Mrs. Arden Johnson, 32. Her group already has filed court action to get dealers' jobs.

The reply from the male dealers was that there already are women holding roulette and blackjack dealing jobs in the state and only 421 men, most of them in Las Vegas.

They added that the situation in Reno has driven men dealers to Las Vegas and that Jones' order would cause further "indiscriminate replacement of family men and veterans."

If women are to stand equal with men, the men say, they should be able to register for the draft and fight for their country.

Dist. Atty. George Franklin said he would oppose changing the county ordinance.

"Among other things," Franklin said, "employers would try to hire good-looking girls to attract men to play the games. The customers would flirt with the girls and not concentrate on the dealing. They allowed women dealers once in North Las Vegas, and the next thing they did was try to go topless."

Miss Lococo Is Bride

St. Rita's Church in Fairfax was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Margaret Mary Lococo and Michael John Abramson.

A reception at the Meadow Club in Fairfax followed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lococo of Fairfax, and the bridegroom's parents are the Leland Abramsons of San Anselmo.

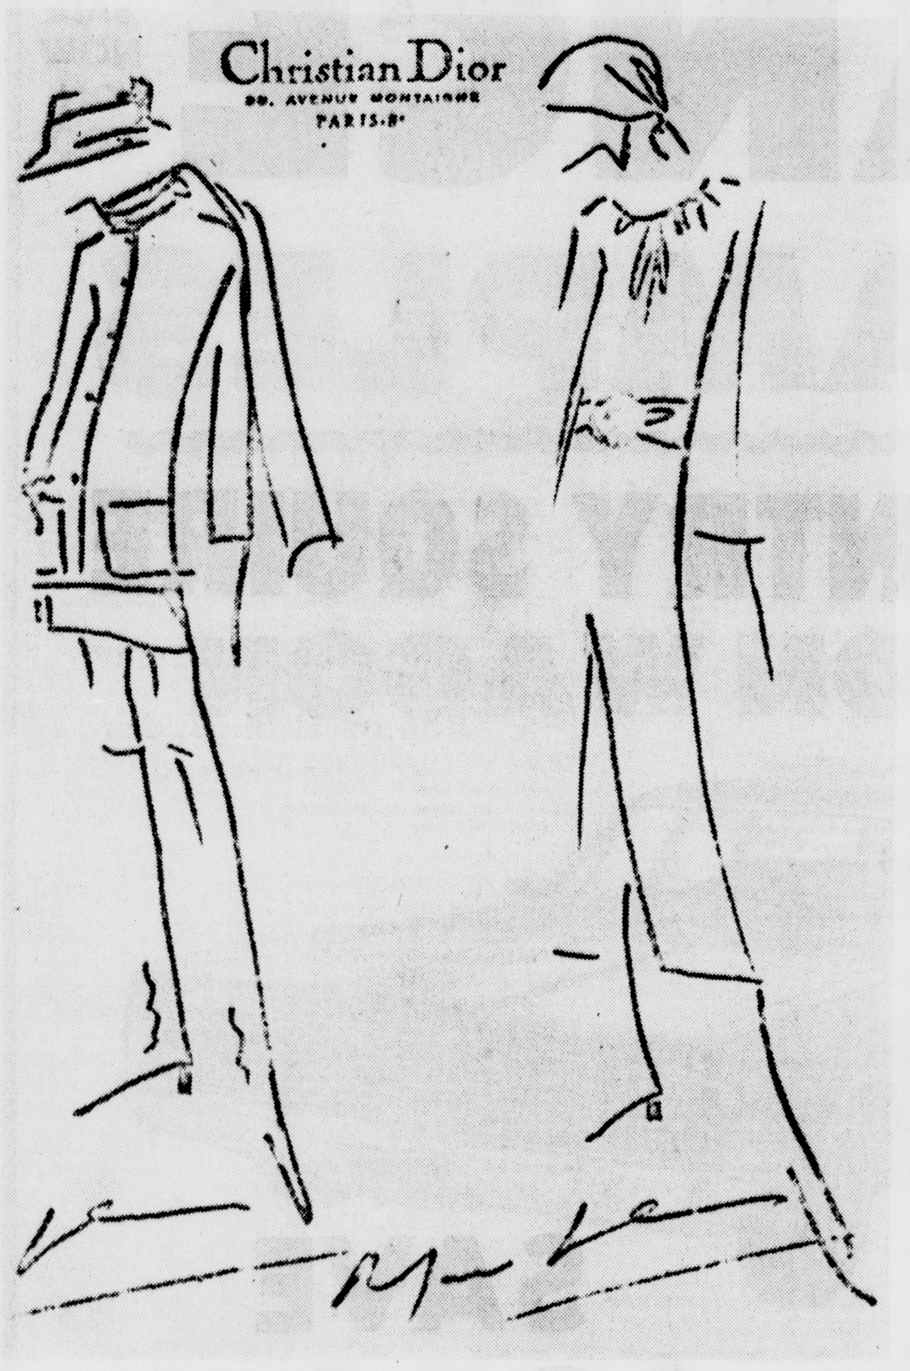
Mrs. John Ferguson of San Bruno was matron of honor, and Cecile Lococo was maid of honor. Both are sisters of the bride. The bridegroom's sister Anne Abramson, Mary Ann Caiati of San Anselmo and Corinne Sartori of Fairfax were bridesmaids.

Best man for his brother was Frederick Abramson. Another brother of the bridegroom, Stephen Abramson; John Ferguson of San Bruno, Kenneth Payne of Oakland and Marshall Thompson of San Anselmo ushered.

Margaret is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and will enroll at College of Marin in the fall. Joe Lococo is her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lococo of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lehman of Fairfax.

Also a graduate of Drake High, the bridegroom is employed by Maison Gourmet Delicatessen in Greenbrae. He is also the brother of Mark Abramson. Mrs. Louise Musso of San Francisco is his grandmother.

The couple will live in San Anselmo after a wedding trip to Yosemite National Park.



THE UPS AND DOWNS OF DIOR

Two Christian Dior tendency sketches from Paris show how the House of Dior dropped the hemline drastically for the fall and winter collection and then raised it higher than ever. Faces of the assembled fashion buyers and celebrities in the salon grew long as designer Marc Bohan brought out models with skirts stopping 14 inches from the floor, at right. But most of the crowd cheered when the model stepped out with a hemline some five inches above the knee, as at left.

Miss Yarling Is Wed In Los Angeles

Kathryn Yarling of San Rafael became the bride of John Anderson of Palos Verdes Saturday in a cremony at the home Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Grant in Los Angeles.

Pam Yarling of San Rafael was her sister's maid of honor and Sue Stork of Los Angeles was the bridesmaid. Rick Gies of Long Beach was the best man and ushers were Sterling Storm of Manhattan Beach and Terry Rae of Hawthrone.

The couple will honeymoon at Lagune Beach and then make their home in Los Angeles.

Kathryn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Yarling, of San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School and the University of California at Berkeley. She is now a graduate student at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence N. Anderson, of Palos Verdes, is a musician in Los Angles. He was graduated from Palos Verdes High School and attended the University of California at Los Angeles. Mrs. Timothy Boyer of Torrance is his sister.

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 8, 1969 21

ON RICHARDSON BAY

Seaplane Base Lacking Permit

By DAVID DIETZ

Although little has been done about it, a seaplane base has sprung up illegally on the Richardson Bay waterfront at the foot of Waldo Grade.

The county planning department says that the base requires a use permit, as does any property use in a resort and commercial recreation zone — the designation for Richardson Bay.

But no permit has been issued, nor has the owner of the planes, the son of a San Francisco contractor, applied for one the planning department said.

The aircraft, now numbering five, are moored at a mound of bay fill on tidelands owned by Col. Tom E. Nowell Jr., a Mill Valley developer. The base, moved gradually from Commodore Helicopters nearby, started with only one plane early last month.

It was not learned whether the base was used for flying operations or merely for storage, as Chris Hansen, owner of the planes, could not be reached for comment.

The department of public works first received an inquiry about the aircraft, referring it to the office of zoning administrator Thomas E. Cordill in the planning department.

An Independent-Journal reporter called Cordill's office and was told by Rey Collins, an assistant to Cordill, that Hansen was notified about a month ago that the base was illegal.

"We asked him to come into the office, but he hasn't," she said.

Said Ralph B. Cairns, another member of Cordill's staff, upon learning from the reporter that the planes were still there, "It looks like we'll have to lower the boom on him now."

Miss Collins, asked whether she thought a month was sufficient time for Hansen to apply for a permit or remove the planes, said, "We try to be as civil as possible."

She said a letter was to be sent at once to Nowell notifying him of the violation and to call us before the 18th (of August) if he had any questions."

If no word is received by then, she said, the matter will be referred to the county counsel's office for possible abatement proceedings.

Nowell told the Independent-Journal he had agreed to rent the property to Hansen to moor his aircraft and told him to check with the county to see if any permits were needed.

In a related matter, Thomas G. Hendricks, deputy county counsel has written Robert DeYoung, manager of the air strip at the Smith Brothers Ranch east of the Marin Civic Center, that he too must apply for a use permit for his facility or face abatement action.

The airport, home base for a reported 30 planes, has operated in the area without a use permit since the 1920s, Hendricks said.

Question was raised earlier over the county's right to compel the airport to obtain a use permit since it existed prior to adoption of the county zoning ordinance, but Hendricks said it is his opinion that the facility does require a permit because it has been moved since adoption of the ordinance.

Meantime, the airport is included in approximately 1,000 acres east of Highway 101 that is to be annexed to the City of San Rafael. Hendricks said the city has no provision in its zoning ordinance for airports.

DeYoung's facility also does not have a required permit from the state Division of Aeronautics, Hendricks said.

$51,350 Budget Is Adopted By Nicasio Board

The Nicasio School District board has adopted a 1969-70 budget of $51,350, up from last year's budget of $48,835, and unchanged from the publication budget approved last month.

The meeting, held Tuesday, violated the Ralph M. Brown Act which requires public agencies to give 24 hours notice of special meetings to newspapers which have requested it, as the Independent-Journal has.

The tax rate has not been determined because the board does not have total assessed valuations of the district, Beverly Alberigi, board secretary, reported.

However, any tax rate increase would be no more than one or two cents above last year's $2.225 per $100 assessed valuation, she said.

The board will not meet at its regular time, the third Tuesday, this month, she reported.

Hub Festival Profits To Go To Tot Lot Park

San Anselmo City Council in a special meeting last night approved allocation of anticipated profits from this year's Fall Festival in September to complete work scheduled to begin tomorrow on a tot lot at Memorial Park.

About $1,000 or more will be needed to install a concrete walk and drinking fountain in the park, reported Alfred C. Kaeppel , city administrator-controller.

Kaeppel said the council had considered moving the Hub fountain into the park but rejected the idea after the city engineer reported it was too solidly anchored to be moved easily.

Costs of a final phase of the project will be discussed at a regular meeting of the council Tuesday.

The council last month authorized adding $200 of city funds to $1,634 profits from last year's festival to install play equipment, a fence and tanbark area for the tot lot. Work on that portion of the project will begin tomorrow with a volunteer crew, Kaeppel reported.

Volunteers Sought

Volunteers are now being recruited for the "Breath of Life" campaign of the Marin County chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, according to Mrs. Donn Lando, chairman. The fund drive will be held the week of Sept. 22.

Marshal Is Studying Court Case

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The U.S. marshal for the Northern California District of California may go to court to keep his job.

Louis H. Martin, a Democrat, said yesterday that he might file a suit against President Richard M. Nixon in federal court asking for an injunction against his being removed from office.

This was a reversal of Martin's previous stand that the President has the power to remove him from office.

PLANS FIGHT

George E. Tobin of Mill Valley, a California highway patrolman and a Republican, received Senate confirmation last month of his appointment to the marshal's post but Martin has said he will not step down until his four-year term ends July 25, 1972.

"I have had legal advice," Martin said, "that, in the absence of any misconduct on my part, the President does not have the power to remove me before the end of my four-year term."

Tobin was asked today if he would sue to take over the marshal's post.

"Not at all," replied the 56-year-old highway patrol captain. "If he (Martin) wants to spend his money going to court, he can go ahead. I will be sworn in Sept. 2 in presiding Judge George B. Harris' Court in the Federal Building. Sept. 1 is a holiday."

FIRM ON JOB

Tobin added that he "very definitely" will take over on that date.

Tobin showed up at Martin's office last week to find out when Martin was moving out. At that time Martin told him it wouldn't be for three years.

Martin of Martinez said then that he didn't question the President's power to remove him from office but said, "he also has the responsibility to do so."

Union Halts Painting Of Firehouse

A painters union objection to Tiburon firemen painting the city's firehouse has temporarily halted the work but the Tiburon Fire Protection District board last night said it would not stand in the way of firemen doing the painting on their own time.

Board secretary Wellman H. Topham said the painting was about 90 per cent done when work was stopped. Paid firemen had been doing the painting during on-duty hours in an effort to save taxpayers money, Topham said.

Although work has been stopped, he said "the board went on record that it would let any member of the fire department, whether volunteer or paid, do the painting on his own time."

The board set a special adjourned meeting for 8 p.m. Monday to discuss items put over because Fire Chief Franklin J. Buscher was on vacation.

Brochure Out On San Rafael

A 24-page brochure on San Rafael has been prepared by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

The booklet includes color photos of the city, tourist attractions, public buildings and private businesses.

There is a section on the history of San Rafael, a description of the schools and churches, and covers shopping, recreation, health facilities, homes, economy and industry.

Stanley Goddsmith, president of the chamber, said the booklet is in response to inquiries received frequently at the chamber office. He said thousands of the books will be distributed throughout the country.

Meeting Reset

The Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission did not meet last night due to the lack of a quorum, but scheduled a meeting for next Thursday at 7:30 p.m., according to Jane Faust, publicity chairman.

Sunbathers Disturb A Neighbor

being taken into the courthouse for booking, took the film from his camera and deliberately exposed it so it could not be developed.

Gavin said he took the pictures as a photography student, and exposed the film because there were topless pictures of his girlfriend on it. He did not want the pictures to fall into the hands of people who would "gloat over them," he said.

Mrs. Borden testified there were some 70 nudes on the beach the day the three were arrested, including two women doing a belly dance on rocks in the water.

"I won't ask you to imitate them," Weissich said, "but can you describe the dance?"

"I'm so offended by this while thing," Mrs. Borden answered, "and now you want me to describe what they were doing."

"We will submit," Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry D. Herman said, "that belly dance has a standard meaning, just as night and day have a standard meaning."

Mrs. Borden also said one nude man, unconscious or stoned on drugs, was being beaten and tossed around by six other nude men on the same day.

Otheruthan nudity, what else was unusual about the bathers' conduct, Weissich asked.

"If these people had bathing suits, there wouldn't be that activity of showing off," Mrs. Borden said. "Jumping around, girls putting their arms back and shaking around."

Mrs. Borden said she had fired a shotgun in the air on previous occasions to frighten away trespassers. Last summer, she testified, her husband, Charles A. Borden, collapsed and died of a heart attack after chasing off intruders from the beach.

Mrs. Wells testified she had removed her swimming suit to go swimming, then put it back on after lying nude in the sun to dry off.

All three defendants had donned clothes again by the time deputies climbed down to the beach, but Disterheft and two other deputies testified they recognized the three as having been nude.

When the deputies approached, Deputy Joseph Dentoni testified, a lookout began yelling "cops, cops," and the nudes scrambled into clothes.

A similar scramble for clothing ensued yesterday afternoon, when word went around that Judge Goldstein was taking in the scene.

Goldstein said he would hear final arguments and give a decision on the disturbing the peace charge Aug. 21.

JUDICIAL NOTICE — Sunbathers, nude and otherwise, cavorted in the sun near Muir Beach yesterday under the gaze of Marin Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., who is hearing the case of three nude sunbathers charged by a Muir Beach resident with disturbing the peace. This was the view from near the residence of Eleanor Borden, who filed the complaint. Bathers quickly covered up, however, when they spotted cameras, and some threw rocks and catcalls at a San Francisco news photographer who carried a telephoto lens. Woman Dies On Way To Hospital

Isable Ann Krieg, 57, of 118 Acacia Avenue, Larkspur, was pronounced dead on arrival at 8:44 a.m. today by doctors at Marin General Hospital after she was rushed there from her home by Bay Cities Ambulance.

Cause of death was not immediately known.

Larkspur police said Mrs. Krieg was found by her son, Robert S. Krieg, after she apparently collapsed while trying to get out of bed about 8:15 a.m.

Krieg, who summoned a resuscitator unit from the Larkspur Fire Department, told police his mother had complained of chest pains last night.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Chapel of the Hills Mortuary in San Anselmo.

Today is Friday, Aug. 8, the 220th day of 1969 with 145 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1940 the German Luftwaffe began a series of daylight raids on the British Isles that continued until Oct. 31.

In 1945 President Harry S. Truman signed the ratification of the U.N. Charter. Also in 1945, Russia declared war on Japan—seven days before Tokyo surrendered.

In 1953 the United States signed a mutual security pact with the Republic of Korea.

In 1963 a gang of masked bandits robbed a British mail train of $7 million.

A thought for the day: Thomas Mann said, "Time cools, time clarifies; no mood can be maintained quite unaltered through the course of hours."

Smoking Can Cause Oral Cancer, Too

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"Don't switch—fight!" That's how Dr. Sol Silverman, Jr., of the University of California Medical Center, feels about the smoking habit.

Silverman and his colleagues recently published a study of 636 patients treated for oral cancer last year at the medical center. The report said 90 per cent of the male and 66 per cent of the female patients were tobacco users.

Swedish Master Wins With Dangerously Beautiful Play

When I say that a bridge hand is beautiful you must allow for the point of view. After all, to a pathologist an ulcer is beautiful. But you may agree about the beauty of today's hand, played in Sweden recently by Jan Wohlin, one of Europe's leading experts.

TAKE OVER

West led the jack of spades, and Wohlin naturally played . . . Well, take over the controls and see if you can make three no-trump with the North-South cards.

You play the queen of spades from dummy, and East takes the ace and returns his low spade. West plays the eight and continues spades if you refuse the trick.

You must develop the clubs, but West takes the ace of clubs and the rest of the spades to defeat the contract. It was a hopeless contract . . .or was it?

Wohlin saw the danger that East might have A-x of spades and that West might have the ace of clubs as the entry to established spades. Declarer could meet this threat by playing dummy's low spade at the first trick.

CAPTURES QUEEN

East would capture the queen of spades at the second trick but would be unable to continue the suit. West would regain the lead with the ace of clubs, but his spades not yet be established, and he would be unable to stop South from winning 10 tricks.

"That's all very well," you object, "but what if West had led the jack from a five-card or six-card suit headed by the ace-jack-ten, with the ace of clubs on the side?" Then, of course, it would be fatal to play a low spade at the first trick.

IMPOSSIBLE

Wohlin knew that this was impossible. With any such hand West would have bid one spade over the opening bid of one club. East surely held one of the black aces, and it was therefore safe to play a low spade from dummy at the first trick.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ A 5
♥ J 10 8 4
♦ Q 9 5 4
♣ 8 6 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Since you have only seven points in high cards, the combined count is only 23 to 25 points. It doesn't pay to try for game when you know in advance that the partnership is short of the 26 points usually needed for game.

GOOD – BETTER – BEST!
The original owners of this 7 year old hillside home have added many extras that make it a delight to show! Starting with 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, they have added a lovely raised hearth fireplace, a large separate workshop and have landscaped this ¼ acre site. If you desire, they'll leave the range, refrigerator and washer & dryer as well. One thing they couldn't improve on — the view! San Anselmo, Ross Valley, the Berkeley Hills to Mt. Diablo. At $31,950, see it!

★MILL VALLEY LODGE★

At least, that's our opinion of this delightfully spacious home on a tree covered, sun bathed lot, just above the tennis and swim club and overlooking the golf course. Tile entry, separate library, private dining room. Large comfortable all-electric kitchen with barbecue, spacious family room, living room we couldn't begin to do justice in describing and you wouldn't believe unless you saw it, an upper story balcony halfway around the living room. The master bedroom a real dream with dressing room and Roman tub in bath. 3 full bedrooms and 2½ baths in all. Would you believe almost a 50 ft. all glass wall with a view through the trees to the golf course. One of a kind, a true pace setter, the home of and with a future, brand new and due for completion in 30 days. The style home for 1970 and cannot be duplicated for the asking price of $75,000.

Who Knows What Evil Lurks in the Hearts of Used Cars?

We invite you to compare our cars with others.

Because we at Felton's know a used car can be a thing of beauty on the outside and a mass of corruption on the inside. Our 16-point inspection takes us to parts of the car rarely traveled by used car dealers. When we find it pure at heart . . . then it is ready for you.

Good Can Still Triumph Over Evil!

Western Pacific Claims Losses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Western Pacific Railroad can no longer "bear the staggering losses" of passenger service between California and Utah on the California Zephyr, according to the company's president.

President Myron Christy yesterday termed a suggestion by San Francisco Congressman Phiilip Burton that Western Pacific reduce the California Zephyr service to a tri-weekly basis as "unrealistic and uninformed".

Christy said Southern Pacific, with its greater resources, can afford to keep the Zephyr route. But Western Pacific, he said, is seeking federal permission to eliminate its Zephyr service because of a $2 million annual loss.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

What To Do About Wisdom Teeth, And Rings On Fingers

VAN DELLEN

A few weeks ago I received a letter from a man who had no wisdom teeth (third molars). He was concerned, but needlessly so, because the third molar is the most frequent congenitally missing ivory. People born without these teeth are fortunate; they are spares, are not needed, and may be potential troublemakers.

Should wisdom teeth be extracted? Dr. Emmett R. Costich of the University of Kentucky has good reasons for recommending removal. The very questionable advantages to leaving them in far outweigh the discomfort, inconvenience and irreparable damage done by their presence.

IN DENTAL ABSTRACTS, Dr. Costich stated that "their prophylactic removal should be strongly urged as an important step in the maintenance of good oral hygiene. . . ." Furthermore, he is of the opinion that the procedure should be done in young healthy individuals who have good alveolar bone support in the back part of the jaw.

Snaring a ring on a projection may seriously damage the finger. The mishap can so disturb the circulation that amputation may be needed. Some industries have safety rules about employes wearing a ring at work because severe injury can occur when it is caught on machines, tables, and doors.

DR. WILLIAM H. Frackelton of Milwaukee has a good suggestion on how to make rings safe. He recommends that the jeweler cut slots inside the circle resembling those in a notebook ring. If the article is snagged it spreads apart in an open position.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

ARTHRITIS

H. P. writes: I know arthritis is common in middle age but why do some people develop it in the spine or knees and others in the fingers or shoulders?

REPLY

Heredity and occupation play major roles. The more extensively a joint is used or abused, the more likely it is to become arthritic in later life. Weight bearing also is a factor as the joints in the knees, hips, and feet tend to become involved. Furthermore, certain types of arthritis are partial to certain joints. Gout and the big toe, for example, go together like ham and eggs.

TIRED TYKE

Mrs. R. T. B. writes: Why should a child wake up tired every morning after a good night's sleep?

REPLY

He may be harboring a hidden infection in the throat, lungs, kidneys, or elsewhere. Other possibilities include anemia, rheumatic fever, or low metabolism. Now and then the child is bored and on awakening complains of being tired.

TOO LITTLE BLOOD

Mrs. M. M. writes: Would you be a dear and tell me what causes cerebral vascular insufficiency?

REPLY

The most common cause of too little blood to the brain is narrowing of the arteries going to the head. Now and then the brain fails to get enough blood because the output of the heart is not adequate. Both of these conditions are detectable and usually can be remedied.

GARLIC AND KIDNEYS

K. G. writes: Is garlic a diuretic?

REPLY

No. On reaching the stomach, the sulfides in garlic are absorbed by the blood and excreted as a vapor from the lungs. This is responsible for the persistent odor in the expired air. Garlic has no effect upon the kidneys.

HYSTERECTOMY

D. D. writes: Three years ago I had a complete hysterectomy. Since I've been feeling so well, my appetite is terrific and I've added weight in the midriff and abdominal area. My physician gave me an appetite-killing pill but it makes me crabby and nervous. I'd rather lose weight with a sensible diet. Does weight gain always follow a hysterectomy? P.S. I'm 15 pounds overweight.

REPLY

No, but the good appetite that goes with feeling well usually adds to that spare tire around the middle.

BONES AND TB

A reader writes: Can tuberculosis attack the bones?

REPLY

Yes. As a rule, the organisms reach the bones and joints via the bloodstream from a primary lesion, usually in the lungs. Any bone may be affected but the spine, hip, knee, and the small bones of the hands and feet are most frequently involved. Isoniazid is the best remedy.

BOILS

T. L. R. writes: Is it true that boils are worth $25 to get rid of the poison in your system?

REPLY

A boil isn't worth even 25 cents for this purpose. These abscesses represent infections of the hair follicles. They are not a sign that "poison is escaping from the system" or the person has "bad" blood.

DIABETES

A reader writes: Does diabetes affect the liver?

REPLY

Yes, in a small percentage of those who have had the disease for many years.

DEHYDRATED

A reader writes: What are the symptoms of dehydration? I used to be heavy and then lost weight. My doctor says I'm dehydrated.

REPLY

Thirst and dryness of the skin and mouth. Dehydration is not a common aftermath of reducing unless the individual takes too many diuretics. Perhaps your physician is trying to tell you that your weight loss stems more from loss of water than from loss of fat.

ITCHES WHEN WARM

A reader writes: Why do the hands become itchy when they are warmed immediately after being out in cold weather?

REPLY

Because the immediate effect of the warm air on the cold extremities leads to an overstretching of the capillaries which, in turn, creates the burning and itching sensation. The vessels return to normal size within a few minutes.

SLOW PULSE

Mrs. T. B. writes: My 16-year-old son's pulse never beats more than 52 a minute. Is this an abnormal condition?

REPLY

It is slow but is likely to be normal. If there is any question, have an electrocardiogram taken to determine whether a heart block exists.

REST INDICATED

P. S. writes: Should a person with angina rest after eating?

REPLY

Yes, if chest pain develops after eating and he has the time and a place to rest.

PYLORUS SPASM

A. L. writes: What causes spasms of the pylorus in a adult?

REPLY

Nervousness and irritation are common causes of a spasm involving the muscular valve at the exit of the stomach. Irritation may be associated with ulcer or gastritis or follow dietary indiscretions, including overindulgence in alcohol.

DIZZY

Mrs. S. D. writes: After reading for an hour or more, I often feel dizzy. Does reading for too long a time cause this symptom?

REPLY

This must be so in your case, as I assume the dizziness does not occur when you are not reading. Perhaps you are concentrating too hard.

GAMMA GLOBULIN

A reader writes: What is gamma globulin and for what is it given?

REPLY

It is the protein factor of the blood that contains many of the antibodies against disease. That is, the protective antibodies against whatever disease the individual may have had. The GG obtained from pooled blood has been used to offer temporary protection against both types of measles, and polio, hepatitis, and other viral diseases.

COLLAPSED LUNG

A reader writes: What would cause one lung to collapse in an otherwise healthy young man?

REPLY

Rupture of a distended or herniated air sac near the outer surface of the lung which allows air to accumulate between the ribs and the lung. In some instances a disease such as tuberculosis causes the sac to give way. In still others, the structure is injured as a blow or ruptures spontaneously.

Senate In Debate On Germ Warfare

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate, limp from two days of cliffhanger votes over the $80 billion defense budget, tackled the chemical-biological warfare controversy today. However, opponents were worried weekend absenteeism might sap their strength.

Democratic Sens. William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, Thomas J. McIntyre New Hampshire, and other sponsors of antiwarfare amendments attempted to work out a single proposal aimed at banning open air testing of lethal germ and gas weapons.

The Senate Armed Services Committee already has cut out funds for deployment of such weapons from the pending $20 billion defense procurement bill. But many senators want to go further to stop open air testing, which some consider dangerous to people and animals.

Proxmire, who has emerged as the unofficial floor leader for about two dozen amendments to the procurement bill, said there was a "good chance" the antiwarfare amendment would pass.

But he said Senate attendance—which has not dropped below 90 since Wednesday's showdown over the Safeguard antiballistic missile system—might begin falling off, making the outcome even more uncertain if the antiwarfare amendment comes to a vote this afternoon.

Also up for consideration today was an amendment by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., to halt further funding of the so-called Main Battle Tank, pending a review of the project by the General Accounting Office, which reports to Congress on federal spending.

In a prepared Senate speech, Eagleton said research and development costs on the tank had increased 528 per cent since its inception in 1963, and that the start of production had slipped from this year to 1974 or 1975.

After Wednesday's 50 to 50 rejection of a proposal to scuttle the ABM, the anti-ABM bloc staged a comeback Thursday. By a one vote margin, they rammed through an amendment by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., to establish strict congressional watchdog controls over Pentagon contracts.

It took Schweiker three roll calls to do it, and at the end he had floor managers for the procurement bill desperately searching the cloakrooms for votes. The first vote was on a motion to table Schweiker's amendment. The motion was defeated 51 to 44. The amendment then passed 47 to 46 and Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, was on his feet shouting for another roll call to prevent Schweiker from nailing down the decision. Again, the amendment carried —this time 46 to 45.

Bandleader Russ Morgan Dies At 65

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Russ Morgan, one of the leaders of yesteryear's "big band sound" and who helped the Dorsey brothers get their start, is dead at the age of 65.

Morgann whose music was among dancers' favorites in the 1939s and 1940s, died last night night of a cerebral hemmorhage spokesmen said at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital.

An accomplished arranger and songwriter, he wrote such hits as "Your Nobody Till Somebody Loves You," "Somebody New is Taking My Place" and his band's theme, "Does Your Heart Beat For Me?"

He had led his group, "The Russ Morgan Orchestra," for the past five years at the Dunes Hotel on the Las Vegas Strip.

Morgan formed his first band in his home state of Pennsylvania in 1923 and dubbed it 3 "Scranton Sirens." Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, who both went on to their own fame, were members of the band. The Dorseys and Morgan went to the same church in Scranton, where one of the Dorseys washed the church organ.

Before he was out of his teens Morgan had left for New York to arrange music for John Philip Sousa and Victor Herbert. Later he led the Jean Goldkette Orchestra in Detroit which claimed as members such names as the Dorseys, Joe Venuti, Eddie Lang, Chauncey Morehouse, Dix Beiderbecke and Fuzzy Farrar.

He formed the Russ Morgan Orchestra in 1936 and dubbed the sound "Music in the Morgan Manner." Besides leading, Morgan played the trombone and occasionally the piano. His deep, mellow sounds were famous to several decades of radio listeners.

Survivors include his widow, Shirley, and four children. His son Jack Morgan, who had played trombone with the group the past years, said he would take over the orchestra.

Another son, David, lives in New York and daughters Judy and Patty live in Los Angeles.

Funeral araangements are pending.

Fairfax Design Panel Approves Plans For Duplex

A duplex at the corner of 11 Marin Road, Fairfax, was approved last night by the city's design review board for Charles L. Young.

The duplex will be built by adding a new dwelling adjacent to an existing house. Approval included bringing the existing building up to building code standards.

The board also approved the design for a fire escape on the exterior wall of the building at 8 Bolinas Road as requested by Frank Healion, on condition the ladder be concealed behind redwood railing.

Previous approval for reconstruction of the Shell station at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Claus Drive was modified to change roofline requirements and to limit signs on the property to one for identification and one announcing prices.

New Data From Mars Hints Life

PASADENA (UPI) — Mariner 7 detected on Mars two substances so intimately connected with life on Earth as to spur scientific speculation some kind of life may exist in the polar cap regions of the mysterious Red Plant.

Dr. George Pimentel, a University of California chemist, said that in his analysis of infrared spectroscope experiments he detected gaseous methane and ammonia in the polar region.

"We can't refrain from speculation that they might be of biological origin," the Berkeley scientist told a news conference at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory yesterday, terming the discovery "very exciting."

Pimentel said he and his colleagues, in contradiction of previous theories, were confident that the south polar cap was composed of water ice and not carbon dioxide.

The carbon dioxide cloud would screen out deadly ultraviolet rays from the cap, providing an hospitable environment for life, Pimentel said.

The chief biologist for the project, Caltech professor Dr. Norman Horowitz, disagreed with Pimental on the composition of the polar cap.

Hearing Waived

A preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court was waived yesterday by Larry Hamilton, 25, of Mill Valley, and he was ordered to appear Monday in Marin Superior Court for arraignment on a charge of receiving stolen motorcycles in 1967 and 1968.

A FOOTPRINT ON MARS?

Scientists in the Jet Propulsion Laboratories in Pasadena have dubbed this Martian terrain photographed by Mariner 7 the "giant's footprint." The two oblique craters near Mars' south pole were snapped by the space probe's camera Monday. Area shown is about 100 miles to a side.

Rear-End Crash Injures Driver

Janet Ann Bollow, 28, of San Francisco, received minor injuries yesterday when her car was struck in the rear by another on Highway 101 near the Marinwood overpass, the California Highway Patrol said today.

She was to see her own physician.

The patrol said her car hit by one driven by William Edward Shumate, 67, of 205 Auburn Street, San Rafael, when it slowed for traffic.

Correct Spokesman

The spokesman for a youth panel at the Marinwood meeting on vandalism Wednesday night was Al Kerr Jr., acting chairman of the Marinwood Youth Commission, and not Christopher Harris as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Sentencing Set For Man Guilty In Fatal Crash

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A date for sentencing will be set in Sonoma County Superior Court at 9 a.m. Wednesday for Donald R. Cocking, 29, of Sebastopol who is charged with driving under the influence of drugs and transporting dangerous drugs and marijuana.

Cocking was arrested July 21 after an accident on Gravenstein Highway five miles west of Cotati that killed his daughter, Pamela, 8. The girl was thrown from the car when it struck a utility pole.

Cocking had been charged with manslaughter, but it was later reduced in Sonoma Municipal Court where he pleaded guilty and was bound over to superior court.

Denies Burglary

Glenn Michael Anthony Richardson, 18, of Novato, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burgling a Loma Verde residence Wednesday and was released to the custody of his parents to appear Thursday for further proceedings.

How To Save On The Dentist Bill

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Californians would save more than $12 billion in dental bills by the end of the century if the state fluordinated its drinking water this year, according to the dean of the University of Southern California School of Dentistry.

Dr. John Ingle said dentists would welcome fluoridation, even though they would lose the fees for filling all those cavities.

"Believe it or not, the profession of dentistry looks forward to having this $12 billion burden lifted from its shoulders," Ingle said.

He said Americans currently have about 800 million unfilled cavities and there are only 100,000 or so dentists to fill them.

Forgery Hearing

Peter E. Stuckslager, 33 of Santa Monica, was held to answer in Marin Superior Court after a preliminary hearing in Marin Minicipal Court yesterday on charges of passing two forged checks in June in Sausalito. He was ordered to appear Aug. 18 for arraignment.

Wife Killed In Road Inspection

WOODLAND (AP) — Mrs. Cecil Sinclair was killed last night in a head-on collision while driving behind her husband, a highway patrol captain patrolling a road under construction to determine if it should be posted as hazardous.

Sinclair was in a truck on California 16 with a Sacramento contractor, driving ahead of his 52-year-old wife when the accident happened a half-mile east of Woodland where the Sinclair home is.

Mrs. Sinclair had driven along to pick up her husband after his inspection. She died at Woodland Memorial Hospital.

Three In Auto Crash Released

Pending further investigation, no complaint was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against three men booked into jail Wednesday on charges stemming from a head-on auto crash in Sausalito Tuesday night.

Skip B. Sahota, 24, of Brisbane, John W. Brewer, 22, and Lee Erwin Maxwell, 35, both of San Francisco, were released. All had been booked on suspicion of car theft and Sahota on suspicion of having narcotics.

Driver of the car, Timothy Joseph Deuser, 19, of Pensacola, Fla., was released Wednesday when no complaint was issued. The car, reportedly stolen in Los Angeles County, hit another car head-on at Alexander and South streets in Sausalito.

L.A. Newspaper 'Uncovers' 80 Narcotics Agents

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An underground newspaper here published a list of names, addresses and telephone numbers yesterday under the heading, "Know Your Neighborhood Narc."

The list purportedly identifies 80 state narcotics agents in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego. One of the men named said he and the others named had been bombarded with obscene telephone calls and feared for the safety of their families.

Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien refused to confirm or deny that the persons named were narcotics agents, but termed the publication "a wildly irresponsible act."

The list was labeled "a public service announcement courtesy of a concerned citizen" and was accompanied by a front page statement which said, "there should be no secret police: in this spirit, we are publishing in this issue on page 5 the official personnel roster of agents in the California State Bureau of Narcotics."

Cheaper in the long run.

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get up to 27 miles to the gallon.)

And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 2.7 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.)

And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors.

And you get more than your money's worth out of a set of tires.

But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme.

You have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

Young Marin Man's Pursuit Of The American Dream

TOM CORDER
Determination-plus

By GARY TISCHLER

The American Dream of success is a most elusive and nagging daydream dreamt at one time or another by almost every growing boy and past-grown man in the country.

It begins with the word someday and never quite goes away. It seems that you cannot become some kind of man until you have chased at least one small, bright piece of it for a month, or a summer of your life, or all of it. It is a thousand-to-one odds dream.

Some men pursue it behind a desk, nurse it in a bottle, lose it to the odds. Tom Corder, student and advertising major, brand new husband, lately a high school star athlete, pursues it with a booming bat, crouched at the plate, over the fence, at deep short.

He wants to be a pro baseball player. There is nothing he would like more. And he wants to be one of the best, maybe the best. It is not a bad version of the dream. Lots of boys and men have the same dreams.

For Corder, it probably will not be a pipe dream. He already has most of the tools to make it real. And he lacks nothing in determination. He has to try it.

The former Novato High School triple-sport (football, basketball and baseball) star is an advertising major at San Jose State, where he will be entering his senior year this fall.

But advertising is not really his goal. It would be nice, but first, he has to find out if there is a place for him in the bigs, the big leagues.

"I have to try it," he said. "I don't want to have a good job, eight to five, and wonder the rest of my life if I could have made it."

Red-haired, neat and trim, Corder has made it a point to continually better himself. That, he figures, is what it takes.

"You should always try to do what you've had trouble doing," he said. "If you've had trouble making the big play, hitting a curve, well you work on it until you can do it. Just like in football, if you can't catch a hard pass, well you work until you can."

It's the kind of attitude that coaches, managers and scouts like to see in action. He has it, and talent that is just beginning to come together in one piece.

Last season, as a member of the San Jose State varsity, he was named the conference's most valuable player after a season in which he hit .395 in league play, and .360 overall with 33 runs batted in.

"I have to admit, that surprised me," he said. "I really wasn't expecting that."

He's played baseball at just about every level, beginning with his first little league stint at age 12, followed by pony and colt league, high school ball, where he was all-league for Novato High, American Legion ball, college ball and semi-professional ball with Joe Anselmo's San Rafael Braves for the past two years.

Corder figures you'll learn best and rate yourself most accurately in a pressure situation.

"Anybody can make the big play and the big hit when you're ahead 12-1," he said. "But when you make the play in a 2-2 game in the 13th inning, then you've done your job."

His wife Linda, even when

She's Pretty And Fast, She's Holiday On Wheels

Now that he's got the broads all prettied up nice and yummy like sugar and spice and everything nice, he's going to see what he can do about the ugly innards of your family flivver.

I refer to Marin cosmetics tycoon William Penn Patrick of Holiday Magic fame who also is chairman of the board of H. M. Labs, Inc. of San Rafael, manufacturer and distributor of gasoline, oil and transmission additives called Sta-Power.

Realizing the great promotional aspects from auto racing, Sta-Power has jumped into the sport with both feet, sponsoring this weekend's 150-mile stock car race at Sears Point and hiring top drivers like Bob Brown, Bud Morley, Ron Grable and others to carry the Sta-Power banner in various speed circuits.

President of Sta-Power is youngish H. K. White of Larkspur who served as vice president in the Holiday Magic enterprise. Messers. Patrick and White should make a good team in the automotive world, although I'm fearful that the conflict of interests could prove embarrassing, to wit:

Trouble With His Creampuff

"Hello, Mr. Patrick. This is Speedy McGoo, demon driver, and I'm having a little problem with my little creampuff that I understand your new product can help solve. You see, she's got pitted bearings, gummy valve lifters, worn rings. . ."

"Hold on a minute, sir. I see you've been neglecting her. Have you tried our fruit tang toner on her?"

"Hell, no. She's been using Quaker 30 with a shot of STP additive."

Well, I think you should have started her properly with our Moon Magic set and our Glamour Finishing Magic line. We also highly recommend our Miracle Mask. And she'll adore our refreshing mint ice with honey and almonds . . . "

"Yes, Mr. Patrick, but do these things do as your firm advertises? Will they clean as they condition, give her quicker starting, permit smoother idling, give her quieter and more efficient performance, reduce her maintenance costs, reduce corrosion . . . ?"

"Smother her with kindness, Sir, and treat her to our avocado and cream banana lotion. A little bit goes a long way."

"You mean I'll get better mileage out of her?"

No Mechanics In These Cans

"Indeed you will, Sir. Ahem. A LOT more mileage."

"Another thing, Mr. Patrick. Is your product like that other additive that advertises a mechanic in every can?"

"Sir, I'll have you know we don't permit any dirty old men in OUR cans!"

"Okay, okay. Now, what about her problem of excessive rocker arm wear."

"No sweat, sir. Try our cream deodorant."

"What about heat buildup, keeping the seals pliable and dry starts?"

"Well, you've got me there, but we highly recommend strawberry frap-pe, papaya dew. . ."

He's Not Driving A Fruit Wagon

"Listen, Buster, I'm not driving a fruit wagon, you know. Will your product improve pickup?"

"Sir, just one treatment of our Magic Glow night cream and Lemon Delight eye and throat oil and I guarantee you, it will improve her pickup. Wow, WILL it!"

"Oh, bless you, Mr. Patrick. Send me a case of the stuff and I'll run right down to the junkyard and tow her out to Sears Point."

"I BEG your pardon, sir. . . . ."

Well, I guess you get the idea that it should be fun for Mr. Patrick in his dual executive role. The Sta-Power company may produce the fastest and prettiest racing team in speedway annals.

And now, if you'll pardon me, I have to go see a mechanic in the can. My Magic Glow mascara is running and making a mess of Moon Magic basetone.

WHEN PHILADELPHIA'S Johnny Callison bombed Giant ace Juan Marichal for a pair of homers the other night it didn't surprise the I-J's Bryce Anderson. "Marichal isn't slipping," said Anderson, "it's just that Callison has always been his nemesis. In fact, he got the first hit ever off Marichal in his major league career. When Juan made his debut with the Giants in 1960 he had a perfect game going against the Phils at Candlestick Park until the seventh inning when somebody got on first on an error and Callison hit a double. I remember it well because I was there."

49er, Raider Prizes In The Bag

STOCKERS AT SEARS

This type action from a June 8 race at Sears Point International Raceway will be repeated Sunday when a field of 30 late model stock cars will be gunning for $13,000 in prize money in the "Sta-Power 150" at the southern Sonoma County road circuit. Story on page 39.

Kwalick, Thoms Come To Terms

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's hard to believe, but the San Francisco 49ers and the Oakland Raiders seem to be doing things in unison.

Both teams signed their top draft choices yesterday after long contract squabbles, as they got ready to play last year's National Football League finalists this weekend.

All-American end Ted Kwalick announced yesterday that he had signed with the 49ers, ending a long holdout in which he had been reportedly seeking $90,000 for three years.

The Penn State star refused to disclose final terms but said he was "very happy with the contract."

The whole thing, according to 49er general manager Jack White, was rather short, simple and sweet.

"The negotiation sessions weren't very long," said White. "In fact, the actual negotiations were short — about one-and-a-half to two hours. We spent a lot of time showing them (Kwalick, his father, Thad, and financial advisor Bucky Woy) around California."

GOOD SHAPE

Kwalick said he's been working out twice daily, adding he hopes to be in good shape.

"I was even out in front of my hotel running at 6 o'clock this morning," he said yesterday. "They won't find me overweight."

The Raiders also collared their No. 1 draft choice as they came to terms with Art Thoms of Syracuse University yesterday Terms were not disclosed but the 6-5, 250-bound defensive lineman arranged to report today to the Raider training camp in Santa Rosa.

The 49ers flew to Seattle today where they will meet the Cleveland Browns Sunday while the Raiders prepared to meet last year's NFL champions, the Baltimore Colts, in the Coliseum tomorrow night.

The 49ers worked out for two hours at their Santa Barbara camp yesterday. They planned a workout this afternoon at the University of Washington stadium.

'Color Man' Rigney Back With Giants

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bill Rigney said it right out, plain and simple.

He doesn't know if he'd like to manage in the majors again.

If you know Bill Rigney, you believe him, because he's never deliberately put anyone on in his life.

Rigney sat in the glare of television cameras in a plush office of a San Francisco radio station (KSFO) and he answered all the questions. He didn't duck a one, even when someone asked him if he wanted to manage again in the big leagues.

Rigney had just disclosed he was signing on as the "color man" for San Francisco Giants

Will S.F. Lose East-West Shrine Game Permanently?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The 45th annual East-West College Football classic, pitting most of the nation's leading players in the oldest all-star game of them all, will be played in the 87,000 seat Stanford Stadium this year.

The Shrine Game Committee announced yesterday it has accepted an invitation from Stanford to take the game there this Dec. 27 while Candlestick Park is being renovated.

It will mark only the second time in the history of the game, which benefits crippled childrens hospitals, that it has not been played in San Francisco. In 1941, the Army blacked out the West Coast, following Pearl Harbor, and the Shrine Committee took the game to New Orleans.

The committee became disenchanted with Kezar Stadium, where 41 games were played over the years, in 1967 and moved the charity classic to Candlestick, installing sideline seats at its own expenses.

This fall, after the conclusion of the baseball season, Candlestick will be renovated, starting with artificial turf. Its seating capacity also will be increased from 44,000 to 60,000 so the football 49ers can move in next season.

There is no guarantee the East-West game will come back to Candlestick even after the park has been renovated and expanded. If this year's game is a sellout at Stanford, the game could remain there.

"Our first responsibility is to the kids in the hospitals," said game chairman Ted Balliet. "Certainly, if we sell out this year it will have a strong bearing on future decisions, although we like to think of the East/West games as a San Francisco tradition."

Palo Alto is 40 miles south of San Francisco and in the heart of a high income suburban area, where most of the sports dollars in the general Bay Area come from. Obviously, the area influenced the committee in picking that stadium over the Oakland Coliseum and the University of California Sta-

Giants Host Cards; Juan Main Concern

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants have returned home to begin a weekend series against the St. Louis Cardinals tonight, 8 o'clock, and to find the root of Juan Marichal's pitching problem.

The Giants lost a 5-4 contest when Marichal gave up 10 hits and four homers. It was an unprecedented fourth straight loss for the Giant's "stopper."

The loss dropped the Giants from first to third place in the National League West race.

Gaylord Perry, 14-7, is scheduled to start against the Cardinals' Nelson Briles, 11-9.

Marichal, who has won 133 games in the past six years, was beaten three consecutive times in 1965 and 1967.

Manager Clyde King, who worked with Marichal in Philadelphia, said, "It may be just some little thing that he is doing that is throwing him off."

The right-hander, 13-8 on the season, blamed umpire Bob Engel for the Phillies' close win.

"Engel called (Larry) Histle safe at first base when he was out in the fourth inning," Marichal said.

Shortstop Don Money followed with a home run that gave the Phillies the margin "that beat me," Marichal said.

The Giants were also disturbed about the loss of Ron Hunt, who was knocked out of the lineup until Saturday or Sunday. The second baseman was struck on the head by a throw to the plate.

What's This? Second Billing For Willie?

PHILADELPHIA — Later this month in Candlestick Park there will be an Oldtimers Day. As an afterthought somebody had the idea of making it a doubleheader in which Willie Mays also would be honored.

Certainly, that was a charitable thought. But Willie is entitled to his own day, not as some afterthought. Baseball owes the super-star that.

When Willie bows out it won't be in a doubleheader in which he has been billed as an added attraction. Mays will call a press conference at which he will announce his retirement in style.

It isn't generally known but Willie has a two-year contract that extends through 1970 at $125,000 a year. He definitely intends to fulfill that contract despite rumors that he might announce his retirement on Oldtimers Day at Candlestick Park.

JUST NOW Mays came to be linked with the Oldtimers Day shindig is not clear. The Adirondack bat people did send an inquiry to the front office of the Giants, expressing their desire to present Willie not with one but two cars for making their bats famous.

The Adirondack people understandably are grateful to Mays for using their bats in becoming the greatest homerun hitter since Babe Ruth. They suggested to the front office at Candlestick Park that Mays' 600th homer would be a proper moment to express their appreciation. Willie still is four shy of No. 600.

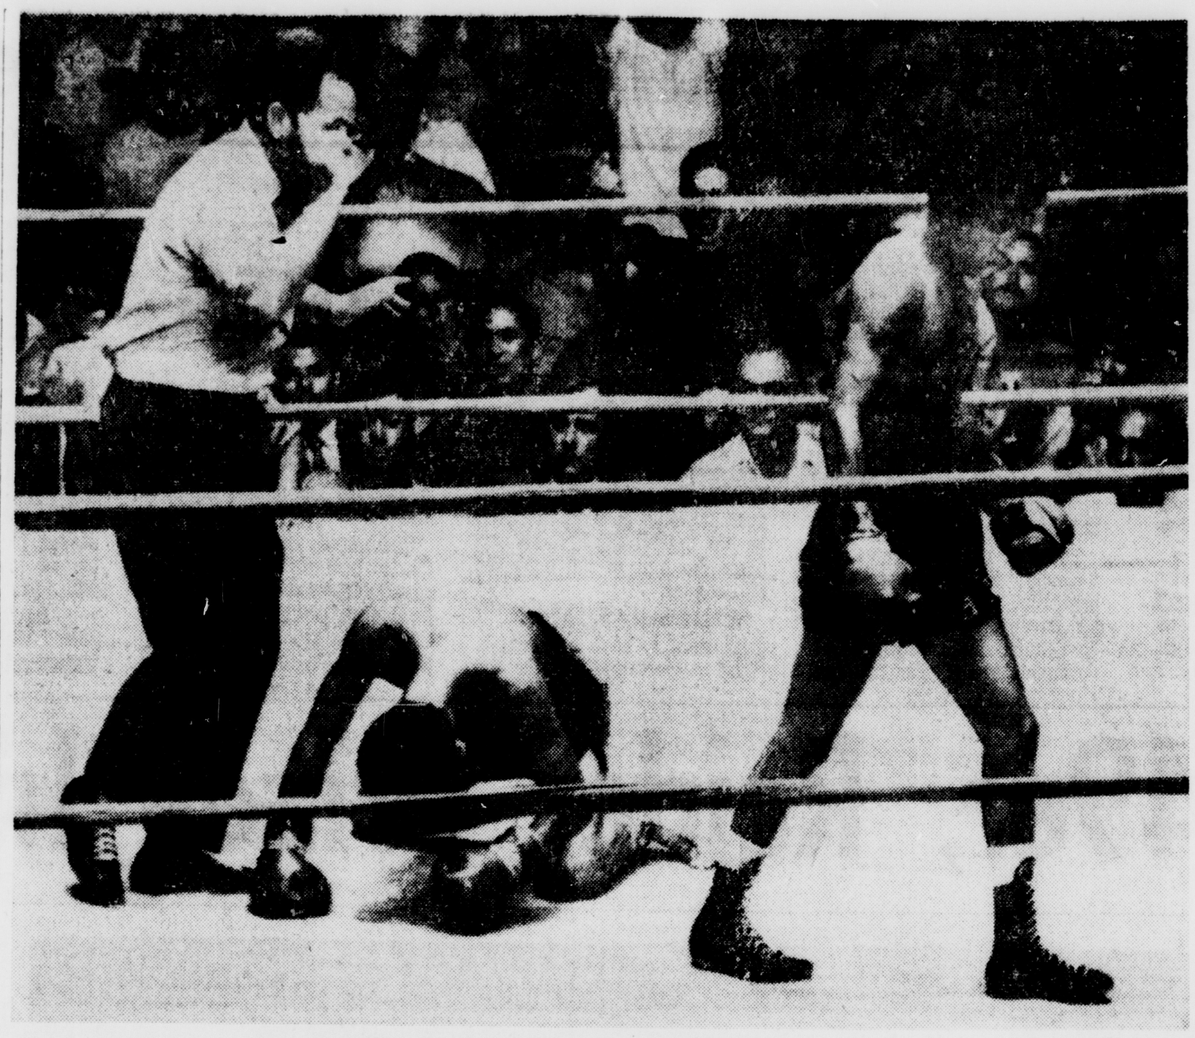
SINCE MAYS may hit No. 600 on the road, instead of in Candlestick, somebody in the Giants' front office got the bright idea that Oldtimers Day would be a convenient occasion to honor Mays.

There has been no comment whatsoever from Mays. His silence speaks for itself. Naturally, he must be wondering whether this is a brushoff.

AND SIMILARLY there has been no comment from Horace Stoneham, president of the ball club, who cannot be expected to know of every detail that goes on in his organization.

Stoneham does do things in style. He would be the last person in the Giant organization to bill Mays in any secondary role of a doubleheader. Not Stoneham who is well aware of the way Mays has packed fans into ball parks for almost two decades from New York to San Francisco.

THERE'S NOTHING wrong in honoring Mays on Oldtimers Day in Candestick but nobody should get the idea that it will be Willie's day. Baseball owes Mays more than an afterthought billing in a doubleheader.



THIS IS THE END, MY FRIEND

Mexico's Julio Guerrero walked away from the supine form of Japan's Yoshiaki Suda after battering Suda to the canvas for the second and final time in the eighth round of their bantamweight fight at Los Angeles last night. The referee is Larry Rozadilla. Guerrero now has 27 knockouts in 29 fights.

Suyderhoud Ties In World Slalom

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, tied with George Athans of Canada, Victor Poloma of Spain and Michelle Jamin of France, in the opening slalom competition at the opening of the World Water Ski Championship yesterday.

The four each completed 33 buoys at 36 miles per hour with 30 feet off the rope. A duel in the making between the 17-year-old Athans and the 19-year-old Suyderhoud will have its climax on Sunday.

Other qualifying for Sunday's final in the slalom include R. McCormick and W. Grimditch, both of the United States.

In the women's trick preliminaries, Liz Allan, Winter Park, Fla., and Christy Lynn Weir, McQueen, Tex., finished first and second and qualified for Sunday's final.

AUTO RACING

HUNTSVILLE, Ala — Tiny Lund, former Grand National racing star from Cross, S.C., led from start to finish last night to win the Huntsville 400 Grand Touring sports sedan race.

Lund, who grabbed the pole position for the 100-mile race during time trials, jumped into the lead at the green flag and was never headed, beating another former GN star, Buck Baker of Charlotte, N.C., by five laps.

PETALUMA — An extra $50 prize will be at stake at the sportsmen and stockers races tonight at the Petaluma Fairgrounds.

It will be offered to the winner of a special six-lap race. Jerry Alberigi and Don Brandlin, both of San Rafael, will be entered in the race.

There will also be a dual program for stockers and sportsmen with qualifying starting at 7 o'clock. The first race is set for 8:15.

GOLF

LOS ANGELES — The Astrojet golf tournament, featuring top professional football and baseball players, moves from California to Arizona next year.

A spokesman here for F. Jack Mullins, tournament chairman and senior vice-president for sponsoring American Airlines, announced yesterday the event will be held Feb. 6-8 at the Wigwam Country Club in Litchfield Park, Ariz.

The event has been held for three years at the La Costa Country Club near San Diego.

SPORTS SHORTS

TENNIS

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. — Bob Lutz, Los Angeles, eliminated George Goven, France, 11-9, 2-6, 7-5 and reached the semifinals of the Meadow Club $12,000 Invitation Grass Court Tennis Tournament.

TORONTO — Cliff Richey, San Angelo, Tex., defeated Ray Moore, South Africa, 4-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0, 6-2 in the quarter-finals of the Canadian Open Tennis Championships.

GOLF

VANCOUVER, B.C. — Bob Cox, Richmond, B.C., and Al Balding, a three time winner, carded six-under-par 66's to share a two-stroke lead after the first day of the $33,157 Canadian Professional Golfer's Association Championship.

FOOTBALL

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. — The New York Jets of the AFL traded rookie offensive tackle Ezell Jones to the Boston Patriots for an undisclosed draft choice.

WILMINGTON, Ohio — Paul Robinson, last season's AFL Rookie of the Year, has signed his 1969 contract with the Cincinnati Bengals.

GENERAL

BOXING

LONDON — Jimmy Elis, World Boxing Association Heavyweight Champion from Louisville and Henry Cooper, English European heavyweight champion, have agreed to meet in a 15-round fight on Sept. 27 in London.

Rig Rejoins Giants In Radio Capacity

broadcasts for the remainder of the 1969 season.

"I really don't know if I want to manage again," he said. "Don't forget, I know all the pluses and the minuses of managing. What I really want to find out now is if I can be a broadcaster."

Still, the interviewers persisted, not happy with that answer. Now they phrased their questions differently, but Rigney is no dummy. He smiled and tried again.

"Let me put it this way," he said. "I haven't completely resolved it in my mind yet about putting on a uniform again.

"I don't say I wouldn't if someone made me an offer. Then again, I don't say I would, either. First, I want to see if I can be an announcer, and if I can, whether or not I'd like to keep on doing it.

"That certainly would play a big part in any decision I'd have to make, but aren't we putting the cart before the horse? No one has offered me a job recently, except Charlie Finley and this radio station."

NIXED FINLEY

Finley, owner of the cross-bay Oakland A's offered Rigney the job of "color man" on the A's broadcasting team but Rigney turned him down.

"At the time I didn't have this offer (to do the Giants broadcasts)," said Rigney, "so one had nothing to do with the other."

Rigney, even though he moved over to the American League with the California Angels as their only manager until he was fired two months ago, is a National Leaguer at heart.

"Isn't this some kind of a race in the West," he asked. "I'll tell you this, when Bert West (manager of station KSFO) made me this offer I jumped. Sitting around the house was starting to get to me. Now I'll feel like I'm back in the mainstream of things again."

Rigney, who celebrated his 51st birthday last January, broke into the majors with the Giants, while they were based in New York, and never played for another club. He served as a minor league manager for the Giants for two years at Minneapolis and when owner Horace Stoneham fired Leo Durocher after the 1955 season, Rig became skipper.

SUDDEN DISMISSAL

He had the Giants humming along in second place, only four games off the pace in June 1960 when Stoneham suddenly dismissed him. The following year Rigney landed on his feet as manager of the Angels and won Manager of the Year honors in 1962 for steering the expansion club to a third place finish in a 10-team league.

Unfortunately, he never was able to match that season again and when the club slipped into a nine game losing streak in May, owner Gene Autry fired him. He still has another year to go on a $50,000 a year contract, which the Angels, of course, will honor.

The committee also announced yesterday that Tom Cahill of Army will head the East coaching staff and John McKay of Southern California the West. Alex Agase of Northwestern and Earle Edwards of North Carolina State will serve as Cahill's assistants while McKay will be helped by Eddie Crowder of Colorado and Frank Kush of Arizona State.

Stargell Homer An L.A. Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A home run by Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell Tuesday, the first ever to clear the bleachers at Dodger Stadium, measured 512 feet, the stadium's resident engineer said yesterday.

The outfielder hit a curve ball over the 26th row of the right field pavillion to snap a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning.

Ira Hoyt, resident engineer for the 7-year-old ballpark, distributed a diagram showing the flight of the ball into a parking lot.

It was the longest hit in nearly 1,000 games played at the stadium.

MILWAUKEE OPEN

Young Englishman Leads

By BOB GREEN

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Peter Townsend, a young Englishman who once lost his approved player card because of poor play, isn't concerned with that problem any more.

"I figure that if they pick up my card again, they're going to have to pick another 150," the dark-haired 22-year-old said yesterday after shooting a five-under-par 67 and grabbing the first round lead in the $100,000 Greater Milwaukee Open golf tournament.

"I've been playing pretty well for the last few months," Townsend said. "I'm about 98th on the money list. And there are about 250 or 300 players on the tour."

With most of the great names of the game by-passing this event to practice for next week's PGA championship, some of the lesser lights of the tour dominated the windy, first-day play.

Rookie pro John Miller was second with a 68, followed by Mike Nugent, Steve Opperman and South African Allan Henning, all at 69. At 70 were Jim Wiechers, Larry Ziegler and Bob Lunn. Of the leaders, only Lunn played in the afternoon, when the wind was at its highest.

The top attractions had their problems with the wind that gusted to 28 miles per hour.

Arnold Palmer came in with a 76, four over par on the 7,075-yard North Shore Country Club course. Defending champion Dave Stockton had a 77. Bert Greene, second in last week's Westchester Classic, took a 75. Gary Player had a 73.

Perry's Softball Team Wins By 9-2

Terry Horn and Dan Coleman socked homers and Ed Fisse hurled a four-hitter to pace Perry's Delicatessen to a 9-2 win over the Marinwood Merchants in a B division game of the San Rafael Recreation Department's Adult Softball League at Albert Field yesterday.

In another B game, Sears Point Raceway walloped Salt's Fish and Chips, 15-8. Sam King hit a three-homer for the losers.

Yarbrough Sets Stock Car Mark

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — An unofficial stock car speed record has been set by Lee Roy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C., at the Alabama International Motor Speedway.

A spokesman for the track said yesterday Yarbrough toured the 2.66-mile oval in 48.99 seconds in a 1969 Talladega Ford for an average speed of 195.47 m.p.h. He made an earlier run of 49.511 seconds, an average of 193.42 m.p.h.

The record is unofficial, since it came in a tire test, not a sanctioned race, officials said.

The official mark is 190.706 m.p.h., set by Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., in qualifying runs for the Firecracker 400 at Daytona, Fla., in July.

The tests were the first on the speedway, which is nearing completion.

Sears Point 150-Mile Lineup Adds Wise Old Former Champion McGriff

An all-time, wizened champ has entered the lists in the Sta-Power 150-mile NASCAR stock race at Sears Point Raceway in Sonoma Sunday, which may change the entire complexion of the race.

Forty-six-year-old Hershel McGriff of Bridle Vale, Ore., will be at the wheel of a 1969 Chevy Chevelle for the longest and richest NASCAR race remaining on the 1969 Pacific Coast slate. McGriff, once retired, was the 1950 Pan-American Road Race winner and winner of this year's Permatex 200 at Riverside. He also holds four all-time grand national stock car race wins and that should put him right on top with the list of favorites which includes Ray Elder, the "Racing Farmer" from Carruthers near Fresno and Jack McCoy from Modesto.

Also a late entry in Sunday's race, which offers a $13,000 purse, is 33-year-old Ken Gandy. The Pleasant Hill veteran, who is a perennial favorite at the Vallejo Speedway, will drive a 1967 Mercury.

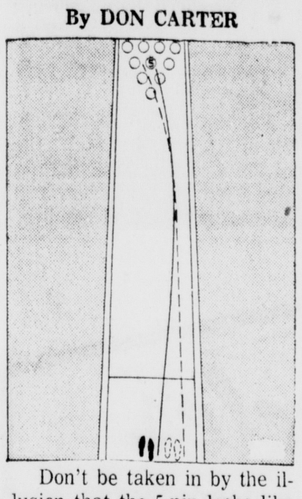
A 30-car field will take the green flag at 1:15 p.m. Sunday. The race is preceded by qualifying from 9:30 a.m. to noon, followed by an intermission and a dragster exhibition.

Admission is $5 for adults. Children under 12 are admitted free.

Tickets can be obtained at J and B Ford in Corte Madera, Mill Valley Auto Parts, the Emporium, Budd's Travel Tours and Macy's in San Rafael.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Don't be taken in by the illusion that the 5-pin looks like the headpin when it is standing alone on the lane. Move your starting position several boards to the left when aiming at it, for it is some 18 inches farther away. Your ball can do a lot of hooking in that distance.

Coach Keeps Lead In Pacific Golf

NORTH HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mike Davis, 22-year-old assistant golf coach at the University of Oregon, slipped to a 73 but maintained his lead yesterday in the Pacific Coast Amateur Golf Championship.

Coupled with his first day round of 67, Davis of Portland, had 140 for a one stroke advantage over Bud Bradley of Los Angeles in the 72-hole tourney at Lakeside Golf Club.

A two stroke penalty levied against Terry Small cost the Northern California Golf Association the team title. Southern California won the Morse Cup with a combined total of 583 for 36 holes, one shot better than the North.

TRIO TIED

Three players were tied for third on the par 70 course: Dr. Ed Updegraff, Tucson, Ariz., Forrest Fezler, San Jose, and Chip Stewart, Dallas, Tex., all with 142.

One of the 65 qualifiers in the starting field of 132 shot a hole-in-one. Fred Haney of Forest Grove, Ore., aced the 236-yard ninth hole with a driver.

Small, of Long Beach, playing, ironically, for Northern California, was penalized for making an incorrect drop of a ball at the ninth hole. The violation also knocked the former NCAA champion out of second place and into a deadlock for sixth at 69-74—143.

Tom Corder A Dedicated Ball Player

they were dating in high school, didn't at first like his devotion to sports.

"She'd always wonder why I'd spend so much at practice," he said. "Or why I'd show up so early. But she's ready for a baseball life. She knows what it will be like, but we're ready for that . . . motel traveling and things like that."

Corder has had considerable nibbles from scouts but nothing concrete, since he is undraftable with a year of eligibility left.

He really didn't get a chance to settle down to hard baseball tacks until he was out of high school.

"With three sports, it's pretty hard to concentrate on one thing," he said. "But once I got out of school, everything seemed to jell. I was really hitting the ball."

Corder admires a hitting shortstop. That's what he wants to be.

"I can't stand a shortstop that can't hit," he said. "It bothers me to see so many way down in the batting averages. If you can hit and really play your position, then you've got a good chance."

Baseball, it seems, is the life for him.

"I've always wanted to play baseball in the bigs," he said. "That would be so cool. I'm going to play. That would be such a great life. The perfect job for me."

And it is a job.

"It's like anybody else," he said. "You just keep trying to do better. If you get the best average, well, then you try for the most homers, the triple crown, the all-stars and so on. I'd never want to stop learning new things, ways to be better. That's the only way you can do anything."

It is one way to chase the dream hard, and catch it.

few days, but I'm sure it's because we're anxious to get up to Seattle," head coach Dick Nolan said yesterday. "We know we're facing a good football team."

Big second-year defensive tackle and end Kevin Hardy, ailing with a knee injury "may or may not suit up," according to Nolan.

He added that veteran tight end Dick Witcher, recovering from an ankle injury, will suit up but "may or may not play."

Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica threw well at Santa Rosa yesterday but wondered when he will survive a preseason opener without injury.

PASSING HAND

Lamonica injured his passing hand last weekend against Kansas City when he smashed it against defensive end Aaron Brown's helmet while following through on a pass in the Raiders' 23-17 loss at Birmingham.

"The first year it was a jammed hand," Lamonica said. "Last year, I got two bad knees and then this year I hurt my hand again. But it's okay now. It had been a little tender.

Eldridge Dickey, who moved into the No. 2 quarterback slot when Ken Stabler quit football, is slated for plenty of action tomorrow. Lamonica will start.

A's Rookie In Pressure Cooker Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Young George Lauzerique had already hurled two no-hitters in the minor leagues but he still felt the pressure when he held the Cleveland Indians hitless for six innings yesterday.

Lauzerique, a 22-year-old right-hander who spent most of the season in the bullpen, combined with Rollie Fingers for a three-hit shutout as the Oakland A's downed the Indians 3-0.

Cleveland's Dave Nelson broke up Lauzerique's no-hitter with a single to center field in the seventh.

"I was disappointed and relieved when Nelson got his hit," said the Cuban-born hurler.

PRESSURE GONE

"Disappointed that it took away a no-hitter and relieved because it took off the pressure."

Lauzerique pitched two no-hitters in AA baseball, one against the A's in an exhibition while he was with Birmingham.

Oakland moved on to New York today for a twinight doubleheader with the Yankees. John Odom, who was knocked out in the fourth inning by the Indians Tuesday, was to risk his 14-6 mark along with Jim Hunter, 9-9, against the Yankees' Stan Bahnsen, 7-11, and Al Downing, 2-3.

The other hits off Lauzerique were singles by Ken Harrelson, also in the seventh, and by Eddie Leon in the eighth.

Leon's hit followed a walk to Duke Sims, and Lauzerique, now 3-1, gave way to Fingers.

Dave Duncan, who caught the game, said the young hurler "did a good job in keeping the batters off balance. His pitches were all different speeds and it kept the batters off stride.

"That's the name of the game—never throw the same pitch twice . . . The ball Nelson hit was where he wanted it and the pitch was a good one."

MYATT NEW MANAGER

Allen Gets Another Scalp As Skinner Quits Pirates

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Richie Allen, controversial slugger for the Philadelphia Phillies now has the scalps of two managers to his credit.

Bob Skinner, grim-faced and his voice cracking at times, resigned yesterday after 14 months at the club's helm because of what he called lack of front office support in dealing with the moody Allen.

Coach George Myatt, 54, in his sixth year with the Phillies, was named temporary manager for the remainder of the season.

Gene Mauch, whom Skinner had succeeded in June, 1968, was fired after he benched Allen.

BITING WORDS

"Now I know what Gene Mauch went through," Skinner said, biting off each word as the club's bosses — owner Bob Carpenter and General Manager John Quinn — stood silently to one side at a news conference.

Skinner, visibly shaken, also revealed that he had learned that a fine he had imposed on Allen for missing two games in New York in June had been remitted by Carpenter.

Allen could not be reached for comment.

The first baseman, who earns a reported $80,000 a year, did not show up later last night in Reading for an exhibition game between the Phillies and their Eastern League farm team.

The 37-year-old Skinner, a tall, dedicated man who believes in giving 100 per cent to the game he loves, said "a few days ago Allen came to me and told me the front office told him he didn't have to go to Reading with the team for tonight's game."

Quinn said Allen did not have permission to miss the game, however. He said Allen would be fined.

The Phillies are currently deep in fifth place in the league's six-team, eastern division, 24½ gam out of first.

Skinner made it clear he didn't want to quit, that he liked the job and thought he was doing well.

"But I have too much pride," he said. "I am a winner, and I want to be with a winner, and you can't win this way.

"Allen has been a big factor in our losing and there is very definitely disharmony on the club."

Carpenter, responding quietly and firmly, said he regretted Skinner's action and expressed the view the veteran of 12 major league seasons with Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis would get another managing job.

MARIN TEACHER TRAVELS

Finds Patriotism In Mideast Youth

By SUZANNE WOOD

The typical Middle Eastern student is an intensely nationalistic youth, who is concerned about his country and its place in that troubled area of the world.

This is the observation of Terra Linda High School teacher who recently returned from a four-month sabbatical touring secondary schools in the Middle East and spending much time talking with youths there.

Hugh Penman who teaches Middle East history, said the average teen-ager in all Middle Eastern countries — Arab and Israeli alike — is "sophisticated, serious and has a great deal of pride in his nation."

He recalled the young Israeli girl who couldn't understand why every American Jew was not attracted to Israel as a place of permanent residence.

"She like so many of the youngsters, had an unbounded confidence in her country," said Penman.

This was his third trip to the Middle East. He also toured parts of Europe and Africa but did not visit the schools and talk so extensively with the students there as in the Middle East.

Reflecting upon his many conversations with youths in Jordan, Lebanon, Iraq, Iran, Syria and Saudi Arabia, as well as Israel, Penman reported that Arab youths also feel very strongly about being Arabs, matching the intensity of the Jews' pride in their heritage. "The Lebanese, for instance, think of themselves as Arabs and then as Lebanese," he said.

And thus almost everywhere, a first topic of conversation was likely to be the Arab-Israeli conflict which has influenced the teen-agers for most of their lives.

"Both Arabs and Jews are very opinionated and each thinks his own side is right," Penman pointed out.

And the youth, readily expressed a number of thoughts about the U.S. and United Nations roles in the Middle East conflict. Penman found Arab and Jews critical of the U.S. policy there and neither side could understand why the U.S. does not look more favorably on its people cause.

"We are straining our relationship there by trying to avoid taking sides," said Penman, who said, however, that he approved of our keeping hands off despite the strains.

Likewise, he said the youths expressed little faith in the U.N.'s ability to resolve Arab-Israeli differences and establish a rule of a law rather than power.

Penman believes the average youth does not feel as if his own country is a pawn in a great power game, but does recognize his land is of great interest to the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

Not only is the Middle Eastern student concerned about his own area, he is also keenly aware of and perplexed by international events otside his region. Penman attributed this alertness to a "cosmopolitan atmosphere" in the Middle East.

"Students in the Middle East are exposed to a greater number of foreigners than the average American student and consequently encounter a greater flow of new and different ideas," he said.

The youngster there is puzzled by Vietnam and he wonders what it's all about, but not with the intensity of the directly involved American youth, according to Penman.

In a land where nearby border clashes are common, the Middle Eastern youngster has more immediate concerns than distant Vietnam, said Penman who worked with the Central Intelligence Agency in Washington, D.C.

Avoidance of the draft is uncommon if not unheard of in the Middle East where the military traditionally has held a revered and influential place in the countries' history.

In fact, the feelings Middle Easterners have about serving in the army apparently differ sharply with many American student's viewpoint. Israeli youth who are juvenile delinquents even try to improve themselves socially by learning a trade so they can become eligible for the draft.

Penman, who has been teaching school for 13 years, commented about the home life of the Middle East student.

There is little talk of generation or communication gaps in the Middle East where Penman found a greater family closeness than in the U.S. and the attitudes of the young people closely reflecting those of the adults.

Penman said there is no adolescence stage — or what he termed "the awkward twilight zone" between childhood and manhood — in Middle Eastern culture. People are simply broken into two categories — child and adult.

And thus Penman said the youngster, although outspoken, does not expect to find the average adult anxious to hear his opinions.

Penman also gave a few general observations of the education system in the Middle East where he said regard for learning is extremely high. He said the emphasis in the secondary schools, with the exception of those in Israel and Lebanon, is on college preparatory courses rather than vocational subjects. He also found fewer elective courses and extra-curricular activities there than in American schools.

And Penman found that the education system there does not encourage the Middle Eastern student to question as extensively as the U.S. system.

Nevertheless, Penman found the Middle Eastern youth has an inquisitive and sober mind which reflects his concern about the seriousness of events in his area of the world.

A Gas Of A Game

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — A heavy downpour interrupted the cricket match between Salem and Sidbury. When the rain stopped, the players bought 12 gallons of gasoline which they poured on the infield and ignited. When the flames died and the area cooled, they put down their matting wicket and got on with the game.

Marin Students Cited At Davis

I-J Special Report

DAVIS — Two students from San Rafael and one from Novato have been cited by the University of California, Davis, for excellence in their major fields of study during the 1968-69 school year.

Receiving departmental citations were:

Peter L. Levin, son of Mrs. Audrey L. Levin of 412 Alameda De La Loma, Novato, and a 1965 graduate of San Rafael High School. His specialty is aerodynamics research.

Ronald L. Gester, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Gester Jr. of 25 Fairway Drive, San Rafael, and a 1965 graduate of San Rafael High School. His field is geology.

Patricia Louise Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Black of 876 Greenberry, San Rafael, was cited for her achievements in the department of Spanish.

Three Retire From Service At Hamilton AFB

Three servicemen with a total of 65 years of military service retired from headquarters Western Communications Region at Hamilton Air Force Base.

They are:

Cm/Sgt. Robert N. Talbott, who was noncommissioned officer in charge of the management analysis section of the comptroller directorate, retired after 23 years service. He will live at 775 Parkway, Novato.

M/Sgt. Bernard E. Lowell of 23 Selfridge Way on the base, retired after 20 years of service. He was noncommissioned officer in charge of the systems control branch of the directorate of operations. He will live at 800 Pacific Avenue, Petaluma.

T/Sgt. Arthur W. Dunning, accountant for the directorate of operations, retired after 22 years service. He lives at 660 Morgan Drive, Novato.

Bipartisan Move To Repeal Draft Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fourteen House members from both parties have introduced legislation to end the draft by creating an all-volunteer army.

Rep. William A. Steiger, R-Wis., said it would cost between $4 billion and $7 billion to raise military pay and benefits to levels where men would be attracted to volunteer. The Pentagon has figured the cost as at least $8 billion, with some estimates running as high as $16 billion.

McCarthy Polls Constituents

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A survey of how his constituents feel about issues from crime to taxes was mailed this week by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, to 103,520 residences in his district.

The survey cost $11,520, including $6,956 for printing and $4,140 for postage, his office reported. The money came from taxes.

Results of the survey, sent throughout Marin, Napa and Solano counties, will be reported in about three weeks, McCarthy's office said. The findings will be reflected in the senator's legislative program next year, his office said.

McCarthy took a similar poll about 18 months ago.

ROBBER'S PRINTS — San Rafael Police Officer Don Rose dusts the counter of the teller's cage at United California Bank looking for clues to the identity of a robber who took $1,300 this morning. FBI agents talk to bank officials in the background. (Independent-Journal photo)

Bank Robbers Escape Dragnet In San Rafael

$1,300 Haul By Two Men

A young man with a gun, real or simulated, in his pocket robbed the United California Bank at 830 Third Street, San Rafael of about $1,300 this morning.

The blond, approximately 23-year-old robber reportedly escaped in a small, white sports car driven by another man who had remained in the getaway car.

San Rafael police and FBI officials said the man, wearing dark coat and pants, placed a penciled note in front of a woman teller, holding a gun or object in his pocket, demanding that she put money into a bag.

HID IN CAR

The teller, whose idenity was withheld, did so and the robber fled to a parking lot on Lootens Place where the driver and car, thought by some to be a Lotus, were seen by witnesses.

The man, witnesses said, jumped into the car and lay on the floorboards with a tarpaulin over him. Witnesses said that the car drove up Lootens toward Fourth Street.

Although police were at the bank within a minute of the alarm at 10:14 a.m. and patrol cars were stationed at roads leading out of San Rafael the car was not spotted.

BANK LOCKED UP

Upon arrival of officers, the bank was locked and curtains drawn on all windows, while police and FBI agents questioned everyone inside. Few customers were noticed in the bank by newsmen and the bank placed a sign on the front door saying it would be closed until early this afternoon.

Bank officials would say nothing regarding the holdup nor allow the teller to discuss it.

No one was injured in the robbery.

Police issued an all-points bulletin and speculated that the fleeing bandits would try to leave Marin via northbound Highway 101 or eastbound Highway 37 to avoid being trapped at a toll bridge.

Novato police were on the alert.

Weary Legislature Seeks Completion

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Legislature raced toward adjournment of an unusually bitter, seven-month-long session today after reluctantly resolving its two major issues—taxes and schools. (See other stories, page 9.)

Legislators, after putting in a 15-hour day yesterday, hoped to pack up and go home tonight.

Both houses passed and sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday afternoon a $134 million school aid bill many legislators complained didn't provide enough funds for ghetto schools.

"I don't think this bill is anything we can point to with a great deal of pride," conceded one of the co-authors, Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-Rail Road Flat.

The Assembly also approved Reagan's proposed $87 million income tax rebate, despite Democratic Leader Jess Unruh's contention it represented nothing more than an election-year gimmick. Amendments to the bill, by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, still had to be concurred in by the Senate.

"This is a phony hoax on the people," objected Unruh, who plans to run against Reagan next year.

Disposal of the two controversial issues cleared the decks for a midnight adjournment. The Legislature, however, could literally "stop the clock" and continue to meet through this weekend.

About 200 measures still remain on the legislative files.

The tax rebate bill passed 47-22.

Under the legislation, Californians would reduce their state income tax next April by 10 per cent, up to a limit of $100 for

Military Cemetery Rejected

Viet Veteran's Proposal For Redwood Park

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Vietnam War veteran's suggestion that a military cemetery be built in Redwood National Park has been rejected by the planners of the new park.

Robert S. Luntey, chief of the regional office of resources planning for the National Park Service, said today the proposed cemetery would not be an appropriate use of the land set aside for a park.

"It would be an adverse use of an area set aside for preservation of redwoods," Luntey said. "This type of cemetery would be inconsistent with the purposes of the legislation creating the park."

The proposal was made several weeks ago by Robert Boudreau, a double-amputee Vietnam War casualty who resides near the boundary of the park in Humboldt County.

BACKS IDEA

His county supervisor, Guy Rusher of Orick, liked the idea and wrote Rep. Don Clausen, R-First District, suggesting a cemetery in a cut-over section of the park just west of Orick.

Clausen, who said today he hadn't learned enough about the suggestion to comment on it, passed the proposal to National Park Service headquarters in Washington. It eventually reached Luntey, who is in charge of planning for all parks west of the Mississippi.

Boudreau suggested the cemetery because the present national cemeteries on the West Coast are either filled or nearly filled.

ONLY VIET VICTIMS

A spokesman for Golden Gate National Cemetery at San Bruno said only Vietnam War victims and veterans or their wives with previous site reservations were being buried there

Judge Eyes Nudity At Secluded Beach

By ALAN JONES

The court went over the mountain yesterday to see what it could see. What it saw was a covey of nude sunbathers at Little Beach, a secluded cove just up-coast from Muir Beach.

The nudes were plainly visible from the property of Eleanor D. Borden of Sunset Way, Muir Beach, who charged the three defendants in Marin Municipal Court yesterday with disturbing the peace by frolicking nude on the beach July 17.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. adjourned to Muir Beach for the afternoon after defense attorney William O. Weissich said a first hand look was necessary so a "reasonable man" could determine if the nudity was offensive.

"We have only seen the nudes on Little Beach through the eyes of Eleanor Borden," Weissich said. "Mrs. Borden is an oversensitive person."

"The court has no desire to go to the beach to view nudity," Goldstein said. "the only question is the view from Mrs. Borden's property."

Weissich's clients, Linda Ann Wells, 24, of San Francisco, Barbara Ann Gavin and her son Bruce F. Gavin, both of 1811 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, admitted they had stripped on the beach July 17, but denied any intent to offend.

Sgt. Arthur Disterheft of the sheriff's office testified, Gavin was taking photographs of his nude mother in the surf when deputies eyed the scene from cliffs above the beach. Disterheft said Gavin, as he was

Republican Group Seeks Course Ouster

By FRANK FARRARA

Angry Marin residents launched a counterrevolutionary attack last night against a course in revolution being conducted at the College of Marin.

The Marin unit of United Republicans of California, demanded before the Marin Junior College District board that the course, sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society, be removed from the campus. (Another college board story, page 9.)

Trustees also received a letter from James Dougan, secretary of the Marin Property Owners Association, calling for an investigation of the course.

"The course on revolution does not border so much on reason as it does on treason," Dougan wrote.

There were about 15 persons in the audience who felt strongly that tax-supported property shouldn't be used for teaching revolution.

The United Republicans unit in a resolution presented to trustees charged the course is being conducted "for the purpose of fomenting, promoting and instigating the overthrow of the government of the United States."

The controversial course, led by Dennis Marnell of San Rafael, self-styled anarchist and SDS member, started July 17

SAUSALITO PROBE

Study Hints Possible Violations By Jury

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

The much questioned probe of Sausalito School District by the Marin County Grand Jury apparently does not deal with the hiring of an uncertificated black teacher, although the grand jury has remained behind its legal right to keep the investigation secret.

An Independent-Journal study has shown that the probe is violating a California Supreme Court decision, an official opinion by the state attorney general and the guidelines of one of its own immediate predecessors unless the jury:

Suspects willful or corrupt misconduct of a Sausalito school official or teacher;

Is investigating the financial affairs of the district which directly affect the assessing and taxing powers of the district, or is making a routine examination of the district's books and records.

These conclusions are based on a study of a January 1968, Supreme Court decision involving the Calaveras County Unified School District; a 1965 decision by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch and Deputy Atty. Gen. Carlton G. Holland involving a Kings County case; the final report of the education committee of the 1966 grand jury; and a summary of the grand jury's civil powers and duties by the foreman of the 1967 grand jury.

The grand jury has subpoenaed several witnesses in connection with its Sausalito schools investigation but has not revealed the reason for the investigation.

It has been widely speculated that the probe was sparked by the hiring of William Bradley, an unaccredited black teacher who uses the Zulu name Chaka and teaches eighth grade at Martin Luther King School.

Chaka has been accused by white critics in and out of the Sausalito district of "black racism" in his classes.

Sausalito school officials have challenged the legality of the jury's reported investigation, as has Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino.

Sausalito officials also have asked that the subject of the investigation be revealed and that hearings be conducted in public session.

Whatever the subject of the investigation, the scope of the grand jury's powers are sharply

Tam Superintendent Replaced In Aftermath Of Critical Survey

Chester G. Carlisle, superintendent of the Tamalpais High School District for 17 years, was relieved of his duties last night and reassigned as a consultant to district trustees.

The reassignment is effective immediately. Trustees named Asst. Supt. Robert D. Torrey as acting superintendent for the remainder of the year.

Carlisle, 52, whose four-year contract as superintendent expires June 30, 1970, will continue to receive his superintendent's salary of $27,500 per year for the remainder of the contract.

Last night's announcement of Carlisle's reassignment came after more than a month of private negotiation between board chairman Bette Wallace and Carlisle. Persons close to the board, who preferred to remain unidentified, said that the recent Arthur D. Little report was the biggest single reason for the board's action.

The Little report, released in June, was critical of the district's administration, saying there was a "leadership stall" and that Carlisle "no longer provided strong direction."

Fewer than 15 persons were on hand at last night's adjourned session of the board.

Carlisle, looking somewhat shaken, reported two minor personnel matters involving military leaves of absence for

Kennedy Clan Denies Report On Accident

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — A published report claiming Sen. Edward M. Kennedy asked Joseph C. Gargan, his cousin, to "take the rap" for him following the fatal auto accident three weeks ago is "entirely untrue" and has "no basis in fact whatsoever," a Kennedy family source said today.

The source said members of the family had learned Jack Anderson's column, published today in the Washington Post, was being prepared.

"It's entirely untrue," the source quoted Gargan as saying. Anderson claims Kennedy asked his cousin to accept blame as the driver in the fatal crash, but later had second thoughts and accepted responsibility for the accident.

Gargan, a close aide to the senator, rented the cottage on Chappaquiddick Island where Kennedy, Mary Jo Kopechne and 10 others held a cookout three weeks ago tonight. Kennedy said he was driving Miss Kopechne to the last ferry to Martha's Vineyard when he turned down a wrong road and his car plunged off a bridge overturning in a tidal pond and trapping Miss Kopechne.

(Dist. Atty. Edmund Denis, meanwhile, said in New Bedford that Kennedy will be called as a witness in an inquest into the accident.

The senator has said he would cooperate in any legal proceedings, and has canceled a European trip in order to keep himself available.)

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Indian Chief Named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Louis R. Bruce, an Oglala Sioux Indian now living in New York's Greenwich Village, has been appointed commissioner of Indian affairs.

Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, announcing the long-delayed appointment, said he would name an all-Indian advisory committee to report to him and Bruce.

Bruce now is executive director and chairman of the board of trustees of Zeta Psi educational foundation and fraternity. He will succeed Robert L. Bennett, also an Indian, in the $36,000 a year post.

Karachi Quake

KARACHI (AP) — Pakistan's new capital city, Islamabad, and other towns in the foothills of the Himalayas were rocked by an earthquake of mild intensity this morning. The tremor lasted for about a minute.

Soviet Moon Study

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched an unmanned spacecraft today on a journey to photograph and study the moon and nearby lunar space but gave no indication a soft landing was planned.

The last Soviet moon probe, crashed on the lunar surface just before the U.S. Apollo 11 astronauts landed in the Sea of Tranquility July 20.

Zond 7, the new Soviet craft, was lofted into a parking orbit around the earth by "a powerful Soviet carrier rocket" and then was launched toward the moon, the news agency Tass said.

Chinese Guerrillas

HONG KONG (AP) — A Hong Kong newspaper reported today that Marshal Ho Lung has fled to the Soviet Union and is leading a Chinese guerrilla army based at Tashkent in Soviet Siberia.

The anti-Communist Sing Tao Jihn Pao attributed its report to a Chinese traveler from Canton who said he had seen the report of Ho Lung's escape in a mainland publication. The publication was not identified.

It was reported that Ho Lung learned that Chinese Communist leaders had decided to purge him.

Talks With China

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the U.S. government will soon make another attempt to reopen talks with Communist China in Warsaw.

"We would like to resume this dialogue," Rogers told the Canberra Press Club. "We would hope that they do, too."

Ambassadors from the United States and Red China met periodically in Geneva and then in the Polish capital from 1955 until January 1968. Peiking proposed a resumption of the talks last February, but canceled at the last minute when a Chinese diplomat in The Hague defected to the United States.

Satellite Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A possible problem with a rocket steering system today forced the space agency to postpone for 24 hours — until tomorrow — an attempt to orbit a new scientific satellite to study the sun.

The spacecraft, called OSO 6 for the sixth orbiting solar observatory, was scheduled to blast off at 12:52 a.m. PDT today, but the launch was called off shortly after midnight.

OSO 6 is to be placed in a circular earth orbit 350 miles high.

The 640-pound spacecraft contains seven different scientific experiments to study high-energy radiation particles from the sun that cannot penetrate earth's atmosphere and thus cannot be observed from ground-based solar observatories.

No Life Detected Yet In Moon Soil From Apollo 11

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Early experiments indicate there is no life in the moon soil collected by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

There is, however, a remote possibility that more extensive study in the months ahead could turn up lunar organisms.

That's the conclusion of a group of scientists who yesterday issued the first comprehensive report on preliminary study of the 50 pounds of rocks and dust.

Earlier piecemeal reports led to some speculation that lunar organic material had been discovered.

But the scientists said it is most likely the tiny amount of organic substance found in some rocks was of earthly origin—from the astronauts' space suits and the containers, rubber gloves and tools used to handle the materials.

A microscopic search for living, dead or fossil organisms has turned up nothing, reported Dr. James Menzies, an Agriculture Department biologist.

Dr. Richard Johnson of Ames Research Center said he has measured 10 parts per million of organic material in the moon dust, but said "this is so low it could quite easily be contamination" from handling.

Bicycle Stolen

Annabel Cuneo of 324 Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, reported her daughter's violet stingray bicycle stolen yesterday from a rack at Sir Francis Drake High School, San Anselmo police said.

Government Stalls Aid To All-White Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has suspended loan guarantees for an all-white golf club in Mississippi while seeking assurances the golf course built with the money will not be segregated.

And eight Negro congressmen who requested the action have asked that the move become the first stage of a wide-ranging review of the federal program which has subsidized the construction of about 500 golf courses since 1962.

QUITE UPSET

Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich., said a conference with officials of the Agriculture Department's Farm Home Administration convinced him "they're quite upset by the whole matter."

Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., said Wednesday he considered the loan to be "a damning indictment of our system of national priorities."

QUARTER-MILLION

The Natchez Trace Golf Club, Inc., was to close in about a month a $265,000 loan from a Tupelo, Miss., bank for purchase and expansion of a course it now leases. The loan also would pay for a swimming pool, tennis court and other facilities.

By guaranteeing to subsidize interest rates so the club would pay no more than 5 per cent, the government would have to shell out about $270,000 over the 40-year life of the loan.

The club is located in the district of Rep. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee which passes on Agriculture Department funding.

MILLION-DOLLAR CHECK

Widow Ends Battle With Navy For Home

PORT CHICAGO (AP) — An 80-year-old widow battled the U.S. Navy for years to save her town, but now it's all over.

Eunice Van Winkle accepted a government check for more than $1 million yesterday and made plans to move.

Her quiet acceptance of the money contrasted sharply with the legal and civic battles Mrs. Van Winkle had fought over the years.

She had at one time owned most of the property in the town on Suisun Bay, once the home of 3,350 people.

The Navy condemned the entire town last year to create a two-mile buffer zone around its Concord Naval Weapons Station, where a World War II ammunitions explosion killed 322 persons and caused $40 million in damage.

Now the Navy port handles about 70 per cent of the munitions bound for Vietnam, and Department of Defense officials feared another disaster.

Only 10 houses remain to be razed. The others have been moved or demolished.

Mrs. Van Winkle, who once owned the town's lumber company, hardware store, theater and numerous rental units, is bitter.

"My loyalty has gone down to the point where I have no more respect for the government," she said as her attorney, Melvin Belli of San Francisco, handed her a check for $1,047,810. "The government needs to be readjusted."

Resigned to defeat, she now plans to move her numerous cats, chickens, cows, sheep and goats.

They'll go to her 50-year-old home, relocated in nearby Nichols. She now lives in a small cottage, one of a handful of residents still here who must be out of town by Sept. 1.

"I will move them at night—so they won't get scared," she said of the animals. "They won't mind moving if I am there—as long as I have a plate of food for them."

Congress allocated $19.5 million to purchase the 725 land parcels in this Contra Costa County community. After buying 550 parcels, it ran up against owners who thought the government's offer was too low or, like Mrs. Van Winkle, just didn't want to leave.

She and the others lost the last round when a court issued a condemnation order last Nov. 20.

Bonn Is Called Enemy Of Europe

BUCHAREST (AP) — East Germany's ruling Communist party claimed today that West Germany is the principal enemy of peace in Europe.

In a speech to the Romanian Communist Party Congress, East German party secretary Kurt Tiedke also launched an attack against the Bonn government's East Europe policy, which he said pretends to seek understanding with Communist countries but in reality is aimed at subverting communism.

Tiedke was one of the foreign delegates who spoke at this morning's session of the Romanian party congress, most of which was taken up with domestic issues. His attack on West Germany could be construed as an insult to Romania, which has diplomatic relations with both East and West Germany.

Probe Into Girls' Deaths Is Stymied

SAN JOSE (UPI)—The investigation into the savage knifing deaths of two San Jose teenaged girls last Sunday is stymied, according to Chief of Detectives Barton L. Collins.

Funeral services for the pretty victims, Debbie Furlong, 14, and Kathy Snoozy, 15, were to be held today.

Collins said yesterday that San Jose Police have received more than 1,000 telephone tips about the slaying in which the girls were stabbed more than 300 times. Collins added police are investigating each tip, but have hit a dead end, so far.

Analysis of blood taken from the girls was completed Wednesday, but the tests proved negative. Police had theorized that Deboah and Kathy might have been drugged by their attacker before the morbid knifings because the girls showed no signs of resisting the onslaught.

Police are continuing their search for a man in a white or light colored van seen in the hills where the victim's bodies were found and are also examining a set of photographs taken by a man near the murder scene.

Cigarette Firms Reducing Tar

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Manufacturers are reducing cigarette tar and nicotine contents, new statistics showed today. But most smokers are still puffing brands relatively high in tar and nicotine delivery.

Of the 10 top selling brands last year, only one, Kent, was among the 10 brands lowest in tar. None of the 10 top sellers made the list of 10 brands lowest in nicotine.

Marvels, lowest in tar and nicotine, ranked 32nd in sales. Winston, tops in sales, ranked 69th in tar "purity" and 54th in low nicotine content.

The tar and nicotine figures were released yesterday by the Federal Trade Commission

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, hailed the results. Moss, who led a Senate drive that prompted the cigarette industry to promise it would stop all radio and television advertising next year, noted tar and nicotine reductions were reported for several leading brands, including Kent, Lark, Lucky Strike, Marlboro, Newport, Old Gold, Pall Mall and Tareyton.

Lawyers Ready Defense In Ann Arbor Murder Trial

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — A young Ann Arbor lawyer and his partner have resumed preparations for defending an Eastern Michigan University student charged with murdering one of his schoolmates.

Robert Francis, who accompanied John Norman Collins, 22, when he was arrested July 31, withdrew for a few years yesterday along with his partner John M. Toomey.

The lawyers asked the Washtenaw County Circuit Court to appoint a new lawyer for Collins, saying the defendant couldn't afford to pay for proper legal defense.

Collins is charged with first degree murder in the death of Karen Sue Beineman, 18, an Eastern Michigan University coed who disappeared July 23.

Prior to yesterday's hearing, Toomey and Francis had asked for a bill of particulars, a move to enable them to inspect the prosecution's evidence in the case.

The attorneys had also asked for permission to inspect the police records at the crime center. The prosecutor said he would oppose the motions.

Collins' legal bills will be paid by the county. In the past it has been the practice that the original privately retained attorneys would not be selected by the court in such cases.

However, Francis indicated after the yesterday hearing that he regretted leaving the case.

Israeli Posts Hit By Arabs

AMMAN (UPI) — Arab commandos struck today against six Israeli military positions and settlements along a four-mile front on the Jordan River in the "fiercest and largest" attack in the history of the Palestinian liberation movement, the Arab guerrilla high command reported.

The Palestine Armed Struggle Command (PASC), in an announcement from Amman, said three Arab separate commando forces took part in the assault and claimed heavy losses and extensive damages were inflicted on the Israelis. It said the Israelis were caught by surprise.

There was no immediate confirmation or denial from Tel Aviv.

Cotati Calls Vote On $100,000 Bond

The Cotati City Council last night called for a general obligation bond election of $100,000 in the fall to finance the sewer connection project with Rohnert Park.

Representatives of Cartle Wells Associates outlined general plans for the sewage connection and recommended that it be financed through general obligation bonds.

Dr. David Joseph of the North Coast Water Quality Regional Control Board in Santa Rosa recommended that the bonds be paid off from two sources.

He suggested that the city tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation outside the utility district be raised to $1.25. Properties inside the utility district presently pay the $1.25 rate and Joseph said the increase on the other properties in the less developed areas would bring substantial new income to the city.

He also recommended that connection charges to sewer and water lines be increased to pay for installation and materials and to build a reserve fund for maintenance.

Joseph said the connection fees of $50 in the utility district and $100 outside the district do not cover even installation costs. He made no recommendation as to the amount of increases required to cover costs.

He suggested that monthly sewer and water rates not be raised since they are adequate to pay for the services. Dr. Joseph also recommended that a master plan for water and sewer line extensions be developed and added that his agency would provide much of the needed assistance.

The council took the recommendations under consideration and instructed the city staff to prepare for the bond election in either November or December.

The Cotati City Council Also:

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning property on El Rancho Drive owned by Theodore and Alma Thompson to multi-family residential to permit the construction of a duplex.

COMMISSION — Adopted an ordinance eliminating the parks and recreation commission.

PUMP BIDS — Awarded the contract for the purchase and installation of a booster pump to the Argonaut Construction Co. of Santa Rosa at a low bid of $8,867.

WATER LINE — Approved an agreement with the Cotati School District to have the city reimburse 90 per cent of the cost of a water line to the new Thomas Page School Homes that connect to the line in the next 15 years will pay $5 per lineal foot which the city will use to reinburse the school district.

Commute Tickets Are Hit

A 20-day cut in the time commuters may use discount tickets on the Golden Gate Bridge was proposed today to the bridge and highway district's finance committee.

The cutback was proposed by director Lowell Edington of Napa County on the ground that commuters did not need the present average of 85 days in which to use the 25 tickets in a book.

He also argued that increased use of the commute books had reduced the average fare by about 30 per cent since 1954. "We've got to get our share of the money," Edington said.

The $6.50 commute books now are valid for the five days preceding each month plus two months and 20 days.

A majority of the finance committee appeared to favor the cutback but Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum strongly objected to any such change before the district gets into the transit business.

Committee chairman Ben K. Lerer of San Francisco, warning that "we'll have the wrath of the commuters on our neck if we don't have a reason," asked Dale W. Luehring, general manager, to report back to the committee on Aug. 28 on the advantages of a cutback.

Tam Superintendent Replaced In Aftermath Of Critical Survey

teachers, then read a prepared statement asking for reassignment.

"I feel that in terms of my own career development and because of the state of transition in which I see the district, my professional experience can best be used in more specific and specialized ways," the statement said.

"I have discussed this matter at length with the chairman of the board of trustees. Special areas of concern have been identified and a written agreement has been worked out to allow for the best utilization of my professional experience and talents as a consultant to the board in a broad range of educational problems. This included research connected with the evaluation and efficiency of the instructional program.

"I feel such an assignment is in the best interests of the long term development of the district and my own career."

Carlisle said his consultant role would be on both building and instructional programs.

Torrey receives $22,475 per year as assistant superintendent, and will continue at the same salary at least temporarily.

Carlislie joined the district in 1951 as principal of Sir Francis Drake High School. He was named superintendent the following year. He is a graduate of University of California with an A.B. in mathematics, and holds a master's degree in school administration from University of Southern California. While at U.C he was an All-American basketball player. He lives in Sleepy Hollow.

Torrey, 46, is a graduate of Syracuse University, New York. He joined the Tam district in 1957 as director of instruction, and was named assistant superintendent in 1962. He lives in Greenbrae.

Carlisle has been in the focus of several complaints in the district the past few years, the most recent criticism being that in the Little report.

David D. Ring, who was then a candidate for the district board and is now a member of it, was sharply critical of Carlisle on two counts in the spring of 1967. He attacked the superintendent's business relationship with then-trustee John A. Siemens as a director of the Tamalpais, retirement home in Larkspur. Carlisle subsequently resigned from the directorship.

Ring also criticized Carlisle for authorizing a change in architect fees for completion of Redwood High School without getting aporoval of the district board. Carlisle said this was a clerical slip-up.

Last year, there was dispute over a $349-per-month raise given two years previously to Oliver R. Bonner, district director of maintenance and operations. Trustee Gloria O. Melbostad, delving into high maintenance costs, discovered the raise was given in March 1966, but claimed it was never approved by the board.

Minutes of the March 7, 1966, board meeting on file with the county superintendent's office made no mention of Bonner, but his raise had been added to a "classified personnel report" in the minutes on file at Carlisle's office. Carlisle insisted the raise had board approval.

Mrs. Melbostad was absent from last night's board meeting, at which Carlisle's reassignment was approved 4-0. Chairman Wallace said Mrs. Melbostad has been told of the proposal and was "in full agreement."

Unit To Be Closed

The minifilm unit of the Department of Public Health at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, will be closed from Aug. 25 through Sept. 25 while the X-ray technician is on vacation. Persons were urged by the department to have chest X-rays before Aug. 25.

Man Released, Then Jailed Again

Charles E. Lawder, 42, of Houston, Tex., who was released from Marin County Jail Wednesday when no complaint was filed against him, was arrested again yesterday by Novato police and booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of committing a lewd act with a 7-year-old boy.

Novato Police Chief Robert DiGrazia said that after confering with Officer Vernon L. Davies, who made the original arrest Wednesday, and the district attorney, the man was arrested a second time for the same offense. Bail was set at $6,250 and he was scheduled to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Sarod Concerto To Be Performed

The Ali Akbar College of Music will present a preview performance of a Sarod chamber concerto at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Unitarian Fellowship Church in Terra Linda.

The composition is by Ali Akbar Khan and John Cooper. Soloist will be Khan and members of the college and the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra will perform. Terry Pease, publicity chairman reported.

Films, Exhibits In Libraries

The Marin County Public Library has announced a series of films for young adults at the Marin City branch and a window exhibit by two young persons at the Fairfax branch.

Films on comic art, the sea and the arts will be shown at the Marin City branch in the Manzanita Community Center at 7:30 p.m. The next three Wednesdays, respectively, according to Alice Curry, branch librarian.

The display by Steve Rockwell, 15, and Zondra Natman, 18, at the Fairfax branch at 47 Broadway includes musical horns made out of dried kelp. Also in the exhibit, entitled "Behold the Sea," are paintings, shells and rocks.

Stitchery Display

An exhibit of creative stitchery by Charlotte Patera of Mill Valley is on display at Redwood Bank, San Rafael, through August.

under the student-operated Experimental College.

While protests were being voiced before the board, one of the revolution classes was being conducted a few buildings away.

The United Republicans asserted that the board "by permitting such a class to meet on the college campus, is aiding and abetting anarchy."

Trustees explained that the course wasn't operated by the college and its only role is providing space for the classes.

Acting superintendent-president Louis H. Herkenhoff said that under the education code, the district is obligated "to provide facilities for an open forum."

Marie Woelfl of San Rafael, secretary of the unit, argued that the matter was crucial and called for immediate action "not procrastination."

If the board failed to act, it would be derelict in its duty, she said, and five or six persons backed her by saying "I agree."

Board president Robert E. Rogers said the board couldn't "rush off on hearsay" but would have the staff investigate.

"This isn't the only course raising a question in my mind," said trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy, who suggested that the entire procedure on use of facilities be reviewed.

Herkenhoff commented that speedy action might subject the board to severe criticism, leading one woman to reply, "Would you rather have anarchy than criticism?"

Trustee Robert E. Oliver noted it has been board policy not to act on matters at the same meeting they are first presented.

Trustees agreed that Herkenhoff should check with the Marin County Counsel's office on the power of the board to limit the use of facilities. Trustee Donald K. Felt said under the code, the board had "very, very limited" power to deny use of facilities.

The protests resulted in a clash of generations when Kimo Campbell, president of Associated Students, presented a student viewpoint.

The Experimental College is staffed and run by the students, and the courses serve the interests of the students, Campbell said.

"Revolutions come when people can no longer stand the society," he commented, drawing cries of "go" from some of the protestors.

"I'm not going," replied Campbell. "It's our country and we're going to change it. . . . We'll inherit it."

Campbell told the resident: "You have the chance to put forth your views, because it's the respectable view." Ideas can't be killed, and reactionary, repressive measures "will do nothing but encourage what you oppose," he contended.

One woman replied: "It's our country and we want to keep it that way, and won't if we permit anarchy."

Almost two hours after the protests, Marnell visited the board room briefly, apparently unrecognized by some of the protestors who had remained for the full session. He said nothing and neither did they.

In its resolution the United Republicans unit also charged that the course was for the purpose of disrupting and destroying the social and economic system of the U.S., and had the "one avowed purpose, the substitution of Communism in the place and stead of our capitalistic and free-enterprise system."

Dougan, in his letter, said he was conveying the objection of many directors and members of the Marin Property Owners Association.

They do not deny the right of lecturers to espouse their views, no matter how unsavory and unpalatable, but do "object strongly to the expression of these views in the facilities of a publicly financed institution."

"While it may have become educationally fashionable to establish 'experimental colleges,' they are fast becoming socially reprehensible when such divisive subjects can be tolerated," he said.

Sniper Shoots Out Police Car Taillight

The taillight of a sheriff's deputy's car was shot out by a sniper in Marin City last night, deputies reported today.

The patrol unit was driven by Inspector Kenneth Irvin, who was not hurt, deputies said.

The shooting occurred at 11:30 p.m. near Drake Avenue and Cole Drive.

JURY

limited by law and its own rules. If it is, indeed, investigating the Chaka matter, it would appear to be in violation of the law. Nor can the grand jury legally use the Chaka case as an excuse for looking for other wrongdoing.

The 1966 grand jury education committee, summarizing its powers and duties, said flatly that a grand jury "has no authority to investigate school districts and school district officials" except in cases of "suspected willful or corrupt misconduct in office."

It also said the panel may "routinely examine the books and records of a school district.

"The rationale for this opinion is that school district officials are not county officers and therefore are excluded from section 928 of the Penal Code which gives broad investigatory powers to the grand jury."

The only school operation the jury may investigate, the committee said, is the county schools office and schools it operates or directly aids.

A summary of powers in the grand jury manual written by Clifford S. Lund, foreman of the 1967 panel, does not expand on those powers. The manual was approved by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson and Godino.

Additionally, in the Kings County opinion in December 1965, Lynch and Holland wrote: "If the grand jury has no cause to believe that school district officials are guilty of any crime or misconduct in office, there is no statutory authorization for (it) to investigate the evaluation of teachers and principals by an official of a school district."

While the jury may inspect books and records of a district, they wrote, the penal code "does not authorize the grand jury to widen the scope of its investigation into matters which otherwise it is not authorized to investigate.

"Although the grand jury is an agency of the court, the grand jury has no inherent investigatory powers beyond those granted by the Legislature.

"There is no specific statutory power authorizing the grand jury to investigate school districts. Howerver, the Legislature has not established easily ascertainable boundaries around the grand jury's investigatory power. By an examination, nevertheless, of those statues which do authorize investigations by the grand jury, it is clear that investigation of the evaluation of principals and other certificated employees (teachers) by officials of a school district is not authorized when the grand jury has no good cause to believe these officials are guilty of any criminal activities or other misconduct in office."

The grand jury has no power either to evaluate the conduct of school officials which is neither criminal nor misconduct, they said.

In its ruling in the Calaveras case, the Supreme Court said, "(The penal code) limits the grand jury's investigation (other than into public offenses and misconduct) to the financial affairs of the district which affect the assessing and taxing powers of the district."

"The court said the right to routinely examine a district's books does not extend to an evaluation of the personnel of the district, nor can the jury inspect personnel records.

". . . the investigatory power of the grand jury cannot be used out of curiosity or for a blanket inquiry to bring to light supposed grievances or wrongs for the purpose of criticizing a public officer or department."

Going beyond those proscribed limits, the court ruled, would constitute an "unauthorized and unwarranted interference . . . as well as a breach of confidence. . . ."

Viets Ask Premier Ouster

SAIGON (AP) — Leaders of President Nguyen Van Thieu's political front today signed a petition asking Thieu to oust Premier Tran Van Huong.

The petition calls for "a new, prestigious and able premier" to replace the ailing 66-year-old Huong.

The petition was signed by leaders of all six parties which make up Thieu's National Social Democrat Front, formed May 25 in an attempt to give the president broader political backing.

The government announced a major shakeup of generals in the South Vietnamese army today.

Two widely-criticized division commanders were transferred. They had led the 5th and the 18th Divisions, which U.S. officials rated the least efficient units in the South Vietnamese army.

One of the promotions gave a lieutenant general's stars to Nguyen Van Mingh, the commanders of the vital Saigon military district whose forces are being strengthened to give the South Vietnamese major responsibility for the capital.

The heaviest action in nearly two months was reported across South Vietnam yesterday. But U.S. military spokesmen said it was too early to tell whether it was only a brief break in the war lull or the prelude to renewal of major enemy operations.

Yesterday's two attacks by Viet Cong on the hospital at Cam Ranh and a Saigon school accounted for 14 persons dead and 160 wounded, as well as heavy damages, according to revised casualty figures released by the U.S. Command.

Tax Reform Faces Bitter Senate Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The most comprehensive tax revision measure since the income tax was framed in 1913 today faced the prospect of another three months of debate and change in the Senate.

The reform bill, which shuts the door on $7 billion in tax breaks while handing out $9 billion in reductions to individual taxpayers, passed the House yesterday 394-30.

House approval came after six months of hearings which produced 15 volumes of testimony, and after two days of floor debate.

A Senate battle appeared certain over plans in the measure to reduce the oil depletion allowance from 27 1-2 per cent to 20 per cent. The allowance is considered by many the "symbol" of tax reform.

The Senate Finance Committee, which will conduct tax reform hearings, is headed by Sen. Russell Long, D-La., who is opposed to reduction of the oil allowance. During the house vote yesterday, Democratic Whip Hale Boggs, D-La., was the only member of the eight-man delegation from oil-rich Louisiana to vote for the vast reform package.

Theft Of Four Bikes Reported

The theft of four bicycles was reported today by San Rafael Police.

Stephen L. Patnaude reported that his Schwinn bicycle was stolen from in front of his home at 151 Novato Street, yesterday.

A Schwinn bicycle valued at $60 and owned by Phillip K. Brown of 9 Laurel Place was reported stolen yesterday from the front of San Rafael High School, Mission Street.

Schwinn bicycles owned by Barbara J. Thomas, of 23 Fairfax Street, and Karen E. Staples were reported stolen from in front of the Thomas' home.

single persons and $200 for married couples.

An average taxpayer who earned $10,486 would receive a reduction of $8. A person earning $17,006 would get $29. A citizen on a $44,437 salary would be helped by $189.

Reagan pressed for the legislation as a way of partially paying back Californians for the $1 billion tax increase he sponsored in 1967. The governor said the taxpayers were overcharged.

"It would be irresponsible to spend this money for additional state programs," said the bill's Assembly sponsor, William M. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The Assembly, after a morning of indecision, passed the school aid bill 59-15. All the no votes were Democrats.

The Senate passed the measure almost simultaneously, 32-2.

Closed Door Trial Likely If Beret Leader Is Tried

SAIGON (AP) — Military sources hinted today that if the former Green Beret commander in Vietnam is brought to trial, at least part of the hearing may be behind closed doors because cloak-and-dagger secrets are involved.

These guarded hints from ranking officers at U. S. headquarters deepened the mystery around the murder and conspiracy charges against Col. Robert B. Rheault and seven subordinates, including three intelligence specialists.

Since the Army revealed the charges Wednesday, an absolute information blackout has enveloped the sensational case — the first such charges against an officer of Rheault's rank since the Uniform Code of Military Justice went into effect after World War II.

Far-out speculation was heightened by the extreme secrecy, the involvement of the elite counter-insurgency forces who specialize in clandestine warfare, and the refusal of American and South Vietnamese authorities to identify the victim apart from saying he was a Vietnamese man.

PARK

or at other California national cemeteries.

"There are still burial spaces at Willamette National Cemetery in Portland and cremation spaces at Fort Rosecrans in San Diego," the Army spokesman said. "Otherwise only Vietnam casualties or the surviving spouses of persons already buried can obtain grave sites."

However, the military spokesman noted burials undoubtedly would continue in Golden Gate and other cemeteries for another 50 to 60 years because widows of Vietnam War victims will be eligible to be buried next to their husbands if they don't remarry.

Clausen said the proposal for a national cemetery in Humboldt County—inside or outside the park—had been passed to the Department of Defense. He said he was informed a review of the whole military cemetery situation was currently underway.

Despite the disapproval of park planners—and of the conservationist Sierra Club—Rusher said there was "considerable local endorsement" of the proposal.

"It would not require the cutting of any redwoods," he said. "the proposed area is clear cut as far as redwoods are concerned.

Rusher said the cemetery within a park suggestion was unique to the Redwood situation and he wasn't making it as a general proposal. Luntey noted the National Park Service operates cemeteries at sites of historical significance, such as Shiloh and Gettysburg, but not national cemeteries like Golden Gate or Arlington.

The county supervisor said he expected a current $125,000 county economic study being made by Lockheed Corp. to consider the impact of a national cemetery in Humboldt County. He said if the study approved it, he expected the board of supervisors to make a formal request to Congress.

Driver To Jail

Pan Am Halt Clogs Airlines

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hundreds of persons grounded by a strike that idled Pan American World Airways jammed ticket counters in California today trying to find alternate transportation.

"We're scrambling around to get about 1,200 people on other airline flights," said Pan Am spokesman Paul Hurmuses at San Francisco International Airport.

The jam up came a few hours after Pan American was struck at 11 p.m. yesterday by the Teamsters Union, representing clerical and other ground employees.

Negotiators working on a new contract in Washington, D.C., reported running into a snag and talks were recessed shortly after 10 a.m. for six hours.

United Air Lines said it put all of its planes into service because of the jam up — complicated by normally heavy summer traffic and a 10-day-old strike against Western Air Lines.

Patrol Stops Three Would-Be Bridge Jumpers

Three young men — two of them teen-agers and the other 23 years old — were stopped from jumping off Golden Gate Bridge yesterday, the California Highway Patrol said today.

The three leap attempts came within a six-and-a-half-hour period.

At 7 a.m., the patrol said, Martin R. Ziss, 19, a student from Oregon, Ohio, was stopped from jumping and committed to Mission Emergency Hospital in San Francisco. The patrol said Ziss told them of family problems and said he wanted to get away from sounds and voices he heard.

Max Leon Lannert, 23, a San Francisco logger, was committed to San Francisco General Hospital when his jump attempt at 8:45 a.m. was blocked. The patrol said he had walked out of the hospital earlier yesterday. He was being treated there for a self-inflicted cut throat.

At 1:35 p.m., Ronald Wayne Henning, 18, of Pacifica, was stopped from jumping and committed to the San Francisco hospital, the patrol said. Henning, whose occupation was listed as a minister, said he "didn't feel he could reach religious goals and felt he should end it now," the patrol said.

Weinburger Seeks Higher Interest

CORONADO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's finance director opened a campaign today for a constitutional amendment to let the state pay up to 7 per cent interest for the construction money it borrows.

Finance Director Caspar W. Weinberger said money is most urgently needed to continue the $3 billion State Water Project on schedule.

The State Constitution prohibits officials from selling general obligations bonds voted by the people at higher then 5 per cent interest. Bankers aren't interested in bonds at that rate because they can get a better deal in the current tight money, high interest market.

Weinberger's comments were in an address prepared for a meeting of the California Water Resources Association.

Weinberger said "the whole future of California would be substantially endangered" if construction of the water project is significantly delayed or halted.

decorations to which they were entitled.

But the three men had lost so much weight during their internment the uniforms looked baggy.

They were reunited with their families in the privacy of the jetliner in New York after the other passengers had left, and then all of them were transferred to a medical evacuation plane the Pentagon had arranged to bring them to Washington.

Frishman, acting as the spokesman for the three, offered to answer questions of the newsmen who had gathered at Andrews Air Force Base.

Separated by the fence, the newsmen shouted questions and Frishman answered. But most of the words were lost in the roar of the planes. He did reply, however, that they had received "adequate food, clothing and housing" during their captivity.

Then an ambulance came by to carry Rumble, reportedly suffering from dysentery, chills and fever, to the Andrews base hospital. A helicopter took Frishman and Hegdahl andt heir families to the eBthesda Naval Hospital wheret hey will be examined and treated.

Frishman was accompanied by his wife, Janet, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B Frishman, of Long Beach. Accompanying Hegdahl were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hegdahl of Clark. Following Rumble's stretcher were his mother, Mrs. Lyle C. Rumble of Oroville and his brother, Bruce, 17.

Cigarette Tax Funds To Marin

Marin County received $6,090 of the July apportionment of cigarette tax, according to State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, with Marin and southern Sonoma cities and towns receiving these amounts:

Belvedere, $606; Larkspur, $2,658; Ross, $603; Sausalito, $3,275; Corte Madera, $4,686; Mill Valley, $3,925; San Anselmo, $3,757; Tiburon, $1,794; Fairfax, $2,001; Novato, $8,349, and San Rafael, $20,189.

Petaluma received $7,599; Cotati, $562, and Rohnert Park, $1,489.

A native of Sweden, she had lived in California for 54 years.

She is also survived by a daughter, Marie Khoury of San Mateo and a sister, Judith Riis of Lemnon, S.D.

Inurnment was in Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

JOHN BUTLER

John H. Butler, 57, a San Francisco advertising executive and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Butler and brother of Mrs. John H. Rockwell, all of Novato, died yesterday in San Francisco.

He was a native of San Francisco. In addition to his advertising and public relations business, he was active in many civic organizations. His home was in Alamo.

He is also survived by his wife, Eleanor and son, John.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Carew and English Mortuary in San Francisco.

JAMES CHAPMAN

James H. Chapman, retired Army master sergeant of Mill Valley, died unexpectedly yesterday in San Francisco.

Chapman, 57, apparently suffered a heart attack at work at Godeau Funeral Home and died at a San Francisco emergency hospital.

A native of Pennsylvania, he had served in the Army for 23 years and was in both World Ware II and the Korean War. He retired about 10 years ago and became a pre-arrangement counselor with Godeau.

He had been a Marin resident for about 10 years and lived at 340 Linda Way in Mill Valley.

He was acting commander of Mill Valley Post 284 of the American Legion and was a member of the Association of the U. S. Army and the Noncommissioned Officers Club at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Survivors are his wife, Rose Chapman, two daughters, Trudy and Elizabeth Chapman, both of the home, and a sister, Helen McCoy of Omaha, Neb.

Military funeral will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at Godeau Funeral Home, San Francisco, with burial in Olivet Memorial Park, Colma. Friends may call at the funeral home after 1 p.m. tomorrow.

FINAU PIATANESI

Finau Piatanesi, 80, accordion maker of San Francisco and father of Victoria Nichols of Novato, died yesterday in Carson City, Nev.

A native of Italy, he came to this country in 1908 and was credited with making the first piano accordion in the United States. He made accordions for such stars as Lawrence Welk and Dick Contino. He moved to Carson City three years ago.

He is also survived by his wife, Christiana; a son, Fineau E. Piatanesi of San Francisco; another daughter, Norma Kaline of San Francisco; a brother, Bramante of Stevensville, Mich., and a sister, Lesina of Italy.

The funeral will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Carson City. Burial will be in Lone Mountain Cemetery there.

Right Panel Against Proposed Camping Ban

A proposed ordinance banning camping in public areas of Mill Valley was branded as unnecessary last night by the Mill Valley Human Rights Commission.

Commission Chairman Roger J. Fleischmann said the commission voted 4 to 1 to urge the city council not to adopt the proposed ordinance because the problem of campers is adequately covered by existing laws.

Commission member William Williams voted against the recommendation while William Walker and Lynn Jessup were absent.

The Human Rights panel took the action after Lt. William Walsh of the Mill Valley Police Department told it existing laws could handle the situation.

In other action, the commission commended the Mill Valley School District board for hiring Alfred Gordon, 38, as principal of Strawberry Point School. Gordon is the first black principal in the district.

Fleischmann said the commission would discuss jobs for minorities at its next meeting at 8 p.m. Aug. 20 at city hall.

Photographer Named To Beach Board

Muir Beach Community Services District directors Wednesday night appointed Bruce Harlow, a commercial photographer, to vacant seat on its board, board chairman Richard C. Bain Jr. reported today.

Harlow, a resident of Muir Beach, was one of the community's representatives who recently conferred with state Parks and Recreation Director William Penn Mott about the future development of the beach. Mott agreed that development by the state would be done in consultation with an advisory committee of Muir Beach residents.

Bain said the recent controversy over the state's aborted attempt to level the sand dunes at the south end of the 15-acre beach was discussed at the meeting, which was attended by about 40 people.

The state had attempted, but were blocked by residents, to level the dunes to facilitate cleaning of the beach and to drive out beach people who camp there illegally.

Bain said there was general feeling among the residents at the meeting that the beach should be cleaned and said many residents will participate in a clean-up of the beach tomorrow.

The board also discussed, but took no action on, a proposal to extend the district's jurisdiction to recreation and road and ditch maintenance. The extension would give the district an official hand in the state's development of the beach, will be on the ballot in the November election, Bain said.

Cranston Calls For Public Hearings In Oil Grants

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., has urged that public hearings be made mandatory before the federal governments grants any more offshore oil leases. Currently, public hearings may be held, but are not required.

Cranston, in a letter to Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel made public today, said, "The federal government, without hearings and without proper evaluation . . . overrode objections and opened the federal portion of Santa Barbara Channel for oil exploration."

Cranston would require at least one public hearing with 10 days notice to all concern; make it mandatory that the views and recommendations of federal, state and local agencies be considered and that these views be sought early in thep roceedings, and would give greater weight to the effects of exploration on the total environment.

Old Adobe School Panel Adopts $799,200 Budget

The Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, last night adopted a budget of $799,200 for the 1969-70 year that is expected to continue the present tax rate of $2.11 per $100 assessed valuation.

Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the budget represented an increase of $11,200 over the publication budget of $788,000 because a technical error had been made in compiling the costs for health insurance.

The Old Adobe School District board also:

STATE APPROVAL — Heard report from Magowan that the state Allocation Board had approved plans for a six-classroom addition to the La Tercera School and approved the preparation of plans and site development for a fourth school. He said, however, that the state provided no funds for construction but would allow the district to use local money to prepare plans for the new school.

KITCHEN — Approved the purchase of kitchen equipment from the Forman Dorman Supply Co. at a low bid of $740.

PORTABLE — Approved a leasing agreement for a portable classroom unit to be located at the Bernard E. Eldredge School.

Fireman Review

The San Rafael Fire Commission met in closed session last night to hear charges against a fireman. No action will be taken against the man, Acting City Mgr. James H. McCown reported.

'I Wish I Were A Trumpet' Sets 5 More Shows

"I Wish I Were a Trumpet" — Festival Theater's original production which was interrupted last weekend by injury to an actor — has been slated for five more performances, it has been announced.

It will be presented at 8:30 p.m. today and tomorrow and on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m. Aug. 15 and 16 at the theater at 27 Kensington Road, San Anselmo.

A LACEY FRETWORK OF STEEL RODS

A curtain of steel rods, 14 to 21 feet high, outlines the border of Corte Madera Creek as it winds through Kentfield. Workmen from Elmer J. Freethy Co. have built two added sets of forms to make up for time lost during conservationists' creek demonstrations last April and May. First finished panel is seen in background, mixed with lamp black to prevent glare, and topped with a two foot border motif. The panel will have a six-foot green, vinyl fence on top for safety. Creek water has been shunted to Tamalpais Creek during the work. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

Tax Rate Swelled By Junior College Costs

Marin Junior College District trustees last night adopted an $11,412,582 budget estimated to carry an 8-cent hike in the tax rate to 90.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. (Another college board story, page 1.)

The increase will come from the district's general fund budget of $4,358,589, up $80,603 from last year.

Last year's tax rate was 82.5 cents, including 12.5 cents in override taxes.

The major increase in the 1969-70 tax rate will come from an override not levied last year, reported Business Mgr. Norman Bird.

Trustees voted to levy a new 7.5-cent override tax rate to gain revenue to match state funds for capital outlay projects. Another new override tax rate will be about six-tenths of a cent to provide funds for meals to needy students.

The district budget includes a building fund budget of $5,999,397, as compared to $3,401,045 last year, but bolstered by $2,512,133 in funds left over from last year.

The district's tax rate is limited to 35 cents for the general fund and 35 cents for the building fund, with the remainder of the total rate in override taxes.

Trustees also approved the Associated Students 1969-70 budget of $45,490, which would require $21,350 in district funds, that would be reimbursed by profits from the student book store.

Marin Junior College District Trustees Also:

ENROLLMENT — Received a report from Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students, that as of Wednesday, registration of full-time students for the fall semester had reached 4,216.

EDUCATIONAL PLANNING — Approved spending up to $3,500 to undertake planning of an educational program for the planned Novato campus.

BLACK STUDENTS — Received a report from Eva Turner, community liaison coordinator, that 127 black students were enrolled last spring, and 150 are expected to enroll this fall.

EQUIPMENT — Awarded Scott Electric of San Francisco, lowest of four bidders a contract to supply an electrical gear switch at a cost of $9,988.

DELEGATE ASSEMBLY — Received word from Trustee Elizabeth M. Deedy who has been a member of the delegate assembly of the California School Boards Association for four years that she doesn't want to be renominated when her term expires in December.

POLICY MANUAL — Approved modification in the policies and procedures manual for students, rejecting a suggestion by Trustee Donald K. Felt that there be provision for rejecting speakers from outside the college if facilities aren't adequate or "there is reasonable fear of public disorder." Other trustees pointed out there hasn't been any disorder, and Mrs. Deedy noted speakers, who have been centers of disorders at other campuses, have appeared without trouble at the College of Marin.

OUTDATED BOOKS — Approved a program for disposing of 800 outdated library books without selling them. Felt dissented.

GIFT — Accepted 80 volumes for the library from Mrs. Mary Lou Briggs of San Anselmo as a gift in memory of her husband, the late Barton E. Briggs.

NURSING PROGRAM — Approved application for federal funds for television facilities for the registered nursing program to be conducted in conjunction with Marin General Hospital, with no cost to the college for the television facilities.

HIRING — Authorized hiring Richard R. Ryno as an instructor in the Life Sciences Department at a salary of $12,098 for 1969-70.

THE MEN AND THE BRIDGE—Asst. Supt. Robert Reed (left), of Concord, foreman Pleasant R. Smith, Point Reyes Station, and cement mason Jesse Nelson of Oakland look over Corte Madera Creek flood control plans as workmen under College Avenue bridge tear out forms. With several nationalities and races working on the bridge, some men call it the "bridge of unity." The $2.8 million project — phase 2 — is half done with completion date set for Nov. 14.

Quake Threat To Bridge Scares Insurance Firms

Risk of earthquake damage to Golden Gate Bridge will probably block the acquisition of $11 million more insurance bridge directors would like to buy, they were told yesterday.

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District would like to boost its present $46 million structural insurance to $57 million but earthquake hazzard will deter insurance companies, representatives of seven insurance brokerage and consulting firms told the district joint insurance and rules and policy committees.

The original $35 million bridge would cost $200 million to rebuild today and the brokers told the committee that even should they buy the increased coverage a new bridge could only be built with the sale of bonds.

"We are 75 per cent underinsured. It is a serious situation," declared Director Dean N. Meyer.

The brokers and consultants said that they doubted any insurance company in the world would sell more insurance for the bridge structure but they would try to obtain it if so asked by the district board.

Some of the brokers suggested the district create a fund to cover some of the insurance deficit.

The nine-man joint committee will discuss the material presented yesterday on August 28 at 9:30 a.m. at the district office before making recommendations to the full board of directors.

San Anselmo Suits Over Intersection

The City of San Anselmo yesterday filed a condemnation suit in Marin Superior Court against Mobil Oil Corp. and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for title to parcels each firm owns at the Hub intersection.

The San Anselmo city council last month ordered the condemnation for proposed redesigning of the tangled intersection.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Increasing Income For Elderly Aunt

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Our 77-year-old aunt, in a nursing home with monthly income of $232, falls short of expenses by $150. She has $5,800 in a mutual fund providing $15 a month and in 1967 she put $6,000 in E bonds. We've been advised to shift the latter into additional mutual fund shares. — D. S.

A. Your aunt's mutual fund income represents a yield of about 3 per cent on $5,800. If fund shares are increased, she'll get more dollars but the rate of return remains the same. I suggest redeeming both fund shares and E bonds, reinvesting the proceeds at approximately 7 per cent in two high-rated corporate bonds: Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph 8s of 1999 (recently recommended here) and General Motors Acceptance Corp. 7⅛s of 1990, with call protection of five and 10 years respectively.

Q. I'm considering Energy Fund as a new investment. I own Hamilton's Series H-DA shares. How does Energy compare with Hamilton? — H. T.

A. For my readers generally I will point out that Energy is a no-load fund while Hamilton's sales charge is 8.5 per cent. Energy's total assets were approximately one-fifth those of Hamilton on Dec. 31, 1968. Hamilton has been in operation 11 years longer — 1944 vs. 1955. Its portfolio is much more widely diversified inasmuch as Energy Fund gives priority to the stocks of companies engaged in, or supplying components for, the generating of energy, its transmission, marketing, control and measurement.

The 10-year records of the two through 1968 show a gain in net asset value of 227 per cent for Energy Fund and 110.8 per cent for Hamilton Funds. Energy's specialty selections grew rapidly in a decade of technological advancement. For five years ending in 1968, Hamilton's net asset value rose 58 per cent, Energy Fund's 90 per cent. In 1968 alone, Hamilton outstripped Energy Fund, 12 per cent vs. 6 per cent.

Eighty-seven per cent of tourists visiting Mexico in 1968 were from the U.S.

Trent Tubing Plant

EAST TROY, Wis. (UPI) — The Trent Tube Division of Colt Industries, Inc., announced it will build a $2.5 million factory in East Troy to make stainless steel condenser tubing for power plants. The new plant will increase Trent's output of this style tubing by 400 per cent.

Taste-Testing The Beverage Of The Hops

NEW YORK (BW) — An experienced panel of taste testers tasted 35 brands of domestic and imported beers and named only two in the classes generally preferred by American beer drinkers.

The panelists of Consumer Union, Inc., divided the brands into light-bodied, medium-bodied and heavy-bodied beers, according to the degree of their aroma, bitterness, strength, fullness-in-the-mouth and aftertaste.

Americans reportedly prefer light-bodied beers because they have the least of these qualities.

Hamm's, followed by Coors, were rated in a class by themselves as light-bodied beers. Labatt, Molson, Miller Highlife and O'Keefe's Old Vienna were judged best among the medium-bodied beers. No heavy-bodied beer made the top class.

An article in the August issue of Consumer Reports describes how the test samples were purchased from a high-volume sales source and rushed to the laboratory for evaluation.

Test samples which were chilled in large refrigerators and served were coded with brand identification removed so they were anonymous to the panelists.

Stock Market Levels Off But Turnover Is Light

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market closed on an even keel today in light trading.

Conglomerate and gold mining issues also moved narrowly and without a definite pattern.

There were a few point-sized swingers among the oils, but the trend was mixed. One of the provisions of the House-passed tax reform bill included a reduction in the oil depletion allowance—the major tax benefit of the petroleum industry—from 27½ per cent to 20 per cent.

Motors and chemicals traded narrowly. A Commerce Department survey indicated that consumer purchases of automobiles will hold up well during the next six months.

Rails, airlines and aircrafts also moved on both sides of previous closings.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange in light turnover.

Steel Firms Agree To Automation Subsidies

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers of America (USW) has said it had reached agreement with 11 major steel companies on an "unprecedented" plan to supplement the earnings of workers whose jobs are affected by automation.

The plan will provide quarterly income benefits (QIB) to make up the difference between a worker's wages in any quarter and 85 per cent of his average quarterly earnings in the previous year.

Kaiser Will Double Aluminum Fluoride

OAKLAND (UPI) — Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. has announced plans to double its capacity to make aluminum fluoride, used primarily in the production of aluminum.

A $5 million expansion of Kaiser's Gramercy, La. plant will raise capacity to 66,000 tons per year. Construction starts early next year.

Judge Orders Sale

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — U.S. Judge Robert E. Tehan has ordered the sale of the Blatz Brewing Co. to the G. Heileman Brewing Co. of La Crosse for $10,750,000.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Nuclear Design Firm May Merge

There has been an agreement in principle between Raytheon Co. and United Engineers and Constructors, Inc. to merge United Engineers with Raytheon.

Under the terms of the agreement, Raytheon will deliver 500,000 shares of its $1.12 cumulative convertible preferred Series A stock for all outstanding shares of United Engineers common stock. Each share of Raytheon preferred is convertible to one share of Raytheon common.

If approved by United Engineers directors and stockholders the merger is expected to be consummated in December. United would continue to operate under its own name and management as a wholly owned subsidiary of Raytheon.

United Engineers, headquartered in Philadelphia, designs, engineers and constructs nuclear power facilities in industrial plants.

FAIRCHILD CAMERA AND INSTRUMENT CORP., parent company of Fairchild Semiconductor in Mountain View and San Rafael, reported a net loss of $551,000 for the second quarter, although sales of $65 million were 7 per cent higher than in the first quarter and 25 per cent higher than in the second quarter a year ago. Most losses occurred in the semiconductor division.

COCA COLA CO. has record second quarter earnings of $32.7 million compared to $29.3 million last year. Per share earnings were 57 cents, compared to last year's 51 cents. Net profit for the first half was $56 million, up from $50.8 million last year.

DOW CHEMICAL CO. plans to build a new polyethylene film production plant in Honolulu. Construction will begin this month.

BUDGET INDUSTRIES, INC., parent company of Budget Finance Plan and other financial, land development and computer software subsidiaries, has purchased Padre Island Investment Corp., a water-oriented resort community on an island near Corpus Christi, Texas, for over $6 million. More than five million tourists are expected to visit it each year when it is fully operational.

F. W. WOOLWORTH CO. first half sales totaled $949 million an increase of 14 per cent over the first half of 1968. Net income at $20.7 million was only slightly higher than 1968 first half income.

MOORE CORP., parent company of Moore Business Forms, Inc. in Oakland, reported record six months sales of $189.8 million, up 15.1 per cent from last year, and earnings of $8 million, up 12.2 per cent.

PAN AMERICAN WORLD AIRWAYS, INC. showed a net loss after taxes of $1.8 million or five cents a share for the quarter ending June 30, compared to a net income of $17.2 million or 52 cents a share for the same period last year. Operating expenses for the quarter were $270 million compared to last year's $243 million.

WESTERN AIR LINES lost $4.5 million or 93 cents a share for the first half of 1969, compared to first-half earnings of $6.1 million or $1.26 per share last year. Revenues for the half were up 17.5 per cent but expenses went up 38.9 per cent.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Church Business Tax Clears Legislature

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Legislature has passed and sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan a bill to tax the income of churches derived from businesses unrelated to religion.

The Assembly yesterday gave final legislative passage to the measure by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson on a 70-3 vote. The Senate earlier approved it 27-7.

Reagan has indicated he favors the concept. If he signs it California will become the first state to levy a tax on receipts from church enterprises with no religious connection.

Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, says it is impossible to estimate how much the tax will raise in new revenue.

But Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, lower house floor manager for it, estimated the initial amount at about $2 million a year.

"Nobody knows because nobody knows what churches own," said Beilenson.

Bagley told colleagues the measure would act as an equalizer between churches and their competition in a business.

"Taxes shouldn't hurt competitive business," he said. "This bill obviously creates equity where inequity exists."

Beilenson agreed. He told a newsman that the measure would also tighten state tax laws.

"If a church wants to go into business, that business should pay taxes just like any other business," he said. "A church-owned business, not subject to the same taxes, has a major competitive advantage over its commercial rivals."

A chief opponent was Assembly Democratic leader Jess Unruh, who said churches should be permitted to keep their exemption to help finance parochial schools. He said it would "provide help for those in our society who run their own schools."

Reagan says he generally approves of the concept to remove a tax shelter from businesses that gain an economic advantage from them.

"There's been general agreement—there is among the church people themselves—that this type of thing has gotten out of hand," Reagan said. He added the nonprofit organizations, such as foundations, should also be considered in such legislation.

TOPLESS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — One bill allowing cities and counties to regulate topless and bottomless entertainers was before Gov. Ronald Reagan today, another was headed for his desk in the final hours of the Legislature.

The action comes at a time San Francisco officials are considering a ban on topless dancing in the city where it all began five years ago.

The Legislature sent Reagan a bill last Friday which permits local agencies to regulate unclad dancers and entertainers in places which serve food or beverages. At present, the state preempets this field of lawmaking.

Reagan was asked at his news conference Tuesday if he would sign the bill which passed last week.

"Well, in principle, you know, philosophically, I have always agreed on local control and that's about as good a place as any to begin."

That was about as strong an indication as Reagan normally gives before signing a bill that he will approve it.

The situation could be complicated, however, if the Legislature passes a more far-reaching topless measure sponsored by Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate.

The Wakefield bill passed the Senate 22-8 Wednesday and is before the Assembly for approval of Senate amendments.

When it left the Assembly, the bill permitted local agencies to control topless and bottomless entertainment in any public place. The Senate amended the measure to exempt theaters, concert halls or similar places devoted primarily to theatrical performances.

GENOCIDE

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The legislature today asked Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch and the Public Utilities Commission to investigate organized telephone campaigns urging genocide.

The Assembly-passed resolution by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, was approved by the Senate 25-1 with Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale voting against it. There was no debate.

The measure asks that the investigation reports be turned over to the 1970 Legislature

COMMANDMENTS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly won't decide whether the Ten Commandments should be part of a "Statement of Responsibilities" for all California citizens.

Assemblyman John J. Miller, D-Berkeley, proposed yesterday night that the commandments be added to a bill by Sen. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, urging Californians to obey the law and exercise their rights.

But the Assembly refused to vote on the commandments and instead, sent them and the bill to the rules committee, virtually killing the measure.

As Miller made his request, Assemblyman Carlos Bee, D-Hayward, interrupted saying: "I move that these amendments be tabled. I think this is ridiculous! Shame on you!"

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, asked: "Is this question divisible?" When informed it was not, he quipped: "There are some parts of these amendments that I just can't vote for."

GUN CONTROLS

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A gun control bill only a final Senate vote away from Gov. Ronald Reagan's desk today was condemned by Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco as "playing into the hands of Black Panthers" and other revolutionaries.

The bill, by Sen. H. L. Richardson, R-Arcadia, reserves to the state all power to legislate firearm licensing and registration. It would wipe out gun control laws now in effect in San Francisco and Beverly Hills.

Alioto telegraphed Reagan yesterday that the bill "should receive your immediate veto."

Although the bill would strike down local gun control ordinances, the state has no comprehensive gun licensing or registration law.

Alioto, a Democrat and potential opponent of Reagan in next year's gubernatorial election, said cities should be free to enact their own gun laws because they "may have a greater imperativeregistration than suburbia and rural areas."

EXPO PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill abolishing the California Exposition and Fair Executive Committee by replacing it with a new committee composed of state officials was approved early today by the Senate.

The measure by Assemblyman Walter Powers, D-Sacramento, was sent back to the Assembly on a 29-1 vote for concurrence in amendments. Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, cast the sole negative ballot.

The proposal creates a five-member board that would be required to contract with a private corporation to operate the financially ailing Cal Expo.

The board will be composed of the State Treasurer, Controller and finance, public works and general services directors.

HOMEOWNERS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill extending to Sept. 1 the deadline for some homeowners and veterans to file for a $70 rebate and one-time-only $750 property tax exemption moved today to Gov. Ronald Reagan's desk.

The Assembly voted 68-0 Thursday to approve Senate amendments to the measure by Assemblyman John Quimby, D-Rialto, who said homeowners, confused by tax-relief legislation, improperly filed one form to cover both the rebate and exemption.

The measure extends the expired May 30 deadline for the $750 exemptions for veterans and permits homeowners to file a second form for the rebate or exemption, whichever they missed.

Many veterans failed to qualify for veterans exemptions and when they sought tax relief from Proposition 1-A, the deadline for filing had passed, Quimby said.

Voters approved Proposition 1-A last November which provided for a $70 rebate on 1968 property taxes and a $750 exemption on 1969 taxes.

HOSPITALS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate passed last night a three-bill package calling for statewide area planning of health facilities and loans to provide the funds needed to build them.

Two of the bills are the work of the Assembly Health and Welfare Committee headed by Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford. They returned to the lower house for approval of Senate amendments.

The third measure, by Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-West Point, who sponsored the other bills, now moves to Gov. Reagan's desk.

One committee bill, approved 23-8, provides voluntary area planning of hospitals and similar facilities by local, area and state councils composed of government and health officials and private citizens.

It would determine which regions lack sufficient health facilities and which have too many and recommend whether additional facilities should be built An unfavorable recommendation would not prohibit construction.

The other committee bill, passed 25-12, would prohibit the payment of Medi-Cal funds to any new or expanded facility unless it received a favorable decision from the Health Planning Council or the voluntary area planning agency.

The Teale bill, approved 27-11, enacts the California Health Facility Construction Loan Insurance Law to stimulate private financing of new, expanded or modernized facilities under a system of statewide planning.

UNREST CURBS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A joint conference committee recommended today the Senate give up its efforts to toughen up Assembly bills taking a moderate approach to curbing campus dissent.

The committee on a bill by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Leucadia, recommended tougher provisions put in the bill by the Senate be dropped and the Assembly version sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan.

A conference committee on a second bill by Assemblyman Frank Murphy Jr., R-Santa Cruz, still had to reach agreement.

The two omnibus bills it took the Assembly Education and Criminal Procedure Committees most of the session to write were thrown into conference yesterday when the Assembly refused to accept Senate changes.

The Senate had amended the Stull measure to permit campus administrators to declare a state of emergency. Any unauthorized person on the campus then could be charged with a misdemeanor.

The Upper House changed the Murphy bill to permit administrators to ban nonstudents from campuses for 72-hours and bar dismissed students for a year.

Key provisions in the Murphy bill call for jail terms for persons convicted of repeatedly using obscene language; banishment from campus for demonstrators; a ban on use of loudspeakers without permission and application of breach of the peace laws to campus.

Principal elements in the Stull bill would provide for suspension of state aid to students who disrupt campuses and would fire, dismiss or suspend faculty members or students convicted of a disturbance-related offense.

The bill also requires the state to reimburse local governments half the cost of policing campus disorders after the first $100,000.

Sacramento Veteran Hugh Donnelly Dies

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Hugh P. Donnelly, who served 32 years as a legislator from Stanislaus County, died Thursday in a Sacramento convalescent hospital.

Donnelly, 78, was a former Turlock insurance man. He was elected to the Assembly in 1935, and moved to the Senate in 1943. He lost his Senate seat in the 1966 reapportionment and retired in 1967.

Quakers are known also as members of the Religious Society of Friends.

Tree Collision Injures Driver

Robert John Perinoni, 17, of 1845 Second Street, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital early yesterday for cut left eyelid after his car smashed into a tree on Butterfield Road near Deer Hollow Road.

The California Highway Patrol said Perinoni apparently fell asleep as he was driving home from taking his mother to work. He missed a curve and hit the tree at 6:03 a.m., the patrol said.

Perinoni was cited for not having a valid driver's license in his possession.

Revived BCDC Again Hears Fill Request

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Development plans for a 96-acre marshland parcel in Corte Madera again aroused strong opposition as the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission yesterday heard an application to fill part of the parcel — for the fifth time in three years.

San Anselmo developer Frank M. Burke, by now addressing commissioners by their first names, again argued that his proposal met the BCDC's own master plan for the bay because it would increase public access to the bay, preserve the most valuable marsh, and use the industrial portion for marine industries.

Burke's $1.7 million proposal last was heard by BCDC in January, and won only 11 of the needed 13 votes.

It includes a marina, bayside park, motel-restaurant-shop area, fishing pier, 32.8 acres of light industrial sites, and 44.6 acres preserved in their natural state and dedicated to the Marin Conservation League.

But Harold Gregg, president of the league, opposed Burke's application. He acknowledged the league would welcome title to the 44.6 acres, but insisted the entire marsh should be saved "by some funding. If you ever fill a square foot of the bay, you should open up another foot of it," he declared.

Gregg's position was disputed by commissioner Hans A. Feibusch of San Francisco, who said, "Somehow, we have to come to grips with Mr. Heerdt and his property," W. J. Heerdt of San Francisco owns the parcel, for which Burke has an option.

Feibusch led commission opposition to Burke's four previous applications, but yesterday indicated he now may favor it. An appointee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, he will have to leave the commission in the fall because the new law extending the life of the commission eliminated proxies.

Feibusch termed Gregg's proposal that the entire marsh be preserved "only an ideal."

Also opposing Burke's application were the Sierra Club, Council for Civic Responsibility, a Peninsula citizens group, and a resident of the Greenbrae Boardwalk, Edith Witt.

Miss Witt argued that the salicornia marsh was unique in the bay, and an important producer of the oxygen needed in the bay to assimilate wastes and sustain marine life.

Marcella Jacobson of the Council for Civic Responsibility argued approval of the Burke application "would set a very serious adverse precedent" that could clear the way for Westbay Community Associates' hope to develop its 10,000-acre property in San Mateo County.

The only proponent of Burke's application, beside Burke, was Corte Madera Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher. Noting the town had "become a bit skeptical" of the BCDC, he said "favorable consideration of the current proposal would clearly strengthen the commission's claim to credibility."

The commission will vote on the application at its next meeting, 2 p.m. on Aug. 21 in the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

Merchants Want Angle Parking Kept

A majority of the 16 merchants attending a meeting at the Novato Community House last night opposed changing from angle parking to parallel parking on a portion of Grant Avenue, west of Highway 101.

Clifford E. Temps, public works director, said that the city, which is resurfacing Grant Avenue, wants to put in parallel parking to widen the street, making left turn lanes possible and speeding the flow of traffic.

The loss would be 27 parking places on the south side of Grant between Second and Fifth Street and in one half block on the north side of Grant west of Fifth, he said.

There are a total of 149 parking places of which an average of 70 were used at 10 a.m. and 90 at 3 p.m. in a daily survey made between July 9 and 19th, Temps said.

There are 581 parking places in the lots and at the rear of the building of which only 58 per cent were used during the survey, he said.

In the angle parking places, there were 16 accidents last year compared to five in the parallel parking places. So far this year there were 13 accidents in the angle parking places compared to one in the parallel parking, he said.

David Dinsmore of David's Barber Shop at 1405 Grant Avenue said that women could not parallel park and preferred angle parking. He said he had 493 signatures against the change, but kept the petition.

Benjamin F. Edwards, president of the Downtown Merchants Association, said he would not oppose the parallel parking if the city made up for the loss in parking spaces in other areas.

The matter will come before the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Novato Community House.

96 First Edition Recordings Donated

An anonymous Sebastopol resident has donated 96 first edition recordings to the Sonoma State College Library.

The collection, valued at more than $800, includes classic which will be used by students of music composition and the 20th Century music class being offered in the fall.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies currently being shown in Marin County. The council's fidnings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Film Report of the Film Estimate Board unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Ice Station Zebra" — Fast action, adventure and spectacular imaginative special effects make this film a thrilling dramatic experience with suspenseful mystery interwoven.

"Love Bug" — Disney presents a whimsical story about a car that not only has a heart and mind of its own, but ability to drive itself. Highly imaginative fantasy.

"Mrs. Brown, You Have a Lovely Daughter" — An enjoyable bit of escapism in this British musical. Pop songs, romances, gay adventure . . . well made, happy entertainment!

"Winnie the Pooh" — A. A. Milne's tale for all ages.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"April Fools" — Man meets wife of his boss at a cocktail party and they run off to live in Paris. Good cast wasted on a stupid story.

"Dr Zhivago" — Russian revolution brilliantly recreated. Well worth seeing for magnificent spectacle.

"How to Commit Marriage" — Ridiculous farce which pokes fun at married people who rush into divorce and young people who drop out and form own society. Unconventional situations seem only absurd.

"If It's Tuesday, This Must Be Belgium" — Comic treatise on the habits and customs of the American tourist. Good family fare except for bedroom scenes thrown in.

"Kenner" — Mediocre melodrama with cliche-ridden plot about prostitute with heart of gold, her appealing son, and American seaman in Bombay. Not recommended for children.

"Lion in Winter" — Rich, explosive drama that makes brilliant reality out of distant history. King Henry II must choose one of his three sons as his successor. Intrigues and maneuvering makes for high drama. Flawless production.

"The Maltese Bippy" — Fast moving, any comedy by Rowan and Martin.

"Night They Raided Minsky's" — Raucous replay of the low comic world of burlesque of the 1920s.

"Pendulum" — An absorbing thriller explores questions on Supreme Court rulings on constitutional rights of accused. Case of convicted rape-murderer is dismissed when proved that arresting officer used illegally-obtained evidence in making arrest. Later, when same officer's wife is brutally murdered, he is arrested on circumstantial evidence. Thought-provoking for adults and older teens. Not for children.

"Shoes of the Fisherman" — A Russian archbishop after 20 years in Siberian prison, is released by Soviet premier and sent to Rome. Becomes cardinal, then pope. . . . New Russian premier, fearful of China, calls upon him to meet with Russian and Red Chinese leaders to seek way out. . . . Near perfect adaptation of prize-winning novel.

"Where Eagles Dare" — Complicated plot revolves around agents and double agents whose mission is to rescue an American general held captive in a castle on a mountain top. Tension and excitement hold to very end . . . but filled with bloody violence. Not for children.

ADULTS ONLY

"Goodbye, Columbus" — Picture of Jewish family is real and humorous. The warmth of the people comes through all the surface vulgarity. Explicit sex and nudity.

"If" — Harrowing British study of violently rebellious youth. Unattractive world of a boys' school. A highly disturbing film.

40 Hub Children In 'Wizard Of Oz' Show

"The Wizard of Oz" is set for next Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p.m. at Wade Thomas School in San Anselmo, featuring a cast of 40 children in a theatre in-the-round adaptation of the Frank L. Baum classic by San Anselmo recreation supervisors Joene Denning, Marsha Johnson and Candice McLaren.

The three-act costume play is at 8 p.m.

The U.S. average gasoline tax is 10.68 cents.

Sonoma State College Sponsors Chess Meet

The third annual Sonoma State College Chess Tournament is planned for Aug. 30 and 31 at the Student Commons.

Participants may register from 9 a.m. to noon on Aug. 30 with the first round beginning at 1 p.m. There will be A and B classes as well as a junior class for players 16 years and under. A trophy will be awarded for the best player under ten years and to the Rohnert Park champion. Prizes will beo ffered at every level of play.

Kuwait's proved crude oil reserves are estimated at more than 10 billion tons, about 15 per cent of the world's supply.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Rustic Valley Of The Moon Boasts A Gourmet Restaurant

Sonoma County's Valley of the Moon, immortalized by Jack London, is a stretch of peaceful vineyard and wooded scenery between Santa Rosa and the City of Sonoma — a distance of 25 or more miles.

The mean boundaries of the valley are not too clearly defined. I suspect that over the years they have been extended to include some extra real estate under promotion. But the heart of the area is generally taken to be around Eldridge, Glen Ellen and Kenwood. At least this is the heart of the Jack London country.

Close to the entrance of Jack London State Park is London Lodge on Arnold Drive, the main road through Glen Ellen — a rustic dinery and lounge that blends into the surrounding landscape so naturally it seems that it must have always been there.

There is a large semi-shaded parking lot and the lodge is built on the edge of Sonoma Creek. No great stream of rushing water flows through here, except perhaps in the winter, but the trees, rocks and sand make a pleasant outlook from the dining room windows.

The dinner menu features New York and sirloin steaks, brochettes, shish kebab, lobster, abalone, prawns, scallops, sole, sweetbreads, beef stroganoff and chicken in several styles. Prices are about what you pay in Marin.

If you are a light eater, I'd suggest something like the combination crab and shrimp louie or the steak sandwich, either one of which will give you enough eating pleasure and sustenance without going overboard.

The bar at London Lodge is a semicircular affair, with many of the local residents on one side and a variety of owl figurines on the other — a fancy of owner Bill Colling's wife Marie. Bill himself is generally to be found in charge of this part of the operation. There is an organ bar which features Eunice Jones Friday and Saturday nights from 9 p.m.

The lodge is nicely situated for Marin motorists looking for a change of scenery on the trip home. Drive there either from the Santa Rosa side or the Sonoma side and take the opposite course on your return.

ANJO'S in San Rafael (535 Fourth Street) is now serving dinners on Sundays from 4:30 to 10 p.m. Heretofore food service has been shut down on Sundays.

In addition to the regular menu, chef Angelo Camporeale says he will feature two Sunday specials. This Sunday, for instance, you'll find culotte steak (there are only four to a steer) and veal scallopini. The complete steak dinner with all the extras is $4.50. Complete veal scallopini dinner is $3.50.

HOWARD CADWELL continues to act as his own chef at Fleur de France in San Rafael — and has been doing well at it for more than three months.

I imagine he now has the job on a permanent basis. And it probably pleases his wife Mary who runs the dining room. Where else will a wife find such an opportunity to give orders to her husband?

Menu is still the same — American and Continental — to fit the name. But don't be surprised to see the name changed again someday.

MEANWHILE, Leo Albertoni, who used to be co-owner when it was Mission Inn for so many years, will soon celebrate his second anniversary at The Spa at 18 Petaluma Boulevard North in Petaluma.

Leo may have started without serving food but apparently he soon drifted back into his cooking ways. I understand he serves from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. daily, with lunches, sandwiches at all times and daily specials for dinner.

Among the latter, rotated during the week, are Swiss steak, pot roast and noodles, prawns, corned beef and a few others — just like his San Rafael menu used to serve. Hardly a day goes by that someone from Marin does not visit his place. When he was in San Rafael it was the other way around.

SO MANY CALLS were received by Bill Bisson protesting the closing of Bill and Adolph's West End Villa for lunches that he has decided to reopen again. I thought this might happen.

Lunches will start again Tuesday, which is also the fourth anniversary of West End under the ownership of Bill and his partner Adolph Motta. Mid-day service will be Tuesdays through Fridays from 11:30 a.m.

Now a headliner on the dinner menu is duck l'Orange. It's been served here for some time — but not as a regular menu listing.

GIFT CERTIFICATES — As far as I know, no restaurant here features them — I mean the prepared printed kind like merchandise orders that you can mail or hand out for birthday or anniversary presents. Ondine, I think, used to issue them around the Christmas holidays, but that was a few years ago.

I'm sure most any restaurant will sell you one for whatever amount you specify so you can present it to a friend or relative. It's rather a nice gesture if you have enjoyed a good meal to pass along the experience to someone else this way.

I talked to Frank De Natale, manager of Bob's of Marin restaurant in Corte Madera about this and he tells me that Bob's has a form letter it uses. He says, too, that credit card holders can make arrangements to charge the meals of someone else — and this can be handled two ways, either for a flat sum or for the full amount incurred by the donee.

It's still 139 days until Christmas, but the idea is worth considering for that time of the year, if not for some other appropriate occasion.

JEAN'S KITCHEN in Ross is now featuring a complete spaghetti dinner on Saturday nights at $1.85, and a complete roast beef dinner on Sundays at $2.85.

No need to dress up if you are returning from the beach or somewhere else outdoors, says owner Jean Dobson. Come casually.

CHINESE DINNERS at Eugene's Country Club Restaurant in San Rafael are now served from 5:30 to 11 p.m. for latecomers.

Lunches are cut off at 2:30 p.m. during the week. And the restaurant is closed all day Sunday and on Monday night. However, the snack bar in the bowling alley is kept open.

LARRY VANNUCCI, regularly featured at the organ bar of San Rafael Joe's Tuesday through Saturday nights, will be presented in an organ concert at the Avenue Theater in San Bruno on Sunday, Aug. 31 from 3 to 5 p.m. Tickets may be secured at the box office on the day of the concert.

THERE'S AN ALL DAY PICNIC going on tomorrow at Inverness — open to those who may be visiting the beaches or hiking the trails.

St. Columba's Episcopal Church will present its Land and Sea Feast with an a la carte lunch from noon until 3 p.m. — and a dinner from 4 to 8 p.m. which features fresh oysters from the Johnson Oyster Co. These will be barbecued on the half shell or served en casserole, along with clam chowder, barbecued chicken and other accessories. Dinner tab at $3.75 is for all you can eat.

A liturgical art exhibit will be shown at the church at the same time.

SAN FRANCISCO DINERS OUT CLUB, located at 935-D Lootens Place, San Rafael has increased the number of local restaurants in its membership books from three to 12 since it opened here in February. Altogether there are 50 establishments participating. Tickets are good until July 1, 1970 and the cost is $9.

I am told that about 90 per cent of them are valid on weekends and most are good for a choice of entrees — or at least the main selections.

Store Gives Out Free Holy Air

TOKYO (UPI)—A department store today gave away 1,000 cans of fresh air collected the day before on the summit of sacred Mount Fuji.

About 1,300 employees of Matsuya Department store climbed the 12,389 foot mountain with empty cans and sealed them at the peak. They were distributed to pedestrians in front of three Matsuya stores in Tokyo and Yokohama.

Smog reduced visibility in Tokyo to about two blocks yesterday but lifted somewhat today.

"A recipient may feel refreshed by the Mount Fuji air or may take it for an empty can," a store spokesman said.

No Complaint

No complaint was filed Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court against Louis Ramos, 33, of Pacific, arrested Sunday in Tiburon on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon on Angel Island.

STAMP PROTEST

Gas Station Owner Fights Lease Loss

By TOM COCKRELL

A service station operator in Corte Madera has charged in a letter to State Sen. Jack F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, that he is losing his station because he balked at oil company pressure to give away extra trading stamps in an effort to boost gasoline sales.

Harold E. Fitzgibbon, a 51-year-old Air Force veteran and service station operator in Marin for 10 years, delivered his letter to the senator's secretary in San Rafael yesterday and said, "It's just so doggone unfair. I'll take this all the way to the President if I have to."

Fitzgibbon has also launched a neighborhood petition drive to force Union Oil Co. to rescind cancellation of his lease on the station at 700 Tamalpais Drive.

He has collected 150 signatures by stopping customers at the pumps and tramping at night with his family in the neighborhood of their 70 Hilarita Avenue home in Mill Valley.

Copies of the petition, he says, will go to Union Oil officials and to McCarthy.

He has operated the station for a year and says he gave away some stamps but was repeatedly pressured by Union Oil sales representatives to double and triple the giveaway at his own expense, or he would lose his lease.

A spokesman for Union Oil Co. denied the allegations today.

"The matter of handling multiple stamps is not involved in our decision to terminate Mr. Fitzgibbon's lease," Paul C. Orme, a district manager in the oil company's First Street headquarters in San Francisco said. He gave no reason for the action.

"We in no way encourage multiple trading stamps. And under no circumstances do we pressure a dealer to give them," Orme said.

Recounting his dilemma, Fitzgibbon said he was asked to buy extra stamps from the Blue Chip Company at the usual $40 for a roll of 25,000. He normally must buy about two rolls a month, he said.

The stamps are given away normally at the rate of four per gallon of gas purchased, a gallon of gas purchased, a premium worth four tenths of a cent.

But in May and June, he said, a Union Oil sales representative told him his gas sales were off and he would have to increase the giveaway or risk that the lease be terminated.

Fitzgibbon says he held out against the pressure and on July 12 was informed by Orme that his lease would not be renewed. It runs out Tuesday.

While denying company involvement in pressuring for expanded stamp giveaways, Orme conceded that the practice is widespread, particularly in the Oakland-East Bay area and on the southern Peninsula.

Fitzgibbon, a Richfield dealer in Mill Valley before taking over the Union station last Aug. 15, said he has put $5000 into it, cashing his insurance policy to buy stock and equipment.

In his letter to Sen. McCarthy, Fitzgibbon said, "When the comapny had its disaster in Santa Barbara, I tried to promote good will for them; but it seems that beside littering the beach with oil, they want to litter the countryside with dealers."

Court Clears Timothy Leary

RIVERSIDE (AP) — A court has thrown out a misdemeanor charge against Timothy Leary of contributing to the drowning death of a minor, Charlene Rene Aleimeda, 17, who died July 15 on the Leary ranch near Idyllwild.

Riverside Municipal Court Judge Elwood Rich ruled yesterday that the charge was not specific enough, but he gave the district attorney's office until Aug. 21 to file an amended complaint.

Meanwhile, the Riverside County coroner's office disclosed that the drug psilicibin, a mind-stimulating derivative of a deadly mushroom species, was a "major factor" in the death last Sunday of John Griggs, 26, at the Leary ranch.

Griggs died in Hemet Hospital after suffering convulsions and going into a coma.

City Shouldn't Paint Itself Into A Corner

The San Rafael City Council seems to be painting itself into a corner in relocation of the city corporation yard.

The series of events leading to this situation is a bit complicated, and will bear reviewing.

IT STARTED IN 1964, when the council hired engineer Daniel P. Coleman to prepare a plan for proposed development of the 7.8-acre corporation yard property between Francisco Boulevard and the San Rafael Canal, as a preliminary to offering it for sale.

The plan was filed and forgotten. Two years went by. Then, in November of 1966, at suggestion of then-Councilman Louis H. Baar, the council offered to swap the property to the county for the courthouse square in downtown San Rafael.

The county supervisors gave that suggestion a cold shoulder. Whereupon, early in 1967, the council put the corporation yard property up for sale — as a single parcel.

No offer resulted. Two more years went by.

IN APRIL OF THIS year, the board of supervisors — with Baar and former Mayor John F. McInnis now members — expressed interest in discussing the land swap proposed long ago by the city. But at the very city council meeting at which this should have been discussed, the city received an offer from two auto dealers to buy about half of the 7.8 acres—the half on the Francisco Boulevard side. The council promptly accepted it.

Where to put the corporation yard then became the question. It developed that in its sale — plus a land exchange with the State of California which gave the state a slice of property along the canal shoreline — the city had not left a deep enough piece of property for use as a corporation yard.

The council then directed architect Robert W. F. Severin to prepare a plan for the corporation yard on city-owned property at Lincoln Avenue south of Second Street, now used for parking Greyhound buses. But the California Division of Highways wants part of that for the new freeway connection.

This week, the council told Severin to re-plan for the corporation yard north of Second Street, on property now used for a municipal parking lot.

THIS, HOWEVER, may turn out to be an unfortunate location and only a temporary one.

There must be some place to park buses when (let's not say "if") the Marin Transit District puts in an improved bus system. With the present parking site pre-empted for future state construction, this leaves the property where the city now proposes its corporation yard as just about the only feasible bus parking location.

'WAY BACK IN 1964, when sale of the Francisco Boulevard property was first discussed, councilmen talked of relocating the yard on city property near the San Rafael Sanitation District sewage treatment plant.

One objection at that time was the cost of additional fill which would be required. Now, however — as a result of Bay Conservation and Development Commission controls — fill not only can be obtained free, but property owners charge a fee for permission to dump it on their property.

Maybe the city council should look again at the site near the sewer plant, before it paints itself completely into a corner.

Imbalanced Nature

We recently came across the true story of the mule deer in Grand Canyon National Park. We repeat it here because it might be worth considering in connection with Marins' mule deer problem.

The national park and adjacent Kaibab National Forest supported a reasonable number of deer, but in order to increase it the government decided to kill all the mountain lions in the area. At first the deer multiplied at a great rate. Then, having outgrown their food supply, they began to starve, and ate the roots and killed the plants which had comprised their diet. The deer all but vanished. The bare ground eroded.

The result was sterility, not bounty.

Ban On Pornography Sales Applauded

A big bouquet to the management of Safeway Stores, Lucky Markets and the QFI Stores for their stand against stocking magazines and other objectional printed materials of obscene, sensational and pornographic nature. The curb by these stores on such material will surely make the distributors notice a big reduction of sales and help to stop the wide distribution of this offensive trash. Best wishes and good business to Mr. Quentin Reynolds of Safeway Stores and others.

Hub Council Ignores Citizens' Letters

I would like to begin my letter with a question: What does one do when a city council is more eager to discuss personal matters than city business?

Personal letters have been put on the agenda for San Anselmo City Council meetings and the authors given "verbal spankings" by present city council members, while letters addressed to the council about city business requesting a place on the agenda are not given it but are answered by private letter

Stick Together To Save Schools

After reading Bryce Anderson's article (I-J, Aug. 6) concerning the financial squeeze of Marin Catholic, I felt inspired to speak forth . . .

Having attended Catholic schools since nursery school, I have an advantage of realizing what all this means . . . Being a graduate of Marin Catholic in 1966, I am worried about my alma mater. I am sure that this school is not the only one which will close within a year if it does not receive financial support . . .

Father Dullea sees the financial squeeze as it appears now, and he has done everything within reason to keep the doors open. However, one man cannot work complete wonders without the help of the people. . . .

In memory of my brave Marine brother, Tom, the family has set up a memorial funds at Marin Catholic; but that cannot even begin to meet the expenses of the school. My brother, while he was in Viet Nam, wrote home telling us how much an education meant to him. If he had returned, he would have gone on to a higher education. He knew the true benefits of education and he begged each of us to continue no matter what.

People of Marin, let's stick together, like our men in Viet Nam are doing for the sake of freedom, and work toward the continuance of parochial schools. Open your hearts and

Invitation To Relief Clients Defended

As one of the people who worked on "an invitation" to welfare recipients I must speak up on the article that was printed in the I-J against the wording of it.

When a person is on welfare, how many "invitations" does he ever get? All he gets is pressure from his creditors, and just trying to make ends meet, if he has a family. I thought that social service was a human agency, with people who feels the needs of the people they serve. If there were no clients, there would be no social service. Since it does exist, and does serve wonderfully well, in my opinion, why not "an invitation"? Why an IBM approach all the time? Why must they constantly give welfare people only case numbers? I know it's necessary for the records, but I saw "an invitation," not an effort to attract more welfare cases, but as a way of helping those now on welfare get in contact with the people they may have questions of.

I have nothing but praise for our social service as I've had personal dealings with them in my time of need. We never wanted sickness to hit our family, but it did, and social service really were decent with us. Miss (Betty) Presley is the sweetest woman I've ever met. In fact everyone I've met and dealt with at the Civic Center have been nice to me and my family.

Silence Vanishes, Even At Library

There was a time when one could visit a library and enjoy the quietness found only at such a place. A sign in the library would indicate that "Silence is Golden." Now, however, in yet another form of "permissiveness" condoned by our modern society, there is not a quiet corner to be found. Children are noisy while adults and teen-agers alike are gabbing. Times have changed, it's true. Gone are the pleasant hours spent at a library with an interesting material. Gone is the quiet a student needs while working on a research project or thesis. Silence, apparently, is no longer considered golden.

President's Visit To Romania Was Strictly His Own Idea

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The President has decided that Communist Eastern Europe does not belong to the Soviet Union. He plans to expand U. S. diplomatic initiatives there.

His bold and audacious trip to independent-minded Romania is only the beginning.

President Nixon knew that Moscow would not relish having him dramatically holding out the hand of American cordiality to the one Warsaw-bloc state which has been most critical of Russian foreign policy — but he did it anyway and for two purposes:

He felt it urgent to let the Kremlin leaders understand that he did not consider Communist Eastern Europe to be off-limits to American diplomacy.

He wanted them to realize that if they undertook to discipline the Romanians — as they did the Czechs — it would hurt the chances for Moscow getting what it wants from the United States.

THE WHOLE CONCEPT of the Romanian trip is Nixon's own and in order to bring it off the President had to resist and, in the end, reject the influence of the top level of the State Department.

The diplomats were against it. Mr. Nixon was for it. The President prevailed.

It should be understood that Mr. Nixon is not planning any anti-Soviet conniving in Moscow's front yard in Eastern Europe. And he's not thinking of the use of U. S. military force.

But he undertook this unique mission — the first time a President of the United States ever visited a Communist capital — to illustrate that he did not view Communist East Europe as an untouchable appendage of the Soviet Union.

HE FELT it useful at this time to counter the too-widely accepted Russian doctrine that "what's mine is mine and what's yours is up for grabs." He went to Bucharest to demonstrate that the United States expected to enlarge its economic, political and cultural contacts with all of Eastern Europe. Further moves in that direction will be forthcoming.

He also wanted it evident to the Russians that they would need to consider the stakes should they think about cracking down on Romania for being openly critical of a number of Soviet actions, particularly the occupation of Czechoslovakia.

In effect, Mr. Nixon appears to be saying that if the Russians want among other things good relations with the United States because of their bad relations with Red China, they shouldn't assume that they can intervene in the internal affairs of Eastern European nations with impunity.

And it is a fair assumption that what Mr. Nixon said without using words in the very fact he went to Romania is not lost on the Kremlin leadership.

THE PRESIDENT is exceedingly displeased with the negative role which the higher echelon in the State Department played in preparing his trip.

He found it massively unsatisfactory. This dissatisfaction does not apply to Secretary of State William Rogers, but to career diplomats.

Those who know Mr. Nixon's thinking are aware that at the higher level of policy making the State Department was against the President's visit to Romania, was against his going to South Vietnam and was against the way he unfolded his views at the background press briefing in Guam.

Mr. Nixon is not amused, he is not impressed, he is profoundly dissatisfied.

The President is gravely disturbed to have found the top level of the State Department so unimaginative, intellectually sterile, and timid.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Democrats' Policy Council May Have Important Role

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — That long-promised Democratic Policy Council is finally beginning to take shape, and under circumstances which suggest that it may play a more significant role than had been expected.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey discussed the council membership here last week with Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Harris is expected to name the council and its constituent committees in a week or two.

Humphrey, as the 1968 presidential candidate, has been all but formally announced as chairman of the new policy group. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Me., Humphrey's running mate, has also agreed to serve.

RECENT EVENTS give a new lustre to a Humphrey-Muskie policy council. The members of the 1968 team rank now as the top contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972.

Only a few weeks ago it appeared that the policy council was fated to be a pallid bit of window dressing for the Democrats. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., had declined to serve on the council, and Kennedy was then viewed as the all-but-certain Democratic presidential candidates for 1972.

All that is changed now. In the wake of the auto accident which killed Mary Jo Kopechne, Kennedy has ruled himself out of the 1972 presidential contest. His policy inclinations are suddenly a good deal less important than before.

IN 1956 the top congressional Democrats, then Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, resisted the formation of a similar policy group known as the Democratic Advisory Council. Their objection was that Democrats in Congress must set the policy line when the White House is in Republican hands.

The same objection has been made by some congressional Democrats to creation of the new policy council. Their objection has lost much of its force, however, as it has become apparent that Democrats in Congress cannot chart a policy line in the sense that the Rayburn-Johnson leadership charted it as the Eisenhower administration's loyal opposition.

In fact, the recent maneuvering over President Nixon's request for a one-year extension of President Johnson's income tax surcharge resulted in a rather embarrassing non-policy from congressional Democrats.

THE NEW COUNCIL, as now being constituted, is somewhat different from the group originally envisioned by Harris to act as a sort of shadow cabinet. Harris had first planned a council of about 30 top Democrats carefully balanced as to ideology.

Harris quickly discovered, however, that it is no simple task to balance the varying shades of Democratic opinion on a council of relatively small membership.

As now contemplated, the council will include a small executive committee, plus committees with expertise on specific issues.

Harris is screening lists of possible committee experts, which include academicians as well as Democrats from party organizations at all levels.

When there is an income tax, the just man will pay more and the unjust less on the same amount of income.—Plato.

Smog Battle Joined 'For Keeps' As Legislators Push Measures

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Despite the fact that progress is slow in the battle against air pollutants, the battle will continue.

In the closing days of the 1969 legislative session, Assemblyman John Francis Foran, D-San Francisco, who has been one of the most ardent legislators Waging the war against "smog", introduced a resolution directing the California Air Resources Board to take action to stiffen the state's automobile smog standards.

It was Foran's committee that last year drafted the Pure Air Act, which now stands as the toughest automobile smog law in the nation.

"MY RESOLUTION will serve as formal notice to the ARB that the legislature expects it to initiate prompt action to reduce automobile smog," said Foran.

In the resolution is a directive to the ARB to determine the necessity and technological feasibility of establishing even stronger commission standards for future years, and if established, to petition immediately for a new waiver from the federal government for these standards.

Meanwhile, Foran and other legislators announced the Assembly has received an additional $300,000 from the U.S. Department of Transportation to carry out its experimental steam bus project. The Assembly received an initial grant to test this type of bus in the San Francisco Bay area, as an effort to assist the state in efforts to stimulate the development of smog-free engines.

Also, the state is proceeding with an experiment to install steam engines in some California Highway Patrol cars, and by next month, Foran says he expects engine contracts will be awarded.

ON ANOTHER front in the battle against smog, the state Senate voted a bill to eliminate internal combustion gasoline engine cars on California highways after 1972. This measure was killed in an assembly committee, but this did not deter Nicholas Petris, D-Contra Costa, from stating that he would try again next year to get such a measure through the legislature.

The Petris measure is the most drastic proposed yet in the smog fight. The senator was as surprised as anyone else when it passed the Senate. But the measure has served its purposes in making the citizens of California and the legislature even more aware of the seriousness of the smog problem.

California's smog problem will be a long time in the solving. Legislators are accused of being too slow with remedial legislation, but on the other hand the problem is one which cannot be solved immediately without entire disruption of the economy.

Just Little Assessment District —The Part That Shows, That Is

Those who attend meetings of public agencies with any regularity soon come to realize that the most innocuous appearing items on the agenda are often the most explosive.

Although the antiwar and antinudity items certainly can stir a council and its audience to excesses of emotion and downright bad manners, it is the little, unsuspected subjects that quite often do the most damage.

IN MILL VALLEY, earlier this week, such an item appeared on the city council agenda under the title "Fern Canyon Assessment District." Fern Canyon is a lovely spot high on the side of Mount Tamalpais in Mill Valley. Physically, it's pleasant and pacific.

As an agenda item, it's an iceberg with 99 per cent of its trouble potential still hidden. Sensing this from preliminary encounters, the council Monday night moved to delay the actual confrontation for as long as possible — in this case another month.

The item asked the council to establish an assessment district for improvement of a portion of Fern Canyon Road, a move designed to please the council which is always working to upgrade city streets.

However, several Mill Valley residents appeared to protest the assessment district, particularly the city's informal promise to join the district and foot 25 per cent of the cost, following a policy adopted last year to encourage the improvement of city streets.

Councilman George Wickham, joined by Councilman Robert H. Andresen, protested the city's spending some $10,000 (its 25 per cent share) to develop a road which primarily would benefit two property owners. Such a move, Wickham argued, would only set the council up to be hit by every future developer for 25 per cent of road development costs.

THE DEVELOPERS in the Fern Canyon caper are George W. Blackwell, former city councilman, and Ellis A. Lando. Blackwell has been trying to open up Fern Canyon for some time so he can subdivide the property and make a bit of money. However, Fern Canyon really is in the back woods and development has been ruled out by the fire department until access and water supply problems are solved, an expensive proposition at best.

If either of the developers were to finance the job alone, he would price his property right off the market. Even with two developers going together, the costs would still be steep. But, if everyone shares the costs, including the city and other residents of the area . . . well, that's the basis of the assessment district proposal.

LAST YEAR, after the council adopted the policy of paying one-fourth the cost of street upgrading (a brain child of Wickham's, by the way), Blackwell approached then-City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer and suggested the city put its money where its mouth was.

Balmer agreed to suggest the idea to the council, which agreed to it readily. The whole deal would have gone through smoothly except some taxpayers, not knowing the details, became concerned about the precedent and complained.

That's when the iceberg began to grow.

IN ADDITION, Balmer asked City Engineer Stanley M. Bala to do preliminary work in organizing the assessment district at city cost.

Bala's work for the assessment district will be paid from city funds even if the district is not set up.

Further, it was clear Monday night that the city's $10,000 share did not include any of Bala's work to date.

Thus, the iceberg grows some more.

Some Recollections At Age 81, And A Hint Of Things To Come

Fusselman

Born 8-8-1888 — today, Friday, is my 81st. If there is anything to the belief in the influence of numbers, this could be a good year. I am putting my finger-tips together and bowing eight times to Leo.

The I-J magazine section on Saturdays is a never-ending delight. A story last Saturday was particularly pleasing. And here is why.

Some 60 years ago, to the campus of the College of Puget Sound, at Tacoma, Wash., came a gentle young girl named Berna Miller, a tall lively one whose name was Ada Margaret Hooton, and the brothers Dupertius, who charmed everyone with their ability in French — they spoke it with a lilting rapidity amazing. And then there was a guy called Bill, who with one of the brothers Dupertius were the two winning finalists in a debating contest.

They thus became the team representing the college, debating the proposition that, "It is resolved that the missionaries did more to obtain and retain Old Oregon for the Union than did the traders"—or at times in reverse order.

They did exceptionally well until they were matched with a team from a girls school in Seattle. This was the end of that linguistic story, and how!

NOW, THE SCENE shifts. About 20 years ago, while I was supervisor, we had a roomfull of folks who were deeply concerned about the matter before us. During the course of the meeting a man asked for the floor and gave us some earnest, thoughtful opinions of his on the subject.

When he sat down, I somewhat amazed and intrigued that roomful when I said the gentleman who just spoke and I have not seen nor conversed with each other for 40 years.

It was Henry, one of the brothers Dupertius. Gone was the rapid-fire French but in its place a quiet, soft-spoken man. The nice Miller girl, Berna, was now Mrs. Henry Dupertius and the young dynamo Ada Margaret had become Mrs. Bill Fusselman.

Henry, you could see by the gorgeous blooms of his garden out San Geronimo way, as shown in last Saturday's Magazine, is a genius, but not only in designing a garden. He is a master in working with fine and rare wood and has done some beautiful things, bringing out the charm of the wood he is working with and finishing it with a soft silk-like surface.

The last time we all had a chat was early in January after the Apollo crew had circled the moon and come back safely. He liked my column, "Sunrise in the Pacific," about the splash down and their being brought aboard the Yorktown. He had telephoned me and we all got on the line. Quite a man is this brother Dupertius.

MY COMPLIMENTS to whoever wrote the editorial last Tuesday. "Those Delegated Problems Return Like Bad Pennies." It had to do principally with the Fair-Marin mess: "A case in point is provided by the Marin County fairgrounds and its Veterans' Memorial Auditorium.

"When the county board of supervisors . . . decided to turn their operation (of the memorial building and the fairgrounds) over to a nonprofit corporation . . . the rationale behind this was always a bit hard to follow."

That was the previous board. The present board is being quietly ushered into an even worse spot that they are bound to regret! More, much more, on that later.

France To Resume Nuclear Bomb Tests

PARIS (AP) — France will resume nuclear weapons tests in the Pacific in the summer of 1970, Defense Ministry sources confirmed today. The tests, begun in 1966, were suspended this year under the government's austerity program.

France exploded her first two hydrogen bombs, of one and two megaton force respectively, at a Polynesian site last year. France is not a signatory of the Moscow test ban treaty outlawing nuclear tests in the atmosphere or under water.

Closed-Circuit Television In Congress Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. John Dellenback, R-Ore., wants a closed-circuit television system in the House so members can follow the debate from their offices.

He said other business too often keeps members away from the floor.

He said he will introduce the authorizing legislation Monday and in a letter to other members invited support. He said his most recent cost estimate for the system was $254,625.

The House always has balked at electronic or photographic surveillance of its proceedings. A subcommittee on reorganization reported to members earlier this week it had been unable to agree on proposals to open committee sessions, and possibly the House itself, to broadcast coverage.

Dellenback's proposal contemplated no outside broadcasts.

Oakland Museum Fires Director

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Museum Commission announced Thursday it had dismissed its director, Dr. J. S. Hollidan, but refused to give reasons.

"It is up to the commission to explain why they fired me," Dr. Hollidan said, adding that he had been accused of insubordination.

The dismissal came as Mrs. Julia Hare resigned as the new $7 million museum's coordinator of education.

The museum is to open Sept. 20.

Bench Warrants For Absentees

Bench warrants were issued yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for two defendants who failed to appear.

A warrant was issued for James Edward Brewster, 31, who faces a charge of selling another substance as LSD in February, 1968.

A warrant also was issued for Andrew Lee Johnson, 18, of Marin City, charged with burgling a car in San Rafael Aug. 1.

Nathan Hale was born in Coventry, Conn.

Michael Savage Picked For School

Michael T. Savage of Mill Valley, deputy assistant regional administrator for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, has been selected by the U.S. Civil Service Commission for a year of graduate study at Princeton University in New Jersey.

A Mill Valley resident, Savage was one of 86 federal and state employees chosen for the commission's career education awards program.

With HUD for the past 10 years, Savage will return to the department following his year's study at Princeton's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

PROMOTED — Michael D. Mooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mooney, 42 Bret Avenue, San Rafael, has been promoted to boatswain's mate third class in the Coast Guard. He is stationed aboard the cutter Magnolia at Astoria, Ore.

CARRIER — Radarman 3/c Michael E. Walraven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Walraven of 316 G Street is serving aboard the nuclear powered carrier Enterprise now en route to Norfolk, Va., from Alameda. The ship will undergo a year long overhaul.

FLYING — Officer candidate Thomas C. Burch, son of Mrs. Eleanor M. Burch of 72 Mariposa Avenue, San Anselmo, has completed the four-week flight systems school at the Naval Aviation Schools Command in Pensacola, Fla.

SOLO — Navy Lt. (j.g.) Mark E. Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Jacobson of 337 Arias Street, San Rafael, in training at Pensacola Naval Air Station, Fla., is expected to receive his wings in about 13 months.

NEW ASSIGNMENT — Air Force Sgt. Dennis L. Olson, son of Leona Olson, 500 Sprauer Street, Petaluma, has been assigned to Holloman Air Force Base, N. M., after a year's tour of duty in Libya.

ABOARD CARRIER — Fireman Joan W. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Smith of 649 Cherry Street, Novato, and Radioman 3/c Dennis R. Giambastiani, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Giambastiani of 45 Pleasant Lane, San Rafael, are serving aboard the carrier Coral Sea in training exercises off the California coast.

EAGLE INSIGNIA — Robert J. Plocki, a Tiburon resident and deputy Sixth Army chaplain at the San Francisco Presidio, has been promoted to colonel. He lives at 191 Stewart Drive.

NEW POST — CSM Richard D. Lincoln, who has had 22 years military service, has been named senior non-commissioned officer at the Army Air Defense Command, Fort Baker, to succeed Sgt. Harry Balster who has retired.

FLOATING SCHOOL — Susan Toland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Toland of 10 Madeleine Lane, San Rafael and Michael Royce of Novato, a biology major at the College of Marin, have been admitted to the World Campus Afloat program of Chapman College, Orange, for the fall 1969 semester at sea.

CAMERAMAN — George W. Driskill, son of Mrs. Mary K. Mitchell of 50 Taurus Drive, Novato, has been promoted to staff sergeant in the Air Force. Driskill is assigned to a unit of the Aerospace Audio-Visual Service.

STATE LICENSE — Arthur Miller Jr. of 89 Cole Drive, Marin City, has been graduated from the San Francisco College of Mortuary Science and received his state license to practice as an embalmer.

All Venice stands on thick planks and stone foundations supported by thousands of wooden piles. Perhaps eight inches a century, the piles are sinking into mud.

Youth Authority May Lend Marin A Juvenile Officer

Marin may get its temporary juvenile coordinator within the next two to three weeks, on a year's loan from the California Youth Authority, if financial details can be worked out.

The plan was discussed Wednesday with George Saleebey of the Youth Authority, Gary T. Giacomini of the Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission reported yesterday.

The coordinator, who would work with that commission and the new Marin County Youth Commission, was authorized by the board of supervisors at a top salary in the $14,000 range.

The kind of person proposed by the Youth Authority would receive $6,000 to $10,000 more than that, Giacomini reported. However, Saleebey indicated the state may make up the difference.

The commission, with the consent of Chris Harris, summer coordinator of the youth commission, authorized Saleebey and John W. Brewer, probation chief, to proceed with obtaining the coordinator, provided the state agrees to pay the difference.

Giacomini said Saleebey and Brewer have two persons in mind for the post and they would be interviewed by the commission as soon as possible if the money is assured.

The coordinator would set up the county's juvenile programs and help the person chosen as permanent coordinator get started, Giacomini said.

Giacomini said the two commissions want to begin working as soon as possible with an experienced person. Going through regular county personnel channels would delay the start until November or December, he said.

In a meeting of the delinquency prevention commission prior to the coordinator discussion, Giacomini was elected president, replacing the group's only other president Dr. Robert H. Herrick.

Ann Miller was elected vice president.

The commission also agreed to change its meeting time and place. Giacomini said a new time was not set but the Civic Center was selected as a meeting place instead of at Marin General Hospital.

WRITES NIXON

San Rafael Boy, 8, Worries About War

Soviet-Chinese border incidents last spring disturbed 8-year-old Kirth Dwyer of San Rafael. He worried about possible U.S. involvement.

So the Coleman School third grader wrote to President Richard M. Nixon voicing his concern over the incidents and urging that U.S. soldiers not be involved.

Yesterday, Kirth, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremy Dwyer, 1456 Lincoln Avenue, received a reply from Rose Mary Woods, personal secretary to the president.

"It was thoughtful of you to let him (the president) have your comments and he wants you to know that you have his best wishes," she wrote.

"I think Nixon is a good president," said Kirth, adding he would have voted for him if he were old enough.

Guilty Plea To Marijuana Count

An accused marijuana grower yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing the weed Aug. 1 in San Anselmo, and the district attorney's office dismissed a charge against her of cultivating marijuana.

Rita Jean Hodges, 20, of San Anselmo, was told to appear at 10 a.m. Aug. 18 in Marin Superior Court for sentencing.

Charges of having and cultivating marijuana against her companion, Peter Kaufman, 28, of San Anselmo, were dismissed.

Theft Hearing

A preliminary hearing for Daniel Ellis DeCosta, 21, of San Francisco, on charges of auto theft and auto burglary in Corte Madera July 20, was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 15.

MR. AND MRS. LOREN PIERCE SWANEY

Loren Swaney Marries Judi Carlene Selby

Judi Carlene Selby became the bride of Loren Pierce Swaney Saturday morning at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Selby of San Rafael, Judi chose Mrs. Linda Downey of Novato as her matron of honor and as bridesmaids, Mrs. Lucy Selby, of San Rafael, Sandy Schwartz of San Luis Obispo and Susan Swaney of San Anselmo.

Bill Kilcoyne was the best man and the ushers were Jan Swaney, the bridegroom's brother, Bob Baricut and Jerry Sirocki, all of San Anselmo.

The couple will live in Fairfax after returning from a wedding trip to San Diego. The wedding reception was held at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Judi was graduated from San Rafael High School, attended the College of Marin and is employed by Blum's restaurant in San Francisco as a secretary. Mrs. Bill King of Detroit, Mich., is her sister and Michael and Lee Shelby of San Rafael are her brothers. The brides grandmother, Mrs. Stella White, lives in San Rafael.

Loren, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Swaney of San Anselmo, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the College of Marin. He is employed at Pacific Motor Trucking Co. in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spencer of San Anselmo are his grandparents.

Do Your Own Hemline Thing Say Parisian Design Priests

NEW — YORK (UPI) — Hemlines stay high. Hemlines drop.

Paris designers ended their fall and winter collections on a mixed hemline theme, leaving it to the individual woman to decide just where she wanted skirt lengths to go in the 1970's. It's a "do your own thing" decade ahead, say the high priests of French design. The woman of the next decade will do more experimenting with a much more varied wardrobe.

Only one Paris designer tried to dictate what women should wear. That was Yves St. Laurent, and judging from the reaction to his efforts to haul skirts way down and, in the opinion of some try to make women look like little old men, St. Laurent ran into open revolt.

The most applause and approving chatter went with the Marc Bohan of Dior and Pierre Cardin collections. Both designers made all sorts of hemlines but in two very distinct styles.

Bohan's dresses, whether they are very short or a "new length" of 14 inches from the floor had a slightly retrospective look.

Cardin had even longer skirts and shorter ones than Dior's Bohan, and plenty of lengths in between. But there was never so much as a backward glance.

Cardin announced that the "lunar era" had arrived and women should dress to suit it. Then he unveiled a collection that showed he really wanted them to dress to suit themselves as long as they kept their eyes firmly on the future.

IN ALL, PARIS projected several loud and clear messages:

The head should look small. Elaborate hairdos were almost nonexistent. Chignons, French twists, and short shingled hair prevailed in most salons. Dior showed short, curly hair with soft tendrils down the back of the neck and over the ears. Hairpieces were still used for evening, but less elaborately.

For daytime, the hair should be covered, usually with a pulled down knit beret or a tight fitting cloche. For evening too, the hair often was covered.

Jewelry was less important in Paris than in New York, where long strands of pearls bedecked everything. With Paris, one important jewel was better than two matching pieces—in fact, sets of jewelry with earrings and necklace to match just about disappeared.

Handknitting was the biggest fad to hit Paris this season. Knits included berets, giant mufflers, huge mittings, sweaters, dresses and trousers.

WOMEN OF the 1970's will be tall, slim and ready to experiment with their appearances is the message from Paris, indicated during the fall and winter collection showings last week. This ultra-short design by Pierre Cardin emphasized the message. Over a black wool jersey the model wears black wool tights and a bleack leather mini-mini skirt. The necklace and tie are white metal.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Yachtsman's Wife Busily Knits Sweaters While Husband Races

By MOLLY MARIN

The revival of handcraft was pointed up by the beautiful knitted sweaters that Mrs. Jack Niedringhaus of Baltimore, Md., designed and made for her husband and their sailing crew.

Barbara Niedringhaus knitted nautical themes, including signal flags and crew names, into the pullovers worn by the Chesapeake Bay entrants in the Triton Class national championships hosted by San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere last week. She also brought along as a hostess gift for Mrs. Donald M. Bekins of Belvedere, who entertained the visitors at the Bekins home on Corinthian Island, hand knit Christmas stockings personalized for the two Bekins children. These she completed on a recent month-long tour of Europe where she visited the Socialist countries.

Jack Neidringhaus has been elected national president of the sailing class. His home club, the Anapolis Yacht Club, will be the host for next year's class finals in Chesapeake Bay.

Also attracting interest are the hand-painted designs which Mrs. LeRoy B. Everett Jr. of Tiburon has on display at a Mill Valley yarn shop. The originals are painted on canvas to be worked in needlepoint.

Jane Everett, famous for the exotic decorated eggs she makes into handsome jewel boxes and ornaments, spent last week in Southern California, where she and Mr. Everett attended the wedding of their son, Kenneth, to Mary Lu Kelliher in Los Angeles Saturday.

ON A COMBINED business and pleasure trip are Mr. and Mrs. George Cumming of Kentfield, who are staying at the Moana Hotel at Waikiki Beach in Honolulu. On their way to Hawaii, where many Marin families are vacationing, is the Gerald N. Wehr family of Greenbrae, sailing aboard the Lurline.

MAUREEN DOHERTY Pederson and her daughters Paige, Patria and Diane enjoyed fishing on the Flathead Indian Reservation in western Montana, where they attended a family and outdoor recreation workshop, sponsored by the University of Montana.

Eleven-year-old Patria caught a trout, which turned out to be the largest fish ever caught in the Jocko River at the annual camping workshop. Mrs. Pederson is a physical education teacher at San Rafael High School.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL B. Demetrios of Belvedere welcomed a daughter on July 24. The little girl is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellerd of Bakersfield and George Demetrios of Folly Cove, Mass., and the late Virginia Lee Burton Demetrios. The baby who has a brother, Michael, 3, will be named Virginia Ellerd Burton Demetrios, honoring both her grandmothers.

ENROLLED AT the Ecole Lemania in Lausanne, Switzerland, is Wendy McPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. McPherson of San Rafael. Wendy flew to Europe after graduating from the University of Utah and toured for three months, seeing "everything from Oslo to the Casbah in Tangier" before starting school.

MR. AND MRS. MELVIN DUNCAN, longtime residents of the Ross Valley area, will be moving to Belvedere in the late summer. The couple sold their home in San Anselmo in June and have been living in a summer house in Kentfield prior to the permanent move. Mrs. Duncan, a member of the Northgate Group of the Marin Art and Garden Center, has been the commentator for several of the group's summer fashion luncheons at the center.

KATE ABBOTT, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Abbott III of Kentfield, is living and studying in the historic eighteenth-century Villa Negroni in Lugano in southern Switzerland. She is a member of Project Europe, a teenage summer study and travel program of The American School in Switzerland.

Kate and six other boys and girls attend lectures and discussions on contemporary Europe, language, art, music, history and drama. The teenagers plus two staff members plan to visit France, Italy, Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Hungary on four eight-day trips. Kate will be a junior at San Domenico School for Girls.

IT'S A BOY for the Douglas MacLachlans of Berkeley. The baby, to be named Trevor, was born at Alta Bates Hospital in Berkeley Monday. His mother is the former Natalie Knauth of Belvedere. Mr. and Mrs. Basil Knauth of Belvedere, and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mac Lachlan of Newport Beach are the grandparents. Trevor's sister, Heather Bowditch MacLachlain is a year old.

MR. AND MRS. Jack Koppen, both recent graduates of the University of Arizona, left July 29 on a European tour. They will live in the East Bay when they return later this month.

Lynn Koppen's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoffman III, entertained for the couple in their San Rafael home the weekend before they left.

MR. AND MRS. Jack Sparrow have returned to Novato following a two-week-vacation in Japan and Hawaii. In Japan, they visited their son and

Black Beauty Now A Booming Business

MIAMI (AP) — Black beauty is Blanche Calloway's business. And she says her business—selling cosmetics especially made for black people—has boomed in less than a year from a small firm to a growing nationwide market.

"We blacks just can't expect results from cosmetics designed for white skins," said Miss Calloway, sister of band leader Cab Calloway.

She is president of Afram House, which last October began a mail order business by sending catalogs to black people. Now the company is establishing retail outlets throughout the nation and has expanded its line to other black-oriented merchandise, such as black dolls and African wall plaques.

LIPSTICK, EYELASHES, eye shadows, powders, perfumes, wigs are much in demand by black women, Miss Calloway said.

For men, there are such items as Soul deodorant, Voodoo aftershave lotion, and Black Magic body lotion.

"Black women didn't need cosmetics years ago," Miss Calloway said. "Her job outside the home was as maid or housekeeper. She didn't need to look attractive, and couldn't afford it anyway.

"Now the black woman works in an integrated business and an integrated school. She has to have an awareness of everything it takes to make her attractive because she has to compete.

"WHEN WE STARTED, we bought ads in black publications and included coupons for catalogs," she recalled. "We got letters from all over the United States."

The biggest response, she added, came from the Midwest.

While her products are designed for black people, Miss Calloway said some whites also use them.

"Some of the white soul sisters have been wearing our makeup when they can't find other cosmetics to go with their tan," she said, smiling. "After all, caucasians spend many hours a day lying out in the sun trying to look like we look."

A TOUCH OF beauty is applied to model Sylvia Dodson by Blanche Calloway, president of Afram House, which makes cosmetics especially for blacks. The business woman, sister of band leader Cab Calloway, has expanded her Miami business from a small firm to a growing national market in less than a year.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Husband May Be Happier If Wife Keeps Silent About Her Affair

DEAR HELEN:

I am a married woman of 40 who just ended an affair with our friendly neighborhood bachelor. I didn't realize he was called this until I heard some of the women kidding about him at the beauty parlor.

Now I remember back to the times he referred to my friends in a personal way, and the one time, after four cocktails, when he admitted having affairs with several of these lonely dames. Of course, I didn't include myself in that category then, but now — will he brag about me to his next.

If my husband finds out he will kill me, but if he hears about it from others, it will be twice as bad. Should I keep quiet and suffer, or confess and perhaps get kicked out?— NEVER AGAIN

DEAR NEVER AGAIN:

If your husband had an affair—and ended it — you'd be far happier never having known, right? So repent and suffer. The worry about being caught may keep you doubly straight. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I wish I could impress upon wives who have been married long enough to have the glitter wear off, how inportant it is to get out the polishing cloth and shine it up again. They don't know how close they come to losing their good, dependable husbands by taking them too much for granted.

I work as a masseuse, am in my 50s, have grey hair and need to lose ten more pounds. Yet men come into the salon in their late 30s to late 50s, just to get pampered by the soft touch of a woman's hand on their brow and a sympathetic ear to hear their problems.

They tell me how lucky my husband is and when I tell them I have no husband, I get various invitations. Sometimes I'm tempted, but so far I've resisted. But I keep wondering, what's the matter with wives, anyway? Most men aren't confirmed chasers. They are just darn lonely guys who don't get much attention at home.

No doubt wives feel mistreated too, but if they'd try a little harder, stop turning first to the children or their outside activities, they'd find far more romantic men coming home to them. — H.F.

DEAR HELEN:

Isn't it terrible what they allow on TV today? I mean half-nude females advertising all kinds of household things like cottage cheese and cars. And the programs are absolutely obscene. The things they say! Why don't you start a campaign to make TV more moral? — NOT A PRUDE

DEAR NOT:

Sorry. I see very little immorality in television. What the medium needs is more truth and less censorship, but then perhaps that's why TV is called a medium — as they say, it's too often neither rare nor well-done. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have a son in the Coast Guard. Most people don't even know what the Coast Guard is or does. They think it is something like the National Guard.

My husband doesn't even recognize our son as being in the military. Maybe you could remind people that the C.G. is definitely a branch of the service — a fine one — and should be considered as such.

Our country might not survive without it! — MRS. B.R.

DEAR MRS. R.:

I'll be glad to, as I have had several letters recently reminding me I haven't mentioned the Coast Guard when I praised various branches of the service. Sorry about that! — H.

his wife, Lt. and Mrs. Robert N. Sparrow, at Atsugi Naval Air Base.

Among the many points of interest they toured in Japan were the inland sea, shrines and temples in Kyoto, and they were quite impressed with the Peace Park in Hiroshima. Atsugi Naval Air Base is 35 miles south of Tokyo, and they took several trips in the city. Barbara Sparrow spoke about the marvelous transportation which was punctual and efficient and about the cleanliness of the people and the very neat appearance of the youngsters going to school. They also stayed at the New Otani Hotel in Tokyo for a few days.

There was no rain while they were in Japan, but the heat and humidity was very uncomfortable and the air hazy with industrial smog. They went golfing at 5 a.m. and by 8:30 the temperature was boiling, Barbara related.

The Sparrows returned by way of the islands where they spent four days, at the Royal Hawaiian in Maui and in Oahu.

And Then You Are Elected

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eventually it happens to anyone who is a member of an organization, whether the Parent-Teacher Association, the garden club, the church guild, the business and professional women's club.

You're called on to serve as president.

The members start with flattery about your natural qualities as a leader, and how the organization really needs some new blood, new thinking at the top. You lap up the flattery and first thing you know, you've accepted the call. You're now Madame President.

Then, born to lead or no, you soon learn how—the hard way. I know! I'm in the throes of helmanship of the Newspaper Women's Club of New York. Now, we're primarily a "do good" group raising monies for assorted scholarships, working to upgrade the standards of our profession in communications.

We're also more than 200 members, that means more than 200 personalities, and more than 200 viewpoints on what to do and how to do it.

I suspect this holds true in any organization. But remember, you're Madame President and all the failures during the years will be yours directly. If you're lucky, you may get some of the credit for any successes.

ONE THING I learned right off — everyone knows how to run the organization and hesitates not at all to offer advice in person, by letter or telephone.

Another fact came early. No matter how carefully your committees are chosen, there is no way around some do-it-yourself administration. Every president must be a dictator, too, but try to be benevolent about it.

If you're about to take office, don't let me scare you off. Somebody has to do it. You'll find it swells the ego, your name looks nice on letterheads, and there is some reward inwardly in telling (er, asking) people what's expected of them.

But talk to anyone who's ever presided with a copy of Robert's Rules on her lap and she will tell you the things bound to happen.

IT'LL BE more work than you bargained for. I was conned with, "Well, most of the job is the monthly meeting of the board." Hah!

So clear with your husband before accepting high office. For he will have a choice of either pitching in when he can or just saying "good bye, dear" for a few nights each week while he warms up leftovers for dinner.

You'll find your home telephone bill soars, the house takes on a neglected "mamma's president this year" look, the occasional long lunches with the girls are out, and you'll be muttering "decisions, decisions" in your sleep.

Moccasins

Fringed buckskin moccasins, even in ankle-high length are set to make the back-to-school scene.

Heidee Lynne Borgeson Is Wed To David Alan Lenzi

David Alan Lenzi wed Heidee Lynne Borgeson Sunday in a ceremony at Chapel One of Hamilton Air Force Base. A reception at the Officers Club followed.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Ralph Borgeson of San Rafael, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Lenzi of San Anselmo.

Vicki Ann Lenzi, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Louise Beckman of Miami, Fla., Susan Leidy of San Francisco and Lana Borgeson and Jackie Nyhus, both of San Rafael.

Best man was David Manahan of Kentfield. Rick Loomer and Robert Phelps of San Rafael, Bruce Badaracco of San Anselmo and John McCracken of Mississippi ushered guests to their seats.

Heidee was graduated from Terra Linda High School, College of Marin and San Jose State College, where she was a member of Delta Zeta sorority. Philip Borgeson of San Rafael is her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Hazel Mayhood and Mrs. Sarah Borgeson, both of San Francisco.

David's schools are Marin Catholic High School, College of Marin and San Jose State College. Mrs. Joseph Lenzi of Alamo is his grandmother.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel, the couple will live in Novato. The bride is employed at Macy's in San Rafael, and the bridegroom is employed by Crocker-Citizens Bank, also in San Rafael.

Christine Petrini Becomes Bride Of Brian Smith In Terra Linda Rites

Christine T. Petrini of San Rafael recited wedding vows with Brian A. Smith in a Saturday afternoon ceremony at St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda.

Debbie Petrini was her sister's maid of honor. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Silvano Petrini of San Rafael.

The other attendants for Christine were Julie Smith of San Rafael and Barbara Houck of Rialto.

Robert Miller of San Francisco served as best man, and Steve Ringchop of San Rafael, Phil Houck of Rialto and Steven Filipetti of San Rafael ushered.

A reception followed at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club.

The couple will return from their Southern California wedding trip to live in Novato.

Christine is a graduate of Terra Linda High School and Hilltop Beauty College in Daly City. She is employed as a beautician with the Princess Style House in San Rafael.

Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Filippetti of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Eugenio Petrini of South San Francisco. Christine's great grandparents are Mrs. Elena Filippetti and Mrs. Ann Gelardi, both of San Francisco.

Brian is the son of Capt. and Mrs. Gregory Smith of San Rafael, and he is the brother of Craig and Julie Smith of San Rafael. Now employed with the Northgate Convalescent Center, Brian also was graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended the College of Marin.

Coeds Boosted To Top Jobs

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — An associate professor at the University of Colorado not only teaches coeds, but he does something about trying to get them better jobs after they graduate.

Prof. John M. Greist of the School of Business has set up a service designed to give a girl graduate interested in a serious business career an extra boost to put her into an executive or management training position.

Griest said, "the executive potential of our girl graduates is widely demonstrated in the business world. However, the majority of businessmen resist the entrance of women into the business world because of a fetish that only men can carry executive responsibilities and it is an intrusion into their domain."

Griest gave an example of how the service works:

A senior woman about to graduate wants a job in banking in the Denver area. Through his files' coded system indicating geographical area and business specialty, Griest is able to narrow the search for banks which have given women opportunities in executive capacities.

Imaginary interview
between
William Shakespeare & John Brebner
Director of the Marin Shakespeare Festival

S. Quite a hip crowd you've got, coming to see my plays at Forest Meadows. Is it, perchance, that Marinites are more intelligent than other people?

B. Not entirely. They just appreciate great humor, great language, dramatic action. And after all, you ARE FAIRLY WELL-KNOWN . . .

S. So I understand. But tell me: are these all lords and ladies who storm the box-office so?

B. Hardly. Just people. Plumbers, accountants, clerks, housewives, mechanics, lawyers, teachers. Even had a professional tree-topper the other night.

S. Bravo. There's place and means for every man alive. I wrote as much for the pit as for the so-called culturally well-to-do. Belly laugh here, bit of philosophy there. Mix 'em up, I say.

B. That's what we're trying to tell people — that you are, if I may say so, the world's greatest entertainer.

S. Good for you. Entertainer! All these scholars have me tucked up on a bookshelf, don't know red blood when they see it. Why d' you think I wrote Midsummer Night's Dream?

B. Well, it seemed part of the cycle.

S. Gadzooks! I wrote it shortly after Sir Francis Drake came home with all these tall tales about Marin County. (Nova Albion, I think he called it). Infuriated me. Should have settled here! So I decided I'd show him. Dashed off The Dream at a local pub just to get it produced here 400 years later. Now, look who's taking over Marin! All Drake's got is a boulevard in San Anselmo, I believe. Serves him bloody right.

B. Mr. S, you're incorrigible. But why are you leaving?

S. Got tickets to Forest Meadows! Want to see me own plays and these marvelous audiences. (I always sit in the invisible section, by the big bay tree.)

B. But everyone sees you, Sweet Will — everyone. Always saying, "Have you seen Shakespeare? You must."

S. By Jove, let's print more tickets. This is better than the Globe!

Family of four goes the whole hog for dream house.

Jack and Jenefer Springer, along with their two children, purchased a twelve-room dream house today. Jack frankly admitted that the interest was a crushing burden. But as Jenefer sweetly explained: "You just never know when seven bedrooms will come in mighty handy."

This is one case of piggyness.
This is one cause of inflation.
Inflation can be stopped.

Of course, Government must do the big part. But, as shoppers, voters, wage earners, and businessmen, each of us can help.

So let's do it.

ON THE AGENDA

Calendar Of Children's Events In Bay Area To Be Printed Soon

A new calendar listing events of interest to children in the Bay Area is being printed by the Community Music Center Auxiliary in San Francisco. Including everything from ballet to parades to baseball, the calendar will also list Marin events for all age youngsters.

Called "What to Do Today Children," the calendar may be ordered by subscription from the Community Music Center, 544 Capp Street, San Francisco, with proceeds to benefit children through increase of the scholarship fund at the music center.

First calendar will be sent for September for two months and a current supplement will follow every other month for the year, announces Mrs. David Fleischhacker of Woodside, public relations chairman for the music center auxiliary.

The calendar is professionally designed, with colorful illustrations in a 13-inch square format. There will be included special tips on birthday parties, restaurants that cater to children and other useful information a mother might need to entertain her family. The September listings include an eclipse of the moon Sept. 18, a sand castle building contest in Carmel Sept. 20, Leonard Bernstein doing "Peter and the Wolf" on television Sept. 25, plus many other varied events.

MEMBERS OF Mill Valley's Chaparral Chapter of Theta Rho will attend the area four council meeting of the Junior Rebekahs on Saturday in Ukiah.

They will escort the grand officers and conduct the initiation for the Santa Rosa and Ukiah chapters.

On Aug. 23 the girls will go to the youth camp weekend in Sonora for Theta Rho Girls and Junior Odd Fellows. They are preparing a skit for the talent show to be presented at the youth camp.

A MINI LUNCH meeting of Marin Israel Bond fashions show workers will be held Monday at the Mill Valley home of Mrs. Lee Dorosin, announces Mrs. Richard Harris of San Anselmo and Mrs. Bernard Blumberg of Greenbrae, Marin fashion co-chairmen.

Other committee members are Mmes. Hyman Fischer, Fairfax; Gayle Marx, Belvedere; Oscar Mosk, Sidney Rudy and Morris Thau of Kentfield; Kenneth Rosenthal of Tiburon; William Rubin, Greenbrae; Harry Yaffee, San Anselmo; and Albert Goldberg, Harry Harris, Harry Heifetz, Robert Pedrin of San Rafael.

The fashion luncheon and dinner, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Israel Bonds Organization, will take place on Oct. 1 at the Fairmont Hotel.

Battle Of The Sexes Rages In The Las Vegas Casinos

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A battle of the sexes is raging in this gaudy fun spot. Women want to work as croupiers and dealers in the casinos and the men are resisting.

At issue is a law adopted by the Nevada legislature earlier this year which forbids job discrimination because of sex.

Five Las Vegas dealers appeared Wednesday before State Labor Commissioner Stanley Jones. They noted that since World War II—when there was a shortage of men—women have had about a 3-1 edge on jobs behind the green felt tables in 16 of the state's 17 counties.

The exception has been Clark County, which includes Las Vegas. The county has an ordinance that prohibits women from working as bartenders or card dealers.

Now Jones is seeking enforcement of the new state law in Clark County also.

The commissioner said he would go to court if necessary to force all casinos to hire qualified women. His position was backed by a committee led by Mrs. Arden Johnson, 32. Her group already has filed court action to get dealers' jobs.

The reply from the male dealers was that there already are women holding roulette and blackjack dealing jobs in the state and only 421 men, most of them in Las Vegas.

They added that the situation in Reno has driven men dealers to Las Vegas and that Jones' order would cause further "indiscriminate replacement of family men and veterans."

If women are to stand equal with men, the men say, they should be able to register for the draft and fight for their country.

Dist. Atty. George Franklin said he would oppose changing the county ordinance.

"Among other things," Franklin said, "employers would try to hire good-looking girls to attract men to play the games. The customers would flirt with the girls and not concentrate on the dealing. They allowed women dealers once in North Las Vegas, and the next thing they did was try to go topless."

Miss Lococo Is Bride

St. Rita's Church in Fairfax was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Margaret Mary Lococo and Michael John Abramson.

A reception at the Meadow Club in Fairfax followed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lococo of Fairfax, and the bridegroom's parents are the Leland Abramsons of San Anselmo.

Mrs. John Ferguson of San Bruno was matron of honor, and Cecile Lococo was maid of honor. Both are sisters of the bride. The bridegroom's sister Anne Abramson, Mary Ann Caiati of San Anselmo and Corinne Sartori of Fairfax were bridesmaids.

Best man for his brother was Frederick Abramson. Another brother of the bridegroom, Stephen Abramson; John Ferguson of San Bruno, Kenneth Payne of Oakland and Marshall Thompson of San Anselmo ushered.

Margaret is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and will enroll at College of Marin in the fall. Joe Lococo is her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lococo of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lehman of Fairfax.

Also a graduate of Drake High, the bridegroom is employed by Maison Gourmet Delicatessen in Greenbrae. He is also the brother of Mark Abramson. Mrs. Louise Musso of San Francisco is his grandmother.

The couple will live in San Anselmo after a wedding trip to Yosemite National Park.

Miss Yarling Is Wed In Los Angeles

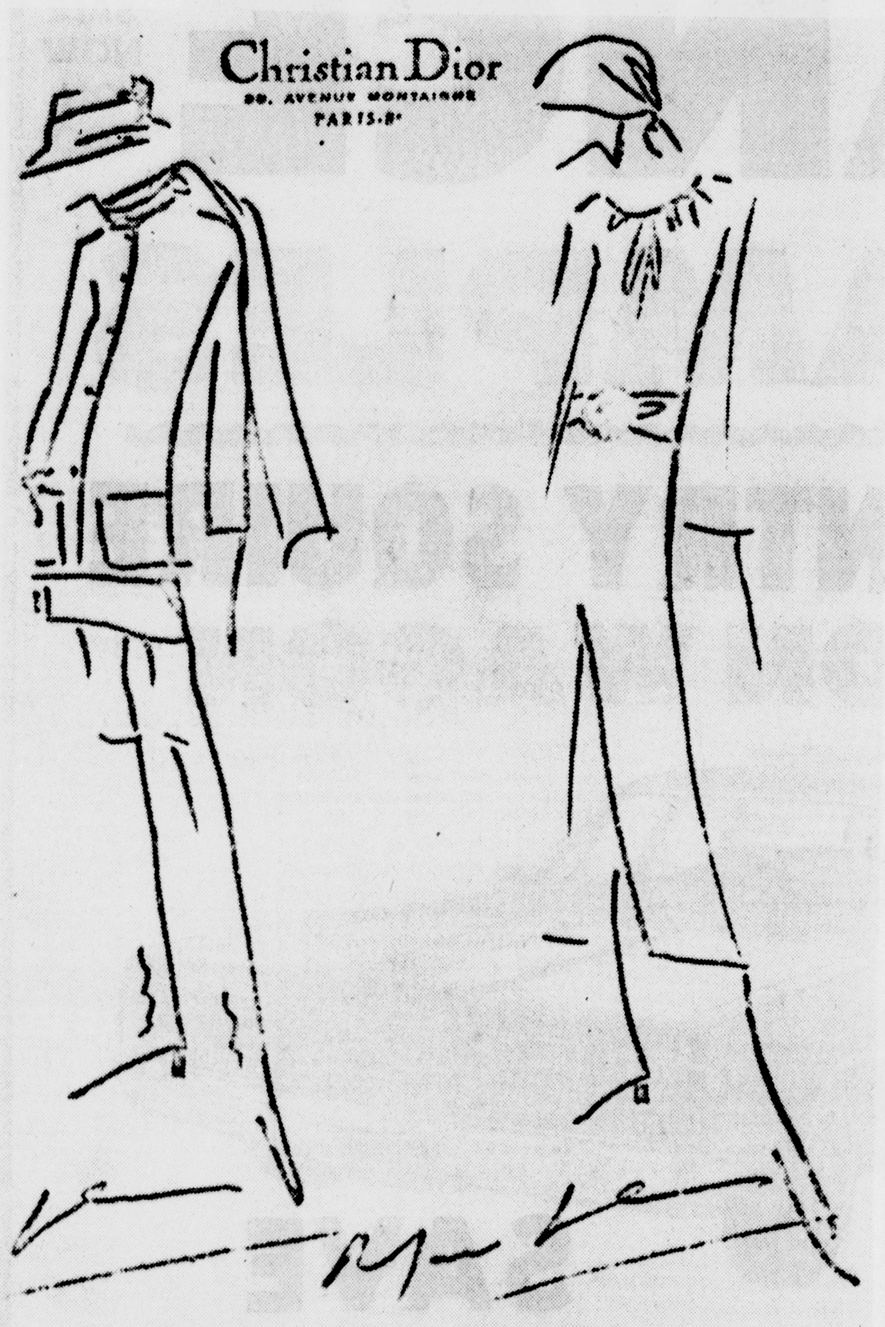
Kathryn Yarling of San Rafael became the bride of John Anderson of Palos Verdes Saturday in a cremony at the home Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Grant in Los Angeles.

Pam Yarling of San Rafael was her sister's maid of honor and Sue Stork of Los Angeles was the bridesmaid. Rick Gies of Long Beach was the best man and ushers were Sterling Storm of Manhattan Beach and Terry Rae of Hawthrone.

The couple will honeymoon at Lagune Beach and then make their home in Los Angeles.

Kathryn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Yarling, of San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School and the University of California at Berkeley. She is now a graduate student at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence N. Anderson, of Palos Verdes, is a musician in Los Angles. He was graduated from Palos Verdes High School and attended the University of California at Los Angeles. Mrs. Timothy Boyer of Torrance is his sister.



THE UPS AND DOWNS OF DIOR

Two Christian Dior tendency sketches from Paris show how the House of Dior dropped the hemline drastically for the fall and winter collection and then raised it higher than ever. Faces of the assembled fashion buyers and celebrities in the salon grew long as designer Marc Bohan brought out models with skirts stopping 14 inches from the floor, at right. But most of the crowd cheered when the model stepped out with a hemline some five inches above the knee, as at left.

ON RICHARDSON BAY

Seaplane Base Lacking Permit

By DAVID DIETZ

Although little has been done about it, a seaplane base has sprung up illegally on the Richardson Bay waterfront at the foot of Waldo Grade.

The county planning department says that the base requires a use permit, as does any property use in a resort and commercial recreation zone — the designation for Richardson Bay.

But no permit has been issued, nor has the owner of the planes, the son of a San Francisco contractor, applied for one the planning department said.

The aircraft, now numbering five, are moored at a mound of bay fill on tidelands owned by Col. Tom E. Nowell Jr., a Mill Valley developer. The base, moved gradually from Commodore Helicopters nearby, started with only one plane early last month.

It was not learned whether the base was used for flying operations or merely for storage, as Chris Hansen, owner of the planes, could not be reached for comment.

The department of public works first received an inquiry about the aircraft, referring it to the office of zoning administrator Thomas E. Cordill in the planning department.

An Independent-Journal reporter called Cordill's office and was told by Rey Collins, an assistant to Cordill, that Hansen was notified about a month ago that the base was illegal.

"We asked him to come into the office, but he hasn't," she said.

Said Ralph B. Cairns, another member of Cordill's staff, upon learning from the reporter that the planes were still there, "It looks like we'll have to lower the boom on him now."

Miss Collins, asked whether she thought a month was sufficient time for Hansen to apply for a permit or remove the planes, said, "We try to be as civil as possible."

She said a letter was to be sent at once to Nowell notifying him of the violation and to call us before the 18th (of August) if he had any questions."

If no word is received by then, she said, the matter will be referred to the county counsel's office for possible abatement proceedings.

Nowell told the Independent-Journal he had agreed to rent the property to Hansen to moor his aircraft and told him to check with the county to see if any permits were needed.

In a related matter, Thomas G. Hendricks, deputy county counsel has written Robert DeYoung, manager of the air strip at the Smith Brothers Ranch east of the Marin Civic Center, that he too must apply for a use permit for his facility or face abatement action.

The airport, home base for a reported 30 planes, has operated in the area without a use permit since the 1920s, Hendricks said.

Question was raised earlier over the county's right to compel the airport to obtain a use permit since it existed prior to adoption of the county zoning ordinance, but Hendricks said it is his opinion that the facility does require a permit because it has been moved since adoption of the ordinance.

Meantime, the airport is included in approximately 1,000 acres east of Highway 101 that is to be annexed to the City of San Rafael. Hendricks said the city has no provision in its zoning ordinance for airports.

DeYoung's facility also does not have a required permit from the state Division of Aeronautics, Hendricks said.

$51,350 Budget Is Adopted By Nicasio Board

The Nicasio School District board has adopted a 1969-70 budget of $51,350, up from last year's budget of $48,835, and unchanged from the publication budget approved last month.

The meeting, held Tuesday, violated the Ralph M. Brown Act which requires public agencies to give 24 hours notice of special meetings to newspapers which have requested it, as the Independent-Journal has.

The tax rate has not been determined because the board does not have total assessed valuations of the district, Beverly Alberigi, board secretary, reported.

However, any tax rate increase would be no more than one or two cents above last year's $2.225 per $100 assessed valuation, she said.

The board will not meet at its regular time, the third Tuesday, this month, she reported.

Hub Festival Profits To Go To Tot Lot Park

San Anselmo City Council in a special meeting last night approved allocation of anticipated profits from this year's Fall Festival in September to complete work scheduled to begin tomorrow on a tot lot at Memorial Park.

About $1,000 or more will be needed to install a concrete walk and drinking fountain in the park, reported Alfred C. Kaeppel, city administrator-controller.

Kaeppel said the council had considered moving the Hub fountain into the park but rejected the idea after the city engineer reported it was too solidly anchored to be moved easily.

Costs of a final phase of the project will be discussed at a regular meeting of the council Tuesday.

The council last month authorized adding $200 of city funds to $1,634 profits from last year's festival to install play equipment, a fence and tanbark area for the tot lot. Work on that portion of the project will begin tomorrow with a volunteer crew, Kaeppel reported.

Volunteers Sought

Volunteers are now being recruited for the "Breath of Life" campaign of the Marin County chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, according to Mrs. Donn Lando, chairman. The fund drive will be held the week of Sept. 22.

Marshal Is Studying Court Case

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The U.S. marshal for the Northern California District of California may go to court to keep his job.

Louis H. Martin, a Democrat, said yesterday that he might file a suit against President Richard M. Nixon in federal court asking for an injunction against his being removed from office.

This was a reversal of Martin's previous stand that the President has the power to remove him from office.

PLANS FIGHT

George E. Tobin of Mill Valley, a California highway patrolman and a Republican, received Senate confirmation last month of his appointment to the marshal's post but Martin has said he will not step down until his four-year term ends July 25, 1972.

"I have had legal advice," Martin said, "that, in the absence of any misconduct on my part, the President does not have the power to remove me before the end of my four-year term."

Tobin was asked today if he would sue to take over the marshal's post.

"Not at all," replied the 56-year-old highway patrol captain. "If he (Martin) wants to spend his money going to court, he can go ahead. I will be sworn in Sept. 2 in presiding Judge George B. Harris' Court in the Federal Building. Sept. 1 is a holiday."

FIRM ON JOB

Tobin added that he "very definitely" will take over on that date.

Tobin showed up at Martin's office last week to find out when Martin was moving out. At that time Martin told him it wouldn't be for three years.

Martin of Martinez said then that he didn't question the President's power to remove him from office but said, "he also has the responsibility to do so."

Union Halts Painting Of Firehouse

A painters union objection to Tiburon firemen painting the city's firehouse has temporarily halted the work but the Tiburon Fire Protection District board last night said it would not stand in the way of firemen doing the painting on their own time.

Board secretary Wellman H. Topham said the painting was about 90 per cent done when work was stopped. Paid firemen had been doing the painting during on-duty hours in an effort to save taxpayers money, Topham said.

Although work has been stopped, he said "the board went on record that it would let any member of the fire department, whether volunteer or paid, do the painting on his own time."

The board set a special adjourned meeting for 8 p.m. Monday to discuss items put over because Fire Chief Franklin J. Buscher was on vacation.

Brochure Out On San Rafael

A 24-page brochure on San Rafael has been prepared by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

The booklet includes color photos of the city, tourist attractions, public buildings and private businesses.

There is a section on the history of San Rafael, a description of the schools and churches, and covers shopping, recreation, health facilities, homes, economy and industry.

Stanley Goddsmith, president of the chamber, said the booklet is in response to inquiries received frequently at the chamber office. He said thousands of the books will be distributed throughout the country.

Meeting Reset

The Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission did not meet last night due to the lack of a quorum, but scheduled a meeting for next Thursday at 7:30 p.m., according to Jane Faust, publicity chairman.

Sunbathers Disturb A Neighbor

being taken into the courthouse for booking, took the film from his camera and deliberately exposed it so it could not be developed.

Gavin said he took the pictures as a photography student, and exposed the film because there were topless pictures of his girlfriend on it. He did not want the pictures to fall into the hands of people who would "gloat over them," he said.

Mrs. Borden testified there were some 70 nudes on the beach the day the three were arrested, including two women doing a belly dance on rocks in the water.

"I won't ask you to imitate them," Weissich said, "but can you describe the dance?"

"I'm so offended by this while thing," Mrs. Borden answered, "and now you want me to describe what they were doing."

"We will submit," Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry D. Herman said, "that belly dance has a standard meaning, just as night and day have a standard meaning."

Mrs. Borden also said one nude man, unconscious or stoned on drugs, was being beaten and tossed around by six other nude men on the same day.

Otheruthan nudity, what else was unusual about the bathers' conduct, Weissich asked.

"If these people had bathing suits, there wouldn't be that activity of showing off," Mrs. Borden said. "Jumping around, girls putting their arms back and shaking around."

Mrs. Borden said she had fired a shotgun in the air on previous occasions to frighten away trespassers. Last summer, she testified, her husband, Charles A. Borden, collapsed and died of a heart attack after chasing off intruders from the beach.

Mrs. Wells testified she had removed her swimming suit to go swimming, then put it back on after lying nude in the sun to dry off.

All three defendants had donned clothes again by the time deputies climbed down to the beach, but Disterheft and two other deputies testified they recognized the three as having been nude.

When the deputies approached, Deputy Joseph Dentoni testified, a lookout began yelling "cops, cops," and the nudes scrambled into clothes.

A similar scramble for clothing ensued yesterday afternoon, when word went around that Judge Goldstein was taking in the scene.

Goldstein said he would hear final arguments and give a decision on the disturbing the peace charge Aug. 21.

JUDICIAL NOTICE — Sunbathers, nude and otherwise, cavorted in the sun near Muir Beach yesterday under the gaze of Marin Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., who is hearing the case of three nude sunbathers charged by a Muir Beach resident with disturbing the peace. This was the view from near the residence of Eleanor Borden, who filed the complaint. Bathers quickly covered up, however, when they spotted cameras, and some threw rocks and catcalls at a San Francisco news photographer who carried a telephoto lens. Woman Dies On Way To Hospital

Isable Ann Krieg, 57, of 118 Acacia Avenue, Larkspur, was pronounced dead on arrival at 8:44 a.m. today by doctors at Marin General Hospital after she was rushed there from her home by Bay Cities Ambulance.

Cause of death was not immediately known.

Larkspur police said Mrs. Krieg was found by her son, Robert S. Krieg, after she apparently collapsed while trying to get out of bed about 8:15 a.m.

Krieg, who summoned a resuscitator unit from the Larkspur Fire Department, told police his mother had complained of chest pains last night.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Chapel of the Hills Mortuary in San Anselmo.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Aug. 8, the 220th day of 1969 with 145 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1940 the German Luftwaffe began a series of daylight raids on the British Isles that continued until Oct. 31.

In 1945 President Harry S. Truman signed the ratification of the U.N. Charter. Also in 1945, Russia declared war on Japan —seven days before Tokyo surrendered.

In 1953 the United States signed a mutual security pact with the Republic of Korea.

In 1963 a gang of masked bandits robbed a British mail train of $7 million.

A thought for the day: Thomas Mann said, "Time cools, time clarifies; no mood can be maintained quite unaltered through the course of hours."

Smoking Can Cause Oral Cancer, Too

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— "Don't switch—fight!" That's how Dr. Sol Silverman, Jr., of the University of California Medical Center, feels about the smoking habit.

Silverman and his colleagues recently published a study of 636 patients treated for oral cancer last year at the medical center. The report said 90 per cent of the male and 66 per cent of the female patients were tobacco users.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Swedish Master Wins With Dangerously Beautiful Play

When I say that a bridge hand is beautiful you must allow for the point of view. After all, to a pathologist an ulcer is beautiful. But you may agree about the beauty of today's hand, played in Sweden recently by Jan Wohlin, one of Europe's leading experts.

No. 3941 ..... August 8.

TAKE OVER

West led the jack of spades, and Wohlin naturally played . . . Well, take over the controls and see if you can make three no-trump with the North-South cards.

You play the queen of spades from dummy, and East takes the ace and returns his low spade. West plays the eight and continues spades if you refuse the trick.

You must develop the clubs, but West takes the ace of clubs and the rest of the spades to defeat the contract. It was a hopeless contract . . .or was it?

Wohlin saw the danger that East might have A-x of spades and that West might have the ace of clubs as the entry to established spades. Declarer could meet this threat by playing dummy's low spade at the first trick.

CAPTURES QUEEN

East would capture the queen of spades at the second trick but would be unable to continue the suit. West would regain the lead with the ace of clubs, but his spades not yet be established, and he would be unable to stop South from winning 10 tricks.

"That's all very well," you object, "but what if West had led the jack from a five-card or six-card suit headed by the ace-jack-ten, with the ace of clubs on the side?" Then, of course, it would be fatal to play a low spade at the first trick.

IMPOSSIBLE

Wohlin knew that this was impossible. With any such hand West would have bid one spade over the opening bid of one club. East surely held one of the black aces, and it was therefore safe to play a low spade from dummy at the first trick.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ A 5
♥ J 10 8 4
♦ Q 9 5 4
♣ 8 6 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Since you have only seven points in high cards, the combined count is only 23 to 25 points. It doesn't pay to try for game when you know in advance that the partnership is short of the 26 points usually needed for game.

GOOD – BETTER – BEST!
The original owners of this 7 year old hillside home have added many extras that make it a delight to show! Starting with 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, they have added a lovely raised hearth fireplace, a large separate workshop and have landscaped this ¼ acre site. If you desire, they'll leave the range, refrigerator and washer & dryer as well. One thing they couldn't improve on — the view! San Anselmo, Ross Valley, the Berkeley Hills to Mt. Diablo. At $31,950, see it!

★MILL VALLEY LODGE★

At least, that's our opinion of this delightfully spacious home on a tree covered, sun bathed lot, just above the tennis and swim club and overlooking the golf course. Tile entry, separate library, private dining room. Large comfortable all-electric kitchen with barbecue, spacious family room, living room we couldn't begin to do justice in describing and you wouldn't believe unless you saw it, an upper story balcony halfway around the living room. The master bedroom a real dream with dressing room and Roman tub in bath. 3 full bedrooms and 2½ baths in all. Would you believe almost a 50 ft. all glass wall with a view through the trees to the golf course. One of a kind, a true pace setter, the home of and with a future, brand new and due for completion in 30 days. The style home for 1970 and cannot be duplicated for the asking price of $75,000.

Who Knows What Evil Lurks in the Hearts of Used Cars?

We invite you to compare our cars with others.

Because we at Felton's know a used car can be a thing of beauty on the outside and a mass of corruption on the inside. Our 16-point inspection takes us to parts of the car rarely traveled by used car dealers. When we find it pure at heart . . . then it is ready for you.

Good Can Still Triumph Over Evil!

Western Pacific Claims Losses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Western Pacific Railroad can no longer "bear the staggering losses" of passenger service between California and Utah on the California Zephyr, according to the company's president.

President Myron Christy yesterday termed a suggestion by San Francisco Congressman Phillip Burton that Western Pacific reduce the California Zephyr service to a tri-weekly basis as "unrealistic and uninformed".

Christy said Southern Pacific, with its greater resources, can afford to keep the Zephyr route. But Western Pacific, he said, is seeking federal permission to eliminate its Zephyr service because of a $2 million annual loss.

Physical Education Workshop At School

Gerald E. Lust, physical education resource teacher for the Dixie School District, will conduct a physicial education workshop for elementary school teachers at the Vallecito School, San Rafael, beginning Sept. 18.

Offered in conjunction with the Sonoma State College extension division, the two-unit class will meet from 4 to 6 p.m. on Thursdays. Resigistration will take place at the first meeting, but reservations may be made with Raymond Bailey at the school district office.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

What To Do About Wisdom Teeth, And Rings On Fingers

VAN DELLEN

A few weeks ago I received a letter from a man who had no wisdom teeth (third molars). He was concerned, but needlessly so, because the third molar is the most frequent congenitally missing ivory. People born without these teeth are fortunate; they are spares, are not needed, and may be potential troublemakers.

Should wisdom teeth be extracted? Dr. Emmett R. Costich of the University of Kentucky has good reasons for recommending removal. The very questionable advantages to leaving them in far outweigh the discomfort, inconvenience and irreparable damage done by their presence.

IN DENTAL ABSTRACTS, Dr. Costich stated that "their prophylactic removal should be strongly urged as an important step in the maintenance of good oral hygiene. . . ." Furthermore, he is of the opinion that the procedure should be done in young healthy individuals who have good alveolar bone support in the back part of the jaw.

Snaring a ring on a projection may seriously damage the finger. The mishap can so disturb the circulation that amputation may be needed. Some industries have safety rules about employes wearing a ring at work because severe injury can occur when it is caught on machines, tables, and doors.

DR. WILLIAM H. Frackelton of Milwaukee has a good suggestion on how to make rings safe. He recommends that the jeweler cut slots inside the circle resembling those in a notebook ring. If the article is snagged it spreads apart in an open position.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

ARTHRITIS

H. P. writes: I know arthritis is common in middle age but why do some people develop it in the spine or knees and others in the fingers or shoulders?

REPLY

Heredity and occupation play major roles. The more extensively a joint is used or abused, the more likely it is to become arthritic in later life. Weight bearing also is a factor as the joints in the knees, hips, and feet tend to become involved. Furthermore, certain types of arthritis are partial to certain joints. Gout and the big toe, for example, go together like ham and eggs.

TIRED TYKE

Mrs. R. T. B. writes: Why should a child wake up tired every morning after a good night's sleep?

REPLY

He may be harboring a hidden infection in the throat, lungs, kidneys, or elsewhere. Other possibilities include anemia, rheumatic fever, or low metabolism. Now and then the child is bored and on awakening complains of being tired.

TOO LITTLE BLOOD

Mrs. M. M. writes: Would you be a dear and tell me what causes cerebral vascular insufficiency?

REPLY

The most common cause of too little blood to the brain is narrowing of the arteries going to the head. Now and then the brain fails to get enough blood because the output of the heart is not adequate. Both of these conditions are detectable and usually can be remedied.

GARLIC AND KIDNEYS

K. G. writes: Is garlic a diuretic?

REPLY

No. On reaching the stomach, the sulfides in garlic are absorbed by the blood and excreted as a vapor from the lungs. This is responsible for the persistent odor in the expired air. Garlic has no effect upon the kidneys.

HYSTERECTOMY

D. D. writes: Three years ago I had a complete hysterectomy. Since I've been feeling so well, my appetite is terrific and I've added weight in the midriff and abdominal area. My physician gave me an appetite-killing pill but it makes me crabby and nervous. I'd rather lose weight with a sensible diet. Does weight gain always follow a hysterectomy? P.S. I'm 15 pounds overweight.

REPLY

No, but the good appetite that goes with feeling well usually adds to that spare tire around the middle.

BONES AND TB

A reader writes: Can tuberculosis attack the bones?

REPLY

Yes. As a rule, the organisms reach the bones and joints via the bloodstream from a primary lesion, usually in the lungs. Any bone may be affected but the spine, hip, knee, and the small bones of the hands and feet are most frequently involved. Isoniazid is the best remedy.

BOILS

T. L. R. writes: Is it true that boils are worth $25 to get rid of the poison in your system?

REPLY

A boil isn't worth even 25 cents for this purpose. These abscesses represent infections of the hair follicles. They are not a sign that "poison is escaping from the system" or the person has "bad" blood.

DIABETES

A reader writes: Does diabetes affect the liver?

REPLY

Yes, in a small percentage of those who have had the disease for many years.

DEHYDRATED

A reader writes: What are the symptoms of dehydration? I used to be heavy and then lost weight. My doctor says I'm dehydrated.

REPLY

Thirst and dryness of the skin and mouth. Dehydration is not a common aftermath of reducing unless the individual takes too many diuretics. Perhaps your physician is trying to tell you that your weight loss stems more from loss of water than from loss of fat.

ITCHES WHEN WARM

A reader writes: Why do the hands become itchy when they are warmed immediately after being out in cold weather?

REPLY

Because the immediate effect of the warm air on the cold extremities leads to an overstretching of the capillaries which, in turn, creates the burning and itching sensation. The vessels return to normal size within a few minutes.

SLOW PULSE

Mrs. T. B. writes: My 16-year-old son's pulse never beats more than 52 a minute. Is this an abnormal condition?

REPLY

It is slow but is likely to be normal. If there is any question, have an electrocardiogram taken to determine whether a heart block exists.

REST INDICATED

P. S. writes: Should a person with angina rest after eating?

REPLY

Yes, if chest pain develops after eating and he has the time and a place to rest.

PYLORUS SPASM

A. L. writes: What causes spasms of the pylorus in a adult?

REPLY

Nervousness and irritation are common causes of a spasm involving the muscular valve at the exit of the stomach. Irritation may be associated with ulcer or gastritis or follow dietary indiscretions, including overindulgence in alcohol.

DIZZY

Mrs. S. D. writes: After reading for an hour or more, I often feel dizzy. Does reading for too long a time cause this symptom?

REPLY

This must be so in your case, as I assume the dizziness does not occur when you are not reading. Perhaps you are concentrating too hard.

GAMMA GLOBULIN

A reader writes: What is gamma globulin and for what is it given?

REPLY

It is the protein factor of the blood that contains many of the antibodies against disease. That is, the protective antibodies against whatever disease the individual may have had. The GG obtained from pooled blood has been used to offer temporary protection against both types of measles, and polio, hepatitis, and other viral diseases.

COLLAPSED LUNG

A reader writes: What would cause one lung to collapse in an otherwise healthy young man?

REPLY

Rupture of a distended or herniated air sac near the outer surface of the lung which allows air to accumulate between the ribs and the lung. In some instances a disease such as tuberculosis causes the sac to give way. In still others, the structure is injured as a blow or ruptures spontaneously.

Senate In Debate On Germ Warfare

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate, limp from two days of cliffhanger votes over the $80 billion defense budget, tackled the chemical-biological warfare controversy today. However, opponents were worried weekend absenteeism might sap their strength.

Democratic Sens. William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, Thomas J. McIntyre New Hampshire, and other sponsors of antiwarfare amendments attempted to work out a single proposal aimed at banning open air testing of lethal germ and gas weapons.

The Senate Armed Services Committee already has cut out funds for deployment of such weapons from the pending $20 billion defense procurement bill. But many senators want to go further to stop open air testing, which some consider dangerous to people and animals.

Proxmire, who has emerged as the unofficial floor leader for about two dozen amendments to the procurement bill, said there was a "good chance" the antiwarfare amendment would pass.

But he said Senate attendance—which has not dropped below 90 since Wednesday's showdown over the Safeguard antiballistic missile system—might begin falling off, making the outcome even more uncertain if the antiwarfare amendment comes to a vote this afternoon.

Also up for consideration today was an amendment by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., to halt further funding of the so-called Main Battle Tank, pending a review of the project by the General Accounting Office, which reports to Congress on federal spending.

In a prepared Senate speech, Eagleton said research and development costs on the tank had increased 528 per cent since its inception in 1963, and that the start of production had slipped from this year to 1974 or 1975.

After Wednesday's 50 to 50 rejection of a proposal to scuttle the ABM, the anti-ABM bloc staged a comeback Thursday. By a one vote margin, they rammed through an amendment by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., to establish strict congressional watchdog controls over Pentagon contracts.

It took Schweiker three roll calls to do it, and at the end he had floor managers for the procurement bill desperately searching the cloakrooms for votes. The first vote was on a motion to table Schweiker's amendment. The motion was defeated 51 to 44. The amendment then passed 47 to 46 and Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, was on his feet shouting for another roll call to prevent Schweiker from nailing down the decision. Again, the amendment carried —this time 46 to 45.

Bandleader Russ Morgan Dies At 65

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Russ Morgan, one of the leaders of yesteryear's "big band sound" and who helped the Dorsey brothers get their start, is dead at the age of 65.

Morgann whose music was among dancers' favorites in the 1939s and 1940s, died last night night of a cerebral hemmorhage spokesmen said at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital.

An accomplished arranger and songwriter, he wrote such hits as "Your Nobody Till Somebody Loves You," "Somebody New is Taking My Place" and his band's theme, "Does Your Heart Beat For Me?"

He had led his group, "The Russ Morgan Orchestra," for the past five years at the Dunes Hotel on the Las Vegas Strip.

Morgan formed his first band in his home state of Pennsylvania in 1923 and dubbed it 3 "Scranton Sirens." Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, who both went on to their own fame, were members of the band. The Dorseys and Morgan went to the same church in Scranton, where one of the Dorseys washed the church organ.

Before he was out of his teens Morgan had left for New York to arrange music for John Philip Sousa and Victor Herbert. Later he led the Jean Goldkette Orchestra in Detroit which claimed as members such names as the Dorseys, Joe Venuti, Eddie Lang, Chauncey Morehouse, Dix Beiderbecke and Fuzzy Farrar.

He formed the Russ Morgan Orchestra in 1936 and dubbed the sound "Music in the Morgan Manner." Besides leading, Morgan played the trombone and occasionally the piano. His deep, mellow sounds were famous to several decades of radio listeners.

Survivors include his widow, Shirley, and four children. His son Jack Morgan, who had played trombone with the group the past years, said he would take over the orchestra.

Another son, David, lives in New York and daughters Judy and Patty live in Los Angeles.

Funeral araangements are pending.

Fairfax Design Panel Approves Plans For Duplex

A duplex at the corner of 11 Marin Road, Fairfax, was approved last night by the city's design review board for Charles L. Young.

The duplex will be built by adding a new dwelling adjacent to an existing house. Approval included bringing the existing building up to building code standards.

The board also approved the design for a fire escape on the exterior wall of the building at 8 Bolinas Road as requested by Frank Healion, on condition the ladder be concealed behind redwood railing.

Previous approval for reconstruction of the Shell station at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Claus Drive was modified to change roofline requirements and to limit signs on the property to one for identification and one announcing prices.

New Data From Mars Hints Life

PASADENA (UPI) — Mariner 7 detected on Mars two substances so intimately connected with life on Earth as to spur scientific speculation some kind of life may exist in the polar cap regions of the mysterious Red Plant.

Dr. George Pimentel, a University of California chemist, said that in his analysis of infrared spectroscope experiments he detected gaseous methane and ammonia in the polar region.

"We can't refrain from speculation that they might be of biological origin," the Berkeley scientist told a news conference at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory yesterday, terming the discovery "very exciting."

Pimentel said he and his colleagues, in contradiction of previous theories, were confident that the south polar cap was composed of water ice and not carbon dioxide.

The carbon dioxide cloud would screen out deadly ultraviolet rays from the cap, providing an hospitable environment for life, Pimentel said.

The chief biologist for the project, Caltech professor Dr. Norman Horowitz, disagreed with Pimental on the composition of the polar cap.

Hearing Waived

A preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court was waived yesterday by Larry Hamilton, 25, of Mill Valley, and he was ordered to appear Monday in Marin Superior Court for arraignment on a charge of receiving stolen motorcycles in 1967 and 1968.

A FOOTPRINT ON MARS?

Scientists in the Jet Propulsion Laboratories in Pasadena have dubbed this Martian terrain photographed by Mariner 7 the "giant's footprint." The two oblique craters near Mars' south pole were snapped by the space probe's camera Monday. Area shown is about 100 miles to a side.

Rear-End Crash Injures Driver

Janet Ann Bollow, 28, of San Francisco, received minor injuries yesterday when her car was struck in the rear by another on Highway 101 near the Marinwood overpass, the California Highway Patrol said today.

She was to see her own physician.

The patrol said her car hit by one driven by William Edward Shumate, 67, of 205 Auburn Street, San Rafael, when it slowed for traffic.

Correct Spokesman

The spokesman for a youth panel at the Marinwood meeting on vandalism Wednesday night was Al Kerr Jr., acting chairman of the Marinwood Youth Commission, and not Christopher Harris as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Sentencing Set For Man Guilty In Fatal Crash

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A date for sentencing will be set in Sonoma County Superior Court at 9 a.m. Wednesday for Donald R. Cocking, 29, of Sebastopol who is charged with driving under the influence of drugs and transporting dangerous drugs and marijuana.

Cocking was arrested July 21 after an accident on Gravenstein Highway five miles west of Cotati that killed his daughter, Pamela, 8. The girl was thrown from the car when it struck a utility pole.

Cocking had been charged with manslaughter, but it was later reduced in Sonoma Municipal Court where he pleaded guilty and was bound over to superior court.

Denies Burglary

Glenn Michael Anthony Richardson, 18, of Novato, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burgling a Loma Verde residence Wednesday and was released to the custody of his parents to appear Thursday for further proceedings.

How To Save On The Dentist Bill

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Californians would save more than $12 billion in dental bills by the end of the century if the state fluordinated its drinking water this year, according to the dean of the University of Southern California School of Dentistry.

Dr. John Ingle said dentists would welcome fluoridation, even though they would lose the fees for filling all those cavities.

"Believe it or not, the profession of dentistry looks forward to having this $12 billion burden lifted from its shoulders," Ingle said.

He said Americans currently have about 800 million unfilled cavities and there are only 100,000 or so dentists to fill them.

Forgery Hearing

Peter E. Stuckslager, 33 of Santa Monica, was held to answer in Marin Superior Court after a preliminary hearing in Marin Minicipal Court yesterday on charges of passing two forged checks in June in Sausalito. He was ordered to appear Aug. 18 for arraignment.

Wife Killed In Road Inspection

WOODLAND (AP) — Mrs. Cecil Sinclair was killed last night in a head-on collision while driving behind her husband, a highway patrol captain patrolling a road under construction to determine if it should be posted as hazardous.

Sinclair was in a truck on California 16 with a Sacramento contractor, driving ahead of his 52-year-old wife when the accident happened a half-mile east of Woodland where the Sinclair home is.

Mrs. Sinclair had driven along to pick up her husband after his inspection. She died at Woodland Memorial Hospital.

Three In Auto Crash Released

Pending further investigation, no complaint was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against three men booked into jail Wednesday on charges stemming from a head-on auto crash in Sausalito Tuesday night.

Skip B. Sahota, 24, of Brisbane, John W. Brewer, 22, and Lee Erwin Maxwell, 35, both of San Francisco, were released. All had been booked on suspicion of car theft and Sahota on suspicion of having narcotics.

Driver of the car, Timothy Joseph Deuser, 19, of Pensacola, Fla., was released Wednesday when no complaint was issued. The car, reportedly stolen in Los Angeles County, hit another car head-on at Alexander and South streets in Sausalito.

L.A. Newspaper 'Uncovers' 80 Narcotics Agents

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An underground newspaper here published a list of names, addresses and telephone numbers yesterday under the heading, "Know Your Neighborhood Narc."

The list purportedly identifies 80 state narcotics agents in Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego. One of the men named said he and the others named had been bombarded with obscene telephone calls and feared for the safety of their families.

Chief Deputy Atty. Gen. Charles A. O'Brien refused to confirm or deny that the persons named were narcotics agents, but termed the publication "a wildly irresponsible act."

The list was labeled "a public service announcement courtesy of a concerned citizen" and was accompanied by a front page statement which said, "there should be no secret police: in this spirit, we are publishing in this issue on page 5 the official personnel roster of agents in the California State Bureau of Narcotics."

Cheaper in the long run.

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get up to 27 miles to the gallon.)

And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 2.7 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.)

And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors.

And you get more than your money's worth out of a set of tires.

But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme.

You have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

Young Marin Man's Pursuit Of The American Dream

TOM CORDER
Determination-plus

By GARY TISCHLER

The American Dream of success is a most elusive and nagging daydream dreamt at one time or another by almost every growing boy and past-grown man in the country.

It begins with the word someday and never quite goes away. It seems that you cannot become some kind of man until you have chased at least one small, bright piece of it for a month, or a summer of your life, or all of it. It is a thousand-to-one odds dream.

Some men pursue it behind a desk, nurse it in a bottle, lose it to the odds. Tom Corder, student and advertising major, brand new husband, lately a high school star athlete, pursues it with a booming bat, crouched at the plate, over the fence, at deep short.

He wants to be a pro baseball player. There is nothing he would like more. And he wants to be one of the best, maybe the best. It is not a bad version of the dream. Lots of boys and men have the same dreams.

For Corder, it probably will not be a pipe dream. He already has most of the tools to make it real. And he lacks nothing in determination. He has to try it.

The former Novato High School triple-sport (football, basketball and baseball) star is an advertising major at San Jose State, where he will be entering his senior year this fall.

ij Sports

But advertising is not really his goal. It would be nice, but first, he has to find out if there is a place for him in the bigs, the big leagues.

"I have to try it," he said. "I don't want to have a good job, eight to five, and wonder the rest of my life if I could have made it."

Red-haired, neat and trim, Corder has made it a point to continually better himself. That, he figures, is what it takes.

"You should always try to do what you've had trouble doing," he said. "If you've had trouble making the big play, hitting a curve, well you work on it until you can do it. Just like in football, if you can't catch a hard pass, well you work until you can."

It's the kind of attitude that coaches, managers and scouts like to see in action. He has it, and talent that is just beginning to come together in one piece.

Last season, as a member of the San Jose State varsity, he was named the conference's most valuable player after a season in which he hit .395 in league play, and .360 overall with 33 runs batted in.

"I have to admit, that surprised me," he said. "I really wasn't expecting that."

He's played baseball at just about every level, beginning with his first little league stint at age 12, followed by pony and colt league, high school ball, where he was all-league for Novato High, American Legion ball, college ball and semi-professional ball with Joe Anselmo's San Rafael Braves for the past two years.

Corder figures you'll learn best and rate yourself most accurately in a pressure situation.

"Anybody can make the big play and the big hit when you're ahead 12-1," he said. "But when you make the play in a 2-2 game in the 13th inning, then you've done your job."

His wife Linda, even when

JIM GILMARTIN

She's Pretty And Fast, She's Holiday On Wheels

Now that he's got the broads all prettied up nice and yummy like sugar and spice and everything nice, he's going to see what he can do about the ugly innards of your family flivver.

I refer to Marin cosmetics tycoon William Penn Patrick of Holiday Magic fame who also is chairman of the board of H. M. Labs, Inc. of San Rafael, manufacturer and distributor of gasoline, oil and transmission additives called Sta-Power.

Realizing the great promotional aspects from auto racing, Sta-Power has jumped into the sport with both feet, sponsoring this weekend's 150-mile stock car race at Sears Point and hiring top drivers like Bob Brown, Bud Morley, Ron Grable and others to carry the Sta-Power banner in various speed circuits.

President of Sta-Power is youngish H. K. White of Larkspur who served as vice president in the Holiday Magic enterprise. Messers. Patrick and White should make a good team in the automotive world, although I'm fearful that the conflict of interests could prove embarrassing, to wit:

Trouble With His Creampuff

"Hello, Mr. Patrick. This is Speedy McGoo, demon driver, and I'm having a little problem with my little creampuff that I understand your new product can help solve. You see, she's got pitted bearings, gummy valve lifters, worn rings. . ."

"Hold on a minute, sir. I see you've been neglecting her. Have you tried our fruit tang toner on her?"

"Hell, no. She's been using Quaker 30 with a shot of STP additive."

Well, I think you should have started her properly with our Moon Magic set and our Glamour Finishing Magic line. We also highly recommend our Miracle Mask. And she'll adore our refreshing mint ice with honey and almonds . . . "

"Yes, Mr. Patrick, but do these things do as your firm advertises? Will they clean as they condition, give her quicker starting, permit smoother idling, give her quieter and more efficient performance, reduce her maintenance costs, reduce corrosion . . . ?"

"Smother her with kindness, Sir, and treat her to our avocado and cream banana lotion. A little bit goes a long way."

"You mean I'll get better mileage out of her?"

No Mechanics In These Cans

"Indeed you will, Sir. Ahem. A LOT more mileage."

"Another thing, Mr. Patrick. Is your product like that other additive that advertises a mechanic in every can?"

"Sir, I'll have you know we don't permit any dirty old men in OUR cans!"

"Okay, okay. Now, what about her problem of excessive rocker arm wear."

"No sweat, sir. Try our cream deodorant."

"What about heat buildup, keeping the seals pliable and dry starts?"

"Well, you've got me there, but we highly recommend strawberry frap-pe, papaya dew. . ."

He's Not Driving A Fruit Wagon

"Listen, Buster, I'm not driving a fruit wagon, you know. Will your product improve pickup?"

"Sir, just one treatment of our Magic Glow night cream and Lemon Delight eye and throat oil and I guarantee you, it will improve her pickup. Wow, WILL it!"

"Oh, bless you, Mr. Patrick. Send me a case of the stuff and I'll run right down to the junkyard and tow her out to Sears Point."

"I BEG your pardon, sir. . . . ."

Well, I guess you get the idea that it should be fun for Mr. Patrick in his dual executive role. The Sta-Power company may produce the fastest and prettiest racing team in speedway annals.

And now, if you'll pardon me, I have to go see a mechanic in the can. My Magic Glow mascara is running and making a mess of Moon Magic basetone.

WHEN PHILADELPHIA'S Johnny Callison bombed Giant ace Juan Marichal for a pair of homers the other night it didn't surprise the I-J's Bryce Anderson. "Marichal isn't slipping," said Anderson, "it's just that Callison has always been his nemesis. In fact, he got the first hit ever off Marichal in his major league career. When Juan made his debut with the Giants in 1960 he had a perfect game going against the Phils at Candlestick Park until the seventh inning when somebody got on first on an error and Callison hit a double. I remember it well because I was there."

49er, Raider Prizes In The Bag

STOCKERS AT SEARS

This type action from a June 8 race at Sears Point International Raceway will be repeated Sunday when a field of 30 late model stock cars will be gunning for $13,000 in prize money in the "Sta-Power 150" at the southern Sonoma County road circuit. Story on page 39.

Will S.F. Lose East-West Shrine Game Permanently?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The 45th annual East-West College Football classic, pitting most of the nation's leading players in the oldest all-star game of them all, will be played in the 87,000 seat Stanford Stadium this year.

The Shrine Game Committee announced yesterday it has accepted an invitation from Stanford to take the game there this Dec. 27 while Candlestick Park is being renovated.

It will mark only the second time in the history of the game, which benefits crippled childrens hospitals, that it has not been played in San Francisco. In 1941, the Army blacked out the West Coast, following Pearl Harbor, and the Shrine Committee took the game to New Orleans.

The committee became disenchanted with Kezar Stadium, where 41 games were played over the years, in 1967 and moved the charity classic to Candlestick, installing sideline seats at its own expenses.

This fall, after the conclusion of the baseball season, Candlestick will be renovated, starting with artificial turf. Its seating capacity also will be increased from 44,000 to 60,000 so the football 49ers can move in next season.

There is no guarantee the East-West game will come back to Candlestick even after the park has been renovated and expanded. If this year's game is a sellout at Stanford, the game could remain there.

"Our first responsibility is to the kids in the hospitals," said game chairman Ted Balliet. "Certainly, if we sell out this year it will have a strong bearing on future decisions, although we like to think of the East/West games as a San Francisco tradition."

Palo Alto is 40 miles south of San Francisco and in the heart of a high income suburban area, where most of the sports dollars in the general Bay Area come from. Obviously, the area influenced the committee in picking that stadium over the Oakland Coliseum and the University of California Sta-

Giants Host Cards; Juan Main Concern

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants have returned home to begin a weekend series against the St. Louis Cardinals tonight, 8 o'clock, and to find the root of Juan Marichal's pitching problem.

The Giants lost a 5-4 contest when Marichal gave up 10 hits and four homers. It was an unprecedented fourth straight loss for the Giant's "stopper."

The loss dropped the Giants from first to third place in the National League West race.

Gaylord Perry, 14-7, is scheduled to start against the Cardinals' Nelson Briles, 11-9.

Marichal, who has won 133 games in the past six years, was beaten three consecutive times in 1965 and 1967.

Manager Clyde King, who worked with Marichal in Philadelphia, said, "It may be just some little thing that he is doing that is throwing him off."

The right-hander, 13-8 on the season, blamed umpire Bob Engel for the Phillies' close win.

"Engel called (Larry) Histle safe at first base when he was out in the fourth inning," Marichal said.

Shortstop Don Money followed with a home run that gave the Phillies the margin "that beat me," Marichal said.

The Giants were also disturbed about the loss of Ron Hunt, who was knocked out of the lineup until Saturday or Sunday. The second baseman was struck on the head by a throw to the plate.

Kwalick, Thoms Come To Terms

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's hard to believe, but the San Francisco 49ers and the Oakland Raiders seem to be doing things in unison.

Both teams signed their top draft choices yesterday after long contract squabbles, as they got ready to play last year's National Football League finalists this weekend.

All-American end Ted Kwalick announced yesterday that he had signed with the 49ers, ending a long holdout in which he had been reportedly seeking $90,000 for three years.

The Penn State star refused to disclose final terms but said he was "very happy with the contract."

The whole thing, according to 49er general manager Jack White, was rather short, simple and sweet.

"The negotiation sessions weren't very long," said White. "In fact, the actual negotiations were short — about one-and-a-half to two hours. We spent a lot of time showing them (Kwalick, his father, Thad, and financial advisor Bucky Woy) around California."

GOOD SHAPE

Kwalick said he's been working out twice daily, adding he hopes to be in good shape.

"I was even out in front of my hotel running at 6 o'clock this morning," he said yesterday. "They won't find me overweight."

The Raiders also collared their No. 1 draft choice as they came to terms with Art Thoms of Syracuse University yesterday. Terms were not disclosed but the 6-5, 250-bound defensive lineman arranged to report today to the Raider training camp in Santa Rosa.

The 49ers flew to Seattle today where they will meet the Cleveland Browns Sunday while the Raiders prepared to meet last year's NFL champions, the Baltimore Colts, in the Coliseum tomorrow night.

The 49ers worked out for two hours at their Santa Barbara camp yesterday. They planned a workout this afternoon at the University of Washington stadium.

'Color Man' Rigney Back With Giants

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bill Rigney said it right out, plain and simple.

He doesn't know if he'd like to manage in the majors again.

If you know Bill Rigney, you believe him, because he's never deliberately put anyone on in his life.

Rigney sat in the glare of television cameras in a plush office of a San Francisco radio station (KSFO) and he answered all the questions. He didn't duck a one, even when someone asked him if he wanted to manage again in the big leagues.

Rigney had just disclosed he was signing on as the "color man" for San Francisco Giants

What's This? Second Billing For Willie?

PHILADELPHIA — Later this month in Candlestick Park there will be an Oldtimers Day. As an afterthought somebody had the idea of making it a doubleheader in which Willie Mays also would be honored.

Certainly, that was a charitable thought. But Willie is entitled to his own day, not as some afterthought. Baseball owes the super-star that.

When Willie bows out it won't be in a doubleheader in which he has been billed as an added attraction. Mays will call a press conference at which he will announce his retirement in style.

It isn't generally known but Willie has a two-year contract that extends through 1970 at $125,000 a year. He definitely intends to fulfill that contract despite rumors that he might announce his retirement on Oldtimers Day at Candlestick Park.

JUST NOW Mays came to be linked with the Oldtimers Day shindig is not clear. The Adirondack bat people did send an inquiry to the front office of the Giants, expressing their desire to present Willie not with one but two cars for making their bats famous.

The Adirondack people understandably are grateful to Mays for using their bats in becoming the greatest homerun hitter since Babe Ruth. They suggested to the front office at Candlestick Park that Mays' 600th homer would be a proper moment to express their appreciation. Willie still is four shy of No. 600.

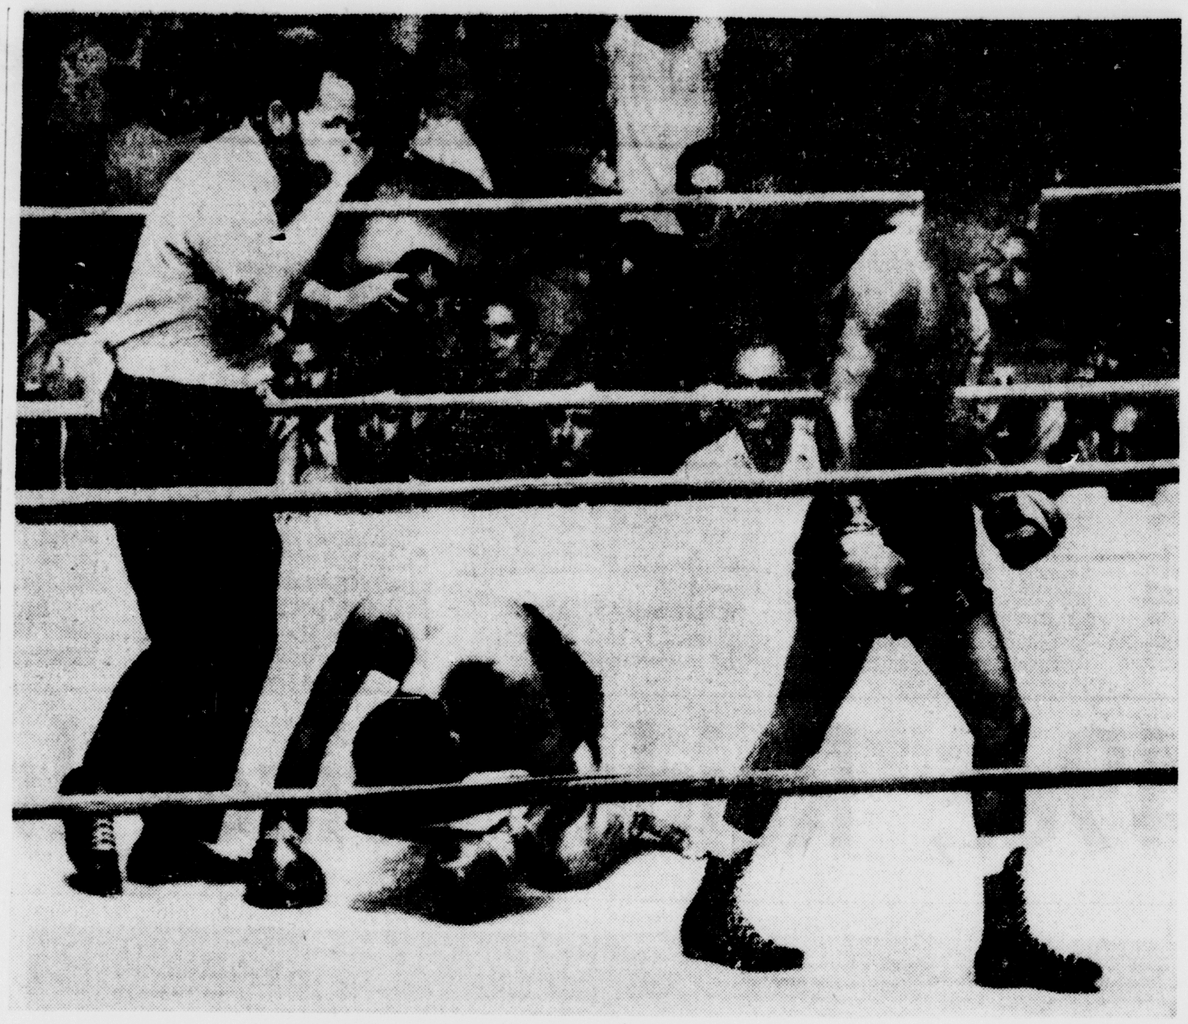
SINCE MAYS may hit No. 600 on the road, instead of in Candlestick, somebody in the Giants' front office got the bright idea that Oldtimers Day would be a convenient occasion to honor Mays.

There has been no comment whatsoever from Mays. His silence speaks for itself. Naturally, he must be wondering whether this is a brushoff.

AND SIMILARLY there has been no comment from Horace Stoneham, president of the ball club, who cannot be expected to know of every detail that goes on in his organization.

Stoneham does do things in style. He would be the last person in the Giant organization to bill Mays in any secondary role of a doubleheader. Not Stoneham who is well aware of the way Mays has packed fans into ball parks for almost two decades from New York to San Francisco.

THERE'S NOTHING wrong in honoring Mays on Oldtimers Day in Candestick but nobody should get the idea that it will be Willie's day. Baseball owes Mays more than an afterthought billing in a doubleheader.



THIS IS THE END, MY FRIEND

Mexico's Julio Guerrero walked away from the supine form of Japan's Yoshiaki Suda after battering Suda to the canvas for the second and final time in the eighth round of their bantamweight fight at Los Angeles last night. The referee is Larry Rozadilla. Guerrero now has 27 knockouts in 29 fights.

Suyderhoud Ties In World Slalom

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, tied with George Athans of Canada, Victor Poloma of Spain and Michelle Jamin of France, in the opening slalom competition at the opening of the World Water Ski Championship yesterday.

The four each completed 33 buoys at 36 miles per hour with 30 feet off the rope. A duel in the making between the 17-year-old Athans and the 19-year-old Suyderhoud will have its climax on Sunday.

Other qualifying for Sunday's final in the slalom include R. McCormick and W. Grimditch, both of the United States.

In the women's trick preliminaries, Liz Allan, Winter Park, Fla., and Christy Lynn Weir, McQueen, Tex., finished first and second and qualified for Sunday's final.

AUTO RACING

HUNTSVILLE, Ala — Tiny Lund, former Grand National racing star from Cross, S.C., led from start to finish last night to win the Huntsville 400 Grand Touring sports sedan race.

Lund, who grabbed the pole position for the 100-mile race during time trials, jumped into the lead at the green flag and was never headed, beating another former GN star, Buck Baker of Charlotte, N.C., by five laps.

PETALUMA — An extra $50 prize will be at stake at the sportsmen and stockers races tonight at the Petaluma Fairgrounds.

It will be offered to the winner of a special six-lap race. Jerry Alberigi and Don Brandlin, both of San Rafael, will be entered in the race.

There will also be a dual program for stockers and sportsmen with qualifying starting at 7 o'clock. The first race is set for 8:15.

GOLF

LOS ANGELES — The Astrojet golf tournament, featuring top professional football and baseball players, moves from California to Arizona next year.

A spokesman here for F. Jack Mullins, tournament chairman and senior vice-president for sponsoring American Airlines, announced yesterday the event will be held Feb. 6-8 at the Wigwam Country Club in Litchfield Park, Ariz.

The event has been held for three years at the La Costa Country Club near San Diego.

SPORTS SHORTS

TENNIS

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. — Bob Lutz, Los Angeles, eliminated George Goven, France, 11-9, 2-6, 7-5 and reached the semifinals of the Meadow Club $12,000 Invitation Grass Court Tennis Tournament.

TORONTO — Cliff Richey, San Angelo, Tex., defeated Ray Moore, South Africa, 4-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0, 6-2 in the quarter-finals of the Canadian Open Tennis Championships.

GOLF

VANCOUVER, B.C. — Bob Cox, Richmond, B.C., and Al Balding, a three time winner, carded six-under-par 66's to share a two-stroke lead after the first day of the $33,157 Canadian Professional Golfer's Association Championship.

FOOTBALL

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. — The New York Jets of the AFL traded rookie offensive tackle Ezell Jones to the Boston Patriots for an undisclosed draft choice.

WILMINGTON, Ohio — Paul Robinson, last season's AFL Rookie of the Year, has signed his 1969 contract with the Cincinnati Bengals.

GENERAL

BOXING

broadcasts for the remainder of the 1969 season.

"I really don't know if I want to manage again," he said. "Don't forget, I know all the pluses and the minuses of managing. What I really want to find out now is if I can be a broadcaster."

Still, the interviewers persisted, not happy with that answer. Now they phrased their questions differently, but Rigney is no dummy. He smiled and tried again.

"Let me put it this way," he said. "I haven't completely resolved it in my mind yet about putting on a uniform again.

"I don't say I wouldn't if someone made me an offer. Then again, I don't say I would, either. First, I want to see if I can be an announcer, and if I can, whether or not I'd like to keep on doing it.

"That certainly would play a big part in any decision I'd have to make, but aren't we putting the cart before the horse? No one has offered me a job recently, except Charlie Finley and this radio station."

NIXED FINLEY

Finley, owner of the cross-bay Oakland A's offered Rigney the job of "color man" on the A's broadcasting team but Rigney turned him down.

"At the time I didn't have this offer (to do the Giants broadcasts)," said Rigney, "so one had nothing to do with the other."

Rigney, even though he moved over to the American League with the California Angels as their only manager until he was fired two months ago, is a National Leaguer at heart.

"Isn't this some kind of a race in the West," he asked. "I'll tell you this, when Bert West (manager of station KSFO) made me this offer I jumped. Sitting around the house was starting to get to me. Now I'll feel like I'm back in the mainstream of things again."

Rigney, who celebrated his 51st birthday last January, broke into the majors with the Giants, while they were based in New York, and never played for another club. He served as a minor league manager for the Giants for two years at Minneapolis and when owner Horace Stoneham fired Leo Durocher after the 1955 season, Rig became skipper.

SUDDEN DISMISSAL

He had the Giants humming along in second place, only four games off the pace in June 1960 when Stoneham suddenly dismissed him. The following year Rigney landed on his feet as manager of the Angels and won Manager of the Year honors in 1962 for steering the expansion club to a third place finish in a 10-team league.

Unfortunately, he never was able to match that season again and when the club slipped into a nine game losing streak in May, owner Gene Autry fired him. He still has another year to go on a $50,000 a year contract, which the Angels, of course, will honor.

The committee also announced yesterday that Tom Cahill of Army will head the East coaching staff and John McKay of Southern California the West. Alex Agase of Northwestern and Earle Edwards of North Carolina State will serve as Cahill's assistants while McKay will be helped by Eddie Crowder of Colorado and Frank Kush of Arizona State.

Stargell Homer An L.A. Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A home run by Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell Tuesday, the first ever to clear the bleachers at Dodger Stadium, measured 512 feet, the stadium's resident engineer said yesterday.

The outfielder hit a curve ball over the 26th row of the right field pavillion to snap a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning.

Ira Hoyt, resident engineer for the 7-year-old ballpark, distributed a diagram showing the flight of the ball into a parking lot.

It was the longest hit in nearly 1,000 games played at the stadium.

MILWAUKEE OPEN

Young Englishman Leads

By BOB GREEN

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Peter Townsend, a young Englishman who once lost his approved player card because of poor play, isn't concerned with that problem any more.

"I figure that if they pick up my card again, they're going to have to pick another 150," the dark-haired 22-year-old said yesterday after shooting a five-under-par 67 and grabbing the first round lead in the $100,000 Greater Milwaukee Open golf tournament.

"I've been playing pretty well for the last few months," Townsend said. "I'm about 98th on the money list. And there are about 250 or 300 players on the tour."

With most of the great names of the game by-passing this event to practice for next week's PGA championship, some of the lesser lights of the tour dominated the windy, first-day play.

Rookie pro John Miller was second with a 68, followed by Mike Nugent, Steve Opperman and South African Allan Henning, all at 69. At 70 were Jim Wiechers, Larry Ziegler and Bob Lunn. Of the leaders, only Lunn played in the afternoon, when the wind was at its highest.

The top attractions had their problems with the wind that gusted to 28 miles per hour.

Arnold Palmer came in with a 76, four over par on the 7,075-yard North Shore Country Club course. Defending champion Dave Stockton had a 77. Bert Greene, second in last week's Westchester Classic, took a 75. Gary Player had a 73.

Perry's Softball Team Wins By 9-2

Terry Horn and Dan Coleman socked homers and Ed Fisse hurled a four-hitter to pace Perry's Delicatessen to a 9-2 win over the Marinwood Merchants in a B division game of the San Rafael Recreation Department's Adult Softball League at Albert Field yesterday.

In another B game, Sears Point Raceway walloped Salt's Fish and Chips, 15-8. Sam King hit a three-homer for the losers.

Yarbrough Sets Stock Car Mark

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — An unofficial stock car speed record has been set by Lee Roy Yarbrough of Columbia, S.C., at the Alabama International Motor Speedway.

A spokesman for the track said yesterday Yarbrough toured the 2.66-mile oval in 48.99 seconds in a 1969 Talladega Ford for an average speed of 195.47 m.p.h. He made an earlier run of 49.511 seconds, an average of 193.42 m.p.h.

The record is unofficial, since it came in a tire test, not a sanctioned race, officials said.

The official mark is 190.706 m.p.h., set by Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., in qualifying runs for the Firecracker 400 at Daytona, Fla., in July.

The tests were the first on the speedway, which is nearing completion.

Sears Point 150-Mile Lineup Adds Wise Old Former Champion McGriff

An all-time, wizened champ has entered the lists in the Sta-Power 150-mile NASCAR stock race at Sears Point Raceway in Sonoma Sunday, which may change the entire complexion of the race.

Forty-six-year-old Hershel McGriff of Bridle Vale, Ore., will be at the wheel of a 1969 Chevy Chevelle for the longest and richest NASCAR race remaining on the 1969 Pacific Coast slate. McGriff, once retired, was the 1950 Pan-American Road Race winner and winner of this year's Permatex 200 at Riverside. He also holds four all-time grand national stock car race wins and that should put him right on top with the list of favorites which includes Ray Elder, the "Racing Farmer" from Carruthers near Fresno and Jack McCoy from Modesto.

Also a late entry in Sunday's race, which offers a $13,000 purse, is 33-year-old Ken Gandy. The Pleasant Hill veteran, who is a perennial favorite at the Vallejo Speedway, will drive a 1967 Mercury.

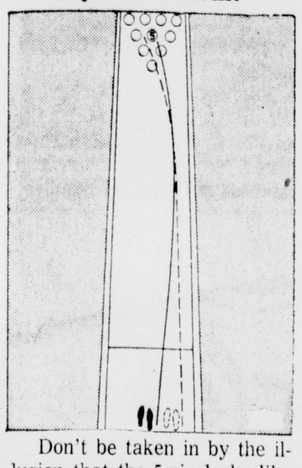
A 30-car field will take the green flag at 1:15 p.m. Sunday. The race is preceded by qualifying from 9:30 a.m. to noon, followed by an intermission and a dragster exhibition.

Admission is $5 for adults. Children under 12 are admitted free.

Tickets can be obtained at J and B Ford in Corte Madera, Mill Valley Auto Parts, the Emporium, Budd's Travel Tours and Macy's in San Rafael.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Don't be taken in by the illusion that the 5-pin looks like the headpin when it is standing alone on the lane. Move your starting position several boards to the left when aiming at it, for it is some 18 inches farther away. Your ball can do a lot of hooking in that distance.

Coach Keeps Lead In Pacific Golf

NORTH HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mike Davis, 22-year-old assistant golf coach at the University of Oregon, slipped to a 73 but maintained his lead yesterday in the Pacific Coast Amateur Golf Championship.

Coupled with his first day round of 67, Davis of Portland, had 140 for a one stroke advantage over Bud Bradley of Los Angeles in the 72-hole tourney at Lakeside Golf Club.

A two stroke penalty levied against Terry Small cost the Northern California Golf Association the team title. Southern California won the Morse Cup with a combined total of 583 for 36 holes, one shot better than the North.

TRIO TIED

Three players were tied for third on the par 70 course: Dr. Ed Updegraff, Tucson, Ariz., Forrest Fezler, San Jose, and Chip Stewart, Dallas, Tex., all with 142.

One of the 65 qualifiers in the starting field of 132 shot a hole-in-one. Fred Haney of Forest Grove, Ore., aced the 236-yard ninth hole with a driver.

Small, of Long Beach, playing, ironically, for Northern California, was penalized for making an incorrect drop of a ball at the ninth hole. The violation also knocked the former NCAA champion out of second place and into a deadlock for sixth at 69-74—143.

Tom Corder A Dedicated Ball Player

they were dating in high school, didn't at first like his devotion to sports.

"She'd always wonder why I'd spend so much at practice," he said. "Or why I'd show up so early. But she's ready for a baseball life. She knows what it will be like, but we're ready for that . . . motel traveling and things like that."

Corder has had considerable nibbles from scouts but nothing concrete, since he is undraftable with a year of eligibility left.

He really didn't get a chance to settle down to hard baseball tacks until he was out of high school.

"With three sports, it's pretty hard to concentrate on one thing," he said. "But once I got out of school, everything seemed to jell. I was really hitting the ball."

Corder admires a hitting shortstop. That's what he wants to be.

"I can't stand a shortstop that can't hit," he said. "It bothers me to see so many way down in the batting averages. If you can hit and really play your position, then you've got a good chance."

Baseball, it seems, is the life for him.

"I've always wanted to play baseball in the bigs," he said. "That would be so cool. I'm going to play. That would be such a great life. The perfect job for me."

And it is a job.

"It's like anybody else," he said. "You just keep trying to do better. If you get the best average, well, then you try for the most homers, the triple crown, the all-stars and so on. I'd never want to stop learning new things, ways to be better. That's the only way you can do anything."

It is one way to chase the dream hard, and catch it.

few days, but I'm sure it's because we're anxious to get up to Seattle," head coach Dick Nolan said yesterday. "We know we're facing a good football team."

Big second-year defensive tackle and end Kevin Hardy, ailing with a knee injury "may or may not suit up," according to Nolan.

He added that veteran tight end Dick Witcher, recovering from an ankle injury, will suit up but "may or may not play."

Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica threw well at Santa Rosa yesterday but wondered when he will survive a preseason opener without injury.

PASSING HAND

Lamonica injured his passing hand last weekend against Kansas City when he smashed it against defensive end Aaron Brown's helmet while following through on a pass in the Raiders' 23-17 loss at Birmingham.

"The first year it was a jammed hand," Lamonica said. "Last year, I got two bad knees and then this year I hurt my hand again. But it's okay now. It had been a little tender.

Eldridge Dickey, who moved into the No. 2 quarterback slot when Ken Stabler quit football, is slated for plenty of action tomorrow. Lamonica will start.

A's Rookie In Pressure Cooker Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Young George Lauzerique had already hurled two no-hitters in the minor leagues but he still felt the pressure when he held the Cleveland Indians hitless for six innings yesterday.

Lauzerique, a 22-year-old right-hander who spent most of the season in the bullpen, combined with Rollie Fingers for a three-hit shutout as the Oakland A's downed the Indians 3-0.

Cleveland's Dave Nelson broke up Lauzerique's no-hitter with a single to center field in the seventh.

"I was disappointed and relieved when Nelson got his hit," said the Cuban-born hurler.

PRESSURE GONE

"Disappointed that it took away a no-hitter and relieved because it took off the pressure."

Lauzerique pitched two no-hitters in AA baseball, one against the A's in an exhibition while he was with Birmingham.

Oakland moved on to New York today for a twinight doubleheader with the Yankees. John Odom, who was knocked out in the fourth inning by the Indians Tuesday, was to risk his 14-6 mark along with Jim Hunter, 9-9, against the Yankees' Stan Bahnsen, 7-11, and Al Downing, 2-3.

The other hits off Lauzerique were singles by Ken Harrelson, also in the seventh, and by Eddie Leon in the eighth.

Leon's hit followed a walk to Duke Sims, and Lauzerique, now 3-1, gave way to Fingers.

Dave Duncan, who caught the game, said the young hurler "did a good job in keeping the batters off balance. His pitches were all different speeds and it kept the batters off stride.

"That's the name of the game —never throw the same pitch twice . . . The ball Nelson hit was where he wanted it and the pitch was a good one."

MYATT NEW MANAGER

Allen Gets Another Scalp As Skinner Quits Pirates

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Richie Allen, controversial slugger for the Philadelphia Phillies now has the scalps of two managers to his credit.

Bob Skinner, grim-faced and his voice cracking at times, resigned yesterday after 14 months at the club's helm because of what he called lack of front office support in dealing with the moody Allen.

Coach George Myatt, 54, in his sixth year with the Phillies, was named temporary manager for the remainder of the season.

Gene Mauch, whom Skinner had succeeded in June, 1968, was fired after he benched Allen.

BITING WORDS

"Now I know what Gene Mauch went through," Skinner said, biting off each word as the club's bosses — owner Bob Carpenter and General Manager John Quinn — stood silently to one side at a news conference.

Skinner, visibly shaken, also revealed that he had learned that a fine he had imposed on Allen for missing two games in New York in June had been remitted by Carpenter.

Allen could not be reached for comment.

The first baseman, who earns a reported $80,000 a year, did not show up later last night in Reading for an exhibition game between the Phillies and their Eastern League farm team.

The 37-year-old Skinner, a tall, dedicated man who believes in giving 100 per cent to the game he loves, said "a few days ago Allen came to me and told me the front office told him he didn't have to go to Reading with the team for tonight's game."

Quinn said Allen did not have permission to miss the game, however. He said Allen would be fined.

The Phillies are currently deep in fifth place in the league's six-team, eastern division, 24½ gam out of first.

Skinner made it clear he didn't want to quit, that he liked the job and thought he was doing well.

"But I have too much pride," he said. "I am a winner, and I want to be with a winner, and you can't win this way.

"Allen has been a big factor in our losing and there is very definitely disharmony on the club."

Carpenter, responding quietly and firmly, said he regretted Skinner's action and expressed the view the veteran of 12 major league seasons with Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis would get another managing job.

MARIN TEACHER TRAVELS

Finds Patriotism In Mideast Youth

By SUZANNE WOOD

The typical Middle Eastern student is an intensely nationalistic youth, who is concerned about his country and its place in that troubled area of the world.

This is the observation of Terra Linda High School teacher who recently returned from a four-month sabbatical touring secondary schools in the Middle East and spending much time talking with youths there.

Hugh Penman who teaches Middle East history, said the average teen-ager in all Middle Eastern countries — Arab and Israeli alike — is "sophisticated, serious and has a great deal of pride in his nation."

He recalled the young Israeli girl who couldn't understand why every American Jew was not attracted to Israel as a place of permanent residence.

"She like so many of the youngsters, had an unbounded confidence in her country," said Penman.

This was his third trip to the Middle East. He also toured parts of Europe and Africa but did not visit the schools and talk so extensively with the students there as in the Middle East.

Reflecting upon his many conversations with youths in Jordan, Lebanon, Iraq, Iran, Syria and Saudi Arabia, as well as Israel, Penman reported that Arab youths also feel very strongly about being Arabs, matching the intensity of the Jews' pride in their heritage. "The Lebanese, for instance, think of themselves as Arabs and then as Lebanese," he said.

And thus almost everywhere, a first topic of conversation was likely to be the Arab-Israeli conflict which has influenced the teen-agers for most of their lives.

"Both Arabs and Jews are very opinionated and each thinks his own side is right," Penman pointed out.

And the youth, readily expressed a number of thoughts about the U.S. and United Nations roles in the Middle East conflict. Penman found Arab and Jews critical of the U.S. policy there and neither side could understand why the U.S. does not look more favorably on its people cause.

"We are straining our relationship there by trying to avoid taking sides," said Penman, who said, however, that he approved of our keeping hands off despite the strains.

Likewise, he said the youths expressed little faith in the U.N.'s ability to resolve Arab-Israeli differences and establish a rule of a law rather than power.

Penman believes the average youth does not feel as if his own country is a pawn in a great power game, but does recognize his land is of great interest to the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

Not only is the Middle Eastern student concerned about his own area, he is also keenly aware of and perplexed by international events otside his region. Penman attributed this alertness to a "cosmopolitan atmosphere" in the Middle East.

"Students in the Middle East are exposed to a greater number of foreigners than the average American student and consequently encounter a greater flow of new and different ideas," he said.

The youngster there is puzzled by Vietnam and he wonders what it's all about, but not with the intensity of the directly involved American youth, according to Penman.

In a land where nearby border clashes are common, the Middle Eastern youngster has more immediate concerns than distant Vietnam, said Penman who worked with the Central Intelligence Agency in Washington, D.C.

Avoidance of the draft is uncommon if not unheard of in the Middle East where the military traditionally has held a revered and influential place in the countries' history.

In fact, the feelings Middle Easterners have about serving in the army apparently differ sharply with many American student's viewpoint. Israeli youth who are juvenile deliquents even try to improve themselves socially by learning a trade so they can become eligible for the draft.

Penman, who has been teaching school for 13 years, commented about the home life of the Middle East student.

There is little talk of generation or communication gaps in the Middle East where Penman found a greater family closeness than in the U.S. and the attitudes of the young people closely reflecting those of the adults.

Penman said there is no adolescence stage — or what he termed "the awkward twilight zone" between childhood and manhood — in Middle Eastern culture. People are simply broken into two categories — child and adult.

And thus Penman said the youngster, although outspoken, does not expect to find the average adult anxious to hear his opinions.

Penman also gave a few general observations of the education system in the Middle East where he said regard for learning is extremely high. He said the emphasis in the secondary schools, with the exception of those in Israel and Lebanon, is on college preparatory courses rather than vocational subjects. He also found fewer elective courses and extra-curricular activities there than in American schools.

And Penman found that the education system there does not encourage the Middle Eastern student to question as extensively as the U.S. system.

Nevertheless, Penman found the Middle Eastern youth has an inquisitive and sober mind which reflects his concern about the seriousness of events in his area of the world.

A Gas Of A Game

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — A heavy downpour interrupted the cricket match between Salem and Sidbury. When the rain stopped, the players bought 12 gallons of gasoline which they poured on the infield and ignited. When the flames died and the area cooled, they put down their matting wicket and got on with the game.

Marin Students Cited At Davis

I-J Special Report

DAVIS — Two students from San Rafael and one from Novato have been cited by the University of California, Davis, for excellence in their major fields of study during the 1968-69 school year.

Receiving departmental citations were:

Peter L. Levin, son of Mrs. Audrey L. Levin of 412 Alameda De La Loma, Novato, and a 1965 graduate of San Rafael High School. His specialty is aerodynamics research.

Ronald L. Gester, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Gester Jr. of 25 Fairway Drive, San Rafael, and a 1965 graduate of San Rafael High School. His field is geology.

Patricia Louise Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Black of 876 Greenberry, San Rafael, was cited for her achievements in the department of Spanish.

Three Retire From Service At Hamilton AFB

Three servicemen with a total of 65 years of military service retired from headquarters Western Communications Region at Hamilton Air Force Base.

They are:

Cm/Sgt. Robert N. Talbott, who was noncommissioned officer in charge of the management analysis section of the comptroller directorate, retired after 23 years service. He will live at 775 Parkway, Novato.

M/Sgt. Bernard E. Lowell of 23 Selfridge Way on the base, retired after 20 years of service. He was noncommissioned officer in charge of the systems control branch of the directorate of operations. He will live at 800 Pacific Avenue, Petaluma.

T/Sgt. Arthur W. Dunning, accountant for the directorate of operations, retired after 22 years service. He lives at 660 Morgan Drive, Novato.

Bipartisan Move To Repeal Draft Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fourteen House members from both parties have introduced legislation to end the draft by creating an all-volunteer army.

Rep. William A. Steiger, R-Wis., said it would cost between $4 billion and $7 billion to raise military pay and benefits to levels where men would be attracted to volunteer. The Pentagon has figured the cost as at least $8 billion, with some estimates running as high as $16 billion.

McCarthy Polls Constituents

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A survey of how his constituents feel about issues from crime to taxes was mailed this week by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, to 103,520 residences in his district.

The survey cost $11.520, including $6.956 for printing and $4.140 for postage, his office reported. The money came from taxes.

Results of the survey, sent throughout Marin, Napa and Solano counties, will be reported in about three weeks, McCarthy's office said. The findings will be reflected in the senator's legislative program next year, his office said.

McCarthy took a similar poll about 18 months ago.
